Library Resignation Issue Gets Few Definite Answers

by WANDALYN RICE

About 50 persons questioned members of the Elk Grove Village Library Board of Directors Tuesday night on recent resignations from the library staff, but received few definite answers.

The library board accepted the resignation of Evelyn Schmidt, who had been head librarian for 11 years, by a unanimous vote. Four of the seven board members, the legally required quorum, were present.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fleming, Fred Klink, and Grover Streich. John Gayer, Darlene Greaves and Francis Walsh were absent.

The board also ordered that the resignations of Jean Joy, Dorothy Homeyer and Ruth Stunkel be placed on file although board Pres. Robert Fleming explained they did not need to officially accept them.

Under questioning from the audience, Fleming said Mrs. Joy, a part-time and full-time clerk for 9½ years, and Mrs. Homeyer, a technical processor for 6½ years, had been asked to resign.

Fleming read a statement from the board concerning the resignations. It read:

"THE BOARD OF Library Directors of the village of Elk Grove Village has consistently stood by its policy of not engaging in public debate where personnel matters are involved since these debates could have an adverse effect upon the futures of the employees concerned.

"We believe this policy is not contrary to good taste and is in the best interest of the employees of the Elk Grove Village Public Library. However, the Board would be willing to reconsider this policy if any former employee requested, in writing, that the Board make available to the general public the reasons why that employee was asked to resign."

Fleming and other board members said they did not know why Mrs. Schmidt had resigned Aug. 2 after her first day of work in eight months. In January she had broken her hip and had been recuperating.

Fleming said, "Mrs. Schmidt was hired by this board eleven years ago and our relationship with her has been more than an employee-employer relationship. She met with the board at our request on Aug. 2 and when we started the meeting she handed us her resignation. We tried to discuss it with her and she would not discuss it."

The day after she resigned, Mrs. Schmidt told the Herald she was upset about some of the things that had happened in her absence, particularly the removal of the four women who had left the week before.

Fleming also explained that two other women who had left the library in recent weeks, Ruth Bussard, a clerk for six months, and Mrs. Stunkel, a clerk and acting children's librarian, had not resigned as a result of a board request.

MRS. BUSSARD, he said, had been asked to resign but appealed to the board, which decided to allow her to stay with the library after hearing her case. When she was told of the decision, she said she was leaving because she had found a job at the Wheeling Public Library, he said.

Mrs. Bussard had earlier said she decided to resign rather than remain because, "I didn't see any reason in coming to work every day with a lump in my stomach wondering what would happen."

Mrs. Stunkel had been absent because of the illness of her daughter and had not known when she would return, he said.

Residents asked if Fleming did not know some reason why Mrs. Schmidt resigned and he replied that she had given no reason. He said, "What my personal feelings may be about why she may have resigned, I do not choose to discuss with anyone."

One man present pointed out that the two women who were asked to resign in Mrs. Schmidt's absence had both worked for the library for many years.

Students Score Slightly Above Average On Tests

Fourth through seventh grade students in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 score slightly above average on standardized tests, according to Supt. James Erviti's annual report.

However, the pattern of scores indicate changes are needed in the sixth grade program to combat, "a drop off in success during the sixth grade year," the report says.

Composite scores for the district for fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grade students on the Iowa Test of Basic Skills were 4.8, 5.8, 6.6 and 7.8, the report says.

The national average for the Iowa tests in those grades are 4.6, 5.6, 6.6, and 7.6.

IN THE REPORT, Erviti says, "Although standardized tests do not reflect the immediate educational situation, they do give a general picture of the health of the educational system so far as a standard curriculum is concerned."

Scores for students in Dist. 59, he adds, should be above average because the average I.Q. in the district is 105-107 as compared to the average of 100 nationwide.

Changes are being planned and adopted in the sixth grade program to ease the transition for students from fifth grade, Erviti's report adds, and will result in changes in the sixth grade at Dempster Junior High School in Mount Prospect this year.

In addition, the report notes that test scores and teachers' observations have indicated that "skills in English are not as well developed as desired. The explanation is fairly obvious because the text series which has been in use follows an unorthodox approach to punctuation and grammar."

The report notes the district has begun the process of dropping that set of English books and adopting other texts recommended by a teachers' study committee.

Sportsmen To Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Elk Grove Sportsmen's Club will be held today at 8:30 p.m. in the Elk Grove Village Public Library, 101 John F. Kennedy Blvd.

Erviti Revives Plan For Unit School District In Area

A proposal to create a unit school district in the area including kindergarten through twelfth grade, has been revived by Supt. James Erviti of Elk Grove Township Elementary Dist. 59.

In his first annual report to the board of education, made public this week, Erviti recommends that Dist. 59 join with High School Dist. 214 as a unit school district.

In the report, Erviti adds that other forms of organization may also be studied by the Dist. 59 Board. Some sort of change in district boundaries, Erviti adds, "may be better than existing ones for the purpose of achieving cohesiveness among the people who are the school district's community."

In 1967 Erviti's predecessor, Donald Thomas, publicly suggested creating a unit district out of Elk Grove Township, which would have taken in Dist. 59, parts of Elementary Dist. 25, 15 and 57 and Elk Grove and Forest View high schools.

THAT PROPOSAL was opposed by High School Dist. 214 because the high school district gets more than one third of its assessed value from the Centex industrial Park in Elk Grove Village.

In his report, Erviti who joined the district in July, 1970, after serving as a superintendent in New York, explains that reorganization should be considered for Dist. 59 because the district, spread over four communities, "has no unifying center."

Most school districts, the report says, are formed around one community whose norms shape the public attitude toward the schools. Since Dist. 59 has no such single community "public support of the school district is divided 16 ways — into units loosely formed around each K-5 (elementary) building."

As a result of the fragmentation, he said, the district lacks civic leadership that can rally the public to support tax increases needed by the whole district.

Erviti points out in the report that Dist. 59 has the highest tax base in the area and states, "Its use of that base amounts to a bad joke upon the children and the people who live here. By being unwilling to adjust the tax rate, the people have made the district resort to cliff-hanger deficit financing."

THE REPORT adds, "Some day the residents will realize that they can harness the enormous tax power of the industrial community for their children's benefit only by increasing their own taxes too. For every dollar homeowners pay to the school district, industry adds $1.50, giving the children $2.50 worth of service."

Any creation of a unit district for Dist. 59 would be complicated by the fact that High School Dist. 214 has five other elementary districts which send children to the high schools in Wheeling and Elk Grove townships.

Under state law a petition may be presented to the county superintendent of schools, who could then call a special referendum on unification.

In order to pass, a majority of the voters in all districts or parts of districts to be unified would have to vote in favor of the change.

The annual report was presented to the Dist. 59 board at its meeting Monday night but was not discussed because Erviti is on vacation. Board members indicated the entire report will be discussed later.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Platt, executive secretary, has urged the state's 116 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 200 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

British troops battled members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a graveyard, shifting the center of violence in Northern Ireland to Londonderry, west of the capital of Belfast. An army spokesman said one civilian was shot and killed in the fight. Another civilian was killed when he refused to hand over a pistol he was waving at a street barricade in Strabane. The two deaths raised the death toll to 28 in 10 days of street fighting.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

The Market

Wall Street's roaring stock market express collided with profit taking which knocked off one-third of the market's rise in the previous two sessions. After soaring nearly 44 points during the week's first two sessions, the Dow Jones Average plummeted 13.73 to 886.17. Declines piled up a 1,082 to 407 advantage over gains. Turnover slipped to 20,630,000 shares compared with 26,790,000 the previous day. Prices eased in moderately active trading on the American Exchange. Turnover was 4,660,000 shares, down from 6,490,000 the day before.

Called Into Action By Wage-Price Freeze

Emergency Planning Office Booms

by TOM WELLMAN
The official of the defense department chatted into a telephone, as a woman sat nervously and primly next to him at a long table. They were bathed in the glare of television floodlights.

"Oh, we're a wee bit busy," he said, and smiled up at the NBC-TV cameraman and reporter.

Behind the man were rows and rows of tables, some with signs such as "HUD" and "Agriculture." The week before, the

He explained the president's economic guidelines announced Sunday could rekindle a "spirit of looking at the overall economy" and voluntary cooperation by all persons affected by them.

Gary Pierson, an OEP official, agreed with Marks that the bulk of the questions concerned wages. He said that more federal guidelines were on the way to explain further just how the wage and price freeze would work.

"Despite everything, it's going smoothly," he said.

Pierson said the office would remain open into the late afternoon and for the rest of the week. On Monday, the office will shift to 33 E. Congress, where the federal officials can settle in for 90 days of answering questions about wages, prices, inflation and the American economy.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Office of Emergency Preparedness said Tuesday persons in the Midwest who have questions on how President Nixon's economic plans will affect them may contact federal officials at the Everett Dirksen Building in Chicago, 210 S. Dearborn, Room 204A, phone 312-353-0000.

room had been empty, but now it was the headquarters for the Chicago branch of the Office of Emergency Planning, called to action by President Nixon's wage and price freeze.

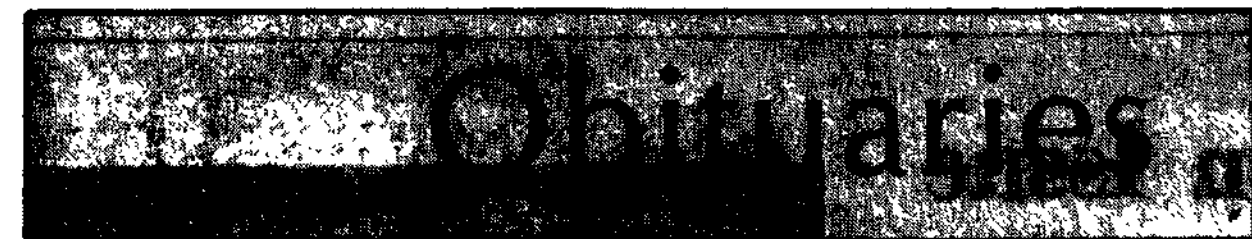

By noon, the phones which had been installed — some rested on the floor, still unconnected — had rung about 300 times. A blackboard near the receptionist and the television crews at the door listed about six or seven different federal departments represented in the room.

Gerald Marks, a commerce department official and 13th district congressional candidate two years ago, said the operation, open since 8 a.m., was receiving about 200 calls an hour.

Marks said most of the questions which have been answered by the persons in the room concerned wages, although he had just finished explaining to one caller that insurance rates were frozen by wage-price freeze.

Reconsider Plan For Hospital Site

by PAT GERLACH

On September 14, Schaumburg trustees will reconsider planned unit development (PUD) zoning on a 57-acre tract in the central portion of the village that could provide a 20-acre hospital site donation.

The request, submitted by J. Emil Anderson and Sons, developers, was flatly denied at last week's village board meeting in a 4-2 vote.

At the suggestion of Mayor Robert O. Atcher, Trustee Gordon Mullins, who opposed the project and voted accordingly, moved to allow reconsideration.

During Tuesday night's village board meeting, Atcher revealed that he has for some time been in possession of privileged information which could shed new light on the proposed hospital-medical-residential complex.

"In the meantime (since last week's denial of the requested zoning) some people in authority have said that they would meet with the board members informally and present the information purportedly not for publication," Atcher said.

THE MAYOR NOTED, however, that "under the rules and regulations imposed on us," presumably the Illinois Open Meetings law which requires that all meetings of this type be open to press and public, such discussion could not be held.

Board OKs Resignations From Library

when people of long term who have worked cooperatively with the administrator are suddenly no longer worthy of employment when the administrator is absent for a short time?" he asked.

ANOTHER WOMAN said that since Mrs. Schmidt had resigned after the resignations, she was probably upset about them.

"It seems to me what we are all so upset about is that Mrs. Schmidt should come back and find it necessary, that Monday, to leave."

Board members Kathryn Fleming, Fred Klink and Francis Walsh were named by Fleming to the committee on administration which will seek a replacement for Mrs. Schmidt.

Under the board's policy, the head librarian is preferred to have a master's degree in library science or at least a bachelor's degree.

Fleming said a new librarian would be appointed as soon as possible.

Chicago Man Hurt In Construction Accident

A 22-year-old man, working on the roof of an apartment building under construction near Ridge Avenue and Elk Grove Boulevard, was injured Monday morning when he fell through the roof to the third floor.

Elk Grove Village firemen used a forklift to remove the man, Ronald Neuberg of Chicago and took him to Alexian Brothers Medical Center. Neuberg was conscious but had complained of back injury.

"The information to be provided should cause some members of the village board to feel different about the total proposal," he explained stressing that without this information it would be necessary for the petitioner to begin with publication and zoning board hearings on a new proposal.

"I told the petitioner that I thought the board would be willing to hear this new information which shall remain privileged until the petitioner and other people involved make it public," the mayor said.

Under parliamentary procedure ruling the village board, only a member voting against a measure is able to reopen such consideration. But Atcher stressed, in his remarks to trustees, that no motion allowing discussion of the petition be allowed until all trustees are present on Sept. 14.

MULLINS, HERBERT J. Aigner, James Guthrie and Jack Larsen voted against granting the PUD zoning while Trustees Raymond Kellell and Mathew Helsper were in favor of granting the petitioner's request.

"This is not being done in an attempt to change anyone's mind but rather to give all board members a chance to hear what has been privileged information regarding the intent and activities of this petitioner," Atcher continued.

Prior to moving that the matter be reopened for further discussion, Mullins traced the history of the petition since presented last February.

He said that the matter came up for a board vote in June after recommendation of the zoning board of appeals that the PUD zoning be granted; it was subsequently postponed to July and later to August.

"Between June and August I thought that information might come to the board which would have some bearing on my decision and it did not but, if, now, there is other information I think it should be heard before we make a final ruling," Mullins said.

WITH BOTH Guthrie and Larsen absent this week, Atcher said that petitioners would be present at the first scheduled board meeting in September to present the data in question.

Trustees voting against the PUD were of the opinion that the complex, as presented, did not meet guidelines set down for this type of development and were skeptical that a hospital would develop on the pledged 20-acre site.

Timbercrest subdivision residents have opposed the plan for months and more residents have joined that bandwagon to oppose removal of a number of mature trees on a portion of the site.

An additional obstacle has been presented in that official state hospital licensing agencies have recommended a 25-acre site as the minimum area acceptable for hospital construction.

THE PETITIONER in this regard has promised to hold a five-acre parcel aside for possible future acquisition should hospital expansion be needed.

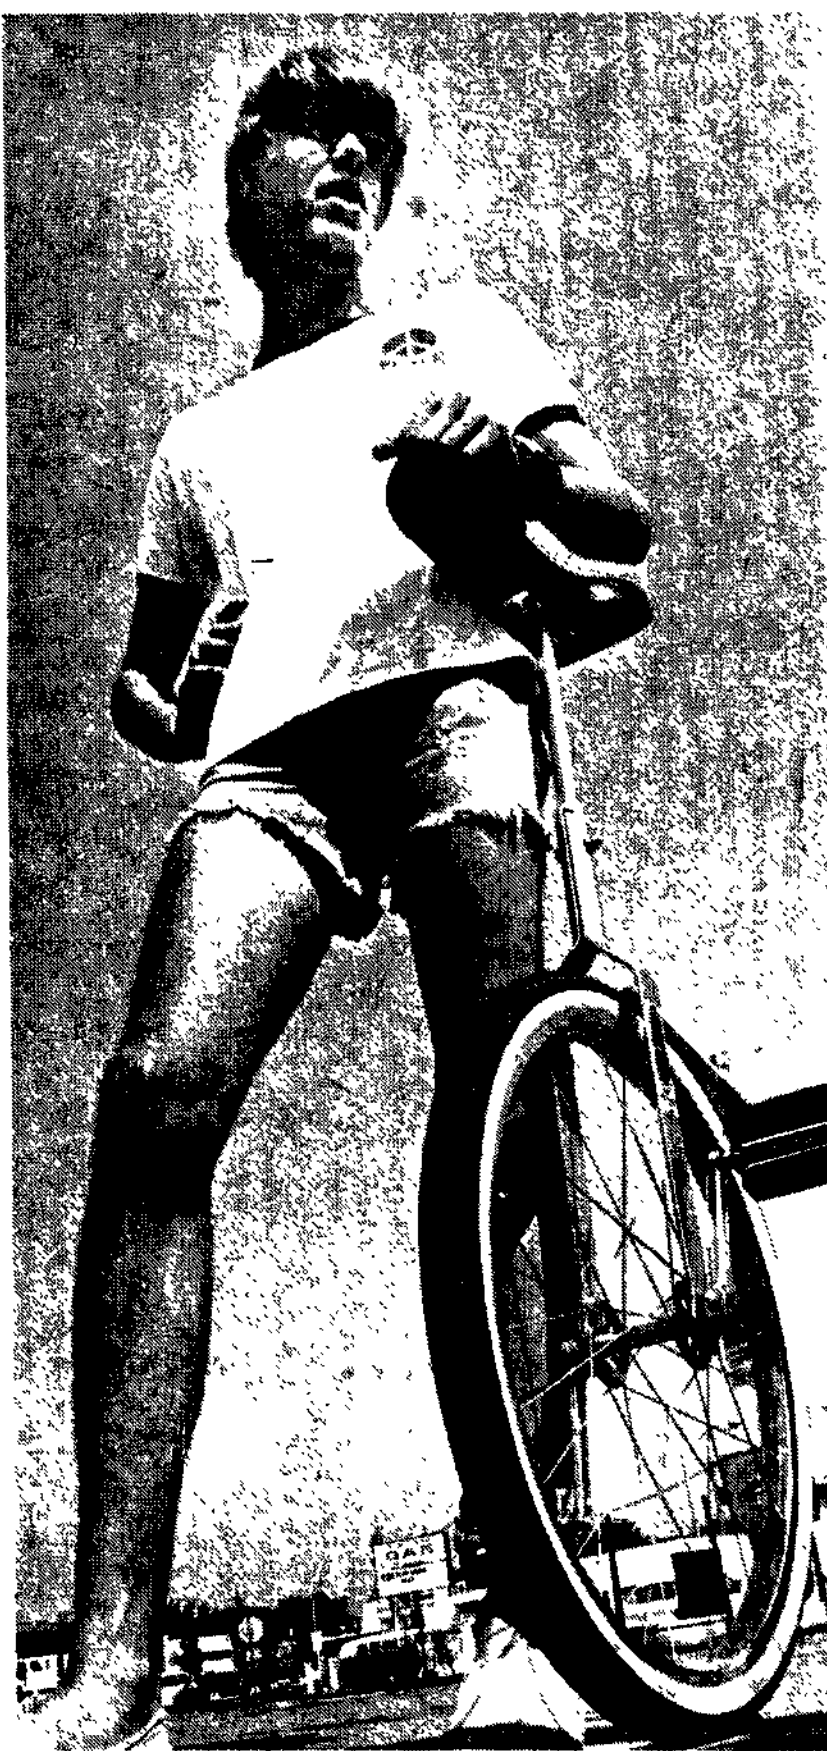

Administrators of four area hospitals expressed displeasure with the project late last winter and wrote a joint letter to the state health care division but later tempered their statements indicating that they were calling for joint planning.

Since that time, a broader study group, including Mayor Frederick Downey of Hoffman Estates, has been established to meet with high-level hospital officials.

A meeting was held in June and it was decided at that time that a feasibility study should take place in the general area with nearby communities being asked to participate in funding.

Atcher, Hanover Park Mayor, Richard Baker, Richard Regan, chairman of an ad hoc committee working toward hospital planning in Hoffman Estates, and numerous regional hospital and health planning officials are scheduled to meet today.

When the Schaumburg proposal was defeated last week, Atcher made it clear that he had planted the hospital idea in the minds of the developers petitioning for approval of the PUD and said the blame should be put on his shoulders by those critical of the plan.

Only 36 more miles to go!

It's 'Fox Lake Or Bust' As Unicyclist Pedals Off

by KURT BAER

Fox Lake or Bust!

This might well have been the motto of Jim Ameling, 18, who yesterday set out to ride his unicycle from Niles to Fox Lake, a distance of about 50 miles.

The trip, which took him through Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine along Northwest Highway, was planned to publicize Teens Against Dystrophy — a volunteer organization of young people who aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Jim, who learned to ride the one-wheeled, direct-drive cycle two years ago behind his father's bicycle shop in Niles, estimated the trip would take him about 10 hours, arriving in Fox Lake about 7 p.m. last night.

"Uphill or downhill, there's really no difference in the pedalling," Jim said as he stopped for a mileage check at the corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE SMALL odometer next to the wheel read 14.1 miles — two hours pedalling time from the corner of Dempster Street and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, the boys starting point about 8:30 yesterday morning, to Arlington Heights.

The young cyclist picked up a police escort to protect him from traffic along the busy highway.

"The police have been really great," he said. "At each (village) boundary there's been a car waiting to escort me through town."

Teens Against Dystrophy, which currently has chapters in Maine, Niles and Lake Forest townships, assists in both research and patient care programs against dystrophy. The organization has plans to open new chapters in Island Lake and New Trier Township.

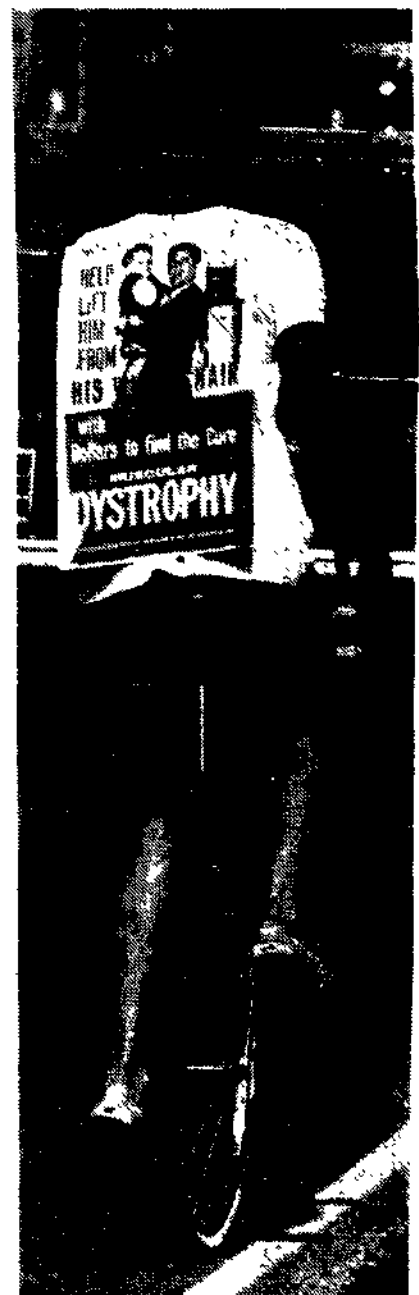

Jim said his father had donated the Schwinn-built unicycle for the 50-mile expedition.

"It's really not nearly as difficult or uncomfortable to ride as it looks," Jim remarked after dismounting from the four-and-a-half foot high cycle. "Because it's direct-drive (rather than chain-driven as bicycles are) pedalling and braking are surprisingly easy."

Though undaunted by the 36 miles of highway that lay in front of him, Jim did admit to one minor irritation.

"My bottom sure gets sore," he said reaching for a can of medicated powder one of his supporters had brought with him. "Excuse me while I take a powder break."

Fighting traffic, dystrophy.

Last Summer Dance Slated

The last junior high school dance of the summer will be held at the Elk Grove Park District Teen Center Friday from 8:30 to 9 p.m.

The dance will feature two bands, Three-Way and Short Forest, both of which have been helping to plan the event.

Members of the two groups have been selling tickets and arranging refreshments, which will include sloppy Joe sandwiches and soft drinks, said Norm Goldberg, teen center director.

Tickets will be $1 in advance or $1.50 at the door.

Youths in the two musical groups, all students at Elk Grove High School, have been involved with the center and the junior high program for some time, Goldberg said.

BRAD HUNTER, Rich Farrell and Terry Croson, of Three-Way played at all the junior high school dances because, "We weren't looking too much for money — the main idea was to get people here."

Mark Reitz, Dean Cassara, Ray McKenzie, Frank Jurjovec and Kerry Griffin of Short Forest have played for three of the junior high dances.

Attendance at the dances has been both good and bad this summer, they said, with crowds ranging from only 10 to 50 or 60.

The park district has been studying the teen center program because of concern over low attendance. A recommendation from an advisory committee that the center be open only to teens four days rather than seven days a week is now under consideration.

Goldberg said the junior high program now has 56 boys and 18 girls signed up, and the young people drop in at the center for varying lengths of time.

It's Sneeze, Sniffle Time

Ragweed pollen is in the air and Barbara Watson, village health inspector, is busy reminding Elk Grove Village residents to keep their grass and weeds trimmed.

But, Mrs. Watson said, she has no control over weeds growing outside the village limits and "that's where the biggest problem is."

A village ordinance requires residents to keep grass and weeds no higher than 8 inches tall and those who do not comply can find their weeds cut and a bill from the village in the mail, she said.

She said enforcement usually starts when neighbors complain about weeds or grass. She then sends a letter to the offender giving him 10 days to obey the ordinance.

If the weeds are not cut, she said, the village can hire someone to cut them and bill the owner although "it's kind of a sticky situation and I dread the summer because of it."

Fixin' 'Em Up With The Best Food In Town

by TOM JACHMIEC

"Fix 'em up a real good ham sandwich," barked out Wood Dale's Sam Zito from behind the counter.

"Four hot dogs with everything," he added a few seconds later, giving another order to Steve Pappas, his helper.

At 11:30 a.m. one Friday morning Sam was busy doing what he likes best — taking the orders from his best customers.

They are the construction workers from Greco, Lindahl, Meyer and others who drive the big earthmoving vehicles and cement mixers.

Most of them tower over the five-foot three-inch frame of Sam but they find the food good, cheap, and the location of Sam's place convenient.

They can come in dressed in their work clothes, sit around for a quick lunch, and relax. The language may be loose but the atmosphere is friendly.

FOR THEM A stop at Sam's restaurant, 1 W. Bisner Rd., near Elk Grove Village, offers a brief respite for a meal out of the heat of the sun or the hot cab of a truck.

In ten minutes Sam bragged he can feed a crew of hungry men.

"These guys only have a half hour for lunch," said Sam, an elderly gent of 79 years.

Sam is the proprietor of Sam's Snack Bar, a converted laundromat trailer that resembles an old railway car with its long narrow aisle and booths on both sides.

A former baker, Sam has been in business in the Elk Grove area for 20 years, 11 years at the corner of Bisner and Biesterfeld roads across the street from Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

Sam started out on a pedal-pushing food stand, later advanced to a bus, and now a trailer. Dressed in a familiar T-shirt, Sam is never more at home than when he is in his restaurant where he spends from 13 to 14 hours a day.

He goes to bed at 8:30 p.m., rises at 4:30 a.m., and has coffee made in the restaurant by 5 a.m.

"I AIN'T GOT A million dollar joint but it's clean and the food is better than anybody's."

"I cook everything. I don't pre-heat nothin'," he said. "Ever tasted coffee like that?" he asked. "n that's an eight-ounce cup!"

Sam stares right through you when he talks to you. He's confident his place is tops and he believes it even though he doesn't have the fancy decor of a Corky's or a Shakey's.

"I buy choice meat," he said. "100 per cent meat I don't fool around with nothin' else."

Sam learned his trade from his father, a baker too. Sam was also a mess sergeant in the army in World War I.

"We had the best mess hall in Laredo (Tex.), he recalled. They never had sweet rolls and coffee 'til I got there."

SAM RETIRED from the baking business 30 years ago but, "Two months later I was back in business," he said, claiming he was unable to adjust to the life of a retiree. The restaurant business became his pastime.

"I have more fun here than if I had a big fancy place," he said. "All the money wouldn't replace the fun I get outta this place."

"I talk to my customers. I let 'em feel at home."

Sam's business has a lot to do with his good health, he indicated when asked his secret of a long life.

"Health — that's what money can't buy. But I fooled 'em by stayin' busy," he said.

"Too many old people don't live long after they retire because they got time to think about dying," he said. "Me. I keep busy and don't think about it."

Sam vehemently said he has no plans to retire again.

"WHAT DO YOU want me to do — sit on a bench and die. 'I'm gonna die here. Not on a bench."

Sam doesn't work all year round, however Arthritis forces him to take off during the winter each year.

"I go to Arizona, Florida, and Acapulco. Play a little golf and swim," he said.

If Sam had his life to live over again he said he'd like to get a little more schooling so, "I could go into the selling game."

His third grade education in a Chicago school is the only thing he regrets, he said. In fact, he added he is thinking very seriously about going to night school.

Overall, he said:

"I've had it good." This world don't owe me nothin'. Oh, it was a little rough at times but I'm a lot better off than a lot of people with college educations.

"I wouldn't have had it any other way," he said. "No, I wouldn't do it any other way."

'Fail-Safe' Power System Fails At Woodfield Mall

When Woodfield Mall was proposed in Schaumburg several years ago, an independent generating system for electricity was considered, but Commonwealth Edison assured the retail center would never be without electricity.

"The improbable of the improbable" happened Monday, said Paul Parker, Commonwealth Edison district superintendent, when Woodfield and 30,000 Northwest suburban homes went without electricity for a short period.

The incident took place in the morning when the arm of a construction crane became entangled in both the main and auxiliary lines serving Woodfield.

"We do statistical studies and the probability of both lines going out is minuscule," Parker said.

Normally, if one line went out the other would click in with the only noticeable difference being a "blink," Parker said.

But, Parker attributed Monday's incident to "Murphy's Law" which says if anything can possibly go wrong it will.

To offset the possibility of another power failure Commonwealth Edison has plans for a third line coming from the west to serve as a safeguard should the two lines now available ever go out again.

With the rapid growth of the Schaumburg area, however, the power line can't be connected overnight, he added.

Soup Seized From Warehouse

The U.S. Attorney's office Monday seized 48,000 cans of Bon Vivant soup from the warehouse of W. H. Walker and Co. 85 Kelly St., Elk Grove Village.

Bon Vivant soup is reportedly responsible for the death of a New York man. It has been ordered off the market, according to the attorney's office.

The cans seized were buckled, an indication that they contained some contamination, said a member of the U.S. attorney's office.

The soups were prepared in unhygienic conditions and "may be injurious to health," the attorney's office said.

The soups include Gazpacho, Green Turtle with Sherry Wine, Cabaret Consomme, Vichyssoise, Clam Madrilene, Tomato Bisque, and some dietetic soups.

They were not for sale in Elk Grove Village.

A Day At The Fair With Mr. Nixon

by BOB LAHEY

SPRINGFIELD—President Richard M. Nixon paid a running visit to the Illinois State Fair yesterday, looked over a few prized dairy cows, and gave nearly half a million Illinoisans a chance to look him over.

The President spent two hours and 50 minutes in the state capital. In that time he made two short speeches — including general defenses of his new economic policies — shook several hundred hands and smiled at thousands of potential voters.

The visit to Springfield was billed as the occasion on which the President signed legislation converting the Abraham Lincoln home here to a national monument.

But political observers downstate considered his visit the first of a number of trips to what the President calls "the heartland of the nation" to shore up his political defenses for 1972.

FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES, the abbreviated visit appeared to be worth his time.

An aide to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie estimated 300,000 people were at the fairgrounds. The crowds almost engulfed the presidential motorcade, and it appeared every man, woman and child got a close look at the presidential grin, if not a handshake.

Thousands more lined the motorcade route from the airport to downtown Springfield, often standing five and six deep in the street.

Nixon's plane touched ground at 11:27 a.m. Accompanied by his daughter, Julie Eisenhower, he strolled quickly to an area where a favorite few dozen spectators had been allowed inside the gates.

The motorcade left abruptly, and drove past crowds of young and old to the old state capital in the center of the city where ceremonies preceded his signing of the Lincoln home law.

Throughout the motorcade, Nixon was welcomed by hundreds of signs indicating voter support in 1972 and for his Vietnam and economic policies.

Throughout the brief visit, only two sour notes could be detected. Near the entrance to the old state capital, a group identifying themselves as Vietnam veterans displayed signs demanding immediate peace — but expressing no anti-Nixon sentiment. Another large sign in the crowd read simply, "Bell workers want their raise."

OTHERWISE, NIXON saw cheering shirt-sleeved and mini-skirted downstate enjoying a Republican holiday.

Yesterday was Governor's Day at the State Fair, and crowds were swelled by Republican party workers, all of whom came equipped with favorable displays for the President.

Nixon's motorcade, which moved quickly through the city except for one slowdown when he called words of greeting to wheelchair patients assembled on the lawn of the Everett McKinley Dirksen Nursing Home, ground to a halt when it entered the state fairgrounds.

The gate by which he entered the grounds had been held secret for security reasons but as the flashing red lights of the motorcade turned into the gate, the motorcade was nearly overrun by a virtually living sea of people. A vanguard of 25 to 30 state troopers reinforced by a seemingly inexhaustible contingent of Secret Service men was required to inch the president's car through the mass of people.

Nixon made no appearance at the grandstand, but spent nearly 90 minutes simply inching through the crowd. He stood in an open hard top automobile with Ogilvie. The President stopped briefly at the dairy cow barns and debarked to chat with handlers of prize milk cows. While in the barn, Nixon made what was appeared to be his one departure from a tight-knit security guard, breaking through to chat briefly with a young girl with braces on both her legs and supported by crutches.

WHILE SECRET Service men waited nervously, President Nixon took a moment to assure her that "you're going to get along just fine in life." Before he left her, he reached into his pocket and handed her a ball-point pen bearing the presidential signature.

Nixon then returned to the motorcade and made another brief stop at the 4-H dairy pavilion where he chatted with young owners of the prize winning milk cows, and made brief remarks to the young farmers.

To nearly hysterical cheering, he assured them farming is not a passing industry and told them, "we are counting on you young people to keep the United States the number one agricultural nation in the world."

From that point, the motorcade broke through the crowd and hastily traveled back to the airport by an unannounced route. The President immediately walked onto the airplane which departed for Jackson Hole, Wyoming at 2:17 p.m.

Earlier, the President had entered the chamber of the Illinois House of Representatives in the old state capitol for the ceremonial signing of the Lincoln home bill. In the tiny chamber he addressed some 40 or 50 VIPs.

He reminded them that Abraham Lincoln, "at a time when this was not the richest nation, when this was not the strongest nation, when it was torn by civil war, dared to call America man's last, best hope on earth."

He then said that some have interpreted his new economic policies as an attempt to build a wall around the nation.

"THAT IS NOT the case," he said. "These new policies will give us the economic strength on which to build the military and diplomatic strength which we need as the only nation which has the potential strength on which to build a world of peace."

Nixon concluded "I'm confident that from the heartland of America will come the spirit by which we can nobly save 'man's last best hope'."

ONE BUTTON TOTAL CONTROL

TELEDYNE PACKARD BELL

Getting a good picture on a color TV used to be a real ordeal. It meant playing with the color controls, twiddling the contrast knob, fiddling with the brightness, and fooling with the fine tuning until everything on the screen looked reasonably correct. And even then the picture usually wasn't perfect on every channel.

But now Teledyne Packard Bell has introduced Telemagic. And now tuning is no trouble at all. Teledyne Packard Bell's exclusive Telemagic feature does everything that color hue, color gain, brightness control, contrast control, and automatic frequency control used to do. Only it does it all with just a push of a button.

So no matter how "out of whack" the color performance may get, Telemagic can restore it to a bright, color-pure picture instantly.

Teledyne Packard Bell's Telemagic is the answer to easy color TV tuning. And we think it's right on the button.

Save Center Campaign Ends

Although only 30 persons were present, the room was really filled with thousands of helpful people.

The occasion was a luncheon Monday at The Seven Eagles Restaurant, Des Plaines, for local government officials, church leaders, civic representatives, Herald editors, and officers of The Salvation Army Community Counseling Center.

They were gathered to celebrate the successful conclusion of the Herald's emergency fund appeal to "Save the Center."

The words of praise and indebtedness expressed by a dozen speakers were directed at thousands of individuals and hundreds of families who donated a dollar or more to the fund campaign launched June 21.

"Hundreds of suburbanites gave what they could," said Kenneth A. Knox, Herald executive editor. "Often, it wasn't much individually — but collectively, it was the backbone of the fund. And it was worth more because they cared so deeply. In the end, what this all has been about is simply people helping people. That's what counts the most, and that's the simple but profound meaning of the Center."

DURING THE seven-week campaign, a total $11,425 was contributed in response to the Herald's call for help. This included support from 1,981 Herald readers, 26 area churches, seven service organizations, several business firms, and two township governments.

The family service agency headquartered in Des Plaines was faced with an Aug. 2 deadline to meet a $15,000 deficit in its 1971 operating budget — or else curtail its service to Northwest area families.

The donations — which have been matched in full by The Salvation Army — assure the Center will meet its deficit and continue its present level of service to area communities.

Announcement of the full "matching funds" was made at the luncheon by Lt. Col. Andrew S. Miller, unpaid commander for The Salvation Army.

"Rest assured that the full matching funds are safe and destined for the Community Counseling Center," he said, adding that the Army would utilize a private bequest as well as foundation funds to swell the total to $22,850.

"After this excellent display of journalism by the Paddock newspapers," said Lt. Col. Miller, "the force and backing of The Salvation Army toward the Center has been renewed and strengthened."

HE STRESSED that not only will the Center be able to continue its unique role as the only full-time professional family service agency available to Northwest suburbs, but it will also now be able to find the means to keep pace with the expanding demands of a growing population.

"This extraordinary demonstration of community concern and support gives us confidence that we can avoid a recurrence of this financial emergency in the future," he added.

Since 1965, The Salvation Army agency has given help to 4,000 area families. A total of 1,000 families will be provided service during 1971 — an increase of 35 per cent in the past year alone.

Highlight of the "victory" luncheon was presentation by Stuart R. Paddock Jr., president of Paddock Publications, of a check for $8,703 to Lt. Col. Miller. This sum represented the balance due on the total $11,425 donated by area residents.

Recognition of effort and expressions of gratitude came from a variety of luncheon spokesmen.

"We at the Center will never forget this act of generosity by the people of the Northwest suburbs," emphasized Mrs. Dean Lusinski, Center director. "We are grateful beyond words and we vow that we will do our utmost to serve this community with all our efforts."

MARY A. YOUNG, program coordinator for the Army's Greater Chicago Welfare Services Division, termed the community effort to save the Center a "pocket et to pocket resuscitation," adding:

"There is another benefit from all this — the great sense of community participation we all have felt. The money is wonderful, but in a greater sense there is a deep feeling of helping to support a cause — and in these times, that is something very worthwhile indeed."

State Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman of Arlington Heights said: "The Salvation Army deserves help from all of us because it has helped each of us over the years through its dedication, its warmth and its total service to people in need. This community effort today shows that if you trust in people and in their sense of civic responsibility, you usually are rewarded beyond your expectations."

Special recognition was paid to Elk Grove and Wheeling Township officials by James F. Vesely, Herald managing editor.

"ELK GROVE Township Auditor Bernard Lee established the machinery that allowed both Wheeling and Elk Grove townships to contribute $750 each to the Center," he explained, "and that donation was of enormous importance. Our special thanks must also go to the public service displayed by William Rohlfing, Elk Grove supervisor, and Mrs. Ethel Kolerus, Wheeling supervisor, without whom this appeal would not have been so successful."

Brig. Helen McClellan, director of family and welfare services for The Salvation Army presented a special award to Charles E. Hayes, editor in chief of the Herald, in recognition of the newspaper's efforts.

Other guests at the Herald-sponsored luncheon included:

Herbert H. Behrel, mayor of Des Plaines; Robert D. Teichert, Mount Prospect village president; John L. Moodie, Palatine village president; Lou Sloss, president of Des Plaines Kiwanis Club; the Rev. Edward J. Laramie, St. James Catholic Church, Arlington Heights; the Rev. David J. Quill, St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect; the Rev. Edwin I. Stevens, South Church, Mount Prospect, and past chairman of the Center's Advisory Council; Clifford Arlington Heights led all Northwest suburbs in dollar contributions as well as total donors in the Herald's recent "Save the Center" fund appeal.

Final figures in the emergency campaign were presented Monday by Charles E. Hayes, Herald editor-in-chief, at a luncheon marking the successful conclusion of the appeal.

A total 1,981 Herald readers donated $11,425 to the fund. The breakdown by community is as follows:

Arlington Heights — $3,217 from 730 donors
Mount Prospect — $2,136 from 344 donors

Des Plaines — $1,381 from 172 donors;
Palatine — $1,066 from 228 donors;

Wheeling — $135 from 40 donors;
Hoffman Estates — $93 from 44 donors, and

Other towns — $81 from 31 donors.
In addition $1,500 was donated by Elk Grove and Wheeling Township governments.

Hayes paid tribute to the support of 26 area churches donating a total $2,941 to the fund, singling out six Roman Catholic parishes for contributions of $733 and two Protestant churches for their major support — $483 from St. Mark Lutheran Church and $300 from South Church-Community Baptist, both Mount Prospect.

Six area Rotary Clubs contributed a total $900 and Des Plaines, Kiwanis Club gave $300 toward the total $11,425 donated by civic organizations.

Is our future in the bag?

Some scientists give our planet thirty more years. Then population zero.

No mushroom cloud to ring down the curtain. Just pollution. Silent and simple-minded. Like people scattering trash. Paper. Glass. Plastic. Deadly trivia. That's our destiny. Unless we change our ways. Government and industry are spending millions to do away with pollution. But there's one source of pollution they can't control. People. We have to do that job ourselves.

Your automobile is a good place to start. Don't throw trash from your car. And above all, don't forget the fundamentals...keep your engine in tune. You'll cut harmful emissions decisively. Change your oil and filter on schedule. Try the new, improved gasolines. Service your car's pollution control device regularly if you don't have one, install one.

All these steps take a little effort. But they must be done. Now. We have a thirty-year deadline.

'Laugh-In' Changed Format For Shows

by ROBERT MUSEL
NEW YORK — (UPI) — When "Laugh-In" finally passes from the network scene — nothing in television lasts forever — it will be in a way the victim of its own success. So many shows and commercials have now borrowed the techniques that were revolutionary in 1968 that it is becoming harder every year to recapture some of the excitement of its original impact.

Executive producer George Schlatter left a rehearsal for the premiere Laugh-In show of the season Sept. 13 NBC-TV to state firmly that he doesn't see this happening for a long time. With the optimism built into the makeup of every TV tycoon he declared he was even ready to predict higher ratings for Dan Rowan and Dick Martin and company.

"We changed the pace of everything in TV with our first season," Schlatter said. "But we expect to stay ahead again. We've got the old favorites back like Ruth Buzzi, Alan Sues, Lily Tomlin, Johnny Brown, Gary Owens, Barbara Sharma and Ann Elder. "We've also got four new members of the cast, three new writers, a new producer and a new director."

"Of course we've got new subject matter, as well. Ruth Buzzi, for example, will feature in 'fantasy flashbacks' in which she interviews famous men of history. The flying pickle finger award is back, but it's balanced this time with a good guy award."

WHATEVER THE PLAGIARISTS may have done, Schlatter still believes there's a lot of resilience on the Laugh-In formula and therefore no reason to tamper too radically with its successful format. He must also believe in the old French saying that the more things change the more they're the same for two of his "new" cast members. Larry Hovis and Dickie Dawson, both late of Hogan's Heroes were in Laugh-In in 1968. Producer Paul Keyes is another returnee as is director Mark Warren.

The two other new cast members were scarcely around when the show made its debut. Tamara Tucker is five years old and will be seen answering the telephone for mother. Moose Drier is seven and was letter perfect at the first rehearsal, when all the adults were blowing their lines, which is why the late W. C. Fields warned against competing with children and animals.

Laugh-In was first shown as a special and went on to become a series. Schlatter is trying to make lightning strike twice with a special "It's a Wacky World" which is also on the NBC-TV Sept. 13 schedule. Hopefully, if it registers well, it is the forerunner of a series. Schlatter took his cameras to 15 foreign countries and filmed local stars in funny situations on their home ground — Elke Sommer in Germany, Jacques Tati in France, Tony Curtis in Britain, where he now lives, and so on.

"We've sent shows around the world from the U.S.," Schlatter said, "but this is the first time we've used talent in indigenous locations."

Garbage Can Ordinance A Cornerstone

by DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are a number of cornerstones upon which our civil liberties are built, among them England's Magna Carta and the 8th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

But in all history I doubt there has been a more significant contribution in this field than a recent court decision preserving the sanctity of trash cans.

In this landmark case, the California Supreme Court ruled that police must have a warrant to search trash cans awaiting pickup along the curb.

When a person puts his trash out for the refuse collector he has a right to a "reasonable expectation" that it will not be "rummaged through and picked over by police," the court held. Hear! Hear!

ASSUMING THE ruling is sustained by the U.S. Supreme Court, this could become our first line of defense against invasion of privacy.

It may be argued, of course, that the principle of trash can immunity confronts police with yet another impediment at a time when they already are hard pressed to maintain law and order because of legal niceties.

With anything as fundamental to human dignity as secret trash, however, we cannot afford to lower the bars for the sake of a few more criminal convictions.

For if a man's home is his castle, his trash can is his armor.

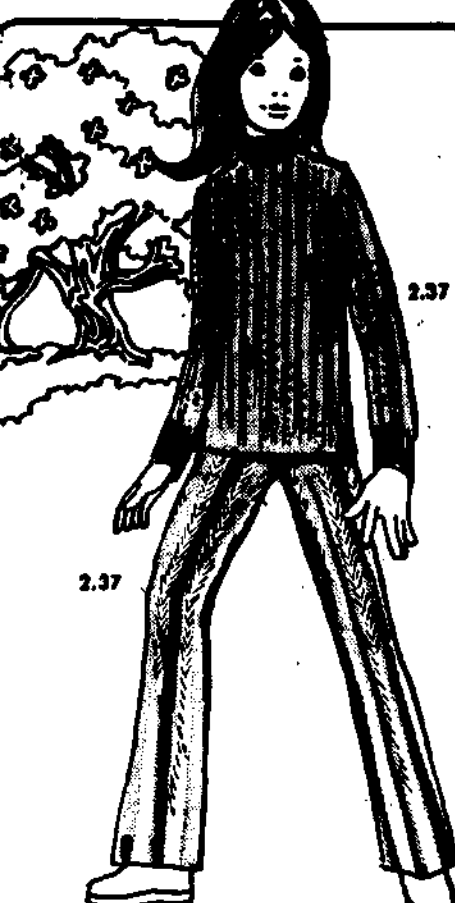

It is the very essence of human nature to feel sheepish about one's trash and to wish to conceal it from one's fellow man.

WHO AMONG us does not have something in the attic, basement, closet or trunk that he is keeping solely because disposing of it would cause him embarrassment?

That thought of a cop, or any stranger, poking around in one's trash can, snickering or glancing over its contents, is humiliating if not incriminating.

The nature of our rubbish, sir, must remain a confidential matter between us and our refuse collectors in the way that matters we confide to clergymen, doctors and lawyers are held inviolate.

This may require elevating refuse collectors to professional status so that they could adopt a code of ethics. Which would greatly increase the fee. But no amount of money is too much to pay for the peace of mind we would derive from having inscrutable trash.

Give Wage, Price Freeze Answers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Office of Emergency Preparedness has provided its regional offices with the following questions and answers to help settle queries from the public about the wage-price freeze:

- Q. Are apartment rents included in the freeze?
- A. Yes.
- Q. Are prices of used commodities, such as used cars, antiques, and resales of housing included in the freeze?
- A. Yes.
- Q. Are fees for professional services such as doctors and lawyers included?
- A. Yes. No increases in rates or fees for particular services are permitted during the freeze.
- Q. How does the freeze affect people who work on commission or piece rate?
- A. The commission rate or piece rate cannot be increased over that existing in the base period (the previous 30 days).
- Q. Will the wage-price freeze apply to insurance rates?
- A. Yes.
- Q. Are rates charged by common carriers and public utilities included in the freeze?
- A. Yes.
- Q. Are wholesale and retail prices included in the freeze?
- A. Yes.
- Q. ARE STOCK AND bond prices included in the freeze?
- A. No.
- Q. Are interest rates included in the freeze?
- A. No.
- Q. Are price increases that have already been announced to take effect in the future subject to the freeze?
- A. Yes. All price increases must be controlled.
- Q. ARE DEFERRED wage or salary increases which have been negotiated to take effect in the future permitted by the freeze?
- A. No.
- Q. Are future cost-of-living increases built into wage contracts or provided by management exempt?
- A. No. There will be no cost-of-living increases during the 90-day freeze.

- Q. Are increases in pensions permitted to take effect?
- A. Yes, these are not payments for services rendered.
- Q. Are previously announced increased tuition rates for the 1971-72 school year permitted by the freeze?
- A. Yes. These are considered transaction prices, since commitments have been made and there are a number of cases where payments have been made.
- Q. If farm prices of "raw agricultural products" are exempt does this exemption of raw products follow through to retail?
- A. Yes.
- Q. AT WHAT POINT do controls apply to agricultural products?
- A. At the point of initial processing.
- Q. Are state and local tax rates frozen during this period?
- A. No.
- Q. In cases where surcharges or other sales or excise taxes have been increased, is the ceiling for the price paid by the customer including these taxes raised by a like amount?
- A. Yes. The price the customer pays is equal to the base, which remains unchanged during the ceiling, plus these taxes.
- Q. Are wage increases under apprenticeship contracts approved by the Department of Labor frozen?
- A. Such increases may be permitted only in accordance with the terms of the apprenticeship agreement up to and including the top step of the agreement. Increases beyond that step are prohibited under the freeze.
- Q. HOW WILL RENT ceiling be determined for units not previously rented before freeze date?
- A. Standard should be general prevailing rents for comparable units in the immediate area.
- Q. How do you price new products?
- A. Use the price of the most nearly comparable product sold by your closest comparable competitor.
- Q. How will wages and salaries be determined for new jobs?
- A. Scales will be determined on the basis of comparable jobs within the affected business or firm. If no comparability exists within such entities, such scales will be determined on the basis of comparable jobs in nearby firms.
- Q. How does one apply for relief under the current authority of the order?
- A. Orders will be issued shortly by OEP outlining procedures to be followed at the regional service and compliance centers.
- Q. What should an individual be advised to do if he alleges that he has been overcharged?
- A. Regional service and compliance centers will be responsible for receiving and processing these complaints.
- Q. Will any action be taken to investigate the charge? If so, by whom?
- A. Yes, by OEP.
- Q. Can an individual institute an action to recover an overcharge?
- A. Not under the executive order.

Nader Gives Nixon Grudging Support

Freeze 'Probably A Plus'

by TOM LAUE
SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Ralph Nader has lent grudging support to President Nixon's 90-day economy freeze by saying it's "probably a plus given all the administration's prior defaults and mistakes" but said it is still so error-laden the policy will do little to help the average worker.

"The President's economic policy amounts to a giant Christmas gift for industry that he hopes will somehow drift down to the working man," Nader said Tuesday night.

"It's hard to measure the impact of Nixon's plan because nobody knows what he will do after the freeze is lifted," Nader said. "But a number of problems are already evident."

Nader said the 10 per cent hike in the price of imported goods will "particularly hurt poor people accustomed to buying lower-priced foreign-made products" and said the move might lead to a "retaliatory trade war."

NADER CHARGED the higher import prices will artificially shore up the cost of domestic items "without introducing any efficiency to their manufacture."

The Nixon policy to cure the ailing dollar is "really a psychological trick," Nader said, since it is "wholly unenforceable. Its enforcement would make prohibition look like kindergarten."

Nader said any economy freeze should be applied across the board if it is to be effective.

"Why is there no freeze on profits?" Nader asked. "Why is there no freeze on interest rates? Why are tuition fees in some areas allowed to go up even as the freeze is in effect?"

Nader said an economic plan designed more sincerely to help the consumer would cut taxes at the "lower levels, impose excess-profit taxes on industry and apply more sternly the antitrust laws."

Nader also claimed that corporations being given tax breaks, supposedly to spur investments in new markets, in reality will get the tax edge on products and property they already planned to buy.

NADER CONCEDED, however, that the new Nixon economic game plan, for all the faults he sees in it, is "probably a plus given all the administration's prior defaults and mistakes in the economic realm."

Nader, who has annoyed and angered the nation's corporate structure by crusading constantly against shoddy workmanship and deceptive practices, was in Springfield Tuesday to take part in a lecture series sponsored by Sangamon State University.

He called for a "new kind of citizenship. The best citizens roll up their sleeves, analyze and talk about problems and try to motivate others to do something about them."

Nader said citizenship must become a full-time profession in which a citizen's actions are considered "not only a privilege but an obligation, not a nuisance but a cherished right."

"This is the real kind of citizen," Nader said. "Not the one who can sing anthems and pledge allegiance. That should be the end of democracy, not its be-all."

Nader, often mentioned as a possible candidate for high public office, again Tuesday disavowed any interest in partisan politics.

"My most effective role," he said, "is as the spark behind a citizen's consumer mobilization movement."

Check Of Franchisors Is Urged

by LEA TONKIN

Before you sign on the dotted line and shell out several thousand dollars for the privilege of selling widgets on a franchise basis, take the time to check out the business, and what you can expect as a return on your investment.

That's the advice of the Illinois Attorney General representative as well as the legitimate side of the franchise industry. If the Illinois Franchise Registration Act is passed this fall by the legislature, franchisors will have to disclose certain financial aspects of their companies.

Robert Skirnick, assistant Illinois attorney general in the antitrust division, said the proposed legislation is a disclosure type of bill. "Before a person signs up for a franchise, the franchisor would have to disclose the nature of the industry," said Skirnick.

"ALTHOUGH THIS bill deals with the franchise industry it also gets at some of the levels of the multi-level distribution company," Skirnick said. "It deals with the fly-by-night operators, gives information to the franchisee and frees money for the legitimate operator."

The difference between the franchise and the multi-level distribution company is in the number of potential dealers that can be recruited into a business, according to Lewis Rudnick, of Rudnick, Wolfe, Skidderman and Foreman. He is general counsel for the International Franchise Association (IFA). The association has about 200 members representing most of the major franchise operations.

"The key to the pyramid type of operation, or multi-level distribution company, is the proliferation of distributors at any level of distribution," Rudnick said. "Under a distributor are sub-distributors, wholesalers and actual dealers." He contrasted this with other franchise operations in which there is usually only one distributor of merchandise or services in a given area.

"THE MULTI-LEVEL company is definitely not the franchise company, although they may call themselves so," he said. "They have given the franchise industry something of a black eye because the public doesn't always make the distinction between them."

"The reason the pyramid companies are fraudulent is that there is no effective control over the number of distributors," Rudnick said. Citing the Koscot Interplanetary, Inc. as an example, Rudnick said that a company may claim that its products sell, but it may recruit so many dealers that a person could find himself one of six dealers on a block.

"The key to success in the pyramid company is not in the amount of products that you sell to the consumer but in the number of dealers or distributors recruited," according to Rudnick. He noted that the middle man is disappearing in the regular franchise industry; there is more often a direct link between the franchisor and the franchisee.

People with money to invest in a franchise company should take the time to investigate the firm, Rudnick said. The IFA publishes a booklet available in its Washington office for $1 called Investigate Before Investing. "Most important for the potential franchisee," said Rudnick, "are conversations with a number of existing franchisees to see if the franchisor is dealing with them fairly."

THE FRANCHISE industry includes companies ranging from auto dealers and gasoline stations to the fast food industry. Rudnick said an approximate estimate of yearly sales through franchise operations is set at $100 billion.

To Eliminate Conflict Of Interest

NEC Personnel Policy Set

A personnel hiring policy designed to eliminate conflict of interest for board members and administrators is being put into effect this fall by the Northwest Educational Cooperative (NEC).

The policy prevents hiring wives, husbands and children of NEC governing board members as employees of NEC or any of its affiliated cooperatives.

Family members of the NEC executive director, the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO) executive director, or superintendents in the NEC cannot be hired by the NEC or its cooperatives either.

The NEC governing board is made up of one member of the board of education of 10 area school districts: 15, 21, 23, 25, 26, 54, 57, 59, 211, and 214.

The policy does not cover families of other members of the district school boards.

In addition, family members of NEC directors, who direct special programs sponsored by the NEC, will not be hired.

Exceptions to the policy are allowed when a wife, husband or child of an employee is elected to the NEC governing board by his board of education, or an employee marries an NEC board member or administrator excluded by the policy.

The personnel policy does not exclude any individual from participating in professional or in-service training programs offered by NEC.

Finally, an annual report listing employees who are members of the family of any board of education or administrator whose district is in the NEC will be given to the NEC governing board once a year.

The policy has been developed by a governing board committee of Dist. 25 representative Richard Schlott, chairman, Dist. 26 representative Clark Robinson, and John Wightman, NSSEO executive director.

The committee spent several months exploring personnel hiring policies of member school districts before developing one for the NEC.

Lay Leaders Needed In Area Schools

Residents interested in assisting High School Dist. 214 English teachers with theme grading can apply at the district administration office now through Sept. 2.

Lay readers grade themes and sometimes discuss themes with students. Qualifications for lay readers are a college degree with a major or minor in English.

PART OF candidate screening is a sample essay test to be given Thursday, Sept. 2, at 1:30 p.m. at Prospect High School, Room 134. The examination, in which candidates are asked to grade a theme, will last one hour.

Applications for lay reader positions are available from Robert Cudney, director of instructional staffing, at the administration center, 799 W. Kensington Rd. Mount Prospect.

Tax Money Distributed Fast

County Treasurer Bernard J. Korzen yesterday reported his office has distributed more than $904 million in real estate and personal property taxes to local taxing bodies.

Korzen said the figures reflect the fastest collection and distribution of tax money in the history of Cook County.

Real estate tax collections totaled $746,410,925.25. Personal property tax collections were $158,438,696.66.

Korzen said the real estate tax collections represent more than 68 per cent of the total $1,230,408,408.70 in real estate tax billings. The first installment on real estate taxes was due July 15. The second installment is due Sept. 1.

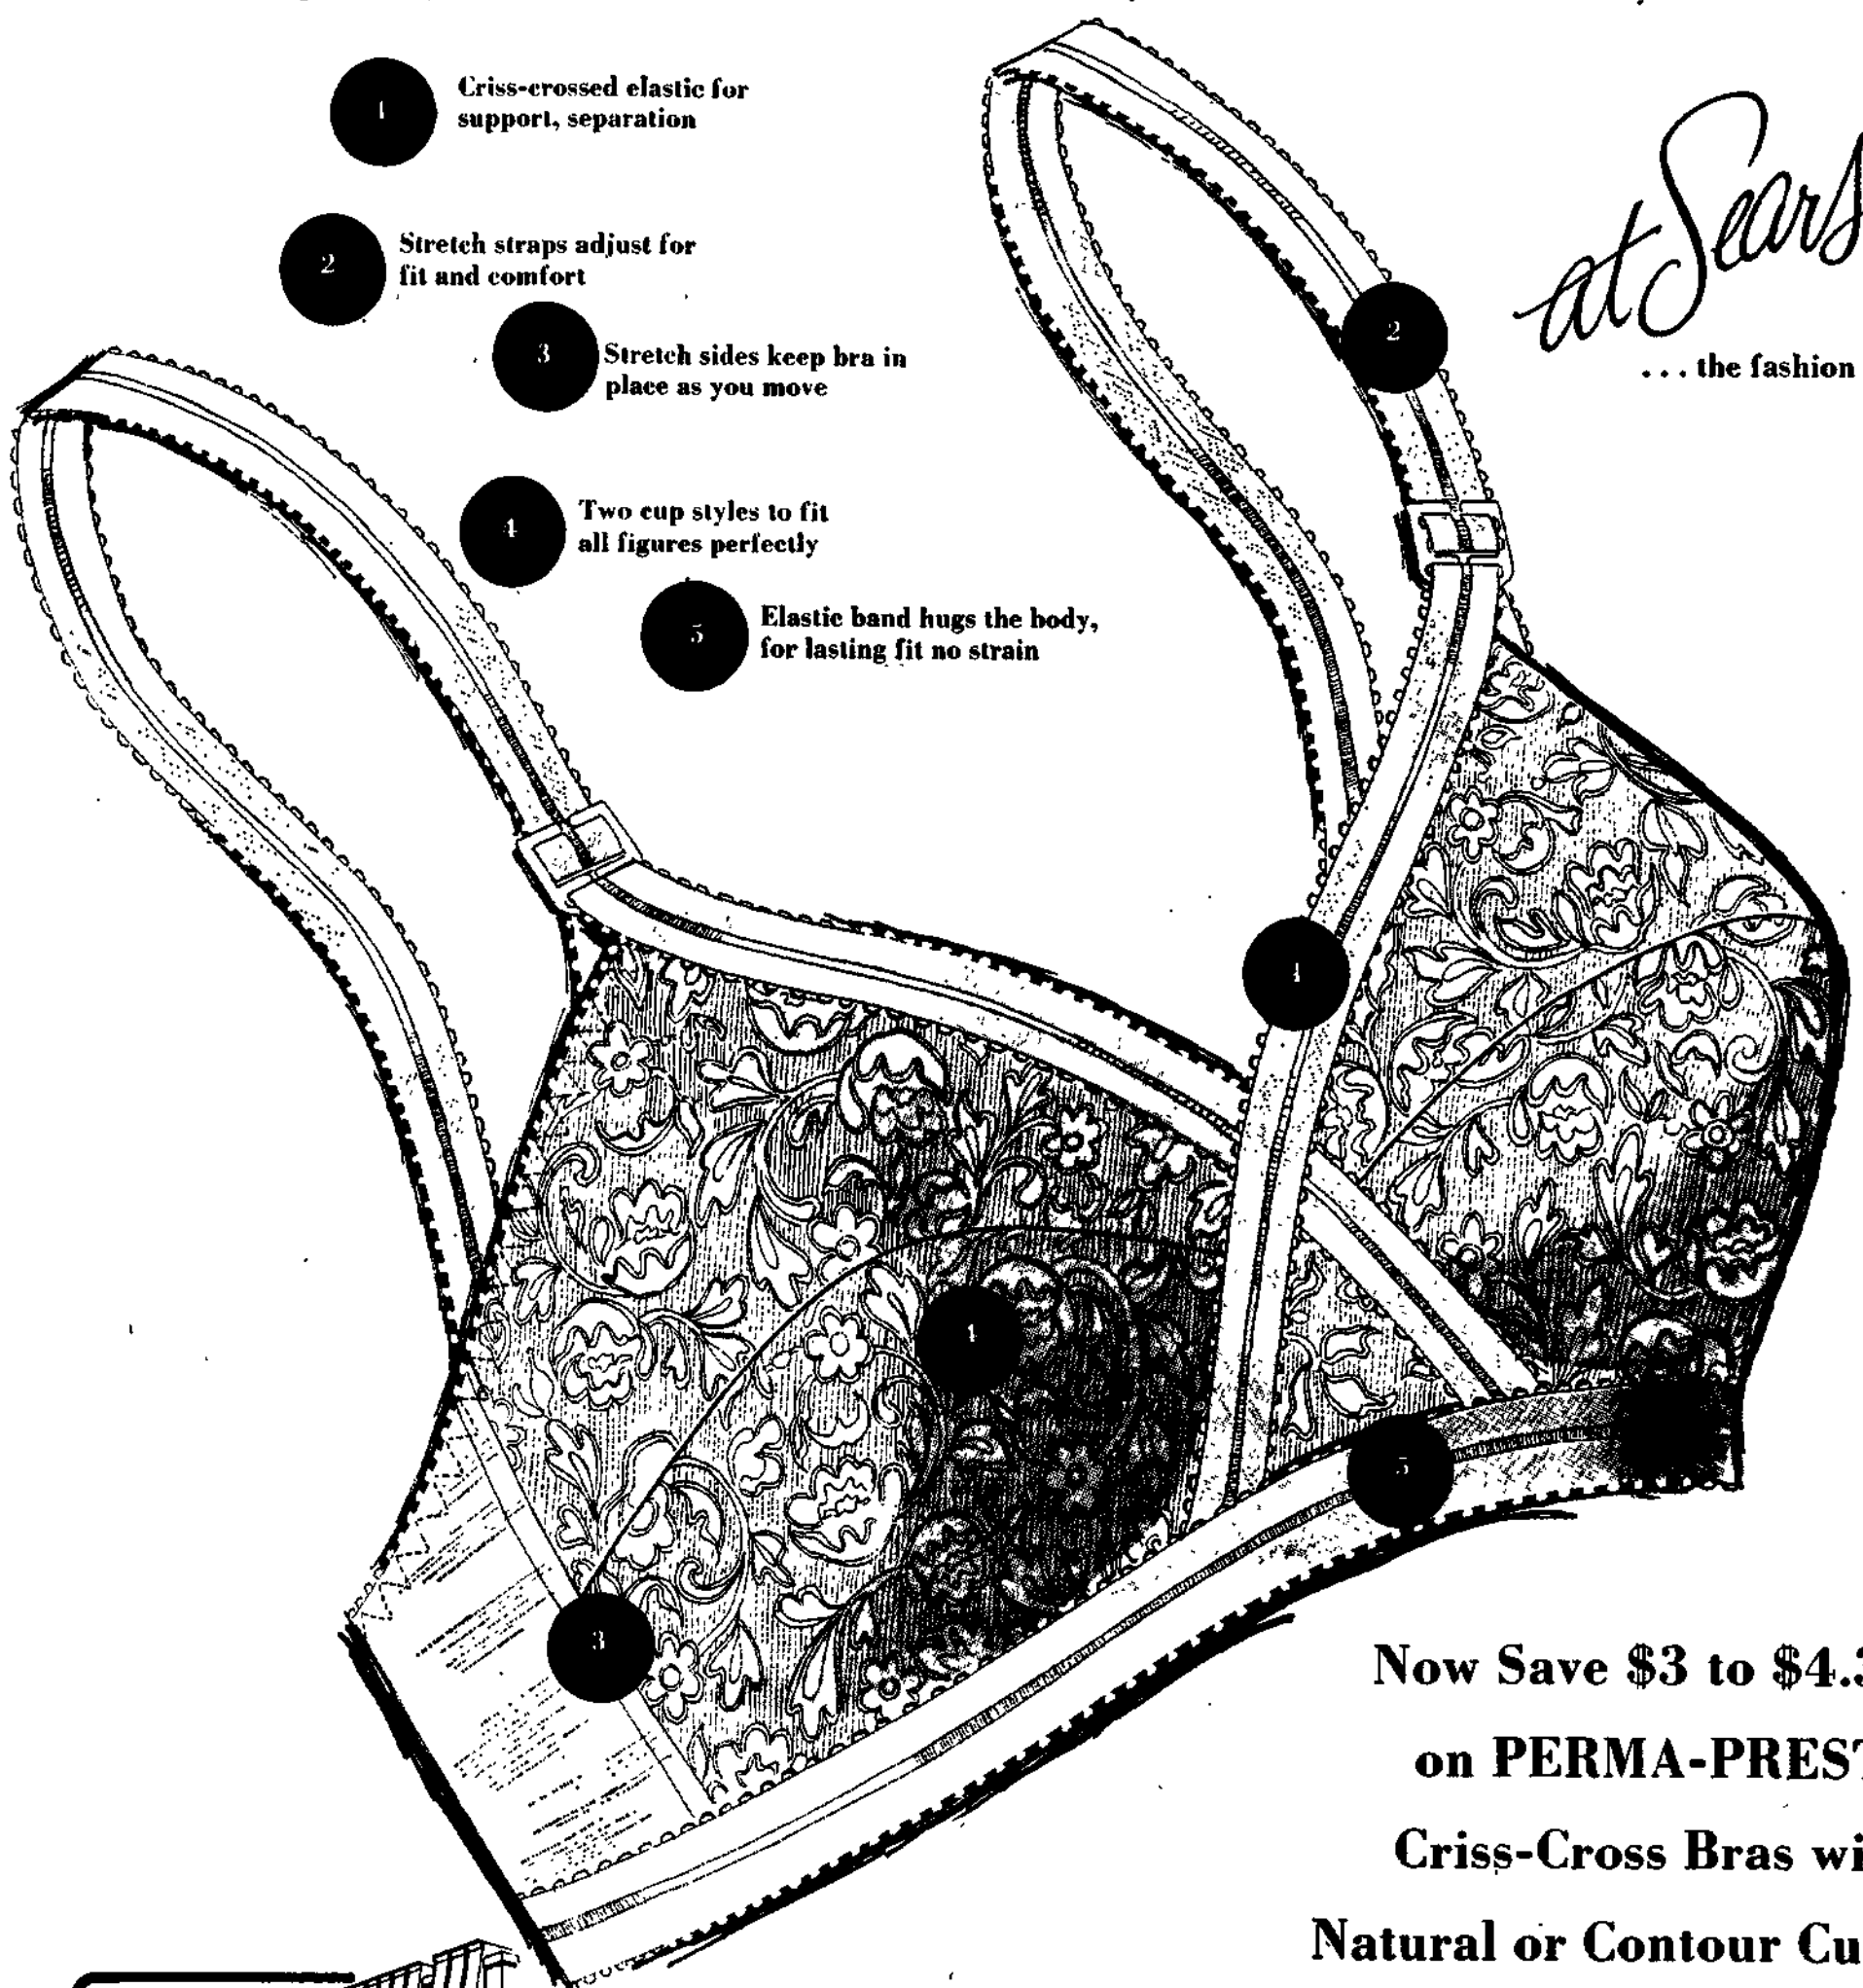

"Our figures show 69 per cent of all suburban property owners have paid both installments on their real estate bills. In Chicago, 68 per cent of the property owners have paid both installments," Korzen said.

"I would like to thank these taxpayers for their cooperation and civic dedication. By paying both installments of their real estate bills they have enabled the local taxing bodies to retire their tax anticipation warrants, thus realizing a large savings in interest payments," he stated.

All tax collections and distributions are now being made directly by the Cook County Treasurer. Korzen said the record collection and distribution of tax funds demonstrates the decision by the Illinois Supreme Court eliminating the collection by the 30 township collectors has not been a handicap. In fact, Korzen said the centralization program has saved the County almost a million dollars in operating costs and salaries.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Everyone has heard of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table. What is not generally known is that there were a couple of square tables in the corner where the knights used to play bridge. It was the type of game where it was important to be nice to your partner. Otherwise a partnership argument was likely to wind up in combat with swords and other lethal weapons.

Today's hand finds the peerless Lancelot sitting North with the villainous Mordred, South.

Mordred played dummy's queen of diamonds at trick one. East put on the king and Mordred the ace. Eventually East got in twice with the 10 and eight of diamonds. He led a heart the first time. There was no way for Mordred to avoid the loss of a heart as well as the two diamonds and the ace of clubs.

"If I had all of Merlin's magic, I could not have made the hand," growled Mordred.

"Forsooth," said Lancelot. "Anyone but you or Dinadan (the worst player of the round table) would have won the battle. Let the jack of diamonds hold that first trick and you would never have to lose a heart."

Disposal Plan Is Questioned

What price garbage?

That question — in all its ramifications — is being posed in Arlington Heights, and it's going to get a serious look from the village's new Environmental Control Commission (ECC).

The ECC has named a special subcommittee to investigate plans for a solid waste disposal incinerator proposed for the village. It's a good project for the subcommittee, and we look ahead eagerly to its report, due Oct. 1.

The incinerator was suggested in a report to the village from Melbourne Noel, a Chicago consulting engineer. He proposed the incinerator as a longer-term solution to the village's trash problem than use of the 56-acre landfill site near Buffalo Grove at the north end of town.

Noel has urged constructing the incinerator on the landfill site, blueprinting a massive building with a chimney 250 feet high. According to Noel, the need is urgent and the facility should be built as soon as possible.

There's far too much risk in such haste, and that's why we're relieved that the ECC subcommittee has been assigned to undertake its investigation.

In theory, the Noel proposal makes some sense. It's obvious that the garbage problem is a critical one for Arlington Heights and the entire suburban area; in fact, for any community of any size in any metropolitan area.

There are too many of us; we produce too much trash; there are too few places to put it.

The idea of burning garbage, thus greatly reducing its volume, seems a better solution than continually piling it up in village dumps. And Noel suggests that other communities in the suburban area could use the Arlington Heights incinerator, thus easing everyone's problem and giving Arlington Heights some revenue to help defray the cost.

But there are other considerations.

One is a pledge that the landfill site would be only temporary; that in fact it would eventually be developed into a park to service the rapidly-growing area at the Arlington Heights-Buffalo Grove border. A lot of people have put faith in that idea, and with the strong negative feeling toward the landfill in the area, it would be a disservice to ignore that faith.

An incinerator plant, after all, is a permanent thing, and not an esthetically-pleasing one under the best of circumstances. The landfill might last another five years at its current use; the incinerator could extend use of the area indefinitely.

The proposed cost is a staggering consideration. Noel projects a basic cost of more than $4.2 million for the initial plant; another $1.1 million for an addition in 1976; and still another $500,000 for a shredding device to help grind up material. Initial annual operating costs would be close to $420,000.

Are there better ways?

At this point, we don't have a definitive answer. But as just one alternative, we point to Rolling Meadows, which is installing a garbage compacting system. It literally will cut the problem in half, by that much reducing the volume of trash.

Other communities, now all using various landfills in the area, should consider that as a next step in their trash problems. And all of them, we think, would do well to get in as observers on the Arlington Heights debate, where the issue should get the magnification it deserves.

Nothing New Under The Sun

Ripping off, hitchhiking, drugs, communes, long hair, jug bands, wire frame glasses, group sex . . .

It's been described in the last few years as the new life style by newspapers, magazines, TV commentators and educators.

And it's enough to make an old hippie cut his hair, kick the habit and go straight.

Or an old beatnik (remember?) laugh until his stomach aches . . . because brothers and sisters, there just ain't nothing new under the sun. And there hasn't been for quite some time.

The cult just spread a little, that's all. And now it's been joined by suburban straights and runaways who want to look and act like hippies. And that's okay, as long as they know what they're really doing. You see, most of them are just looking for a little adventure, not a life style.

Six to eight years ago hippies had their identity intact because everyone knew from the way they dressed, what they were. And they were as rare in the Midwest as members of Hell's Angels.

But now look . . . millions of kids from New York to San Diego have adopted the hippie dress and as a result, it's hard sometimes to tell the real from the phonies.

The hippie philosophy of drugs, sex, acid rock and a pox on the establishment got its early beginnings in places like Berkeley and then small pockets of hippies banded together in places like Aspen and Jackson Hole a few years later. This was in the early Sixties.

Everything the new cult is doing today was done out there first, and by others I'm sure, much earlier.

However, there are some differences. Pot was harder to get. In fact, you might have to drive several hundred miles to make a contact. And heroin was even harder to come by, but junkies made weekly runs to Aspen from Denver because they had customers there.

Ripping off is a relatively new word, but not the act. Early hippies were forced into ripping off (stealing food from big stores), especially if they were musicians between gigs, to survive.

But just like the American Indian never killed more than he needed, they never stole more than they needed. And right or wrong, the instinct to survive is still a pretty strong one. Stronger certainly than morals.

Today there is a new tide of youths taking to our highways for a summer of on the road living, visiting places such as California's Big Sur, the Colorado Rockies and the hills of New England.

Parents may frown on the idea, especially if it's their daughter who wants to hit the road, but the experience isn't all bad. And if the kids don't have a summer job, why not? As long as they stay out of drugs.

There is a degree of risk and danger, though, living on the road. And the only drawback is too many youths have the idea "It can't happen to me." Until it does, and then it's too late.

The hodge of the hitchhiker today is a rucksack and a sleeping bag. Straights aren't picking them up so much as other young people. And a few are even hitchhiking by air at small private airports now.

But police in many states have begun a tough crackdown on hitchhikers, especially in Colorado. It seems there is a law you have to walk into oncoming traffic. And it is being enforced now so kids can't thumb a ride, which makes for some long waits and for the unlucky ones, a few days in jail.

I knew one girl, Julie her name was, who hopped a freight out of Chicago in 1965. A senior at Cornell University, she jumped off in Cheyenne and hitchhiked all over the West. In September she hopped an eastbound freight and made it back to New York in time for classes. She said she had been doing this for years and paid her way by selling a purse full of LSD cubes at $5 each, to kids along the way.

And there was another fellow, Tim, who billed himself as a musician, carpenter and sandal-maker. A Berkeley dropout, he maintained good horse and played in a jug band, which years later was popularized when the Nitty-Gritty Dirt Band came into being (not the same one).

In those days, men here didn't have long hair. But out there they were wearing it like Buffalo Bill, sporting beards and a few even tied it back in a bun like pirates and wore gold earrings.

For girls, their new image became popular in Aspen long before it moved East. And it was characterized by gals with long blond hair, no makeup, jeans, turtlenecks, headbands, mountain climbing boots and a pretty liberated attitude toward sex.

Art students, dropouts, divorcees, adventurers, lost souls . . . they all met and converged on the road in those days and now it has become a national pastime.

Ripping off? We lived for a week in Jackson Hole on carrots dipped in peanut butter, beans and cheese we took from a grocery store between jobs when the money ran out. And traveling in an old car bed together with bubble gum and tin cans. It belonged to a friend of mine, a hippie from Montana, who bought it from an old girl friend of his for 50 cents. He played guitar and carried all his own songs around inside his straw hat, written out in longhand on bits of crumpled notebook paper.

Anyway, nothing about this life style is new. It's all been done before, but never by so many. Hitting the road, I think, is good for a person as long as they stay out of drugs and make it only a temporary thing.

It's fun, but not for a lifetime. And if you don't do it when you're young, you may kick yourself for years, when you're older and fed up with the establishment, for not doing it.

Life on the open road can be good for a man's spirit . . . for a summer. But it's a lot like onions and anchovies.

A little goes a long way. And too much of it can make you sick . . . sometimes for keeps.

And that's a bummer man . . . When you lose your soul.

'Speed Traps' Not Justified

Recently I read in your paper that several of our northwest municipalities reported increased receipts from traffic fines.

On the surface this would seem to show the police departments are doing an exceptional job of law enforcement, but there's another aspect to be considered. Where and how are many of these fines being collected?

The FENCE POST Letters to the Editor

As a salesman who must travel throughout the greater Chicago area I can tell you that almost every suburb has its pet location where traffic violators and subsequent fines can be practically guaranteed. It may be a sudden reduction in the posted speed limit or a traffic control sign that can be misinterpreted, but the driver passing through the area for the first time is in jeopardy from the previously positioned police car.

Am I condemning the police for carrying out their assignments? Not at all. On the contrary any officer I have ever dealt with has been most courteous. (I'm sure most of us are not quite as gracious with them.)

Is it possible that the city fathers are overly anxious to make the police department more self-supporting and actually assign quotas to be collected? If adequate traffic safety and control are the chief concern, then let's review those areas of chronic traffic offenses and try to solve the problem that creates them. Does the speed limit make sense? Are changes too abrupt? Are all signs explicit?

One place to start is Route 53 from the racetrack south past Route 72. Here is a divided two and three-lane highway obviously built to handle more traffic faster. The natural tendency of any driver is to pick up speed when traffic is light, yet the posted limit is 40 mph. Further south where 53 again becomes a narrow two-lane highway with two-way traffic the posted limit immediately jumps to 65 mph. Does that make sense? I haven't been caught on this one yet. However, I'm sure it's just a matter of time because the limit should be another 10 mph greater.

Now, I realize, my example of the previous paragraph cannot be laid at the feet of any particular city government and was selected for that reason. However, there are many such instances of speed limits too high or too low and confusing signs.

Anyway, the whole point of this letter is to show that with so many towns in the act it's more than an inconvenience to be caught in a moving violation. The state allows just three violations before suspending or revoking the driver's license. To the driver who must put many miles on his car in his occupation it's really nerve-shattering. Lose your license — lose your job. Who do I watch for when I drive defensively — the other driver or the partially hidden police car?

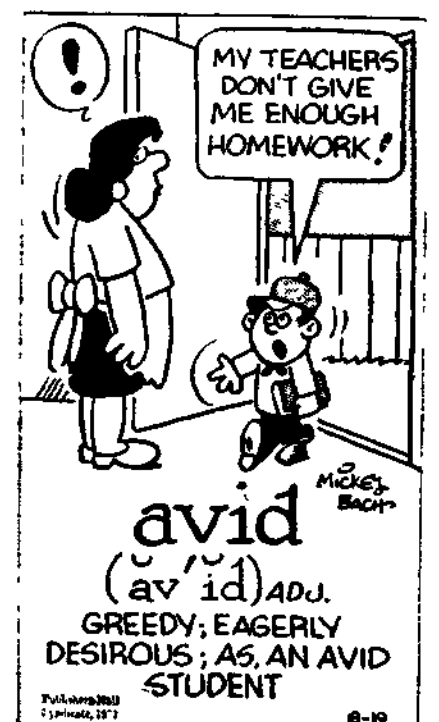

With all of the highway repair and construction we need our police to help move traffic more efficiently during heavy traffic times, not lying in wait to apprehend us on a technicality.

Nixon's Move On Economy Signals '72 Candidacy

by BRUCE BLOSSAT

The timing of President Nixon's sweeping moves to bolster the American economy gives the whole undertaking a heavy political overlay.

For some months, analysts have been saying that August was about the last moment the President could take major steps which might ease unemployment and inflation in time to benefit him in a 1972 bid for re-election.

The argument runs that measures like tax cuts, investment credits, a wage-price freeze and slashes in federal spending make their impact slowly. It is estimated that if they are instituted now or very soon, important beneficial effects will not be felt until March of next year.

Any sizable gains after that time, it is contended, would come too late to help Nixon at the polls.

Whether the President accepts this reasoning is not known, but it is a fact he has acted just within what are seen as his danger limits.

That he has done so, and that he has acted so drastically, should put at rest all doubts that he is interested in running again in 1972.

The moves are his recognition that the economy long since has become the big issue of the campaign — made more prominent by the wounding down of the Vietnam war.

In 1968, Nixon won four of the eight big northern states—California, Illinois, Ohio and New Jersey — all by margins of two or three per cent. He knows, and gets constant reminders from political advisers, that he could be hardpressed to hold those states next year if unemployment and inflation were not moving downward substantially by then. California, with the nation's richest electoral vote harvest (46), is in the worst plight of any big state.

By his broad-stroke assault on the problems, the President, of course has put his potential 1972 Democratic rivals into severe difficulties. Only days before he acted, Senators Edmund Muskie and George McGovern delivered major economic speeches to a Texas labor convention. Now Nixon has, for the moment, cut the heart out of their case.

McGovern's reaction was that of a wounded man. It took him months to face the reality that his great issue, the war, was not the big thing. He finally switched to the economy, and then had to watch Nixon cut him off at the shoetops. His blast at the President's proposals as unwise and inadequate is, to say the least, premature.

In the end, naturally, the months ahead will determine whether Nixon has, for 1972 re-election purposes, robbed the Democrats of their key issue. Should the proposals fail to get men back to work and hold prices down, the issue will quickly rise again to threaten him.

But if the measure works — not perfectly perhaps but sufficiently well to bring about real improvement and convince millions of voters the President has the capacity to act decisively — he may find himself in a far stronger position by spring of 1972 than he is in today.

Not the least unsettling thing for the Democratic contenders was the speed and magnitude of Nixon's economic action. As with his announcement of the visit to China, the dramatic new thrust on the economy demonstrated forcefully the power of the sitting president to affect the course of events in massive and surprising ways.

Budget Delays

by LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Of all persons, a banking economist has come out in favor of socializing the nation's water resources.

Dudley D. Johnson of First National City Bank in New York isn't even bashful about it. He boldly urged in an article in the Virginia Law Review that all water rights be appropriated by the states and allocated by public authorities. Far from being irritated by their economist's venture into the wet fringes of Marxism, Johnson's superiors at the bank publicized his views.

Johnson does believe present private owners of valuable water supplies should be compensated but he says, in the future so one but the national and state governments should own water and everyone who uses water should pay for it.

That includes barge lines and other operators of commercial vessels, farmers who draw clean water out of streams for irrigation and perhaps return it to the stream with polluting fertilizer traces in it and all industries that consume or damage water and of course all the homeowners and other ordinary consumers.

The only persons who wouldn't have to pay more for water under Johnson's proposal would be the boaters, campers, pleasure boaters and sport fishermen. He thinks they pay enough now.

He is convinced that, under the present antiquated federal state and local laws governing water, the cost is so badly apportioned that there is no practical way to finance decent water control and clean up stream and lake pollution.

Although his article was concerned only with the nation's fresh waters, Johnson said the problem exists in tidal waters along the coasts and the same drastic solution probably should be applied — rigid state control and making everybody who consumes tidal water or damages it pay.

The IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I heard that since my wife and I both work we won't have enough taxes withheld from our paychecks to keep from owing money at tax time. What can we do to change this?

A) Estimate the amount of tax that will be withheld from your wages this year and the tax you will owe. This can be done by consulting tables available from your employer or local IRS office.

Then adjust your withholding to take care of any expected tax liability by filing a withholding certificate, Form W-4, with your employer, claiming fewer exemptions and, if necessary, having additional dollar amounts withheld.

A) I went to a turkey dinner sponsored by my church. Can I deduct the cost of the ticket as a charitable contribution?

A) Part of the cost may be deductible. If you paid more than the fair market value of the supper, the excess would be a charitable contribution. For example, if the supper had a fair market value of $3 and you paid $8 for a ticket, the excess of $5 will be a contribution to the church, if the net proceeds of the supper go exclusively to the church. This is true even if you don't use the ticket.

Q) Are Social Security benefits taxable?

A) No. Social Security benefits are not taxable, whether they are received from the federal government or from a state under the federal Social Security program.

Q) My son will begin college in the fall on a $1,000 scholarship. Will this scholarship have any effect on whether I can claim him as a dependent next year?

A) No. Amounts received by a child, stepchild, or adopted child as a scholarship are not included in determining total support.

Q) I'm a doctor and I subscribe to a medical journal. Can I deduct the subscription price of the publication when I file my return next year?

A) Yes. Subscriptions to professional journals related to your business or profession are a deductible business expense. Also, if you are an employee, you may deduct the subscription price of the publication as an employee business expense incurred in earning taxable income if you itemize deductions.

It's Cheaper And Non-Polluting

Miami Man Runs Car On Hydrogen

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Miami inventor says he has succeeded in running standard Detroit-built automobiles on hydrogen more cheaply than on gasoline and with no air polluting exhaust emissions.

Morris Klein has been running a 1968 Chevrolet 6-cylinder delivery van and a 1970 Ford V8 station wagon on hydrogen for eight months.

Enough hydrogen to drive either car 100 miles costs only about 40 cents, Klein says. He intends to enter a hydrogen-powered car in the 1972 Clean Air Race sponsored by Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He expects ultimately to generate hydrogen on the road from a fuel tank in the car filled with water.

Automotive spokesmen in Detroit told United Press International that a reciprocating engine can run on hydrogen but raised several objections to the fuel.

A RESEARCH team at the University of Miami headed by Prof. Robert Adt, Jr., a mechanical engineer, is working under a grant from an anonymous donor, to determine the best way to supply hydrogen to fuel an auto engine.

The implications are important. If Klein's system should prove successful, it might solve the automobile exhaust emission problem at no great cost to the automakers or the public.

It also could help solve the nation's energy problems. Hydrogen is the most abundant source of energy in nature, making up about two thirds of all fresh and salt water. It is extracted from water by electrolysis and other processes or obtained as a byproduct of petroleum refining or of the production of nuclear generated electric power.

If automotive vehicles could be switched over to run on hydrogen, vast amounts of petroleum could be diverted to petrochemicals, plastics, man-made fibers and other uses.

KLEIN SAYS converting a standard auto engine to hydrogen fuel merely requires the introduction of the gas into the cylinders by means of tubes, bypassing the fuel pump and carburetor. On his Ford station wagon, Klein can switch back and forth between gasoline and hydrogen fuel by turning a knob.

The carburetor and fuel pump have been removed from Klein's Chevrolet. It runs on hydrogen only.

"When I started working on this project, I thought there must be catches in it," Professor Adt told UPI, "but I haven't been able to find one so far."

The main problem, he said, is how to carry the highly explosive fuel. Klein uses ordinary welder's pressure tanks on the test cars. Adt thinks the ideal method would be to install a hydrogen generator in the car so that hydrogen would be extracted only in small amounts as actually required by the engine. The car's fuel tank would be filled with inert water.

A SPOKESMAN for the American Petroleum Institute expressed skepticism that hydrogen could be produced efficiently from water in a portable generator without electrolysis or the use of a substantial amount of energy.

"If they have discovered a way to do so it could prove one of the epochal scientific discoveries of all time," he said.

The API spokesman also said Klein and Adt would have to extract oxygen from the water for use in the engine in order to cut down the consumption of air and consequent emission of nitrogen oxides.

Klein's patent application is not for a hydrogen fueled engine per se but for a pollution free internal combustion power plant.

The only large auto manufacturer to send a representative to Miami to see Klein's cars so far has been the Japanese Mitsubishi Co., which sent one of its American sales representatives from Atlanta. He told Klein Mitsubishi has been working for two years on a parallel hydrogen fuel program. Japan lacks oil and has a greater air pollution problem than the United States.

After provision for preferred earnings, the second quarter earnings per outstanding common share increased to $1.13 from 74 cents in the comparable 1970 period. Assuming dilution the second quarter per share earnings equaled 69 cents, compared with 56 cents for the same period last year.

Through the first six months of 1971, net earnings were $21,153,000 or $1.44 per outstanding common share after provision for preferred dividends. This compares with the 1970 first six month net earnings of $16,369,000, or 82 cents a share.

Second quarter 1971 sales net sales rose to $145 million, up from the $122.3 million last year. Net sales in the first six months totaled $259.3 million, compared with $232.4 million in the first six months of 1970.

The company reported that second quarter and first six months' sales and earnings before extraordinary items established records.

The Buckingham Corp. was acquired in the second quarter for $120 million in cash and notes. Northwest Industries reported that all product groups showed substantial profits for the first six months of the year, with the exception of the Buckingham Corp.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has completed hearings on the application of the North Western Employees Transportation Corp. to purchase the transportation assets of the North Western Railway. Corporation president Ben W. Heineman said it is expected that the transaction will be approved.

VA Doesn't Care: Some Veterans

by Tom Iede

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—“Nobody is perfect,” the sign reads. “Each of us is a mixture of good qualities and not so good qualities. In considering our fellow man we should remember his good qualities and realize that his faults only prove that he is a human being. We should refrain from making harsh judgment of a person just because he happens to be a dirty, no good, son-of-a-bitch.”

The sign hangs in the Vermont Avenue headquarters of the Veterans Administration. And it could not better illustrate one of the organization's more irritating faults than if a Vietnam veteran himself had printed and hung it.

The VA, you see, has a share of imperfect people. Some whom Viet vets harshly, but gleefully, and with good reason, judge as dirty, no good (see above).

VA Director Donald E. Johnson all but pooh-poohs the notion that many of his 170,000 employees are contributing to, rather than solving, Vietnam veteran problems. He says, uncomfortably, “there are only a few” bad apples in his barrel.

But many Vietnam veterans feel otherwise.

“THE ATTITUDE of some of the VA people is terrible,” says Gary Wetzel, a one-armed Medal of Honor winner from Milwaukee. “A lot of them make you feel like a beggar. Your problems don't count. They don't care if you live or die.”

Multiply this opinion by a hundred thousand, many hundred thousands, and the scope of the complaint is clear. Vietnam veterans around the nation are sore. Not about the VA concept, not even about the VA programs, but about the VA heart. As one New York vet (two Silver Stars) puts it: “I don't expect to be treated like a hero. But I do want to be treated like a human being. Now, some of the VA people are O.K. But like this one guy I know here (at the Manhattan Veterans Assistance Center), he acts like he's above everybody. One of his tricks is while you're sitting at his desk, desperate for help, he phones his wife and talks about his house at the Shore. Hell, like he knows most of us guys ain't got a dime, much less a house at the shore. The bum, he just rubs it in.”

In its defense, the VA says it does recognize this complaint. Despite D. E. Johnson's necessary denials, most VA officers admit personnel problems. In fact, they've said it in black and white. After a recent series of around-the-nation seminars, involving both VA representatives and Vietnam veterans, a memorandum (June 8, 1971) was sent to all field stations advising that “staff attitudes, behavior and communication” lead the list of “recurring VA problems.”

And to be sure there is no doubt about it. Recently, acting the part of a veteran, a news reporter called the VA Assistance Center in New York for help for an imaginary problem. The problem was money — the reporter said he didn't have any. He called the main VA number, was transferred to another number, transferred again to another, then cut off completely. After three more tries (20 minutes later) he reached a woman who said he should come down to the center in person. “But I don't think it'll help you. We don't give out money here. Why don't you try the city welfare agency?” And she hung up, immediately.

The dirty, no good (see above.)

It is, of course, true that the name-calling manifestation of the situation is hardly a problem. Vietnam veterans have been known to call anybody names, even nice people, then off soon after. This is normal. Human. But the harm that results from an instance of poor VA attitude goes quite beyond the anger stage. Every VA officer has stories of young men who are completely alienated from VA because of one sorry happening. “Today's veteran,” says VA psychiatrist C. A. Stenger, “is suspicious of government anyway. Getting him into the VA is difficult. If he's mishandled while he's there, we may lose him forever.”

IT IS MORE than likely that some veterans have been lost forever. And it is ironic that the VA, one of the only friends the veteran has, can be his enemy as well.

For the sake of fairness here, it must be pointed out that the VA is not always the villain in attitudinal matters. Young veterans can be unreasonably demanding. Director Johnson tells of one VA facility which has reduced its maximum waiting time (for vets seeking counseling) to 20 minutes. “But,” sighs Johnson, “that facility still has veterans get up after 15 minutes and storm out.”

It is also true that the VA has, in recent months, become remarkably responsive to Viet vets in many ways. In World War II, the vet had to come to the VA; today the VA goes to the vet. In World War II, a complaining VA patient was usually ignored; today he has a “patient-staff committee” on his side.

“We are,” Director Johnson insists, “listening better these days.”

And yet there remain the misfits in VA who do not listen at all. The bo-hummers, the noncarers, the dirty, no good (see above). They are a sad lot. And the new men out of uniform do not deserve the grief of their incompetence.

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

READING'S SECOND BEST. Librarian Mary Sanders of Mount Prospect much prefers seeing faraway places to reading about them. She has made three trips to Europe since 1966.

The Traveling Librarian

She'd Rather See World Than Read About It

by BILLIE BACHUBER

Mrs. Paul Sanders appears to be a quiet, efficient librarian as she goes about her job in the juvenile books department of Mount Prospect Library . . . and she is.

But talk to Mary Sanders about her European travels, and her face glows with enthusiasm as she recalls trips to faraway places. "When I'm traveling, I'm on Cloud Nine. I love it all!"

Early in June the librarian, who "spends 99 per cent of my time with books," journeyed to Europe for the third time. She likes best to revisit favorite places and add a few new ones.

Mary and her traveling companions also prefer striking out on their own. "We've watched some tour guides treat their groups like children." Tours are too regimented for Mary. "We like to do what we want to do . . . when we want to do it."

HOWEVER, MARY and her companions organize well and prepare their travel plans in advance. For their first trip overseas in 1966, Mrs. Sanders and her sister, Anne Powers Schwartz, an author of historical novels, carefully researched cultures of cities and countries they intended to visit. Hotel reservations were made ahead of time.

The sisters spent several days each in Rome, Florence, Venice, Paris, London and Dublin. Though she enjoys everything she sees and does . . . and everyone she meets wherever she goes . . . Mrs. Sanders remembers Venice with the most pleasure. "It's so fascinating, so gay and unreal with its lagoons and canals."

Off to Europe again in 1968, Mary and sister Anne were joined by Anne's husband, Harold, and another sister, Norah Powers, who works as a dietitian, also Mary's profession before she turned librarian. This time they chose the British Isles to explore. Getting acquainted with the original capital of England, Winchester — which appears to be "a tiny little town you could pick up in your arms" — viewing an old castle across from Norman Towers in Ireland and visiting Westminster were highlights of that three-week jaunt.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST to those who enjoy searching out historical sites, as Mary and her fellow travelers do, is finding Stonehenge. "Some travelers can't find Stonehenge, but we had no trouble following the map." (You have to buy maps in England, she advised.) Discussing the mystery surrounding this large oval of megalithic posts and lintels in Wiltshire, north of Salisbury, Mary said she feels the monument probably was constructed for ancient religious rites.

Another place Mary remembers with pleasure is Bath, England. A resort town in the hills, Bath once was considered "very swish" and still is "very impressive," according to the Mount Prospect globetrotter. Buildings are of Regency Era, tall, built close together and a "lovely golden color," she said. The travelers also enjoyed seeing the old Roman baths and aqueducts. The four voyagers set off for their third trip to Europe this past June. Their itinerary included Milan, Venice, Rome, Istanbul and Athens.

FIRST STOPOVER was Milan where they stayed in a hotel opposite La Scala Opera House. A cherished memory of Mary's there is Milan Cathedral with its "snowy, lacy spires, so lovely and carved."

From Milan they flew to Venice, one of Mary's favorite cities. "I want to go there again and again!" She especially liked watching gondolas from her hotel windows. Catching an overnight train to Rome, the travelers flew to "the city that opens the curtains to the East," Istanbul.

Mrs. Sanders describes Istanbul as a city "truly of myth and magic." Its people are friendly and courteous and shopping at the Grand Bazaar, "fabulous." She recalls the mosques and minarets shimmering in the sun and the water and lemonade sellers with their copper pots and long tubing through which the liquids are drawn for passers-by. Peeled and sliced cucumbers are sold everywhere from little carts.

IF YOU FOLLOW Mary's recommendation to visit Istanbul, you'll attend religious ceremonies at the beautiful Blue Mosque. Rites commence with the Call of Muezzin. The faithful first perform ablutions by washing their faces, hands and feet. Men of the East, wearing little skull caps (the fez has been outlawed), stand in front of the mosque, and women (now decreed by law to be unveiled) stand in the back. All worshippers periodically bow their heads to the floor throughout the service.

Mrs. Sanders extols everything about this only city to occupy two continents, even Turkish food. Most meals are served in formal courses and are delicious, she said. Traditional ass-kebap and doner-kebap (thin slices cut from whole roast lamb) are served "crackly and crisp" with an abundance of hot tea, sliced cucumbers and other vegetables and fruit. "Strawberries are especially large and delicious."

The foursome motored through Greece, searching out Byzantium monasteries and exploring hills and ruins and the older parts of cities for historical interest.

THEY ENJOYED IT all and encountered little discomfort or discourtesy, Mary said. But you do need to retain your sense of humor, she added, recalling an experience in Greece.

Returning to their hotel on the Aegean Sea after a long, hot auto trip that included lots of climbing, the parched and weary Americans ordered an iced drink. Room service brought six ice cubes for four people. "It all melted before the drinks were down," Mary laughed.

While not traveling or tending to her duties at the library, Mrs. Sanders enjoys her travel mementoes and her books at home where the only other permanent occupant is her German Shepherd, Domino. Her three children are grown and she has two grandchildren. Occasionally her youngest, Gordon, stays with her for a time.

Progress In Health: A Report To Women

Progress Against No. 2, Cancer

(Second in a Series)

by ALISON GODDARD

Cancer, according to Dr. H. Marvin Pollard of the University of Michigan, isn't one disease — it's many. He describes cancers as originating and developing for different reasons and involving totally different approaches in their treatment.

Cancer researchers have stopped looking for the single "miracle cure." They're now following a multitude of paths to track the killer down. Today, hope appears better than ever for some basic breakthroughs.

Cancer, America's No. 2 fatal disease, takes more than 300,000 lives each year. Thus far, its control has been possible by catching it early enough and treating it promptly. Early detection received a tremendous boost when Dr. Phil Gold of Montreal's McGill University found that people with cancers of the digestive tract had a special substance in their blood that other people didn't have. This enabled him to develop a blood test designed to detect digestive cancer before any overt symptoms appeared. To date, that test has proved 95 per cent reliable.

RECENTLY, DR. Gustavo Reynos of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., found a similar substance in the blood of victims of several other forms of cancer. If these and related theories can hold up after more extensive testing, then mass screenings to detect cancer by a simple blood test may soon be looming on our health horizon.

The well established Pap test for uterine cancer has just acquired a new do-it-yourself wrinkle. Women in Trousdale County, Tennessee, are participating in an experiment using special kits to collect their own cell samples and sending these directly to the lab. Sixteen per cent of the samples have turned up suspected or positive uterine cancer. (The average age of the women affected is 41.)

Breast cancer, which can also occur at this time, is being detected earlier with new techniques involving infra-red tissues and X-rays that scan soft breast tissues to detect the "hot spots" of cancer.

THE MOST DRAMATIC news comes from basic research. During the last decade, molecular biologists have deciphered the puzzle of how a normal cell works. Now they're trying to discover what makes such cells turn abnormal and malignant. The villain, most researchers believe, is a virus.

The microscopic viruses function quite differently from cells. They take over the machinery of a normal cell and force it to manufacture more viruses. In cancer, however, the theory now goes, the virus also takes over, but this time forces the normal cell to make many more copies of itself, thus creating an abnormal cluster of cells. This cancerous cluster, which invades vital nutrients from the blood, saps vital nutrients and organs and may eventually cause death.

Recently, a young molecular biologist, Dr. Howard Temin of the University of Wisconsin, theorized that the virus in cancer scrambled the genetic mechanism of the normal cell and turned things upside down. Maybe, he speculated, the master molecule (DNA) which ordinarily runs the cell suddenly finds itself being dictated to by another element

(RNA) that ordinarily serves as its messenger.

IN HIS LABORATORY, Dr. Temin has successfully demonstrated that this is indeed the case. Of his discovery he says, "This gives us entirely new tools with which to look at human cancer."

If the trouble-making virus can now be thoroughly identified and understood, researchers believe, a vaccine against cancer might be found, or the body's own genetic mechanism might be reprogrammed to order the cancer cells to stop their growth.

Just a few weeks ago, the very first linkup between a virus and human cancer was established. In Houston, Tex., a research team at the M. D. Anderson Hospital isolated a virus from the living cells of a cancer patient and was able to make it grow in test tubes.

These varied investigations into the deadly ripple of cancer are taking place in hospitals and laboratories all over the country. And a federal bill has just been passed setting up a new national research organization called the Conquest of Cancer Agency. Hopefully, for millions of cancer victims and their families, that conquest is just around the corner.

At Publicity Workshops

Nitty-Gritty Made Easy

All the nitty-gritty of writing club news will be spelled out straight from the horse's mouth for club presidents and news chairmen during Paddock Publications' eighth annual publicity workshops.

Speaking will be Marianne Scott, women's editor of the 10 daily Herald newspapers published by Paddock Publications, and her assistant, Dorie McClellan. Professional journalists, both are graduates of the University of Illinois School of Journalism. With Paddock Publications for more than 15 years, they are experts in the field of suburban women's reporting.

The nitty-gritty will include information on copy preparation, hints on writing style, deadlines, use of names, submitting copy and clues on how to tell what is newsworthy. These details will be covered by Mrs. Scott, who will also explain how to write news releases of interest to all readers and thereby perform greater services to the various clubs.

MRS. McCLELLAN will concentrate her presentation on the nitty-gritty of photo news coverage, giving details on just what makes a newsworthy picture and what does not. She will also include slides in her discussion.

Invited to the workshops, to be held Thursday, Sept. 9, and Friday, Sept. 10, are presidents and news chairmen of all area women's groups whose news is published in the Herald's women's pages.

The Thursday, Sept. 9, session will be held in the Plum Grove Club, Plum Grove Estates, Palatine, and the Friday session will be held in the Northwest Suburban YMCA, Northwest Highway, Des Plaines.

The programs will begin at 9 a.m. and will include coffee and rolls in mid-morning. The sessions will close at 11:30, in time for busy homemakers to be home by lunchtime. Not so busy homemakers may wish to lunch at the new Woodfield Mall shopping center which opens Sept. 9 and is located just two miles from the Plum Grove Club.

THE TWO DATES have been set to accommodate the clubwomen, who may attend whichever session is most convenient.

So that there will be rolls and chairs for all, reservations should be phoned to Paddock Publications, 394-2300, Extension 233. Des Plaines women may make reservations by calling Dorothy Oliver at 297-6633.

Two-Tone Setting For Area Rites

Orange and white formed the color scheme for the recent wedding of Linda M. Langhoff of Rolling Meadows and Craig L. Dallmann of Buffalo Grove. The bride's bouquet featured orange-tinted roses with lilies of the valley. Her attendants wore orange gowns and carried glads tinted in orange, along with white baby's breath and ivy.

Linda is the daughter of the Wilfred W. Langhoffs, 2300 Sigwalt St. Craig's parents, the Lyle Dallmanns, are former Arlington Heights residents who recently moved to 958 Greenridge, Buffalo Grove.

The couple exchanged vows and rings at two in the afternoon July 24 in Our Lady of the Wayside Church, Arlington Heights.

AS LINDA ENTERED the sanctuary on the arm of her father, she wore a gown of white silk organza and peau d'ange lace. The Empire bodice of lace had long sleeves and a high neckline frosted with tiny seed pearls. A satin ribbon edged the waist with a large bow in back and streamers falling over the chapel train. Lace appliques accented the skirt and train.

The bride's triple veil was held by a headpiece of lace, pearls and crystal beads. She carried her orange-tinted roses and lilies of the valley in a cascade arrangement.

Carol Poulsen of Rolling Meadows, Linda's best friend, was maid of honor, wearing an orange sherbet colored gown trimmed with white flowers at the cuffs and carrying an orange and white bouquet.

Mrs. Irene Cook of Palatine, her cousin, was bridesmaid. She was gowned exactly as Miss Poulsen.

Robert Ihlenfeldt of Mount Prospect was best man, and Richard Cook, Palatine, ushered.

AS THEY WITNESSED the ceremony, the bride's mother was attired in aqua and white lace with a white orchid on her purse and the groom's mother wore blue silk with a white orchid corsage.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Langhoff hosted a reception for 100 guests at Howard Johnson's Grand Ballroom in Palatine. Among the special guests were the bride's grandparents, Mrs. Roman Paczynski of Prairie du Chien, Wis., and the William Langhoffs of Chuluota, Fla.

The bride and groom are living in Arlington Heights and working in neighboring suburbs. Linda is with Master Metal Strip Service, Rolling Meadows, and Craig is an auto-mechanic at Goldblatt's Tire Center in Mount Prospect. He is a graduate of Quincy (Ill.) Suburban Living
Especially for the Family

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Dallmann

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Every season brings its own peculiar problems. The mail is heavy now with pleas for advice about damp basements or damp closets — both breeding places for mildew. While many use electric dehumidifiers in basements, Mrs. R.C.S. reported her homemade version. She put a cup of calcium chloride on a square of screen over the top of a No. 10 tin can. The moisture was absorbed and dripped into the can which had to be emptied every other day. When more calcium chloride was added, it wasn't necessary to remove what was left on the screen. She kept one container in each corner of the basement. While this could be adjusted to the size of a smaller area, there are other things to do for a closet.

Calcium chloride can damage clothing should it come in contact with it. One can hang up bags of either silica gel or activated charcoal. When saturated, either of these can be dried for several hours in a vented oven at 300 degrees. After this, put them in an airtight can and cool before reusing.

Silica gel is pink when full of moisture, blue when dry. Some people keep a small electric light on — at a sufficient distance from clothing to avoid the danger of fire. Many use an inexpensive electric aluminum rod specifically designed to dry the air and keep it in motion.

Dear Dorothy: Should avocado be stored in the refrigerator if it is impossible to use it at once and it's ripe enough to eat? — Ellen W.

You can refrigerate it if you don't want it to get any riper but avocado tastes much better if it is stored at a cool room temperature.

Tip to Brides: The soft yarn which came out a few years ago ostensibly for wrapping gift packages makes a wonderful tie for house plants that need steady- ing. The green is especially lovely and hardly noticeable.

Dear Dorothy: Thought you would be interested in the sneaky (but lovable) trick my husband played on me for my birthday. He knew I wanted a wiglet and got one for me that matched perfectly. He took some hair out of my hairbrush, took it to the wig shop and they made a perfect match. The salesgirl is a friend now and says she recommends this to many husbands. They often seem to know what kind of wig or wiglet their wives want but are stumped as to the color. — Janice Schweinhart.

What a nice, bright imaginative husband. Many of them still have hangups about hairpieces and such and wouldn't be caught dead in a wig shop. Bravo for your guy.

A Wayside Church Wedding

Our Lady of the Wayside Church in Arlington Heights was the setting July 10 for the wedding of Janet Hillenmayer and James Nawoj. White mums and greens decorated the altar for the noon double ring ceremony and bows marked the pews.

Daughter of the Donald Hillenmayers, 916 S. Beverly, Arlington Heights, Janet was given in marriage by her father. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nawoj, 508 Na-Wa-Ta, Mount Prospect.

The newlyweds are now residing in Chicago while James, a graduate of St. Viator's High School in Arlington Heights and Marquette University in Milwaukee, works toward his master's degree at Loyola University. He is also employed by Allstate Insurance Co. Janet is a graduate of Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows and Illinois State University at Normal.

White organza over taffeta with Venice lace appliques was Janet's choice in wedding gown. The high waistline was defined with a satin ribbon that tied in a bow at the train in back, the sleeves were long, Victorian in style. A white lace headpiece held her Juliet elbow-length veil, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids, baby's breath, stephanotis and ivy.

ANN HILLENMAYER, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Michele Prasnikar of Arlington Heights, the groom's sister Joan Nawoj and Wendy Bock of Mundelein were bridesmaids. Another sister of the groom, Alice Nawoj, was junior bridesmaid. All wore pink chiffon gowns over taffeta with white taffeta bodices embroidered in pink flowers. The long sleeves were of chiffon with white taffeta cuffs, also embroidered in pink flowers. Pink straw picture hats with long satin ribbons and pink daisies were their headpieces, and they carried pink sweetheart roses with ivy.

Joseph Shaheen of Sherburne, N. Y., was best man to the groom. Ushers were the bride's brother, James Hillenmayer, John Huffman of Clintonville, Wis., and John Duncan of Wheaton.

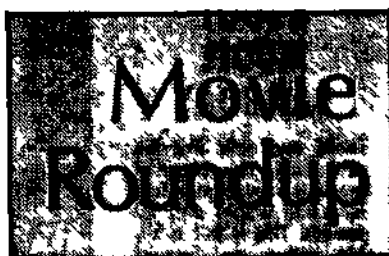

The reception for 150 guests was held at Fritz's in Arlington Heights. Mrs. Hillenmayer received in a pink silk linen coat and dress ensemble and Mrs. Nawoj

Steve Kulass Honeymoon In Nassau

Following their Aug. 7 wedding and a honeymoon in Nassau, the Bahamas, Steve Kulass of Mount Prospect and his bride are making their home in Greendale, Wis. The couple met at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee and in the fall the new Mrs. Kulass will be teaching at College Park Elementary School while the groom is employed in sales.

The bride is the former Sally Scullion, daughter of Mrs. Eugene Scullion of Highland, Wis., and the late Mr. Scullion. The groom, a graduate of Prospect High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kulass, 614 N. Russell St., Mount Prospect.

The pair's wedding was held at 11 a.m. in Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church in Milwaukee with Rev. Carl Kasmierczak officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Emmett Scullion of Highland.

SALLY'S WEDDING gown was of dotted swiss with Venetian lace trim. Her veil was also trimmed with lace, and she carried a bouquet of daisies. Her only attendant was her niece, Sue Muldowney of Madison, Wis., who wore a navy dotted swiss peasant dress with matching picture hat.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Tony Kulass of Tempe, Ariz. Ushering was Bob Wernicks of Milwaukee, college roommate of the groom.

The reception for 40 guests was held at the Village Inn in Greendale. A second reception, given by the groom's parents for 135 guests, will be held Sept. 12 at the Venice Hall in Chicago.

Greendale address of the newlyweds, after Aug. 27, will be 5313 Eastway.

Vinegar Shine

Try a vinegar rinse to bring out red highlights in drab brown hair. The vinegar also gives the hair a fresh shiny look.

Cleaning Leather

Heavy duty cleansers may be used to clean light-colored leather shoes, bags and belts. After you've cleaned the article, allow time for it to dry, then apply olive oil or saddle soap to keep the leather in good condition.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Could you please give me any information about being allergic to the sun? About three years ago, whenever I would be out in the sun, I would break out in red welts and blotches and itch. Now it is getting much worse. My face, arms and back break out and my face puffs up. Is there anything I can take to prevent this?

Dear Reader—Some people call this "sun poisoning" and the exact mechanism is not known. It does behave like an allergy and the causative agent is the sun. In some people, the problem goes away spontaneously. It usually starts after a severe sunburn.

The best treatment is complete avoidance of exposure to the sun for several years. This is similar to other allergies, where it is advisable to stay away from the agent causing the allergy.

A person with this problem should cover up when he goes out in the sun — this means sleeves, a wide-brimmed hat and the works. Don't count on many of the so-called sun screens that are sold to protect you, since many of them are not effective sun screens at all. Of course, you should be seen by a doctor. There are some serious illnesses that are made worse by the sun and these require careful management.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read your column every morning and there is one item I have never seen. Is cancer communicable? By this I mean if a person with this disease is dismissed from the hospital, with only a few weeks or months to live, could a child or a grown-up, by not being too careful in using the same utensils, be in any danger? He does want to live with them, rather than be alone.

Dear Reader—In the situation you describe, I think it is most unlikely that anyone will get cancer from the patient. We do not usually think of cancer as a contagious disease and you shouldn't add this problem to your worries. It is true that we do not know all the factors involved in cancer yet. Although there is no evidence of cancer being contagious in man, some obscure infectious process cannot be entirely excluded.

It is entirely possible that some of the forms of leukemia, or a factor in causing leukemia, are related to an infectious agent, like a virus. There is some evidence that breast cancer in women is related to an infectious agent. But we also know that sun and wind contribute to cancer of the skin. The incidence of cancer is much higher in the survivors of the atomic radiation at Hiroshima.

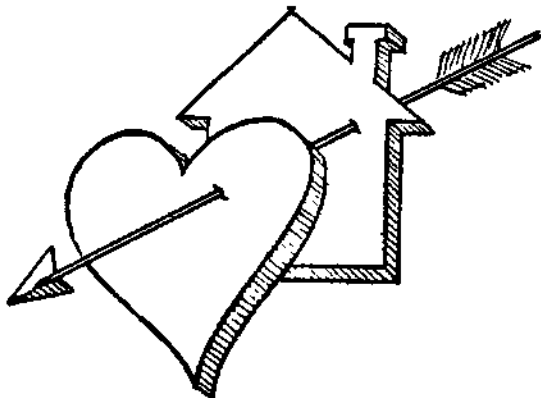

It is not necessarily bad if cancer and related diseases are induced in some way by some as-yet-unrecognized infectious agent. If so, it could provide a way to immunize people against cancer, which would be wonderful.

Let me repeat again, though, that we have no evidence of a people-to-people spread of cancer and I hope you will be able to put the concern you have for this matter out of your mind.

Questions? Write Dr. Lawrence Lamb, Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 288, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

Seek Testimony On Funds

The special Des Plaines City Council committee investigating misuse of anti-poverty funds in a city summer job program last night said it will seek sworn testimony from all officials involved in the controversy.

The committee, formed Monday by Mayor Herbert H. Behr, will invite administrators from a federal anti-poverty agency and the local state employment service office to tell how five ineligible youths, four of them sons of city officials or former officials, were approved for the anti-poverty jobs.

Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity (CCOEO), the federal anti-poverty agency, Aug. 5 cut off funds from the Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) program that made up part of the youths' salaries for the city summer jobs after the Herald disclosed that the funds were being misused.

Parents of the youths have said they were told by the Illinois Employment Service (IES), which interviewed the youths for the NYC program, to leave blank the portions of the job applications pertaining to family income.

THE CCOEO CUT off the federal funds after it said an investigation revealed that the incomes listed on the applications were incorrect and the families' true incomes were above the anti-poverty level.

The IES and the CCOEO have denied filling in the incorrect income figures and the city has said it was not involved in processing the applications.

Ald Robert Sherwood (2nd), chairman of the special committee, said the panel will seek testimony from E. F. Callaway, manager of the local IES office, and Clyde Brooks, who heads the NYC program for the CCOEO, as well as other IES and CCOEO employees who might have been involved in processing the applications.

Committee members also expressed interest in examining the original application forms and possibly submitting them to document experts to determine if the family income figures were all written in by the same person.

Sherwood said the committee will seek "the names of any individuals who have been involved in this in any way whatsoever," and will ask the youths and their parents to testify. He denied that the committee was set up to exonerate the city officials involved.

"I don't feel the intent was that we are here solely to exonerate them. If exoneration comes in the facts, then we have satisfied the parents (and) we have satisfied the citizens of Des Plaines," he said.

CITY ATTY. Robert DiLeonardi said the committee, which set Aug. 25 as the date for its next hearing, has no power to subpoena witnesses or compel testimony. He is a non-voting member of the panel.

Sherwood said the six-member committee would also like to hear testimony from the person who first disclosed the poverty fund abuses to the Herald. That person has asked to remain anonymous.

"If they have any pertinent information and they do not come forward, then I think they are the guilty person in some areas," Sherwood said of the person who made the disclosures.

The youths declared ineligible for the NYC program were Thomas Hinde, John Thomas, John Leer III, Steven Schwab and Stephen Holmbeck — sons respectively of Ald. Robert Hinde (4th), Ald. Howard Thomas (6th), former alderman John Leer, Public Works Comr. Joseph Schwab and Wayne Holmbeck, an engineer not connected with the city.

Theft Reported

A tape deck and carrying case with 30 tapes inside was reported stolen last week from a car parked in the parking lot at the Alexian Brothers Medical Center, Elk Grove Village, police said.

Hospital Aide

James Hague, 25, of 421 N. Carlyle Pl., Arlington Heights, is gaining practical experience in the field of hospital administration as an employee at St. Joseph's Hospital, Chicago.

Hague is a graduate student in the St. Louis University's School of Hospital Administration. Hospital spokesman said he will spend the remainder of 1971 at St. Joseph's in clinical preparation for his master's degree.

Hague, who also earned a bachelor's degree in business in 1968 from Bradley University, resides with his wife, Joy, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Metz, in Arlington Heights.

On Honor Roll

Laura A. Bergstrom of Arlington Heights was named recently to the Dean's Honor List for the spring 1971 semester at Texas Christian University.

Miss Bergstrom has retained a 3.5 grade average out of the university's 4.0 scale.

COOPERATIVE BLOOD REPLACEMENT PLAN 477-7500

Law Gives Relief From Mosquitoes

Summertime mosquitoes got you down? The Illinois State Bar Association says there may be legal action to take; you and your neighbors might want to consider forming a mosquito abatement district.

According to a 1927 law, Illinois residents who live in any contiguous territory with at least 300 residents may form a district, hold elections and take whatever action they deem necessary to eliminate the pesky insects where they breed and proliferate.

The law provides specific regulations for forming such a district. And it notes that once the district is formed it may raise funds by levying a tax of up to .025 per cent of the property in the district. Then it can get to work.

IT CAN attack the insect breeding grounds, eradicate the stagnant pools that add to the menace and take whatever additional steps are necessary to wipe out mosquitoes, flies and other insects.

The local mosquito abatement districts must report to the State Board of Public Health every year on whatever action it has taken.

So next time you are bothered by mosquitoes you might consider joining with your neighbors in an effort to eliminate the breeding grounds and stopping this nuisance where it begins.

Social Security and You

Q. — My brother, who is 36 and has a family of four, was hurt in an accident almost a year ago and isn't working. He applied for social security disability benefits, and just last week they told him that he wasn't disabled enough to get benefits. I feel he is. Is there anything more he can do?

A. — Yes. The social security office has already explained to your brother that he can request a reconsideration. But he must make this request within 6 months if the date that the initial decision was made.

A reconsideration is a complete review of his case. If your brother then disagrees with the reconsideration decision, he can request a hearing before a hearing examiner of the Social Security Administration. After this, your brother can take his case to an Appeals Council, and, finally, he can seek review by a Federal court.

All of these steps are explained in detail in a leaflet — "Right to Question the Decision Made on Your Claim." It is available from any social security office.

Veterans' News

The Veterans Administration has intensified its campaign to help employers develop GI Bill on-the-job training opportunities for returning servicemen. At the same time, the VA is taking steps to simplify the procedures employers must follow in setting up their veterans' programs.

Veterans Affairs Administrator Donald E. Johnson said that special help is available to small businesses who would like to participate but who lack resources for developing training programs. VA regional offices will send training experts to survey on-the-job training possibilities and help set up acceptable training situations.

Under approved programs, veterans are paid subsistence allowances while they are in training. The salary paid by the employer goes up as the trainee develops skills useful to the employer.

JOHNSON SAID that over 100,000 veterans are currently taking on-the-job training, and almost 200,000 have taken apprenticeship or OJT since the current program was first authorized less than four years ago. Johnson pointed out, however, that more jobs and training opportunities are needed, and one way to provide them is through greater employer participation in OJT programs.

IN AN APPROVED VA program, employers may pay new veteran trainees as little as one-half of the target journeyman wage.

While the VA provides information and helps employers develop OJT programs, Mr. Johnson pointed out that employer programs must be designed to meet the requirements of State Approving Agencies before veteran trainees can receive VA benefits.

To assist in the development of new training jobs, the VA recently circulated to all its regional offices, 34 prototype on-the-job training programs in occupations of agriculture and in the manual skill fields.

Additional VA funds are also being made available to State Approving Agencies in support of the expedited State approval process.

Drunk Drivers Criticized

"The abusive use of alcohol is the single major cause of automobile casualties," Edward R. Klammer, 1200 Woodford Place, Arlington Heights, told a group of policemen, nurses, students and teachers in an Advanced Alcohol Education course at Michigan State University recently.

Klammer is Accident Prevention manager of the Allstate Insurance Co. and has worked in traffic safety since 1959. His presentation revealed some startling facts:

Alcoholism has become the nation's Number 3 health problem. Alcohol plays a role in 35,000 fatal traffic crashes and drains the economy of at least $8 billion each year.

"But this toll can be reduced, and Chicago Traffic Judge Raymond K. Berg proved it," Klammer explained. "The judge launched a successful traffic improvement program over the Christmas holidays by announcing 'drunk drivers go to jail for seven days and lose their operator's licenses for one year.' As a result of this three-week campaign, fatalities were down 66 2/3%, injuries 50%, and property damage accidents 25%."

Concerted public support is badly needed to curb the drinking driver. Klammer summarized the problem by saying, "The abusive drinker is a luxury we can no longer afford on our American roads."

Whitesel Celebrates 25th Year With GTE

James T. Whitesel, 304 N. Emmerson St., Mount Prospect, is celebrating his 25th anniversary at GTE Automatic Electric Laboratories, Northlake.

Whitesel, member of the technical staff of the systems research laboratory, joined the communications and electronic systems manufacturing company in 1946 as a patent engineer. He became a registered patent agent in 1954, and was appointed to the laboratories staff in 1970.

His success in passing the rigid examination for registration to practice before the U. S. Patent Office is recalled as one of his most satisfying accomplishments during his company career. Perhaps more important, personally, was the privilege of seeing his son, James L. Whitesel, join the company's materials and apparatus laboratory, and another son, Stephen, working with the technical administrative support department of the laboratories.

Now working in Laboratories Elmhurst building, the elder Whitesel looks back on 17 years during which he prosecuted to issue a total of more than 110 U.S. patents, and their associated foreign patents.

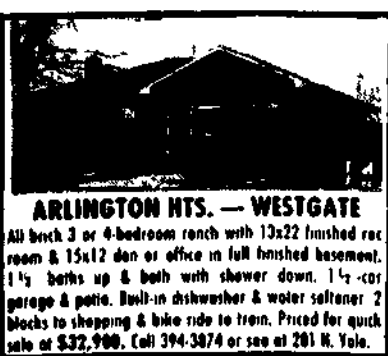

He also had the amusing experience in the patent office when he met another James Whitesel, who was no relation, while working on telephone patent applications.

Whitesel has long been active in church work and civic affairs, and was a leader in scouting programs. He is a Past Master of the Arlington Heights Masonic Lodge.

Windham Opening Set

Grand opening celebrations are being held this weekend for Windham, a new $4 million community being developed in Northbrook by Kennedy Brothers.

Furnished model homes now are open for inspection at Windham, which is located on Pfingsten Road, two blocks north of Willow Road in Northbrook. When completed, the new community will comprise 54 traditional-style homes, priced from between $50,500 and $100,000, on homesites of just over 1/3 acre each. The development is being financed by the First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Chicago.

Windham represents the third subdivision to be developed by Kennedy Brothers in Northbrook. The firm recently completed Charlemagne, a 304-home community on Dundee Road, and, prior to that, built Innesfield, a 62-home community on Pfingsten Road.

A choice of eight model homes, each with four different elevations, will be available for selections by home purchasers. Two of the models now open for display — the Chateleine and the Homestead — are among the most popular residences in the Kennedy Brothers' projects.

The Chateleine, priced from $67,600, plus sfs, is a U-shaped, three bedroom ranch home with optional fourth and fifth bedrooms, featuring traditional Basque architecture. A brick archway graces the entrance to the front garden court with a paved walkway leading to a handsome paneled entry door.

Key attractions of the home include an entry foyer, 16feet x 7feet 6 inches; formal dining room; large living room, 23feet x 15feet, with beamed cathedral ceiling and picture windows; a finished family room with wood paneling, oak floor, brick fireplace and sliding glass doors opening to the rear patio; and a breakfast room, 13feet 5 inches x 8feet adjacent to the kitchen. The latter is equipped with featuring a dropped fluorescent ceiling, Tappan self-cleaning oven, range, dishwasher, double-sinks with disposer, custom-wood cabinets, Formica countertops and a planning desk.

The sleeping areas are in the west wing of the home and include a master suite with 17feet 5 inches x 12feet 4 inches bedroom, huge walk-in closet, separate dressing area and private bathroom.

A laundry/mud room is located between the attached two-car garage and the breakfast room.

The Homestead is a two-story Georgian brick home, priced at $52,100, plus site, featuring four bedrooms, 2 1/2 bathrooms and a two-car garage. The dining room and living room are on opposite sides of the entry foyer, while the 19feet x 13feet 3 inches family room is adjacent to a similar-sized living room.

A fully-equipped garden-kitchen, 17feet 10 inches x 11feet 9 inches, includes fluorescent dropped lighting inset into rough-sawn cedar beams; island cabinet; built-in planning desk; and separate pantry. A 17feet x 5feet 6 inch laundry-mud room adjoins the kitchen and has direct access to the garage.

Upstairs the bedrooms and family bathroom are located off a central hallway. The master suite features a 19feet 6 inch x 13feet bedroom, room-sized closet, separate dressing room and full bathroom.

The furnished models at Windham are open daily from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Occupancy is scheduled for September.

Gas Co. To Sell Appliances Direct

Northern Illinois Gas Co. announced it has ceased direct merchandising of gas appliances through its own sales force.

NI-Gas has developed a severance program which recognizes the age and service time for each of the 35 merchandise salesmen released by this change. The company is aiding the affected salesmen in their re-employment elsewhere.

NI-Gas will continue and expand its co-operative programs with dealers of gas appliances. The company took this action since it believes all appliance dealers and department stores now offer customers full lines of gas appliances over a wide price range; financial considerations also entered into its decision.

NI-Gas stresses it will continue its service on gas appliances already in the customers' homes as well as the new gas appliances which will be purchased in the future.

Open 2nd Section Of Townhouses

Colony Green, the second neighborhood of 278 townhomes planned for Westlake in Bloomington, has been opened by Hoffman Rosner Corp.

According to Sam Hays, sales manager for Westlake townhomes, the opening of Colony Green follows the virtual close-out of sales in the 223-unit Lakeshore townhome section which opened in Sept., 1970.

Hays reported that more than 40 units have already been sold in Colony Green and the Coronado Cove, one of the best-sellers at Lakeshore, has already established itself as a leader in Colony Green. The Coronado Cove is one of five models, including four two-story designs and one ranch model, that are available in a price range of $26,500 to $34,500.

The three-bedroom, 1½ bath Coronado Cove features an L-shaped living-room with an extra breakfast room.

Stairways to the upstairs and halls to first-floor living quarters are located off a front foyer. This plan puts a kitchen with a handy built-in pantry and breakfast room off front while living room and dining room have a view to the rear of the house.

The upper level has a central full bath and three bedrooms. The master bedroom has a walk-in wardrobe as well as a closet.

Providing 2,081 square feet of space under roof, the Coronado Cove is priced at $29,500 with a one-car garage.

Pile carpeting, stained woodwork, Forrester counters, ceramic tile and vanities are a few of the standard features of the Coronado Cove and other townhomes at Westlake.

The kitchen also includes birch cabinets, a gas oven and range, vented exhaust hood and fan, dishwasher and double bowl stainless steel sink.

In addition to a private garage on his own lot, each townhome buyer gets a full basement that can be used as a den or hobby room.

All units have garages with double concrete driveways, sliding safety plate glass patio doors, and private, fully-landscaped front gardens.

Common walls between the unit are of sound-controlled masonry construction. Exterior walls are of brick and stained cedar, complemented by rough sawn cedar fencing.

To further assure carefree living, all outside maintenance, including lawn mowing, snow removal, exterior painting and repairs, is taken care of by special maintenance crews.

Ownership of a Westlake townhome automatically includes membership in a $350,000 Swim & Racquet Club with club house, swimming pools and two tennis courts.

The club house features a glass-enclosed year-round heated swimming pool, meeting rooms, teen room, a hall with a stone fireplace, lounge with complete kitchen, gymnasium, sun deck, showers and dressing rooms.

Models are now open for inspection daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Saturdays to 6 p.m.

Westlake is located in the southeast quarter of Bloomington, north of Army Trail Rd., and east of Bloomington Rd.

RUSTIC ARCHITECTURE keynotes the style of the new Westlake townhomes in Bloomington by Hoffman Rosner Corp. Above, left, is the Coronado Cove, a three-bedroom, two-story design with 1-1/8 baths and choice of one or two-car garage. At right is a portion of the Aquarius ranch model with two bedrooms.

Home Sales Show Record Increases For MAP Service

For the sixth straight month, recorded home sales by MAP Multiple Listing Service have shown record increases over the previous month's sales.

In July, MAP Multiple Listing Service recorded a total of 236 cooperative home sales, representing a sales volume of $9,156,000, a new all time record for one month unit home sales and sales volume.

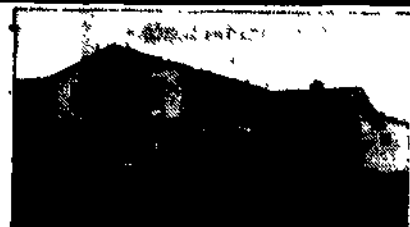

For the first seven months of 1971, MAP Multiple Listing Real Estate Service has sold a record 1,591 homes through the MAP Multiple cooperative sales system, representing a record total sales volume of $58,062,200.

Bill Nieman, president of Gallery of Homes of Elk Grove Village and an officer of MAP Multiple Listing service, attributes the continual sales increases to the steady influx of transferee executives and a general migration to the Northwest Suburbs.

"Our 625 member salespeople constantly report of the general desirability of the Northwest Suburbs by customers investigating the Chicagoland area for homes," says Nieman. "All MAP offices have geared their sales methods to keep abreast of the buyers needs, personal likes and living requirements and it is obvious that the northwest Suburbs offers a large enough selection of homes to satisfy virtually all interested home buyers."

Home Buyers Get Credit From Savings And Loans

Savings and loan associations continue to lower over all other lenders in extending credit to the nation's home buyers, according to the 18th edition of the Savings and Loan Fact Book.

The publication, now being distributed by the United States Savings and Loan League, reported that at the end of 1970 associations held $150.6 billion, or 33.5 per cent, of the $450 billion in mortgage debt outstanding.

Far below were life insurance companies at $74 billion, or 16.4 per cent of the total; commercial banks, with $72.8 billion, or 16.2 per cent; and mutual savings banks at $58 billion, or 12.9 per cent.

The League's annual reference volume added that the lending dominance of associations is even greater in the field of one-to-four family homes.

There, the $125.2 billion held by associations at year-end was 44.8 per cent of the total debt outstanding, up slightly from a year earlier. This compared with 15.1 per cent for commercial banks, 13.4 per cent for mutual savings banks and 9.5 per cent for life companies, all down slightly.

The year 1970 "revealed quite clearly the dynamic nature of residential financing," the League declared. "Reflecting the extremely taut monetary conditions carried over from 1969, mortgage loan growth was very slow during the first half of the year. As monetary conditions began to ease during the year, however, the rate of mortgage growth increased substantially.

The Fact Book also observed that "considerable support" was provided to residential financing last year by the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Bank System. It said the two agencies provided $5.9 billion, or 31.9 per cent, of the year's growth in mortgage loans outstanding.

Total 1970 mortgage volume for savings and loan association reached $21.4 billion, down slightly from $21.8 billion in 1969.

But the League publication said that when the money market eased and savings began flowing into associations at a record rate, lending picked up sharply. It rose from a seasonally adjusted $1.3 billion per month in June to a $2.6 billion rate in December.

"Despite the high rate of closings during the second half of the year, mortgage lending could not keep pace with the growth in loanable funds," the League continued.

"This was just the reverse of 1969, when mortgage lending considerably exceeded the increase in savings deposits and loanable funds."

"The monetary ease which induced large savings flows during the last half of 1970 was not able to stimulate a proportional increase in the demand for mortgage money."

Construction lending volume by associations in 1970 fell to $4.2 billion, or 12.8 per cent below the preceding year. Home purchase loans totaled $10.3 billion, below 1969's record high of $11.3 billion but representing 47.8 per cent of all savings associations' loans.

The Fact Book reported a "significant increase" in association lending activity with Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration loans last year. However, conventional mortgages were still by far the dominant type, accounting for 51.2 per cent of all association financing.

The importance of loan repayments and prepayments as a source of new lending funds continued to decline during the year, dropping to 7.6 per cent of the average loan portfolio. This was down from 9 per cent in 1969 and 15.5 per cent in 1959.

The League termed the trend "one of the most important in the savings and loan business. It not only dampens lending capacity, but also holds down the ability to improve earnings."

An oddity noted during 1970 was that mortgage interest rates on existing homes averaged lower than rates on new homes. Historically, new homes carry lower rates because of the lower underwriting risk.

The League said mortgage rates climbed during most of 1970 but by December "had declined somewhat from the highs achieved during the year. After reaching a high of 8.38 per cent in August, the average rate charged by associations on new homes declined to 8.2 per cent in December."

The Fact Book added that loan terms offered by associations to home buyers changed little during 1970.

At year-end, the typical savings and loan mortgage on a new home was for 76 per cent of the purchase price, ran for 26.2 years and cost 8.2 per cent; typical loans on existing homes were for 74.2 per cent of the purchase price, ran for 24.2 years and cost 8.16 per cent.

ing for $200; 76 two-bedroom, one and one-half baths at $280; and six three-bedroom, two baths at $325.

TUDOR INFLUENCE dominates in two Surrey Hill houses builder William F. Butler is duplicating in the St. Charles area. They are being erected in the Branigar Organization's Windings of Ferson Creek. One of the houses, the Windsor, shown above, will be priced at $69,500, including wooded site.

New President Of Brokers Installed

A gavel was recently presented to William A. Stock, president-elect of the National Association of Real Estate Broker. The presentation was made by Bill N. Brown, Albuquerque, N.M., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, at the installation dinner held in Atlanta, Ga.

The gavel is made of wood grown at George Washington's home at Mount Vernon and Thomas Jefferson's home at Monticello. The steel is from the U.S.S. Missouri, on whose quarterdeck the Japanese surrendered to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

It required 18 months to season the wood and to fashion the gavel. The steel plate from the U.S.S. Missouri had to be re-melted and treated in order that it might be rolled into sheets. From the thin sheets were made bands to encircle the gavel heads and descriptive plates for the boxes which contain the gavels.

In making the presentation, Brown commented that it was being done "in the spirit of cooperation to the leader of an Association whose objectives are to promote education in the field of real estate; to improve the service of the licensee through advanced techniques, policies, and procedures required in the administration of a successful business; and to provide housing for all Americans."

Stock Promoted In Telephone Co.

A Libertyville resident, William A. Stock, has been promoted by Illinois Bell Telephone Co. from plant assistant in ITS Chicago metropolitan training center to exchange repair foreman in Arlington Heights.

Stock, who attended Wright Junior College, joined the company in 1941 as an installer in River Forest. He has also worked as a testman, switchboard repairman and communications serviceman. For four and a half years he served with the U.S. Army in the Pacific theater.

Butler To Build 2 Homes At Branigar's Windings

English Tudor timber and stucco accent characterizes two brick homes to be erected in the Windings of Ferson Creek west of St. Charles.

William F. Butler, builder of nearby Surrey Hill, will construct the two buildings in Branigar Organization's prestigious 258-acre homesite development.

Both home styles, the Dalton and the Windsor, are among 54 homes that have been built in Surrey Hill east of St. Charles.

Including wooded Windings site, the houses will carry price tags of $64,500 and $69,500 respectively. An authentic Tudor, the Dalton has four bedrooms and two and one-half baths. Its rough cut cedar and brown facebrick exterior, with dark mortar, is accented by a bow bay window. There are 2,400 square feet on two levels. The floor to ceiling living room fireplace is flanked on either side by rows of built-in bookshelves. The two car garage has space for storage of outdoor equipment.

Although Cape Cod in architecture, the Windsor has a Tudor look with its half timber and stucco accent.

The two story 2,500 square foot residence has four bedrooms up; three of them feature walk-in closets. The living room fireplace has a marble face. At the opposite end of the house, the family room fireplace is of stone.

In addition to the 54 homes completed at Surrey Hill, Butler has also erected 114 apartments and a Ramada Inn. Land planner Richard Selleg, of Selleg, Stevens, Peterson and Flock, has left approximately 20 per cent of the land at the Windings as permanent greenway. Amenities planned for the Windings are a luxurious clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and small fishing lakes.

Gets Commendation

Staff Sgt. James T. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Adams of 318 S. Rose St., Palatine, has received the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam.

Sgt. Adams, a jet engine mechanic, was decorated for his outstanding leadership and ability. He is being reassigned to Kincheloe AFB, Mich.

Adams graduated in 1966 from Palatine Township High School.

TIPS TO HOME BUYERS AND HOME SELLERS

FROM MAP MULTIPLE LISTING
REAL ESTATE SERVICE

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HOME MORE ATTRACTIVE FOR THE SALE

If you are getting ready to sell your home it is important that you make the home "visually" attractive for any potential buyer. The first impression is of the utmost importance and here are a few aspects that should be checked and adjusted if necessary.

Be sure your landscaping is always kept trim and neat with special care given to weed removal. Be sure all mechanical and electrical components of the home are in working condition, that your doorbells are all working and all door hinges are oiled. Fix any leaky faucets, keep all windows clean, be sure any obvious wall cracks are repaired and that there are new bulbs in all inside and outside light fixtures. Needless to say, any rooms that are in critical need of decorating should be repainted and brightened. It is amazing how much a small amount of decorating and maintenance will add to the attraction and to the selling price of your home.

New Model Biggest Seller

NEWEST MODEL ADDED to the lineup at the Heatherlea project in Palatine is the Greenbriar, shown above. The three bedroom house is featured by Kaufman and Broad, Inc. Buyers may purchase this home with the lower level unfinished. Contemporary, English Tudor or colonial exterior styling is available.

The most recent model home to be added to the selection available at the Heatherlea project is the biggest seller, according to the developers, Kaufman and Broad Homes, Inc. The development is located in Palatine.

The Greenbriar model is priced at $33,990. The three-bedroom, tri-level home is outselling all of the other three and four-bedroom, traditional and contemporary homes at the community. In recent weeks, it has accounted for 25 per cent of all sales at the community. Over 75 per cent of the Greenbriar models programmed for Heatherlea already have been sold.

Royal Faubion, president of Kaufman and Broad Homes Inc., said that the basic design of a tri-level home long has had great acceptability by families in Chicagoland.

Faubion said that one of the most popular features of a tri-level residence is the zoning, which provides three separate levels for sleeping, living and recreation.

Another attraction is the tri-level's expandability, according to Faubion. "Buyers usually have the option of purchasing a tri-level home with the lower level unfinished. Then, as both the family and the budget increase in size, additional facilities can be added. In effect, a tri-level presents an excellent long-term investment," he said.

The Greenbriar is available in a choice of three different elevations — contemporary, English Tudor or colonial.

A grade-level entry leads to the living zone of the home, comprising a front-facing living room, spacious kitchen and dining area, and attached optional garage and storage area. Sliding glass doors lead from the dining area to the rear garden. A five-shelf pantry, wood cabinets, stainless-steel double-sinks with disposer and mica countertops are all features of the kitchen.

Upstairs, the sleeping areas include a full bathroom and three bedrooms, the master bedroom featuring double-door entry, wall length of closets, and direct access to the ceramic-tiled bathroom, with its twin-bowl, marbleized vanity.

The lower level comprises a recreation area, 22 feet 2 inches x 13 feet 6 inches, with optional brick fireplace; and an unfinished utility and laundry room, 22 feet 2 inches wide.

Genarr Enterprises In O'Hare Center

Genarr Enterprises, Ltd., a division of Steed Industries, has leased a portion of the first floor of the O'Hare International Plaza Office Center at the southwest corner of Irving Park and Mannheim Roads, Schiller Park, for its Chicago training center. This space will be used for the sales promotion of Steed's new automotive products.

Space also has been leased to the American Association of School Retailers for its new national headquarters.

Podolsky & Associates, Ltd., leasing firm, is in active negotiations for tenants for other spaces in the building. The office building market has "perked up," with more corporations becoming active in pursuing new and more adequate office space in the suburban area, said Steven Podolsky, leasing agent for the O'Hare International Plaza Office Center. He said 50,000 square feet of space in the building, on two floors, is available for a major tenant.

SKY HARBOR Industrial Park is being developed in Northbrook by Arthur Rubloff & Co., a Chicago based real estate firm. The 140-acre site includes a 40-acre business airport. The total investment in the industrial park will exceed $45 million in land and building construction when completed.

Unveil Sky Harbor Plans

Arthur Rubloff & Co., Chicago-based real estate firm, announced details of a new industrial park being developed in Northbrook.

The 140-acre development, which presently contains a 40-acre business airport, will be known as Sky Harbor Industrial Park. It is co-sponsored by State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America, Worcester, Mass. and the Rubloff firm.

Sky Harbor Industrial Park is situated on Dundee Road between the Tri-State Tollway and Edens Expressway.

R. J. Adelman, Chairman of Arthur Rubloff & Co., had handled the sale of the property in 1966 to Burton Greenfield, who has continued to operate Sky Harbor Airport at the site. Sky Harbor was one of the first private airports in the nation and has been in operation for nearly a half-century. Today it provides a complete range of general aviation services and facilities.

Lee Miglin, vice president of Arthur Rubloff & Co., was broker in the sale of the property by Greenfield to State Mutual Life, including the 40-acres now in use for business aviation operations and 100-acres which will be developed for modern industrial, office and research facilities.

In creating the new Sky Harbor Industrial Park, Arthur Rubloff & Co. has been working jointly with its subsidiary firm, Lake Michigan Mortgage Co. which is the Chicago correspondent of State Mutual Life Assurance Company of America. Under the overall plan of development, State Mutual has leased back to Burton Greenfield a portion of the 140-acre tract for the airport facilities, including hangar buildings and aviation maintenance servicing installations. Lease-A-Plane International is headquartered at Sky Harbor Industrial Park. This company maintains a fleet of over 100 business aircraft for leasing by the hour, day, week or month to companies or individuals. They operate a national franchise system of similar aircraft rental centers in major metropolitan areas of the United States and Canada.

Circular On Cooling Systems By U Of I

A central summer cooling system should be operated like a winter heating system: keep the house closed and instead of turning the unit on and off by switch, let the thermostat control it, says the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

The advice is in a new circular Cooling Systems just issued by the U. of I. Small Home Council-Building Research Council in its series for homeowners and planners.

"If the house is left open until the indoor temperature becomes uncomfortable, it will take a considerable length of time before the cooling system can catch up and there is any noticeable change in humidity and temperature," the report said.

"Opening windows after sunset allows considerable amounts of humid air to enter the house, undoing all the work of the cooling system," the circular advises, adding, "If night cooling by outdoor air is used, the house should be closed in the morning before the indoor temperature rises, the system switched on and the thermostat allowed to control it."

The circular tells how various types of coolers work, explains ducts and other systems for central air conditioning, and on sizing advises, "unlike heating, cooling systems should not be oversized because for dehumidification the evaporator must be kept cold. Therefore, the compressor must run almost continuously for maximum comfort."

Copies of the circular are 15 cents each, as are single copies of others issued by the SHC-BRC. A complete set of the earlier 32 circulars is $4.50 or bound into a book for $5. Order from Small Home Council-Building Research Council, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, One East Saint Mary's Road, Champaign, Ill. 61820.

Construction Co. Introduces New Model

The Alexander Construction Co. recently introduced a one-bedroom studio townhome model priced at $18,950, to the range of styles available at Woodland Heights East in Streamwood. Prior to its introduction, the selection of townhomes at the community had comprised two, three and four-bedroom residences, priced from $19,950 to $23,950.

Statistics for the new townhome reveal that nearly 40 per cent of the sales so far have been to single men and women. Before the new model was introduced, only 10 per cent of townhome sales were to this segment of the home-buying market.

Walter Sebring, marketing director for Alexander Construction Co., believes that these statistics highlight the need for low-priced suburban residences for singles.

"Traditionally, singles have sought apartment rental as a life-style," said Sebring. "But with rents soaring and with the growing awareness among singles of the many benefits of townhome ownership as opposed to apartment rental, their demand for suitable homes to purchase is steadily increasing," he said.

Sebring said it is as easy for singles to get financing for a home purchase as for marrieds.

The survey also indicated that over 80 per cent of the purchasers of the studio townhome are under 30 years of age. Of these people, approximately half are married, half unmarried.

According to the developers, the one-bedroom townhome is larger than many one-bedroom apartments offered in the area. Features include a large living room with dining area, featuring beamed cathedral ceiling and bay window; kitchen; utility room; and ceramic-tiled bathroom. The townhome also features off-street private parking space.

Woodland Heights East is located in Streamwood on Irving Park Road (Route 19) west of Barrington Road.

The models are open daily and Sundays from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m.; on Fridays until 7 p.m.; and on Saturdays until 6 p.m.

VERY ORIGINAL.

We call it The 14th Colony. You'll probably call it revolutionary. It's located in the scenic Fox River Valley countryside about a half mile east of Batavia. The 14th Colony is a settlement for families who value such old-fashioned virtues as good taste and community pride. It has been carefully planned with vital protections written into every deed, in the same manner Arthur T. McIntosh & Company has established the enviable communities of Inverness, Prestwick and Farmington. And it's very original. Each piece of land is irregular about one-third of an acre. The homes are inspired by Early Americana and reflect tasteful architecture and craftsmanship rarely found in the homes of today. The detailing is exquisite and warm touches of elegance abound in quarry tile foyers, beamed ceilings, curving staircases, oak floors, huge raised hearth fireplaces and wood panelling. All are built with honest quality. And while we believe in independence, every homesite has water, sewer and underground utilities. You can homestead at the 14th Colony from $35,000 to $55,000 including the fully improved homesite. Our boundaries are open every day—10 am till dark.

Buy your homesite now under contract. If you are planning to build in the future, or wish to invest in land, you can purchase your 14th Colony homesite direct from Arthur T. McIntosh & Co.—20% down, 7% simple interest.* Homesites range from $9,000 to $12,800.

*Example—$10,000 purchase, $2000 down, 120 monthly payments of $92.89, 7% annual percentage rate.

... Or, Would You Like To Be A Columnist?

Cubs Can't Win Eastern Division...

Ernie Banks

Leo Durocher

IT'S THE FIRST DAY in October and the Chicago Cubs aren't cleaning out their lockers! Instead, they're preparing for the National League playoffs!

How would you like to take over my column during this glorious time to sing the praises of the fabulous Cubbies? I'm willing to bet a column that nobody will get the chance to use my weekly spot. If I'm wrong, one of you out there will become a guest columnist.

The Cubs will be watching the playoffs from their rec rooms, however, and not from the dugout for they cannot possibly win the Eastern Division. The delirium of the announcers and newspaper writers is getting to the fans again, setting up their annual letdown in September when the Cubs will fold again.

Why? It's as easy as 1, 2, 3 — Leo Durocher, P. K. Wrigley and some of the team.

How many times have you read this Durocherism: "The players have to win it... I can't do it for them."

Naturally this man can't play, but he can decide who can and regulate how they perform. He can and must provide the impetus for victory — leadership.

But how can a team be led by someone who plays hunches like a washed up Las Vegas gambler. Few big league managers rely as much on the hunch, the lucky guess as Durocher. A Walter Alston goes with percentages, goes with the best man in a given situation. Not Leo.

Living in the past as he always seems to be doing, Durocher will go with a past-his-prime Phil Regan instead of a younger pitcher simply because he doesn't seem to trust the non-veterans.

No one knows how many youngsters he's turned sour by failing to give them the confidence they needed at particularly crucial times. Every year he calls a new outfielder "another Willie Mays" or "some kind of ballplayer" or "he's my center fielder." Then, before those words have yellowed in last week's newspaper, he's ripping the youngster because of a mistake.

The fickle Leo doesn't reserve all of his wrath for the newcomers as Johnny Callison has found out. Despite having his best season in five years in 1970, he found himself in the Durocher doghouse.

Leo just can't lead men anymore, especially the club's young ones. All "The Skip" is good for is telling and retelling of his Giants' stirring surge to the National League title back in 19-and-51. How many times have you heard him talk about "that time when we were chasing the Dodgers back in..."?

Even Schlitz became tired of "Leo's Golden Oldies" and took him off the tube. The same thing should happen on the field, but no way. The only way Durocher will leave as manager is to be carried off on a stretcher. Wrigley has seen to that.

Old P. K. is always being praised as the fan's type of owner. In many cases this is true. But after reading that he didn't want to trade any of the "big names" because this lineup had attracted the largest crowds in 20 years, I have to take exception to his image.

Since Wrigley's got a good thing going, he wants to keep raking in the money. It doesn't matter that these former '69 super stars are '71 fading stars. P. K. will probably be able to milk money for the next couple of years from the cattle that stampede into his northside stockyard to watch the now tired and boring lineup of Kessinger, Beckert, Williams, Santo...

Trades last winter involving, say, Jim Hickman and Don Kessinger might have made the difference this season. Instead, the old men stayed together and a budding shortstop star — Roger Metzger — was given away to Houston. A talented outfielder and the addition of a Metzger might have been just the shakeup needed for a big year. Wrigley thought otherwise, only of turn-of-the-century dollar signs.

And, to make matters worse, Wrigley told Leo that he could manage as long as he wanted to. That's like allowing Richard Daley to be Chicago's Czar as long as he wished.

Finally, the Cubs themselves are suspect. How many times have you heard or read, "The Cubs have the best infield in baseball," or "The Cubs have the best front-line pitching staff in the National League," or "The Cubs have the best lineup in baseball."

The first two may be true, the third borders on the ridiculous. Glenn Beckert is outstanding in every respect. Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Kessinger are way above average. After that the infielders and outfielders are just average or below, including Pepitone.

Defensively the outfield is below average in both speed and accuracy. Only Beckert, Kessinger and Cleo James have good speed. The rest always seem to be "out by a step" as the announcers moan.

Slugging teams, especially those who play in handball parks like Wrigley Field, are supposed to be fast. Who needs speed when homers clear the bases? But in the spacious parks that are being built every year, teams must have both.

And where is this so-called "Cub Power" anyway. The Bruns rank sixth in the National League and 11th in the majors in homers and are tied for fifth and 10th, respectively, in RBI's. Hardly "another 1927 Yankee team" as one Chicago paper once unbelievably referred to them.

And don't forget the shoddy backups in the dugout and bullpen. Only Ray Newman had an earned run average under 3.00 heading into this week, but his gopher ball performance in Atlanta on Tuesday makes him look like the rest of the inepts. Durocher has been trying to go the distance with his frontliners all year which makes for hanging arms in September.

A total of 590 trophies were given out during awards ceremonies. Trophies were awarded to the first six finishers in all events; miniature loving cups went to all others. Five special awards were also given — outstanding sportsmanship and outstanding performance, one each for girls and boys, and outstanding city.

The Jamboree began in Chicago in 1956, when Jesse Owens was on the staff of the Illinois Youth Commission. The finals first went downstate in 1959, through the efforts of the Springfield Jaycees. Since then, the state meet has been held in Champaign-Urbana, Sterling (three times), Bloomington-Normal, Charleston, Granite City (twice) and Pekin (twice).

On hand to congratulate the winners this year were Peter B. Bensinger, Director of the Department of Corrections; Paul J. Wisner, Director of the Governor's Office of Human Resources; Stan Sieron of Belleville, State President of the Jaycees; and O. Fraser Young of Joliet, state Jamboree chairman of the Jaycees.

Their averages appear awesome when compared to the combined pinch hitting Cub totals. After over 100 at bats, the substitute sticks are hitting below .100! Carrying the worst batting average on the Cubs is none other than Ernie Banks. Mr. Cub is creaking along at a .150 pace, by far his worst year. Last season was a bad one for this former great and should have been his last. However, despite leg problems he still thinks he can play forever. Banks could be more of a benefit to the team as a hitting coach and his spot then could be filled by a more capable player.

All of this leads me to one conclusion — unless the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates play below .500 the rest of the season, there won't be a first-place banner flying above the Bleacher Bums. As things stand right now, the teams the Cubs have to catch must hand them the title. No way!

If, after reading all of this you still don't buy the Cubs finishing as also-rans again this season, write me. All the letters will be published next week and, should the impossible occur — the miracle of Addison Street — I'll give this column to the letter writer who gives the best defense for the Cubbies.

Let me hear from you frustrated fans, pro and con.

Fritz And Paul

Although both Fritz Peterson of the New York Yankees and Paul Splittorff of the Kansas City Royals, who were involved in that dramatic pitching confrontation Tuesday at Yankee Stadium, attended Arlington High School, they don't live in the area in the off season.

Both pitchers are married. Peterson lives in DeKalb and teaches at Northern Illinois University. Splittorff lives in Omaha and last winter worked for the Omaha baseball club of the American Association.

Peterson grew up in Mount Prospect and played in the Mount Prospect Boys Baseball and American Legion programs. He attended Arlington just as the split began with Prospect High. His parents now live in Crystal Lake.

Splittorff played in the Arlington Heights baseball programs. His parents still live in Arlington.

There is a chance the two area products will hook up again this summer. New York plays at Kansas City Aug. 27-28-29.

Pro-Am Best Ball

The 14th annual Pro-Amateur Best Ball Championship of the Chicago District Golf Association will be held at Hillcrest Country Club on Monday, Aug. 23.

Fifty foursomes will be on hand to test the 6590 yards of the par 36-36-72 layout. Oak Park country club, defending champions, will return with the team which won the event last year at LaGrange country club; Ron Bakich, professional, and amateurs Bob Kane Sr., Bob Kane Jr. and Al Wheatland.

Competition will be 18 holes, best ball at scratch, for the Charles N. Eckstein trophy. The professional must be a member of the Illinois PGA or head professional at a CDGA member club, and his three amateur partners must be from his CDGA member club.

Competition will be supervised by a committee headed by Ken Klehr, chairman.

Entries from the Herald area are (In-versed) professional George Capoun, John Seehausen, Carl Disaver, Fred Gore and (Rolling Green) professional Bill Ventresca.

Rose Bowl Tourney

A special bowling tournament will be held Sunday, Aug. 22, from 12 noon to 2 p.m. at the Rose Bowl, 100 W. Dundee, Buffalo Grove.

The 3-6-9 Tournament (automatic strikes in third, sixth, and ninth frames) is open to all sanctioned bowlers, men and women. There will be prizes with a 100 per cent return in prize money.

Entry fee is $2.50, and entries will be accepted until 30 minutes before the competition Sunday.

Call Sally Bartlett at 537-2200 for additional information.

Revolutionary New Irons

Acushnet Company, maker of the Titleist golf ball, today introduced a revolutionary new design concept in its 1972 line of Titleist irons which provides greater distance and accuracy for all golfers when hitting away from the "sweet spot."

"Up until now it was generally assumed that in most instances the weight of the golf clubhead should be concentrated behind the "sweet spot" to give maximum distance and accuracy," explained Ted Woolley, vice president of Acushnet. "The sweet spot is that productive area of the clubface which should come in contact with the ball for the best flight. Unfortunately, the sweet spot is hit very infrequently. Our new design takes this fact into account providing greater distance and accuracy for all golfers, regardless of handicap, when hitting away from the sweet spot."

According to Woolley, the new irons are based on a weight redistribution principle, which involves the insertion of special tungsten alloy weights at critical areas of the clubhead extremities. The weights are 210 per cent heavier than stainless steel and 60 per cent heavier than lead. Woolley, who has designed and manufactured golf clubs for more than 40 years, said the new design retains the classic contours of the irons.

Eight Area Girls Among Leading Finishers In Jr. Sports Jamboree

Eight Herald area girls — five from Mount Prospect, two from Des Plaines and one from Arlington Heights — were among top finishers in the 16th annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree at Joliet East High School last week.

State titles in 41 track and field events were under attack as 463 boys and girls participated. The youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 15, competed in 23 running events — both dashes and relays — and 18 field events.

Those making the trip to Joliet were finalists in an original field of nearly 40,000 who entered local meets in 205 different towns earlier this summer. To win the expense-paid trip, each contestant was required to finish first in his or her event at both the local and regional levels of competition.

The big sports program, which strives for youth fitness and delinquency prevention activity, is sponsored jointly by the Illinois Jaycees, the Illinois Department of Corrections and the Governor's Office of Human Resources.

Mount Prospect girls fared as follows:

Kathy LaPorte was third in the junior girls 75-yard dash in 9.5 seconds and also fifth in long jump with 15 feet, 2 inches. Trudi Rebsamen was third in intermediate girls 220-yard dash in 27.0, Kim Feige was fourth in intermediate baseball throw with 217 feet, 9 inches, Pat Kirsten was fifth in intermediate high jump with 4 feet, six inches and Dawn Gedroic was sixth in Midget long jump with 12 feet, 11½ inches.

Janet Haberkorn of Arlington Heights was the only area individual to take a first place, in the midget girls high jump with 4 feet, 4½ inches.

Kathy LaPorte, Jill Smith of Des Plaines, and two other girls were third with a 52.7 time in the 440-yard relay for junior girls. Janet Smith of Des Plaines, Pat Kirsten and Trudi Rebsamen all took part on the intermediate girls 440-yard relay team which was also third with a 51.2 clocking.

Members of the Joliet Jaycees served as hosts to the visiting youngsters in what was called the state's biggest slumber party.

Separate dormitories for the 254 boys and 229 girls were set up in the girls' and boys' gyms of the high school.

Most of the contestants traveled to Joliet by bus. Following a box supper, they attended a variety in the school's auditorium.

A total of 590 trophies were given out during awards ceremonies. Trophies were awarded to the first six finishers in all events; miniature loving cups went to all others. Five special awards were also given — outstanding sportsmanship and outstanding performance, one each for girls and boys, and outstanding city.

The Jamboree began in Chicago in 1956, when Jesse Owens was on the staff of the Illinois Youth Commission. The finals first went downstate in 1959, through the efforts of the Springfield Jaycees. Since then, the state meet has been held in Champaign-Urbana, Sterling (three times), Bloomington-Normal, Charleston, Granite City (twice) and Pekin (twice).

On hand to congratulate the winners this year were Peter B. Bensinger, Director of the Department of Corrections; Paul J. Wisner, Director of the Governor's Office of Human Resources; Stan Sieron of Belleville, State President of the Jaycees; and O. Fraser Young of Joliet, state Jamboree chairman of the Jaycees.

Arlington Boys Baseball

PONY LEAGUE
Deerfield Invitational
Morton Grove 000 000 0-0-2-1
Arlington 000 001 1-1-3-3
John Yeung tossed a nifty two-hit shutout at the Morton Grove team with the help of Jeff Kutz. The latter struck in the sixth and scored on a passed ball.

Arlington Indians 001 000 0-1-3-3
Deerfield 000 002 1-2-3-2
Despite losing a no-hitter, Tom Vassius lost a tough one because of wildness in the sixth inning. The Indians, which finished the tourney in fourth place, scored in the third but could not hold the lead. Vassius walked the bases full in the second but managed to pitch out of that jam. However, he wasn't as lucky in the sixth.

Round Lake Invitational
Harvard 001 010 0-2-3-3
Chicago Indians 000 001 1-0-0-0
Bob Schmidt helped lead the Indians to victory with a 4-for-1 performance at the plate. Terry Green, the winning pitcher, fanned 10.

Evanson 000 000 0-0-0-0
The Indians, which placed third in this tourney, edged Evanson behind a barrage of extra base hits. Dan Townsend led the onslaught with a homer. Tom Vassius tripled and Mark Lonerick and Jerry Desimone doubled. Terry Green was the winning pitcher.

Arlington Indians 010 011 1-4-4-4
Park Ridge 000 011 1-0-0-0
Despite a double by Jerry Desimone, Jeff Kutz went down to defeat against Park Ridge.

COLT LEAGUE
Waukegan Invitational
Arlington Travelers 432 044-14-14-14
Waukegan Southside 120 000-0-3-3-3

Steve Bobowski tossed a three-hitter as the Travelers romped to victory. Paul Obuchowski hit a three-run homer and later had an inside the park homer. Bobowski helped his own cause with a double and Tom Mueller also doubled.

Arlington Travelers 024 104 2-13-12-0
Park Ridge 101 010 1-4-5-1
Tom Mueller five-hit the home team and Arlington clubbed its pitcher with a 12-hit attack with Paul Obuchowski leading the way with two homers. This gave him five in three games. Steve Loughman and Brian Gaare also hit homers and Steve Bobowski doubled.

UNDER FIVE-FOOT PLAYERS
Niles Invitational

Berwyn 001 010-0-3-5
Arlington Red Sox 000 000-0-0-0
Bob Bukovich and Mark Bayuk allowed just five hits but that was enough as the Red Sox were shut out on just two hits. Bob Bettis had both of Arlington's hits.

Park Ridge 230 145-15-9-3
Arlington Red Sox 028 002-4-5-0
Nine Arlington errors were the difference against Park Ridge. Chris Smith gave up nine hits in taking the loss. Another factor were the five passed balls. Gary Kempton doubled for Arlington and John Vukovich, Bob Bettis, Bob Rosendauter and Rick Sutton singled.

Niles 210 101 1-4-10-3
Arlington 000 000 0-2-10-0
Bob Bettis, who came on in relief of John Vukovich in the seventh, was the winning pitcher. After a rally allowed Niles to tie Arlington in the top of the sixth, the game was pushed into extra innings. Niles scored one in the top of the inning on a single before the Red Sox came back. Bettis led off with a single — his third in four trips to the plate. Ken Wuestenfeld reached on a fielder's choice with no out being recorded. Paul Preislung grounded out but advanced the two runners into scoring position. Then Mark Bayuk broke the game up with a two-run single. Arlington finished the tourney with a 2-2 record and third place.

Red Sox Roster

Four boys just didn't measure up literally for the Niles Invitational Tourney. Tom Brennan, Bill Donato, Chris Melsner and Matt Spitt were too tall for the five-footer tourney. Measuring up, however, were these youngsters:

Mark Bayuk, Mike Dexter, Dean DiValerio, Dennis Drolet, Gary Kempton, Bruce Peterson, Paul Preislung, Bob Rosendauter, Chris Smith, Ricky Sutton, John Vukovich and Ken Wuestenfeld.

PEANUT LEAGUE
Niles Invitational Tournament

Arlington Blades 532 122-15-9-6
Berwyn 012 000-7-5-10
Dave Grant had a triple as one of his hits, scored twice and socked in three runs while leading the pitching triumph. Jordan Riedl relieved Grant after three innings and went 1 1/3 innings before being hit in the head by a ball. Chris White came on to finish up. White doubled as did Keith Gehrke. The latter's blast drove in three of his eight RBIs. White also had a pair of hits and three walks.

Niles Nationals 000 005-5-7-4
Arlington Blades 003 010-4-6-8
Arlington was leading 4-0 heading into the sixth inning when the visitors went rallied to get out of the decision. Chris White started and went four scoreless innings. Then Dave Grant went the fifth and started the sixth by walking three batters. Jim Loneragan relieved him and was tagged with the loss. White doubled for Arlington's only extra base hit.

Edison Park 202 2-6-6-6
Arlington Blades 465 1-10-15-5
Arlington collected 13 hits, four of them doubles, in routing Edison Park. Lee Werner had a pair of two baggers. Jordan Riedl, the winning pitcher, had one in the four-run first inning and Dave Grant doubled in the second. For Riedl it was his second tourney win. The game only went four innings because Arlington had a 10-run lead. Werner went 3-for-8 and one of his doubles was a ground rule hit. Rick Kaelin also had two hits.

Arlington Blade Roster
Kevin Sheehan's Blades had a fine tourney. Making up this tourney team were these players: Dave Blaes, Frank Billings, Keith Gehrke, Dave Grant, Rick Kaelin, Dave Loch, Jim Loneragan, Jordan Riedl, Bob Setman, Tim Sheehan, Jaime Spiel, Steve Todd, Lee Werner, Chris White and Dan Zawacki.

Seniors and juniors should report between 12:20 and 2:00 p.m., sophomores from 2:00 to 3:30 and freshmen from 3:30 to 5:30.

Head coach Paul Jordan wishes to remind all players that before they are issued equipment they must have insurance paid for, a doctor's physical card, a parent permission card and a combination lock.

Strong Rush Gives Team 6 Title In Chemplex League

Team No. 6 (Walt Ramsey, Dick Beals, Jack Monteleone, and George Laybourne) successfully defended first place the final evening to win the Chemplex Twilight Golf League title at Golden Acres Country Club in Schaumburg.

Posting only 20 points at mid-season, Team 6 put on a strong rush to end the season with 56 points, just five points ahead of second-place Team No. 1 (Jack Jacobs, Mike Melchior, Al Wolter, Ramon Shroff).

Low gross for the final round went to Walt Ramsey with a 43, while Al Wolter recorded a low net of 30, second best for the season.

Carl Snyder had the only birdie for the evening on hole No. 2.

The league season ended up with a four-way tie for low gross (41) between John Bestmann, Ray Cameron, Bill Ricks and Jack Jacobs. These four golfers will compete in a playoff during the Annual "Whup the Boss" Golf Outing, matching the League golfers against Company officers. This year's Outing will be held Sept. 10 at Villa Olivia Country Club in Bartlett.

Low net winner for the season was Ken Chao's 24, and he also earned the honors as the most improved golfer.

Flight winners for the second half of the season were: Flight A — Carl Snyder; Flight B — Larry Dowd; Flight C — Sven Solvik; and Flight D — Ken Chao. During the same Outing, they will compete with the flight winners of the first half (Bill Hicks, Dick Beals, Bill Reeve and Ramon Shroff) to determine the winner.

In addition to the "Whup the Boss" Outing, the Chemplex golfers are looking forward to the Annual Golf Outing between American Can Co. (Barrington) and Chemplex at the Playboy Club, Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 28.

Make A Date With Nutrition

Fresh California dates are the highest of all fresh fruits in potassium, iron and niacin. They also contain protein, calcium, phosphorus, thiamine, riboflavin and essential trace minerals. They are very low in sodium and fat, two items of concern to many people on special diets. Add to this the natural sugars which are available for conversion to quick energy and you have quite a package!

Pork Loin Roast with Date Glaze

- 1 boned and rolled pork loin
- 1 8 ounce jar red currant jelly
- 1 cup chopped dates
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- ½ teaspoon salt

Place pork loin in shallow roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer in center. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and roast in 325-degree oven uncovered for 1½ hours. Prepare date-currant glaze. Remove meat from oven and baste generously with glaze. Return to the oven and continue roasting for 30 minutes, or until thermometer reaches 180 degrees. Baste occasionally with additional glaze.

Date Currant Glaze

Heat currant jelly over low flame until it liquefies. Add remaining ingredients and cook 3 to 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Use as glaze for pork roast.

California Date Orange Muffins

- 2 cups sifted all purpose flour
- 3 teaspoons double acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg
- ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup orange juice
- ¼ cup grated orange peel
- ¼ cup melted shortening
- 1 cup chopped dates

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Grease twelve 2½ inch muffin pans. Sift dry ingredients. Beat egg until frothy and add remaining ingredients. Make a well in flour mixture and add milk mixture all at once. Stir quickly — don't beat — until barely mixed. Fill muffin cups ¾ full. Bake 25 minutes or until cake tester or toothpick comes out clean when inserted in center.

Date Lime Chiffon Pie

- 1 package lime gelatin
- 2 teaspoons Creme de Menthe
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 cup fresh dates, finely chopped
- Baked pastry shell

Prepare gelatin according to directions. Chill until almost set. Stir in Creme de Menthe. Beat with electric mixer until gelatin will stand in soft peaks. Whip cream and fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in dates. Refrigerate until mixture will mound on a spoon. Spoon into baked pie shell and return to refrigerator for several hours or until firm. Garnish with date halves and a sprig of mint.

California Compote

- Fresh dates
- Orange sections
- Grapefruit sections
- Strawberries or raspberries in season

Arrange fruits in individual glasses or in a large compote. It is not only a beautiful dessert but can also be served as an appetizer. A sprinkling of Misch or Curacao adds elegance.

Quick Energy Pick Up

- 1 egg
- 6 fresh dates, halved
- 1 cup orange juice

Put egg and dates in blender and process until almost smooth. Add orange juice and process until slightly frothy. Pour into glass and garnish with a strip of orange peel.

Entertain With Hawaiian Style

Plan A Native Pupu Party

If you want to give a party that's truly Hawaiian, but easy; forget about having a luau. A luau is "plenty work." Instead, entertain the easy way everybody in Hawaii does, with cool drinks and pupus, the appetizers of the island.

The appetizer party is a mainland idea that suits all 50th-State people, who may live at a slower pace but still have to work five days a week — even in Paradise. What makes the party distinctively Hawaiian are the pupus themselves — the most cosmopolitan collection of food imaginable.

Some pupus are definitely exotic. For example; papaya and mango wrapped in Italian ham, or slices of the soft meat of young coconuts, or steamed Chinese buns (buns) filled with barbecued pork, or Japanese sushi (rice balls) topped with sashimi (raw fish, which nearly everybody in Hawaii relishes).

Pupus like these are an adventure of experience and even more so to prepare. But other pupus — just as authentic — you can make easily from simple in-redients to please everyone. Menehune Chicken, "Meat Sticks," and Pineapple with Sesame-Cheese Dip are easy on the cook and perfect party pupus.

These first two appetizers are typical of the many barbecued pupus of either Japanese or Chinese origin.

A MAJORITY of Hawaiians are of Oriental ancestry. Few people are completely Hawaiian or of other Polynesian ancestry. So naturally everyone is accustomed to eating Oriental food. Nearly every cook adapts standard Oriental ingredients like soy sauce to other types of cooking.

The use of soy sauce in every one of the following pupu recipes is typical. Soy sauce (called ahiya) is imported from Japan, where the sauce is brewed and aged much the same way wine is made. Use Japanese sauce of this type for authentic Hawaiian flavor. You can tell if it is the proper type just by reading the ingredient list on the label. The brewed sauce, sold everywhere, will be made of nothing more than soy beans, wheat, salt, and water.

All other ingredients for these pupus can be purchased at any food store. If you live in an area where you can find fresh ginger root, substitute grated fresh root for the ground ginger.

You can make, wrap, and refrigerate almost anything ahead for your own convenience. Arrange pupus on a buffet table where you can cover them with clear-wrap until guests arrive. At party time, just whisk away the wrap and the pupus will be fresh and appetizing.

sauce. Arrange on serving tray. Cover with clear wrap until guests arrive. Let guests cook Meat Sticks on charcoal hibachi to desired doneness.

Makes about 5 dozen appetizers.

MENEHUNE CHICKEN

Menehunes are mythical dwarfs (some superstitious people still insist), who live in the forests. The chicken-wing pieces cut for this appetizer look like tiny drumsticks and thighs — just the size a menehune chicken's would be.

- 24 chicken wings
- 1 cup soy sauce
- 3/4 cup finely chopped green onions and tops
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 4 teaspoons salad oil
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground ginger (or 1 tablespoon grated fresh ginger root)

The morning of the party: Disjoint chicken wings; discard tips. Blend soy sauce, green onions, sugar, oil, garlic, and ginger in large mixing bowl. Add chicken pieces, cover with clear wrap, and marinate 30 minutes.

Remove chicken, reserve marinade. Place chicken, side by side, in shallow baking pan, skin side down. Bake, uncovered, in 350 degree oven 15 minutes. Turn pieces, baste with marinade, and bake 15 minutes longer.

Cool, wrap and refrigerate until ready to arrange on the buffet. Guests may warm chicken on charcoal table hibachi.

Makes 4 dozen appetizers.

PINEAPPLE PUPUS

WITH SESAME DIP

- 2 tablespoons sesame seed, toasted
- 1 large package (8 ounce) cream cheese, softened
- 6 tablespoons water
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 1 fresh pineapple

The morning of the party: Crush sesame seed in blender at high speed; add cream cheese, water, soy sauce, and hot pepper sauce; blend well. Turn out into serving bowl; cover and refrigerate.

Cut a thick slice from both top and bottom of pineapple. Peel and remove "eyes." Cut lengthwise into eight strips; remove core. Cut each strip crosswise into thirds, then lengthwise into three bite-sized chunks. Wrap with plastic wrap and refrigerate.

To serve, let dip warm to room temperature and arrange with drained pineapple chunks on buffet tray. Provide wooden skewers or picks.

Makes about 6 dozen pineapple pieces and 1 cup dip.

MEAT STICKS

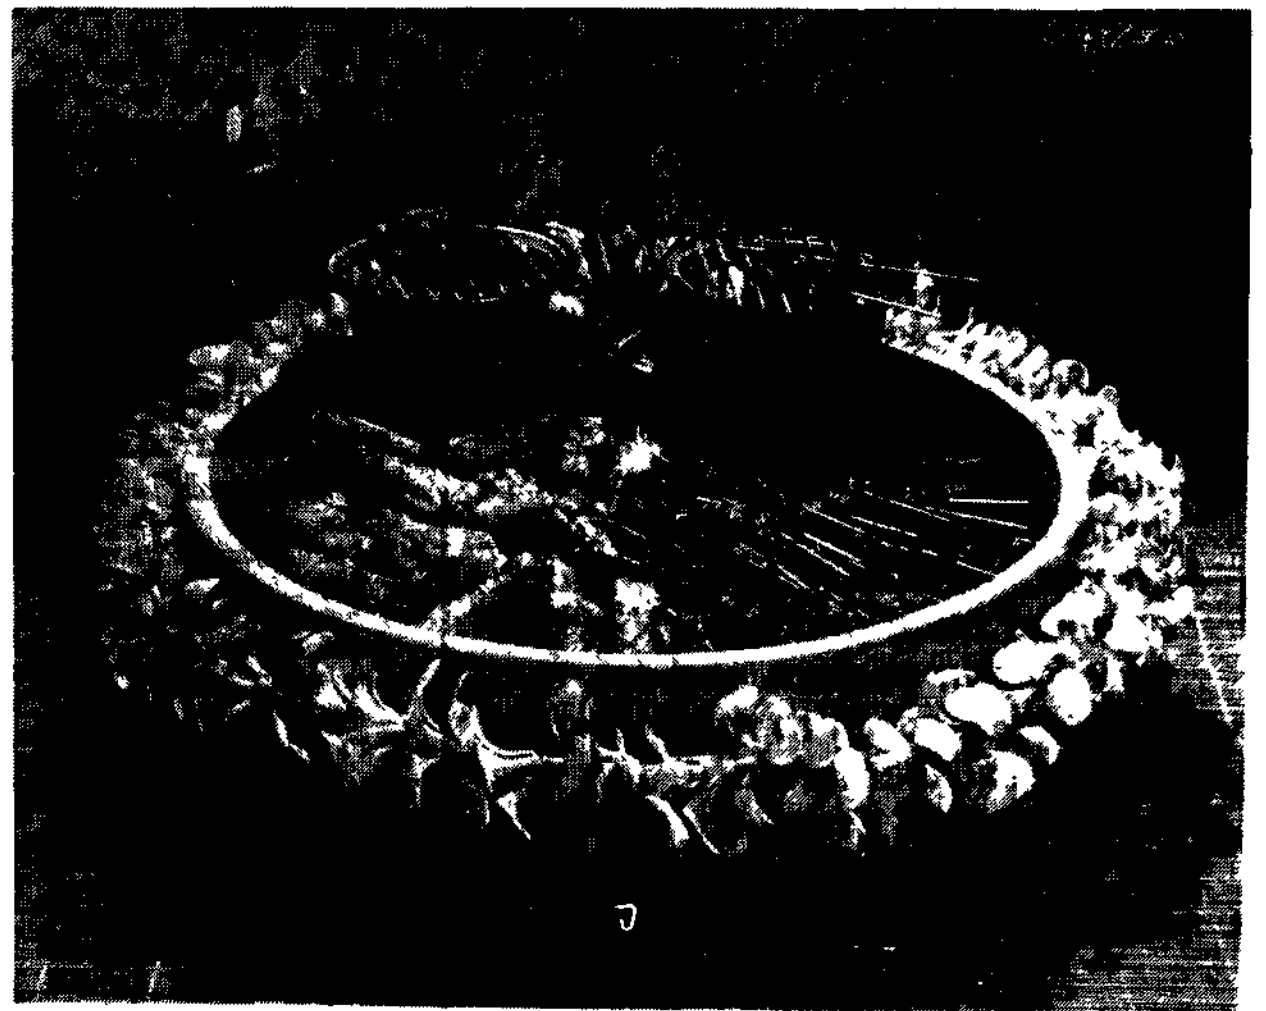

- 1/2 cup Kikkoman Soy Sauce
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions and tops
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon salad oil
- 1 1/4 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger (or 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger root)

2 1/2 pounds beef sirloin steak, boned and trimmed of fat

The morning of the party: Blend soy sauce, green onions, sugar, oil, cornstarch, garlic and ginger in saucepan. Simmer, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 1 minute. Cool, cover with wrap and keep at room temperature.

Also, slice meat into 1/8-inch-thick strips about 4 inches long and 1 inch wide. Thread bamboo or metal skewers each with 1 strip of meat. Wrap in clear wrap and refrigerate.

About 30 minutes before party time, brush skewered meat on both sides with

Vegetable Curry Treat

A mixture of fresh vegetables brings some special taste sensations to a meal. A Vegetable Curry, for example, takes on a Middle Eastern touch with the use of curry powder and chopped coconut. The vegetables cooked only until tender but still crisp may include turnips, cabbage, kohlrabi, carrots, potatoes and tomatoes. Serve this separately or over rice with meat.

VEGETABLE CURRY

- 1/4 cup corn oil
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped coconut
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 1 tablespoon curry powder
- 2 pounds mixed raw vegetables,

(turnips, cabbage, kohlrabi, carrots or potatoes) peeled and diced (about 7 cups)

3 cups peeled, diced tomatoes (about 3 medium)

2 cups water

2 1/2 teaspoons salt

Heat corn oil in large skillet over medium heat. Add onion, coconut, garlic and curry powder. Cook, stirring frequently, until onion is tender. Stir in mixed raw vegetables, tomatoes, water and salt. Cover tightly. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, about 1 hour or until vegetables are tender. Serve over rice, if desired. Makes about 7 (1 cup) servings.

Orange Ices Are Summer Delight

Frosty and delicious, these late-summer delights will keep their appeal any time of the year. And what's most pleasing about them is that they are not only simple and quick to prepare, but they're also loaded with nutritious vitamin C from the frozen Florida orange juice concentrate used as a base.

The Old Fashioned Orange Ice Cream cooks in a matter of minutes and can be poured into the ice cream freezer and turned over to the official hand turner while you select the garnishes.

The Frozen Orange Dessert has a special advantage. Just beat evaporated milk with the electric mixer, pour in the other ingredients and whip the luscious froth until it's stiff. Slip it into the freezer tray for a few hours and polish your prettiest sherbet dishes for this treat.

Serve plain, with fruits or with one of these luscious orange concentrate-based sauces, these ices will be tops on your light-hearted dessert list.

OLD FASHIONED ORANGE ICE CREAM

- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate

Hot Dogs In Hot Pants

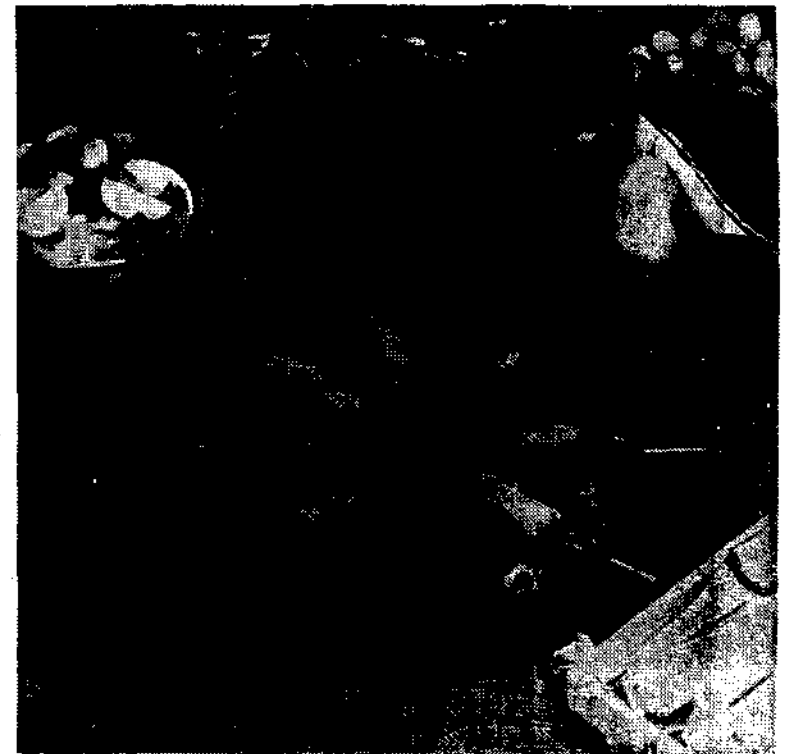

"Batter-up" and score points with your entire family! It's a summertime favorite of hot dogs "outfitted" in a cornmeal mix dip. Eat 'em right off the stick!

HOT DOGS IN HOT PANTS

- 1 pound (8) hot dogs
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1/2 cup crumbled shoestring potatoes

Heat hot dogs in water; dry thoroughly before dipping in batter. Blend all ingredients except potatoes about 20 seconds; beat vigorously 1 minute. Stir in potatoes. Heat fat or oil (3 to 4 inches) to 375 degrees in deep fat fryer or kettle. Insert wooden skewer in one end of hot dog or hold with tongs; dip 2/3 into cornmeal mixture, then into hot oil. Cook about 1 minute, until batter is light ly browned.

This is the idea behind our storage bag. Naturally we call it Ziploc.

There's never been a food storage bag like Ziploc. It's made so that what's inside stays inside, and what's outside stays outside. Ziploc bags come in two sizes—Quart and Gallon. We think they're the best food storage bags you can buy. With no strings attached.

"NO LIMITS" TO YOUR SAVINGS AT EAGLE ... SHOP AND COMPARE!

No Limits!

Among the many advantages to Eagle's Discount Pricing Policy is that there are no limits placed on the customer's choices. In many supermarkets, a few weekend specials are offered, specials which limit the shopper to purchasing only one or two of the specially-priced item or to purchase a specific amount of tie-in merchandise. At Eagle, on the other hand, we offer (every day of the week) more than 7,500 Discount Priced items, and we impose no restrictions on the quantity each shopper decides to buy. No wonder so many homemakers have chosen to shop regularly at Eagle, where Discount Prices and a "no-limits" policy can bring you cash savings on your weekly food bill. Check and Compare!

Fresh Fruits Ready To Eat!

Come see what summer has brought to Eagle! Fresh, flavorful fruits to tempt the appetite. A delicious assortment is now on hand. Peaches, Plums, Bartlett Pears, Nectarines, Seedless Grapes and more. Great for eating, in pies, shortcakes, or serving a mixture of fresh fruit in a complete for dessert.

Tasty Barbecued Chicken Indoors Or Out

by LOIS SEILER
Indoors or out, the tasty barbecued chicken prepared by Mrs. Robert H. Ahrens of 19 N. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, is ideal summer fare. "It's a little different from most barbecued chicken because the sauce has a vinegar and oil base rather than tomato," Nancy Ahrens explained. Tabasco, dry mustard and Worcestershire sauce give it zest.

Whether cooking the chicken on the grill or baking it in the oven, she keeps the sauce warm and uses it to baste the chicken regularly. The flavors permeate the meat and a crispy crust is formed.

Easy enough for the family yet tasty enough for guests, the chicken may be served with a tossed salad, corn on the cob and baked beans.

Nancy has a simple recipe for baked beans that can be assembled in a matter of minutes. It consists of canned pork and beans arranged in a casserole with brown sugar and dry mustard. Catsup and bacon bits are sprinkled on top.

Baked for 2½ hours, all the ingredients blend together giving the beans a delicious flavor. They are appealing for almost any type of summer meal and make a big hit with her husband, Bob, and sons Phil, 10, and Ben, 9 years old.

ANOTHER OF NANCY'S summertime specialties is an elegant Strawberry Torte. A meringue shell is prepared first, and Nancy's meringue is a bit unusual — it has crushed soda crackers and chopped nuts folded in.

"I've never had a bit of trouble with it," Nancy said, terming it both "easy and foolproof."

After the shell is baked and cooled, it is filled with whole strawberries and topped with sweetened whipped cream. Refrigerated until served, the dessert is festive in appearance as well as delightful to taste.

Formerly a teacher at Windsor School, Nancy now limits her teaching activities to Sunday School at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church where she also belongs to a circle. In addition, she is president of Chapter IX of PEO.

BARBECUED CHICKEN

2 to 3 whole chickens, cut up
½ cup salad oil
¼ cup water
1½ tablespoons salt
1½ teaspoons Tabasco
¾ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
Combine oil, water, salt, tabasco, vinegar, sugar, dry mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Heat to boiling. Keep hot and use to baste chicken every 15 minutes. May be used to baste chicken on the grill or when baking it in the oven at 375 degrees for one hour.

EASY BAKED BEANS

2 16 to 18-ounce cans pork and beans
¾ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard

6 slices bacon, cut in pieces
½ cup catsup

Empty one can of beans in bottom of greased casserole. Combine sugar and mustard and sprinkle half of mixture over beans. Top with remaining can of beans. Sprinkle remainder of sugar mixture, chopped bacon and catsup on top. Bake, uncovered at 325 degrees for 2½ hours. Makes 8 servings.

STRAWBERRY TORTE

3 egg whites
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup granulated sugar
10 square soda crackers, crushed fine
½ cup chopped pecans
Beat egg whites and baking powder together until frothy. Beat in sugar gradually, beating until stiff. Fold in crushed soda crackers and chopped nuts.

Spread in a well-buttered 9 or 10-inch pie pan, building up meringue on sides. Bake at 300 degrees for 30 minutes. Let cool.

Prepare the following:

1 quart fresh, unsweetened whole strawberries
½ pink whipping cream
2 teaspoons granulated sugar.

Place clean, hulled strawberries in cooled meringue shell. Whip cream and sweeten with sugar. Spread over strawberries. Chill torte in refrigerator for several hours. Cut in wedges to serve. Serves 8.

BARBECUED CHICKEN is a family affair. Mrs. Robert H. Ahrens of Arlington Heights makes her barbecue sauce with Tabasco, dry mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Her two sons Ben and Phil assist with the outdoor cooking.

Flavorful Ideas For Fruits

Apples and peaches blend particularly well with the flavors of other fruits and nuts. Apples and currants, raisins or dates; apples and mincemeat; peaches and almonds or almond flavoring are several of the more famous combinations. The following are some recipes that combine the flavors of several fruits.

BLUEBERRY PEACH CRISP

This simple old fashioned flavored Blueberry Peach Crisp has lots of fruit and berries in the bottom, topped with a not too thick layer of crunchy topping.

2 cups fresh blueberries
3 cups peeled and sliced peaches
1 cup sifted flour
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¾ cup melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon mace

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Combine blueberries and sliced peaches in the bottom of a generously buttered 9x9-inch glass baking dish. In mixing bowl combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt, mixing well. Add egg and continue mixing until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle over the top of fruit and drizzle with melted butter or margarine. Combine sugar with cinnamon and mace and sprinkle it evenly over the top. Bake 35-40 minutes or until top is well browned. Serve warm or at room temperature. Serves 9.

SUNNY PEACH AND PLUM COMPOTE

3 large fully ripened peaches
6 ripe red plums
¼ cup red wine
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Grated rind of ½ lemon

Peel and slice peaches. Quarter plums. Combine in a small sauce pan. Add wine, lemon juice and sugar, along with seasonings and lemon rind. Bring to a boil, lower heat and simmer for 5 minutes (with lid on). Remove from heat and cool. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

This compote may be served plain, but is an excellent topping for ice cream, sponge or pound cake.

BLUEBERRY APPLE COBBLER

2 cups blueberries
2 cups apples, peeled and sliced
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
½ cup brown sugar, packed
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup flour
½ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 egg
¼ teaspoon cardamom

Generously butter a 9x9-inch baking dish. Arrange blueberries and apples in an even layer. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Combine brown sugar with cinnamon and sprinkle on top.

In a mixing bowl combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Mix until well blended. Now add melted butter and egg. Add cardamom and continue mixing until mixture is well blended. Spread batter on top of fruit mixture and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for approximately 35-40 minutes. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream if you wish. Serves 6 to 8.

Mostly For Men

by Charles Flynn

by CHARLES E. FLYNN

Most amateur male chefs tend to shy away from gelatin salads. Perhaps they regard them as feminine and suited only for the bridge club luncheon. That isn't true of the professionals, many of whom make an art of their preparation.

While perhaps not as simple as the recipes sound, the salads are not difficult and offer many opportunities to give a tasty and attractive touch to luncheon or dinner.

Here's one of our favorites which has a delightful sour cream topping. Dissolve a 3-ounce package of raspberry gelatin in 1½ cups boiling water and add 1 package of frozen red raspberries. Stir to separate the berries but avoid crushing them. Add an 8½ ounce can of crushed pineapple drained, 1 ripe banana peeled and diced, and ½ cup chopped pecan meats. Pour into one or individual molds and chill thoroughly.

Serve to 6 in lettuce cups with this dressing. Mix 1 cup sour cream, 1½ cups miniature marshmallows, 1 tablespoon sugar, and 3 tablespoons lemon juice. This should be mixed and refrigerated several hours or overnight, then beaten until smooth before spooning over the servings of salad.

THIS IS MY version of what many term the perfection salad using green vegetables with a gelatin preparation. Dissolve a 3 ounce package of lemon gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Stir in ¾ cup cold water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt and a dash of tabasco. Chill until slightly thickened.

Fold in 1 cup chopped green cabbage, ½ cup cucumber, peeled and chopped, and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper. Pour into a 4-cup mold. Chill until firm. Serve on bibb lettuce and top with swirls of mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

A favorite mold combines cucumbers, cream cheese, onion and parsley flavors. Soften 1 package of plain gelatin in ¼ cup lemon juice and 2 tablespoons cold water. Dissolve in ½ cup boiling water and add 2 tablespoons sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt.

Halve 6 medium pared cucumbers and scrape out seeds. Run through a food chopper using fine blade. Drain and measure since you want 2 cups of the ground cucumbers.

Add the cucumbers to an 8-ounce package of softened cream cheese along with 1 cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup minced onion, and ¼ cup minced fresh parsley. Mix well.

Stir in the gelatin mixture and pour into 8 lightly greased individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve on crisp lettuce or endive, topping with a dash of mayonnaise and paprika.

World Famous Tradition With Maryland Clam Chowder

Maryland's spicy crab cakes are world famous as are their deviled crabs, fried oysters, oyster stew, scalloped oysters and oyster stuffing. There are clam festivals with clam queens and clam cooking contests. Many of these dishes are cooked according to her heirloom recipes, spiced and herbed as they would have been a century or two ago.

To offer you a taste of the cuisine of "Maryland, my Maryland" the test kitchens of the American Spice Trade Association have created the following recipes for Maryland Clam Chowder and Devilish Crab-Stuffed Eggs.

MARYLAND CLAM CHOWDER

1½ quarts water
1 chicken breast split

¼ cup celery flakes
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
½ teaspoon ground turmeric
¼ teaspoon thyme leaves
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
1/8 teaspoon ground white pepper

1 can (10½ oz.) minced clams
2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen mixed vegetables
1 tablespoon parsley flakes

In a large saucepan combine water, chicken, celery flakes and salt. Bring to boiling point. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 45 minutes. Remove chicken. Discard skin and bones; dice the meat and set aside. Stir into broth minced onion, turmeric, thyme, garlic powder and white pepper; mix well. Add reserved chicken, clams and mixed vegetables. Simmer uncovered, 20 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley flakes and serve. Yield 2½ quarts.

Note: 1 cup fresh chopped clams and 1 cup clam juice may be substituted for canned clams.

DEVILISH CRAB-STUFFED EGGS

9 hard-cooked eggs, peeled
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons minced, peeled and seeded cucumber
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon powdered mustard

¼ teaspoon parsley flakes, crumbled
½ teaspoon onion powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon oregano leaves, crumbled
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
1/16 teaspoon ground red pepper
1 can (7½ oz.) crab meat, drained and flaked

Cut eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks, set whites aside. Place yolks in a mixing bowl; mash well. Add remaining ingredients except crab meat; blend well. Stir in crab meat. Spoon mixture into reserved egg whites. Chill well before serving.

Yield: 18 stuffed egg hors d'oeuvres.

Lamb And Pickle Combos Highlight Outdoor Barbecues

A picnic means different things to different people. To some it is the occasion on which huge quantities of food are prepared at home, packed in the big hamper, and loaded into the car for a trip to the country. To others, it means simply rolling out the portable grill and cooking in the backyard. It's the cookout type of picnic (whether at home or away) for which the following recipes were planned.

Try Popovers With Onion

Some foods never lose their appeal, and some recipes change little over the centuries — like popovers, once hawked on the streets of merry old London and still a favorite. Today, a package of onion soup mix transforms this classic into a bread with real 21st century taste and convenience.

Serve Onion Popovers anytime a hot meal needs rescue. Try this trick: split popovers and fill the hollow centers with creamed vegetables, seafood salads or scrambled eggs.

There is no danger of overmixing this steam-leavened bread, so let your mixer go to work on that thin batter. A vigorous beating develops the gluten in flour and creates the elasticity necessary for "popping over."

Popovers have another old fashioned but up-to-date virtue — nutrition. Thanks to the modern enrichment process of flour, all homemade bread contains essential B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron.

ONION POPOVERS

3 eggs, well beaten
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons dry onion soup mix
1 tablespoon oil
1 cup enriched flour*

Combine eggs, milk, onion soup mix and oil. Blend in flour until smooth. Beat 1 minute with electric mixer on medium speed or 3 minutes with rotary beater. Fill greased popover pans or custard cups half full. Bake in preheated 425 degrees oven 40 to 45 minutes, or until brown and firm to touch. For crispier popovers prick sides to release steam and reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees. Bake 20 minutes longer.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

Makes 6 large or 11 small popovers.

Homemaking Happenings

PURCHASE EGGS that are stored in a refrigerated case in grocery or supermart. Refrigerate the eggs promptly at home, large end up, to help maintain quality. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says that shell eggs kept at temperatures between 70 and 80 degrees will lose more quality in one day than in one week under refrigeration.

FOR BEST FLAVOR, use fluid milk and cream within three to five days and cultured products within two or three days.

DON'T PINCH the produce. Rough handling of fruits while you are selecting them causes spoilage and waste. The loss to the retailer usually is passed on to the consumer. When you must handle fruit to judge quality, do so carefully and gently.

STORE BERRIES and cherries whole and uncovered in the refrigerator until ready to use. Washing and stemming before refrigerating results in loss of food value and increased spoilage. Use within one or two days.

FOR BEST results, a beef roast meant to cook with dry heat oven roasting should weigh at least four pounds.

MOST LEAFY GREENS should be torn, rather than cut with a knife or shears. Contact with metal tends to induce discoloring or "rust." When using only part of a head of lettuce, for instance, break off the amount needed.

FRESH CITRUS is one of nature's best sources for Vitamin C, necessary to the health of cells. It also supplies Vitamins A and B and some minerals.

CHOPPING BOARDS are great helps in food preparation. But they need thorough cleaning to prevent any chance of bacteria spread. Scrub well after cutting fish, meat or poultry and always wash the board before using it for something else.

Ice Cream Tip

When you plan to serve ice cream that has been stored in your freezer, set the container in the food storage section of the refrigerator 20 to 30 minutes before serving time. Or, if you're pressed for time, let the unopened container stand at room temperature about 10 minutes.

The ice cream will soften just enough for easy dipping, yet will remain sufficiently firm to make nicely rounded scoops.

PICKLE LAMB KABOBS

1/2 cup sweet pickle liquid
1/4 cup catsup
1/2 cup water
6 whole cloves
1 bay leaf

Grill 8 to 10 minutes per side, brushing frequently with marinade. Place pickles and pineapple on skewers. Grill 5 minutes per side brushing frequently with marinade. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

PICKLE LAMB-BOBS

Crepes: Worthy Of French Menu

Crepes, fragile, lace-edged pancakes which serve as a wrapping for various treasures either sweet or savory, are as French in their preparation as their name. Actually, crepes are not hard to make, but to be worthy of their place on the French menu, they must be made with care for detail and with the finest possible ingredients.

You can please your most critical guest with either Vanilla Crepes with Strawberry Lemon Filling or Cheese Filled Crepes made according to the following recipes. Ripe strawberries, fresh peaches or other fruit, lemon zest and pure vanilla team delightfully in a crepe filling. Equally excellent is a mingling of cream cheese, apricot jam and, again, the subtle fragrance of vanilla. Either of these desserts would be considered comme il faut on the French dinner table.

Wash, hull and slice strawberries. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup of the sugar and 2 teaspoons of the vanilla; let stand 1 hour. In the top portion of a double boiler melt butter. Stir in remaining 1 1/4 cups sugar. Beat eggs with egg yolks and add to butter mixture. Blend in lemon juice, peel and salt. Cook over boiling water, beating constantly with wire whisk, until mixture is thick and smooth. Stir in remaining 3 teaspoons vanilla extract. Cool. Stir in strawberries. Spoon about 2 tablespoons filling in center of each crepe. Fold into cylinder shape and arrange on platter. Serve, topped with remaining sauce or with a rich vanilla ice cream.

Yield: 6 portions.

VANILLA CREPES WITH CHEESE FILLING
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
5 1/2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
1/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
12 Vanilla crepes
Apricot Sauce
1/4 cup toasted slivered almonds
In a small mixing bowl combine cream cheese, 4 tablespoons of the butter, sugar, vanilla extract and lemon peel. Beat until light and fluffy. Spread each crepe to within 1/4 inch of the edge with cheese mixture. Fold in 2 opposite ends, almost to the center; then roll them up. Arrange the crepes side by side in a buttered shallow baking dish. Dot with remaining 1 1/2 tablespoons butter. Bake, uncovered in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes. Serve with Apricot Sauce and sprinkle with almonds, if desired.
Yield: 6 portions

APRICOT SAUCE:
2/3 cup apricot jam
1/3 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon pure vanilla extract
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
In a small saucepan combine apricot jam, orange juice, butter and vanilla extract. Heat until smooth and well blended, stirring constantly.

First Request Flatly Denied

Board To Reconsider Zone For 20-Acre Hospital Site

by PAT GERLACH

On September 14, Schaumburg trustees will reconsider planned unit development (PUD) zoning on a 57-acre tract in the central portion of the village that could provide a 20-acre hospital site donation.

The request, submitted by J. Emil Anderson and Sons, developers, was flatly denied at last week's village board meeting in a 4-2 vote.

At the suggestion of Mayor Robert O. Atcher, Trustee Gordon Mullins, who opposed the project and voted accordingly, moved to allow reconsideration.

During Tuesday night's village board meeting, Atcher revealed that he has for some time been in possession of privileged information which could shed new light on the proposed hospital-medical-residential complex.

"In the meantime (since last week's denial of the requested zoning) some people in authority have said that they would meet with the board members informally and present the information purportedly not for publication," Atcher said.

THE MAYOR NOTED, however, that "under the rules and regulations imposed on us," presumably the Illinois Open Meetings law which requires that all meetings of this type be open to press and public, such discussion could not be held.

"The information to be provided should cause some members of the village board to feel different about the total proposal," he explained stressing that without this information it would be necessary for the petitioner to begin with publication and zoning board hearings on a new proposal.

"I told the petitioner that I thought the board would be willing to hear this new information which shall remain privileged until the petitioner and other people involved make it public," the mayor said.

Under parliamentary procedure ruling the village board, only a member voting against a measure is able to reopen such consideration. But Atcher stressed, in his remarks to trustees, that no motion allowing discussion of the petition be allowed until all trustees are present on Sept. 14.

MULLINS, HERBERT J. Aigner, James Guthrie and Jack Larsen voted against granting the PUD zoning while Trustees Raymond Kellell and Mathew Helsper were in favor of granting the petitioner's request.

"This is not being done in an attempt to change anyone's mind but rather to give all board members a chance to hear what has been privileged information regarding the intent and activities of this petitioner," Atcher continued.

Prior to moving that the matter be reopened for further discussion, Mullins traced the history of the petition since presented last February.

He said that the matter came up for a board vote in June after recommendation of the zoning board of appeals that the PUD zoning be granted; it was subsequently postponed to July and later to August.

"Between June and August I thought that information might come to the board which would have some bearing on my decision and it did not but, if, now, there is other information I think it should be heard before we make a final ruling," Mullins said.

WITH BOTH Guthrie and Larsen absent this week, Atcher said that petitioners would be present at the first scheduled board meeting in September to present the data in question.

Trustees voting against the PUD were of the opinion that the complex, as presented, did not meet guidelines set down for this type of development and were skeptical that a hospital would develop on the pledged 20-acre site.

Timbercrest subdivision residents have opposed the plan for months and more residents have joined that bandwagon to oppose removal of a number of mature trees on a portion of the site.

An additional obstacle has been presented in that official state hospital licensing agencies have recommended a 25-acre site as the minimum area acceptable for hospital construction.

THE PETITIONER in this regard has promised to hold a five-acre parcel aside for possible future acquisition should hospital expansion be needed.

Administrators of four area hospitals expressed displeasure with the project late last winter and wrote a joint letter to the state health care division but later tempered their statements indicating that they were calling for joint planning.

Since that time, a broader study group, including Mayor Frederick Downey of Hoffman Estates, has been established to meet with high-level hospital officials.

A meeting was held in June and it was decided at that time that a feasibility study should take place in the general area with nearby communities being asked to participate in funding.

Atcher, Hanover Park Mayor, Richard Baker, Richard Regan, chairman of an ad hoc committee working toward hospital planning in Hoffman Estates, and numerous regional hospital and health planning officials are scheduled to meet today.

When the Schaumburg proposal was defeated last week, Atcher made it clear that he had planted the hospital idea in the minds of the developers petitioning for approval of the PUD and said the blame should be put on his shoulders by those critical of the plan.

AN ICE CUBE throwing contest was one of the special activities at Eskimo Day in the Schaumburg Park District. It marked the end of the summer program. The girl tossing cube is 9-year-old Judy Hease.

4 Named To Environment Committee

The first four appointments to Hoffman Estates' Environmental Committee were made this week, with Trustee Diane Jensen, chairman, stating that new members are still desired.

Appointed this week were Craig D. Elderkin Jr., Mrs. Terry Gibbons, Daniel Lurey and John Rausch. The group will meet Sept. 1 to formulate guidelines.

Elderkin, 17, a senior at Conant is chairman of the Youth for Environmental Salvation (YES). He is also a member of the Schaumburg environmental Control Commission, active in student government and was a Boy Scout for eight years.

He lives with his family at 317 Mayfield Ln., Hoffman Estates.

Mrs. Gibbons moved to Barrington Square in Hoffman Estates last January and organized a group of women interested in ecology. The group is sponsoring a successful glass recycling drive and is working to educate families on combating pollution.

MRS. GIBBONS lives with her husband and son at 2122 W. Smithwick.

Lurey, a former member of the North Side Chapter of CAP (Campaign Against Pollution) in Chicago, is a University of Illinois graduate and currently works as an electronics engineer for Motorola. He is a member of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association and Sports Car Club of Chicago. Lurey and his wife, Naomi, live at 246 Winston Cove in Hoffman Estates Winston Knolls subdivision.

Rausch, a director of PEP (Pollution and Environmental Problems), is also coordinator of SOAR (Save Our American Resources) for Boy Scout Troop 297. The troop was active in tree planting at local parks earlier this year.

Rausch campaigned for the successful passage of Illinois' Anti-Pollution Bond Act and actively supported the Cook County Forest Preserve's acquisition of land in the western part of Hoffman Estates. His hobbies include botany, horticulture and ecology.

Rausch, his wife Mary, and their five children live at 544 Chippendale Rd. in Hoffman Estates.

Dedicate Concert To Duffy Kilrain

"Sing-Out Palatine" will perform at the final concert in Hoffman Estates Park District summer series tonight.

The event, to begin at 8 p.m., at Vogel Community Park, will be dedicated to Duffy Kilrain, the 13-year-old youth critically injured in an auto accident several days before his graduation from Helen Keller Junior High School.

Duffy was released from the hospital earlier this month and is now recuperating at home. He is expected to attend tonight's performance, his mother Mrs. W. Hogsy said.

All park concerts are open to Hoffman Estates Park District residents and their guests and are held free of charge on a weekly basis during the summer.

'Fail-Safe' Power System Fails At Woodfield Mall

When Woodfield Mall was proposed in Schaumburg several years ago, an independent generating system for electricity was considered, but Commonwealth Edison assured the retail center would never be without electricity.

"The improbable of the improbable" happened Monday, said Paul Parker, Commonwealth Edison district superintendent, when Woodfield and 30,000 Northwest suburban homes went without electricity for a short period.

The incident took place in the morning when the arm of a construction crane became entangled in both the main and auxiliary lines serving Woodfield.

"We do statistical studies and the probability of both lines going out is minuscule," Parker said.

Normally, if one line went out the other would click in with the only noticeable difference being a "blink," Parker said.

But, Parker attributed Monday's incident to "Murphy's Law" which says if anything can possibly go wrong it will.

To offset the possibility of another power failure Commonwealth Edison has plans for a third line coming from the west to serve as a safeguard should the two lines now available ever go out again.

With the rapid growth of the Schaumburg area, however, the power line can't be connected overnight, he added.

Man Charged For Taking Indecent Liberties

A Hoffman Estates man has been charged with taking indecent liberties with a child, a felony, and illegal possession of a firearm owner's identification card, a misdemeanor.

The charges stem from an alleged incident Monday evening in a field near the Hoffman Estates park district swimming pool on Grand Canyon, involving an 11-year-old Hoffman Estates boy who was on his way home after football practice.

Charged is Vincent M. Motsch, 37, of 426 Bode Rd., Hoffman Estates. Bond was set at $5,000 on each of the charges, with 10 per cent applicable for release.

Motsch was unable to post bond, said village police, and is being held in Cook County Jail. He is to appear at 11 a.m. Aug. 24 in Cook County Felony Court, Niles, to answer the charges.

Police said a woman living near the field saw a man pull the boy into the field, and down in the grass. She told her husband, and while he ran to the boy's aid she called police. The husband apprehended Motsch and held him until police arrived.

Police also said they found the firearm owner's card in Motsch's possession, and that he allegedly had falsified information to obtain it.

X-Ray Unit To Visit Area

Mobile X-ray units from the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanatorium District will be in Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg next week.

Next Monday and Tuesday, a unit will be parked in front of Snyder's drugstore in the Golf-Rose Shopping Center, Hoffman Estates.

It will offer free chest X-rays to the public from 1 to 8 p.m. on Monday and from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

A mobile unit will be parked in front of Jewel Food Store, Weathersfield Commons Shopping Center, Wednesday and Thursday. The hours are 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday and 1 to 8 p.m. on Thursday.

The annual free chest X-ray service is provided by the district, which is tax supported, to find new cases of TB.

According to Dr. E. A. Piszczek, field director for the district, tuberculosis is spread by personal contact from one person to another. A danger of TV, he said is that it produces no apparent symptoms in its early stages and is often not found until it is first seen on a screening X-ray. For this reason, a yearly chest X-ray is advisable for adults as a safeguard.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Platt, executive secretary, has urged the state's 116 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 200 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

British troops battled members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a graveyard, shifting the center of violence in Northern Ireland to Londonderry, west of the capital of Belfast. An army spokesman said one civilian was shot and killed in the fight. Another civilian was killed when he refused to hand over a pistol he was waving at a street barricade in Strabane. The two deaths raised the death toll to 28 in 10 days of street fighting.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

Two Employees Left Out In Cold

Freeze Blocks Cold Cash

While Hanover Park village officials were establishing a procedure to determine the cost of living raise for village employees, President Richard Nixon's announced wage freeze caught two employees' out in the cold.

The two employees, both clerks in the village hall, were excluded from a general raise granted two months ago while board members attempted to settle an argument regarding longevity or cost of living rates.

Trustee Frank Dalla Valle Jr. said the women's raises were due in February, but were delayed while the board looked at the ordinance that governs the pay rate.

"I had planned to propose their raise, long overdue, at tonight's board meeting but then the freeze was announced," said Dalla Valle.

DALLA VALLE added he will ask Village Atty. Norman Samelson's advice on the issue tonight.

"Ironically, one of the clerks has the responsibility of figuring the cost of living rate on every employee's payroll," said Dalla Valle.

"Our ordinance called for a review and refiguring of all employees' cost of living rate every three months. This part of her job was difficult, so in committee, we decided on a yearly review," he added.

Dalla Valle said the delay in the clerks' raise was prompted by a sincere desire to be fair and has instead backfired.

"We are not really sure we can grant the raise now and will ask our attorney's advice," said Dalla Valle.

Samelson said he was reluctant to comment on this special instance, but would review the ordinance.

He has notified the board that the executive order freezes wages as they were on the last business day prior to the order.

Builder Must Have Area For Recreational Uses

Members of the Schaumburg Village Board left little doubt that Levitt and Sons must provide recreational areas for residents of the complex living north of Bode Road.

Approval of unit five of Sheffield Village was granted in line with plan commission recommendations, but James Leakow, development project manager, was told the next building phase must contain a recreational site.

The area approved will consist of second phase completion of a number of two-bedroom condominiums. The building firm has been toying with the idea of permitting these residents to use another existing recreational center in the Levitt compound.

Trustees objected to this proposal basically because the facility in question is under control of a homeowners' association and they feel the situation would not be equitable.

Leakow, however, argues the recreation area was completed with a capacity allowing for use by 1,500 families when only 700 units were then contemplated for building.

COINCIDENTALLY, the service area would include 1,500 families if the condominium dwellers would be permitted use of the facility.

Trustees agreed to preliminary plot plan approval, but told Leakow final approval would hinge on the provision of recreational areas in the northern sector.

They also expressed concern that residents, including children, would have to cross Bode Road, a main artery in the area to reach the existing recreation area. This is the second major objection to the plan.

Leakow was told the second phase of the northern area of Sheffield Village must allow for leisure time areas, although the builder's representative maintains the original annexation agreement did not tie his firm to providing recreational facilities in each phase of the development.

Levitt is building single-family residences, townhouses and condominiums in the western sector of Schaumburg.

Cooperative Use Of School Facilities Set

Hanover Park Park District Recreation Director Ralph Norman said cooperative use of school districts U-46 and 54 is being set up this month.

Norman reported to his board of commissioners recently that a joint session between Hanover Park, Bartlett and Schaumburg Park district representatives has been called by the school districts.

Norman plans to attend a session at Eastview Junior High in Bartlett. Clifford Iverson recreation director of the Bartlett Park District also will attend. Children from Hanover Park and Bartlett attend Eastview. The Hanover Park district also will ask for use of Teft Junior High and the playing fields at that school in Streamwood. Norman is to meet with Principal La Roy Morning to discuss that request this week.

The Hanover Park director also plans to work with Jeff Fox of the Schaumburg Park District for cooperative use of the Robert Frost and Jane Addams facilities in School Dist. 54.

The commissioners of the Hanover Park Park District approved a $160 expenditure for new tires.

Other expenses approved include, $70 for bowling equipment for an indoor instruction program, $176 for trophies for the olympics and softball programs and $20 to enter a team in the Northwest Suburban Women's Volleyball League.

Beautification Unit To Talk Of Its Purpose

Members of the Hanover Park Beautification Committee met Monday in the village hall to discuss the committee's purpose.

Chairman Mrs. Sonya Crawshaw said a letter to businessmen was drafted and will be submitted to the village board for its approval before mailing. The committee is asking local businessmen to cooperate with the village in its attempts to keep the community clean and beautiful.

Certificates of appreciation have been sent to three firms: McDonalds, First State Bank and Trust Company of Hanover Park and the Wulff Manufacturing firm.

Mrs. Crawshaw reports that most of the committee's plans for Earth Week and its preparation of a newsletter are in the formative stages.

The committee plans to schedule speakers to talk about recycling programs the community could follow.

The members are also planning to purchase and plant a living Christmas tree, and have contacted the North Cook County Soil Conservation Commission for creek seeding information.

Mrs. Crawshaw said the committee is concerned with beautification of the community but noted that ecological measures are a part of that goal.

The next meeting of the committee is scheduled for 8 p.m. Sept. 13.

Preschoolers Will Attend 'Classes'

The Streamwood Park District is offering an eight-week fall session for preschoolers.

Registration will be accepted at the Shady Oaks Fieldhouse Sept. 7 for the session to start Sept. 13. Preschoolers who will be four years old by Jan. 1, 1972 are eligible to register. The sessions will be held twice weekly either Tuesday and Thursday or Wednesday and Friday from 9 to 11 a.m.

All classes will be held in the fieldhouse. Preschool play offers opportunities for the youngsters to play and work together in a group situation and offers many activities geared both for fun and learning.

Activities include games, story telling, music, crafts, and special events.

Parents must produce children's birth certificates at registration. The fieldhouse is at 777 Bartlett Rd. in Streamwood. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the recreation director at 288-3003.

A LIBERATED woman, Mrs. Barbara Silzer was the first woman in St. Peter Lutheran Church to sign the constitution and by-laws. Witnessing the signing were the Rev. John R. Sternberg; Victor Pohlman, secretary; and George Hinrichs, president.

St. Peter Lutheran Church Grants Suffrage To Women

Women's Lib has been accepted in St. Peter Lutheran Church, 208 E. Schaumburg Rd., Schaumburg.

The first women in the history of the church officially received the right to vote on church matters Aug. 12, when they signed the constitution and by-laws of the congregation. Members of the church voters assembly voted in June to grant suffrage to women, and at the August meeting, 10 women joined the assembly.

The reaction of men in the church was "mixed" said the Rev. John R. Sternberg, pastor. Younger men were "quite happy" with the new policy, although some of the older men were less enthusiastic, he said. Among the women, reactions were similar, said Rev. Sternberg. While Rev. Sternberg said he does not expect the admission of women to the assembly to alter church policy or activities, he does think the change will "bring about greater understanding" of church operations.

"Previous to this meeting, only male communicants over 21 years of age were eligible. The church has always appreciated the splendid service of the ladies."

"NOW THAT the women of the congregation have been granted the franchise they can more fully participate in the business of the congregation and serve on its boards and committees," said Rev. Sternberg.

Football Group To Sponsor 'Booster Walk' For Funds

The Hanover Park Boys Football Association will sponsor a football booster walk Saturday, Aug. 28. The walk will raise money for uniforms and equipment for six Hanover Park Pop Warner boys' football teams.

Mayor Richard Baker will lead the 10-mile booster walk. Team members, relatives, friends and interested football fans are invited to participate and help the group in its fund drive.

Each walker will seek advance pledges to the football association on a per-mile basis, multiplied by the number of miles walked.

The association will give first second and third prizes to the top three walkers who bring in the most money in pledges.

In addition, each boy bringing in $50 or more will receive an official league football and each girl bringing in $50 or more will receive a sweater.

THE BOOSTER walk is laid out over a prepared 10-mile course in the village. The walk will start and end at the Park-N-Shop Shopping Center on Barrington Road. Checkpoints are spotted at two-mile intervals.

Starting time will be 10 a.m., said Don Mackowiak, chairman. Mackowiak may be contacted at 289-3876 for further information or by anyone who wishes to participate.

Mayor Baker urges village residents to support their local football teams by their pledges. A pledge of 25 cents a mile or more will entitle sponsors to membership in the association's Quarterback Club. Donors' names will be listed in the association's annual ad book.

Longmeyer Moving Here Aug. 27

George Longmeyer, Hoffman Estates' new administrative assistant has secured housing in the village and will be moving to town Aug. 27, Mayor Frederick Downey said this week.

Longmeyer begins his duties Sept. 1, with a $14,500 annual salary as chief administrator of the municipal offices and departments in Hoffman Estates, except the police department. Longmeyer will be answerable to both the mayor and trustees, in accord with an ordinance amendment passed Monday.

Longmeyer, 36, comes with his family from Springfield where he's served as manager of administrative services for the Illinois State Library.

If Longmeyer serves satisfactorily as administrative assistant, he will be promoted to village manager before May 1, 1972. He holds a degree in political science from Western Illinois University in Macomb and is working on a master's degree in public administration.

He spent three years in the Marine Corps and was employed in the comptrollers department of the state superintendent of public instruction between 1964 and 1967.

Longmeyer succeeds Dan Larson, who left Hoffman Estates in June to become village manager in Buffalo Grove.

Levy Tax Ordinance Being Filed

Even though officials of Schaumburg frequently point with pride to the fact they do not levy and collect a village tax, a levy ordinance is being filed before the second week in September as a "precaution."

According to Mayor Robert O. Atcher and trustees, the intention is that the tax will be abated early next year.

This will be the third time in the history of the village that a levy ordinance has been filed with the Cook County Clerk and officials consider their act "a bit of insurance" even though they stress their intention of abatement.

Due to rapid expansion, Schaumburg is experiencing heavy financial difficulty this year but its officials expect their embarrassment to be relieved when additional revenues produced by Woodfield Mall begin to come in.

Sales tax revenue will not come in until December and funds will be minimal since they will apply only to Sears Roebuck and Company, the original store which opened its doors in early August.

THE LEVY ordinance is "actually an appropriation showing certain items to be increased," according to Trustee Gordon Mullins, chairman of the village finance committee.

He explained that the levy totals $250,000 and stressed that there is no doubt in his mind that abatement will come prior to next April's deadline for such action.

"This is merely being done as a safeguard but I think I can safely say that there is no idea in my mind that a village tax will be either levied or collected," said Mullins.

Before next spring, village officials feel they will have an accurate indication of revenue coming from Woodfield Mall as well as a clear picture of development and collection of permit fees which constitutes a major portion of revenue.

Burglaries Reported

Two construction trailers on Knollwood in Schaumburg were burglarized recently.

Schaumburg police were called between 10:30 and 11 a.m. Monday by representatives of Bari Sewer Construction Co. and Intercontinental Engineering Corp. with reports of the burglaries.

Vincent DeFrancesco, owner of the Bari firm, told police his trailer at Knollwood and Pennview had been broken into sometime after 9 a.m. Aug. 8, and $760 worth of water main valves and manhole covers had been taken. The padlock on the trailer door had been cut, he said.

John Prassas, field superintendent of the engineering firm, told police the rear door of his company's trailer had been pried open, and two air conditioners were taken. The air conditioners, valued at $250 each, had been mounted on the trailer wall, he said. The Intercontinental trailer was parked at Knollwood and Rte. 58.

Wins $200 Stipend

Una Manetta Irelan, 101 N. Chase, Bartlett, was awarded the Edward C. Earl Prize in engineering option in architecture, by the department of architecture at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. The prize includes a $200 stipend.

Miss Hillis Is Appointed Elgin Symphony Conductor

The appointment of Margaret Hillis as conductor of the Elgin Symphony Orchestra for the 1971-72 concert season was announced last week at Elgin Community College during a meeting of the symphony planning committee.

Miss Hillis' appointment follows the resignation of Douglas Steensland, founder and conductor of the symphony for 20 years.

Miss Hillis' selection was made from a field of applicants solicited through ECC by Dean Chipman, vice-president of administration and instruction, and E. Arthur Hill, chairman of the music department, with the advice and consent of a consulting committee.

"The college is pleased to be instrumental in bringing Miss Hillis to the Elgin area," said Chipman. "To bring her to conduct the Elgin Symphony Orchestra is a great challenge to any musician who will be playing in the organization and a fine addition to the city's orchestral and choral concerts."

CONSIDERED ONE of the country's foremost choral and orchestral conductors, Miss Hillis' professional accomplishments include innumerable choral and orchestral productions around the world. She began her career in choral conducting and has branched into orchestral work.

Among her current positions are the conductor of the Chicago Symphony Chorus; resident conductor of the Civic Orchestra of Chicago, the training orchestra for the Chicago Symphony; head of the choral division, department of music, Northwestern University; founder and director of the American Concert Choir, which represented the United States as the only professional music group at the Brussels World Fair in 1958.

The 1971-72 symphony concert season will open with the music of Corelli, Haydn, Rossini and Hindemith at 3:30 p.m., Oct. 31. The opening concert will be in the open lounge of the ECC main campus building. The symphony will play with the open courtyard at its back and the audience in a horseshoe theatre around it for what promises to be an exciting concert experience.

Both of the spring concerts will be held in the Hemmens Auditorium. The March 5 concert fetes the music of Britten, Beethoven, Mozart and Tchaikovsky. The final concert will be held April 30 and will feature the symphony and the combined voices of the ECC and Judson College choirs for Brahms' "Tragic Overture" and "Requiem."

For the first time, season tickets for the symphony will be available through the college administrative office and symphony members.

Scouts Plan Paper Drive Saturday

Hanover Park Boy Scout Troop 285 leaders are plotting pick-up routes for the troop's Saturday paper drive. According to Scoutmaster R. G. Gillen the troop, fresh from a two week campout at Camp Napawan, Wisconsin, "is in great shape." They plan to make this paper collection drive their best fund raising event.

Residents of the Hanover Highlands and Longmeadows North and South areas are asked to bundle papers for pickup. The scouts will be in that area in the morning and residents are asked to leave papers at curbside for pickup.

The scouts will use the proceeds from the paper resale to purchase troop equipment, pay fees for outings and finance activities or buy awards for the year's contests.

The leader calls the fund raising project a conservation project also since the collection allows the newspapers to be recycled. Last year's paper drive netted the troop $108.

School Registration Sessions Scheduled

Registration for elementary and junior high school students residing in School Dist. U46 will be held during the third and fourth weeks of August.

Registration dates for junior high schools vary.

Teft and Eastview Junior High Schools will register 7th graders Aug. 18; 8th graders Aug. 19; and 9th graders Aug. 20.

Fixin' 'Em Up With The Best Food In Town

by TOM JACHIMIEC

"Fix 'em up a real good ham sandwich," barked out Wood Dale's Sam Zito from behind the counter.

"Four hot dogs with everything," he added a few seconds later, giving another order to Steve Pappas, his helper.

At 11:30 a.m. one Friday morning Sam was busy doing what he likes best — taking the orders from his best customers.

They are the construction workers from Greco, Lindahl, Meyer and others who drive the big earthmoving vehicles and cement mixers.

Most of them tower over the five-foot three-inch frame of Sam but they find the food good, cheap, and the location of Sam's place convenient.

They can come in dressed in their work clothes, sit around for a quick lunch, and relax. The language may be loose but the atmosphere is friendly.

FOR THEM A stop at Sam's restaurant, 1 W. Bismar Rd., near Elk Grove Village, offers a brief respite for a meal out of the heat of the sun or the hot cab of a truck.

In ten minutes Sam bragged he can feed a crew of hungry men.

"These guys only have a half hour for lunch," said Sam, an elderly gent of 79 years.

Sam is the proprietor of Sam's Snack Bar, a converted laundromat trailer that resembles an old railway car with its long narrow aisle and booths on both sides.

A former baker, Sam has been in business in the Elk Grove area for 20 years, 11 years at the corner of Bismar and Blesterfield roads across the street from Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

Sam started out on a pedal-pushing food stand, later advanced to a bus, and now a trailer. Dressed in a familiar T-shirt, Sam is never more at home than when he is in his restaurant where he spends from 13 to 14 hours a day.

He goes to bed at 8:30 p.m., rises at 4:30 a.m., and has coffee made in the restaurant by 5 a.m.

"I AIN'T GOT A million dollar joint but it's clean and the food is better than anybody's."

"I cook everything. I don't pre-heat nothin'," he said. "Ever tasted coffee like that?" he asked. "n that's an eight-ounce cup!"

Sam stares right through you when he talks to you. He's confident his place is tops and he believes it even though he doesn't have the fancy decor of a Corky's or a Shakey's.

"I buy choice meat," he said. "100 per cent meat. I don't fool around with nothin' else."

Sam learned his trade from his father, a baker too. Sam was also a mess sergeant in the army in World War I. "We had the best mess hall in Laredo (Tex.), he recalled. They never had sweet rolls and coffee 'til I got there."

SAM RETIRED from the baking business 30 years ago but, "Two months later I was back in business," he said, claiming he was unable to adjust to the life of a retiree. The restaurant business became his pastime.

"I have more fun here than if I had a big fancy place," he said. "All the money wouldn't replace the fun I get outta this place."

"I talk to my customers. I let 'em feel at home."

Sam's business has a lot to do with his good health, he indicated when asked his secret of a long life.

"Health — that's what money can't buy. But I fooled 'em by stayin' busy," he said.

"Too many old people don't live long after they retire because they got time to think about dying," he said. "Me. I keep busy and don't think about it."

Sam vehemently said he has no plans to retire again.

"WHAT DO YOU want me to do — sit on a bench and die. 'I'm gonna die here. Not on a bench."

Sam doesn't work all year round, however. Arthritis forces him to take off during the winter each year.

"I go to Arizona, Florida, and Aca-pulco. Play a little golf and swim," he said.

If Sam had his life to live over again he said he'd like to get a little more schooling so, "I could go into the selling game."

His third grade education in a Chicago school is the only thing he regrets, he said. In fact, he added he is thinking very seriously about going to night school.

Overall, he said: "I've had it good." This world don't owe me nothin'. Oh, it was a little rough at times but I'm a lot better off than a lot of people with college educations.

"I wouldn't have had it any other way," he said. "No, I wouldn't do it any other way."

Development Considers Ecology

Building of Walden Office Square, in Schaumburg is progressing in line with developer William J. Walsh's belief that "there are things in life more important than manufacturing widgets or money."

Walsh said in an era of focus on ecology Walden's land use planners have worked to improve the project's environment, not detract from it.

"We wanted more than free-standing structures in the middle of the midwestern prairie," said Walsh. He described the three 75,000 square foot five-story buildings that comprise Walden Office Square as different.

In carrying out this objective Walden Square will be landscaped with mature trees, lawns and man-made lakes.

The office square is part of a planned unit development that eventually will include 3,000 dwelling units, both apartments and townhouses and commercial structures. All will be integrated by green belts and tree shaded promenades and five lakes, Walsh said.

The offices will face the lake and workers will be able to enjoy lakeside esplanades on the way to and from their jobs.

The office square will be ready for occupancy early in 1972. The development is bordered on the south by the Northwest Tollway, the west by a lake and the apartment buildings, the north by Algonquin Road, and to the east by the Rte. 53 and Northwest Tollway interchange.

Zone Board OKs Proposed Slovak Rest Home Here

Rezoning to allow a rest home operated by the Slovak American Charitable Association was favored Tuesday night by the Wheeling Zoning Board of Appeals.

The home for the aged, proposed for property located behind 433 N. Milwaukee Ave. and north of Edgewood Drive, would have a total of 96 beds. Officials of the association told the village zoning board.

Zoning board members in recommending the rezoning asked the village board to require a covenant on the property which would require that for a reasonable period of time no multiple-family dwellings (apartments or townhouses) would be built on the site.

ZONING BOARD members said the village board should determine what a reasonable amount of time would be.

Discussion of the covenant lasted for an hour Tuesday with Zoning Board Chairman Douglas Cargill saying his vote was predicated on such a covenant being permanent.

Attorney Harold E. Collins, who represented the association, said repeatedly that he would advise the association not to put such a permanent restriction on the use of its land.

The dispute finally ended with Collins saying representatives of the Slovak American Charitable Association would discuss such a covenant with their board of directors.

Village zoning board members seemed agreeable to having the covenant for a period of 25 or 50 years rather than forever when the discussion ended. However, they said any decision on a covenant must be made by the village board which has the final say on rezoning property.

A request for multiple-family zoning for the property was refused by the village board approximately four years ago, Cargill said Tuesday.

THE PROBLEM stems from the fact that apartments are allowed under the same zoning classification as homes for the aged under Wheeling's zoning ordinance. Zoning board members pointed out that if the land was rezoned and then for some reason the home was not built, the land could end up as an apartment development.

Located adjacent to forest preserve property, the three and one-half acre site is located behind Mr. Ed's restaurant.

Collins and association officers John Janak and Lillian Kubicek explained that the rest home was a project which the not-for-profit association had been seeking for several years.

They said that an earlier attempt to build the home on property near Glen Ellyn failed because there was no water or sewer service available.

THE ASSOCIATION, which was founded in 1915, has concentrated its past efforts on helping poor people of Slovak descent, Janak said.

He said that during the depression of the 1930's, the associations supported more than 100 families through contributions from Slovak businessmen and fraternal organizations.

"Charity is our bag," he said.

More recently the need has been for a home rather than for supporting families, however, he said. Being able to build the home in Wheeling would "fulfill the expectations and dreams of many generations," he said.

Janak explained that the group hoped to have the building ready for occupancy by next spring. He said delays at the other site had led to contributors to the home fund becoming impatient.

The association representatives explained the home would be a rest home, not a nursing home.

"THESE WOULD BE basically old but healthy people who are ambulatory. They would be in and around your community," Collins said.

He testified the association was "modestly well endowed" and that some of the residents would live at the home on a charity basis while others would pay. He said the home would be open to other citizens as well as to members of the association or persons of Slovak descent.

The basic plan proposed would be a "U"-shaped building with a one-story men's wing, a one-story women's wing and a two-story administration building with recreation and dining facilities joining the two.

Zoning board members pointed out that a street would have to be built into the property from Milwaukee Avenue and to provide access and adequate frontage for the lot to be legal.

ZONING BOARD members also noted that before the sale of the property could be completed the land would have to be subdivided by the village plan commission.

Plans for the home include a staff of 40 including administrators, nurses, and other staff members. Parking for 130 cars in two lots was proposed along with various landscaping plans.

The total cost of the building and other improvement to the property would be greater than $600,000 Collins said.

CHUNKS OF ICE FROM the Des Plaines River were stored in this building in the days when ice-boxes were really iceboxes and when the river water was clean enough to drink. The building also served as an ice cream parlor. Now, after a century on Milwaukee Avenue, it is being torn down to make way for a parking lot.

Wheeling's Historic Ice House Doomed

by ANNE SLAVICEK

In the 1890s it was an ice cream parlor where Wheeling residents and travelers stopped for treats.

In the back of the building was a barn where ice to cool local ice boxes was stored. The ice was cut in blocks from the Des Plaines River each winter.

But soon the building will be replaced by a blacktopped parking lot adjacent to a carpet store.

The building, which is more than 100 years old, is being torn down this week.

Located at 109 S. Milwaukee Ave., the building more recently has been used for storage. The front portion was remodeled as a residence and had been rented.

Village Director of Building and Zoning William Bieber said that owners of the building were cooperating with the village in tearing it down.

Mrs. R. N. Hartmann, daughter of former building owner Hans Schmidt, said the building has been sold to the Spring

Crest Carpet and Drapery store and will be used as a parking lot for the store.

MRS. HARTMANN SAID that her grandmother operated the ice cream parlor which used to occupy the front of the building.

This building is one of several older buildings recently torn down along Milwaukee Avenue as the village begins its drive to update and beautify Wheeling's oldest street.

Recently another old building which had been located on the southeast corner of Milwaukee Avenue and Dundee Road was demolished after a three-year court fight.

That building, owned by the late Arthur Fassbender Sr. had housed the first bank in the village, a post office, a hardware store and a restaurant at different times in its 125-year-long life.

Another building which housed the Wheel Inn Tavern and the Windfall Gift Shop along with several apartments was burned down in a fire last February in the same area of Milwaukee Avenue.

Woman Badly Hurt In Overpass Fall

A seriously injured Chicago woman was found lying on Milwaukee Avenue near the Palatine Road overpass yesterday, Cook County Sheriff's Police said.

The woman Christine Tesch, of 7603 Sheridan Rd., Chicago was in critical condition yesterday afternoon at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines.

She was apparently injured in a fall from the overpass. Police said there was no car involved in the incident.

There were no witnesses to the incident, police said. The woman was found at noon lying in the southbound lane of Milwaukee Avenue in unincorporated Wheeling.

She was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Banners, Pennants May Become Legal

Banners and pennants to celebrate a special event, mark the grand opening of a new store, or herald a holiday celebration may become legal in the Village of Wheeling.

Currently the village has a law banning all pennants, streamers, banners or strings of lights.

That means that when a new gas station opens, a shopping center has a sidewalk sale or a local charitable organization holds a fund raising event, they cannot use pennants or banners to draw attention to the event.

William Bieber, village director of building and zoning sees the current existing law as a headache to enforce.

SO HE ASKED the village board to give him greater leeway in deciding whether pennants or banners should be allowed for a specific event.

Tuesday night the village zoning board of appeals held a public hearing to consider changing local ordinances and allowing pennants and streamers.

Bieber gave the examples of the recent "Beer and Brat Fest" sponsored by the Wheeling Historical Society, local Fourth of July celebrations, and sidewalk sales as places pennants and banners had been requested.

The zoning board, after discussing the changes, decided to recommend to the village board that banners and pennants be allowed with certain restrictions.

The zoning board suggested that "any request for the display of banners or pennants to celebrate any anniversary could be granted by the village director of building and zoning."

THE BOARD SAID a maximum time limit of seven days should be imposed for the use of the pennants, but that a decision on the time limit of a shorter duration could be made by the director of building and zoning.

The zoning board also recommended to the village board that a $15 fee should be charged for each application to use pennants or banners on a specific occasion.

Board members said they thought a fee was necessary to deter businesses from having a different event every other day and keeping pennants up continually. They also noted that a fee such as $15 would help absorb the village expense of having the building and zoning department police the pennants and banners.

A final decision on any changes to the current ban on pennants and banners will have to be made by the village board.

Bieber said Tuesday that he hoped the village board would continue to ban the use of streamers or strings of lights in Wheeling.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Plott, executive secretary, has urged the state's 118 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 200 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

British troops battled members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a graveyard, shifting the center of violence in Northern Ireland to Londonderry, west of the capital of Belfast. An army spokesman said one civilian was shot and killed in the fight. Another civilian was killed when he refused to hand over a pistol he was waving at a street barricade in Strabane. The two deaths raised the death toll to 28 in 10 days of street fighting.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

The Market

Wall Street's roaring stock market express collided with profit taking which knocked off one-third of the market's rise in the previous two sessions. After soaring nearly 44 points during the week's first two sessions, the Dow Jones Average plummeted 13.73 to 886.17. Declines piled up a 1,062 to 407 advantage over gains. Turnover slipped to 20,680,000 shares compared with 26,790,000 the previous day. Prices eased in moderately active trading on the American Exchange. State Eyes New Intersection Plan

Plans for redesigning the intersection of McHenry Road with Dundee Road are being considered for approval by the Illinois Division of Highways, Wheeling Trustee Edward Berger said yesterday.

The plans call for new right-hand-turn lanes on both roads and are connected with the village's effort to realign Wheeling Road.

Under the plan McHenry Road would be extended across Dundee Road south at an angle until it intersects with Wheeling Road.

The road extension would be named South McHenry Road. At the end of the extension where the new road joins with Wheeling Road, the street named "South McHenry Road" would end and the street named "Wheeling Road" would begin, Berger said.

The plans now being considered by the state include a new system of traffic lights for the intersection.

DUNDEE ROAD would remain four lanes in the area but for motorists heading west on Dundee Road there would be a new right-hand-turn lane at North McHenry Road.

For motorists going south on North McHenry Road, there would also be a new right hand turn lane added to the width of that street at Dundee Road.

For motorists going east on Dundee Road the street would remain as is with no additional turn lanes.

The new intersections of south McHenry Road with Dundee Road would include two regular lanes and a right hand turn lane, Berger said.

The plans must receive final approval from the state before they are definite, he said.

Berger said Monday he hopes work on the road extension could be completed next year.

One problem which may hold up the work is that the village is going to court to condemn a small parcel of land needed for right-of-way.

The village has been seeking the road realignment for several years. A total of $150,000 for the work was appropriated in this year's village budget for the work. The village will use motor fuel tax rebated from the state to pay for the realignment work.

Village Will Share Cost Of Sidewalk Replacement

A sidewalk replacement program will be undertaken by the Village of Buffalo Grove this fall on a cost sharing basis with homeowners.

Public works employees are preparing a list of sidewalks that need repair and so far have singled out 350 "blocks" that need work. A block is a 4 by 5-foot section of sidewalk.

According to Bill Davis, director of public works, all the work will be done at one time by one contractor. He estimated the cost of replacement of a block at $27. The cost will be split equally between the village and the homeowner with the village's money coming from motor fuel taxes, Davis said.

Application forms for citizen participation in the program are being mailed out. The forms must be completed and returned with the homeowners' part of the payment before work will begin, Davis said.

The work will be done in the older part of the village and not in the Strathmore subdivision, where the village is trying to get the developer, Lovitt and Sons, to replace sidewalks at no cost to the village or the homeowner.

Sam Will Fix 'Em Up With The Best Food Around

by TOM JACHIMIEC

"Fix 'em up a real good ham sandwich," barked out Wood Dale's Sam Zito from behind the counter.

"Four hot dogs with everything," he added a few seconds later, giving another order to Steve Pappas, his helper.

At 11:30 a.m. one Friday morning Sam was busy doing what he likes best — taking the orders from his best customers.

They are the construction workers from Greco, Lindahl, Meyer and others who drive the big earthmoving vehicles and cement mixers.

Most of them tower over the five-foot three-inch frame of Sam but they find the food good, cheap, and the location of Sam's place convenient.

They can come in dressed in their work clothes, sit around for a quick lunch, and relax. The language may be loose but the atmosphere is friendly.

FOR THEM A stop at Sam's restaurant, 1 W. Bisner Rd., near Elk Grove Village, offers a brief respite for a meal out of the heat of the sun or the hob cab of a truck.

In ten minutes Sam bragged he can feed a crew of hungry men.

"These guys only have a half hour for lunch," said Sam, an elderly gent of 79 years.

Sam is the proprietor of Sam's Snack Bar, a converted laundromat trailer that resembles an old railway car with its long narrow aisle and booths on both sides.

A former baker, Sam has been in business in the Elk Grove area for 20 years, 11 years at the corner of Bisner and Bluestield roads across the street from Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

Sam started out on a pedal-pushing food stand, later advanced to a bus, and now a trailer. Dressed in a familiar T-shirt, Sam is never more at home than when he is in his restaurant where he spends from 13 to 14 hours a day.

He goes to bed at 8:30 p.m., rises at 4:30 a.m., and has coffee made in the restaurant by 5 a.m.

"I AIN'T GOT A million dollar joint but it's clean and the food is better than anybody's."

"I cook everything. I don't pre-heat nothin'," he said. "Ever tasted coffee like that?" he asked. "n that's an eight-ounce cup!"

Sam stares right through you when he talks to you. He's confident his place is tops and he believes it even though he doesn't have the fancy decor of a Corky's or a Shakey's.

"I buy choice meat," he said. "100 percent meat. I don't fool around with nothin' else."

Sam learned his trade from his father, a baker too. Sam was also a mess sergeant in the army in World War I.

"We had the best mess hall in Laredo (Tex.), he recalled. They never had sweet rolls and coffee 'til I got there."

SAM RETIRED from the baking business 30 years ago but, "Two months later I was back in business," he said, claiming he was unable to adjust to the life of a retiree. The restaurant business became his pastime.

"I have more fun here than if I had a big fancy place," he said. "All the money wouldn't replace the fun I get outta this place."

"I talk to my customers. I let 'em feel at home."

Sam's business has a lot to do with his good health, he indicated when asked his secret of a long life.

"Health — that's what money can't buy. But I fooled 'em by stayin' busy," he said.

"Too many old people don't live long after they retire because they got time to think about dying," he said. "Me. I keep busy and don't think about it."

Sam vehemently said he has no plans to retire again.

"WHAT DO YOU want me to do — sit on a bench and die. "I'm gonna die here. Not on a bench."

Sam doesn't work all year round, however. Arthritis forces him to take off during the winter each year.

"I go to Arizona, Florida, and Acapulco. Play a little golf and swim," he said.

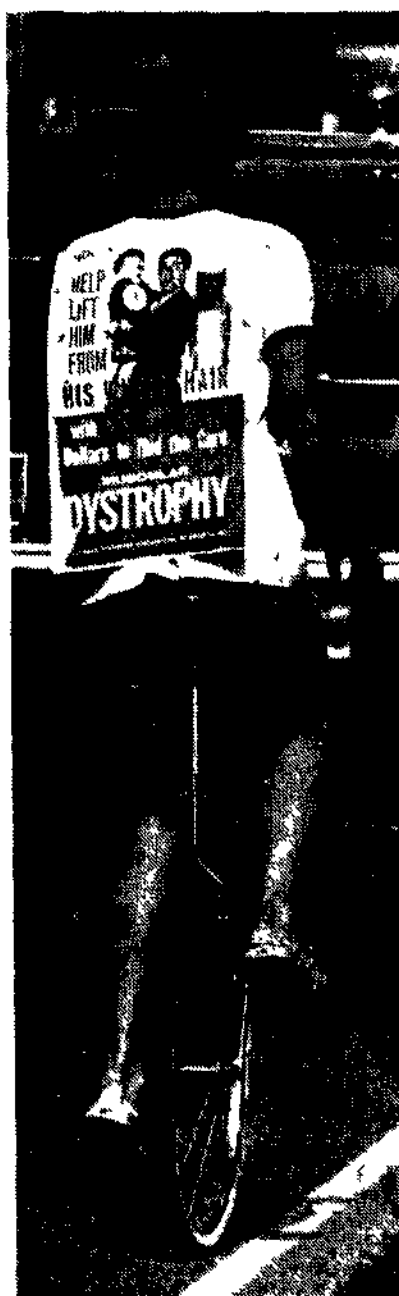

If Sam had his life to live over again he said he'd like to get a little more schooling so, "I could go into the selling game."

His third grade education in a Chicago school is the only thing he regrets, he said. In fact, he added he is thinking very seriously about going to night school.

Overall, he said:

"I've had it good." This world don't owe me nothin'. Oh, it was a little rough at times but I'm a lot better off than a lot of people with college educations.

"I wouldn't have had it any other way," he said. "No, I wouldn't do it any other way."

Fighting traffic, dystrophy.

It's 'Fox Lake Or Bust' By Unicycle

by KURT BAER

Fox Lake or Bust!

This might well have been the motto of Jim Anling, 18, who yesterday set out to ride his unicycle from Niles to Fox Lake, a distance of about 50 miles.

The trip, which took him through Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine along Northwest Highway, was planned to publicize Teens Against Dystrophy — a volunteer organization of young people who aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Jim, who learned to ride the one-wheeled, direct-drive cycle two years ago behind his father's bicycle shop in Niles, estimated the trip would take him about 10 hours, arriving in Fox Lake about 7 p.m. last night.

"Uphill or downhill, there's really no difference in the pedalling," Jim said as he stopped for a mileage check at the corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE SMALL odometer next to the wheel read 14.1 miles — two hours pedalling time from the corner of Dempster Street and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, the boys starting point about 8:30 yesterday morning, to Arlington Heights.

The young cyclist picked up a police escort to protect him from traffic along the busy highway.

"The police have been really great," he said. "At each (village) boundary there's been a car waiting to escort me through town."

Teens Against Dystrophy, which currently has chapters in Maine, Niles and Lake Forest townships, assists in both research and patient care programs against dystrophy. The organization has plans to open new chapters in Island Lake and New Trier Township.

Jim said his father had donated the Schwinn-built unicycle for the 50-mile expedition.

"It's really not nearly as difficult or four-and-a-half foot high cycle. "Because uncomfortable to ride as it looks," Jim remarked after dismounting from the

it's direct-drive (rather than chain-driven as bicycles are) pedalling and braking are surprisingly easy."

Though undaunted by the 36 miles of highway that lay in front of him, Jim did admit to one minor irritation.

"My bottom sure gets sore," he said reaching for a can of medicated powder one of his supporters had brought with him. "Excuse me while I take a powder break."

'Fail-Safe' Power System Fails At Woodfield Mall

When Woodfield Mall was proposed in Schaumburg several years ago, an independent generating system for electricity was considered, but Commonwealth Edison assured the retail center would never be without electricity.

"The improbable of the improbable" happened Monday, said Paul Parker, Commonwealth Edison district superintendent, when Woodfield and 30,000 Northwest suburban homes went without electricity for a short period.

The incident took place in the morning when the arm of a construction crane became entangled in both the main and auxiliary lines serving Woodfield.

"We do statistical studies and the probability of both lines going out is minuscule," Parker said.

Normally, if one line went out the other would click in with the only noticeable difference being a "blink," Parker said.

But, Parker attributed Monday's incident to "Murphy's Law" which says if anything can possibly go wrong it will.

To offset the possibility of another power failure Commonwealth Edison has plans for a third line coming from the west to serve as a safeguard should the two lines now available ever go out again.

With the rapid growth of the Schaumburg area, however, the power line can't be connected overnight, he added.

Board Will Honor Wildcat Band

Wheeling High School's Marching Band will be honored at a special reception next month by the Wheeling Village Board.

At the Sept. 13 meeting of the board, the village will sponsor a reception for band members and their parents.

Wheeling Woman's Club members will serve as hostesses for the reception which will be the only item on the agenda of the village board that evening.

Village President Ted C. Scanlon said that invitations are being sent to the reception which was planned to pay tribute to the band for its victory last spring at Virginia Beach and for other past triumphs.

A ceremony presenting a copy of a resolution to the band is also planned for the evening, Scanlon said.

Soup Seized From Warehouse

The U.S. Attorney's office Monday seized 48,000 cans of Bon Vivant soup from the warehouse of W. H. Walker and Co. 65 Kelly St., Elk Grove Village.

Bon Vivant soup is reportedly responsible for the death of a New York man. It has been ordered off the market, according to the attorney's office.

The cans seized were buckled, an indication that they contained some contamination, said a member of the U.S. attorney's office.

The soups were prepared in unhygienic conditions and may be injurious to health, the attorney's office said.

The soups include Gaspeche, Green Turtle with Sherry Wine, Cabaret Consomme, Vichyssoise, Ciam Madrienne, Tomato Bisque, and some dietetic soups.

They were not for sale in Elk Grove Village.

Erviti Revives Plan For Unit School System

A proposal to create a unit school district in the area including kindergarten through twelfth grade, has been revived by Supt. James Erviti of Elk Grove Township Elementary Dist. 59.

In his first annual report to the board of education, made public this week, Erviti recommends that Dist. 59 join with High School Dist. 214 as a unit school district.

In the report, Erviti adds that other forms of organization may also be studied by the Dist. 59 Board. Some sort of change in district boundaries, Erviti adds, "may be better than existing ones for the purpose of achieving cohesiveness among the people who are the school district's community."

In 1967 Erviti's predecessor, Donald Thomas, publicly suggested creating a unit district out of Elk Grove Township, which would have taken in Dist. 59, parts of Elementary Dist. 25, 15 and 57 and Elk Grove and Forest View high schools.

THAT PROPOSAL was opposed by High School Dist. 214 because the high school district gets more than one third of its assessed value from the Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove Village.

In his report, Erviti who joined the district in July, 1970, after serving as a superintendent in New York, explains that reorganization should be considered for Dist. 59 because the district, spread over four communities, "has no unifying center."

Most school districts, the report says, are formed around one community whose norms shape the public attitude toward the schools. Since Dist. 59 has no such single community "public support of the school district is divided 16 ways — into units loosely formed around each K-5 (elementary) building."

As a result of the fragmentation, he said, the district lacks civic leadership that can rally the public to support tax increases needed by the whole district.

Erviti points out in the report that Dist. 59 has the highest tax base in the area and states, "Its use of that base amounts to a bad joke upon the children and the people who live here. By being unwilling to adjust the tax rate, the people have made the district resort to chit-fanger deficit financing."

THE REPORT adds, "Some day the residents will realize that they can harness the enormous tax power of the industrial community for their children's benefit only by increasing their own taxes too. For every dollar homeowners pay to the school district, industry adds $1.50, giving the children $2.50 worth of service."

Any creation of a unit district for Dist. 59 would be complicated by the fact that High School Dist. 214 has five other elementary districts which send children to the high schools in Wheeling and Elk Grove townships.

Under state law a petition may be presented to the county superintendent of schools, who could then call a special referendum on unification.

In order to pass, a majority of the voters in all districts or parts of districts to be unified would have to vote in favor of the change.

The annual report was presented to the Dist. 59 board at its meeting Monday night but was not discussed because Erviti is on vacation. Board members indicated the entire report will be discussed later.

Students Score Slightly Above Average On Tests

Fourth through seventh grade students in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 score slightly above average on standardized tests, according to Supt. James Erviti's annual report.

However, the pattern of scores indicate changes are needed in the sixth grade program to combat, "a drop off in success during the sixth grade year," the report says.

Composite scores for the district for fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grade students on the Iowa Test of Basic Skills were 4.8, 5.8, 6.6 and 7.8, the report says.

The national average for the Iowa tests in those grades are 4.6, 5.6, 6.6, and 7.6.

IN THE REPORT, Erviti says, "Although standardized tests do not reflect the immediate educational situation, they do give a general picture of the health of the educational system so far as a standard curriculum is concerned."

Scores for students in Dist. 59, he adds, should be above average because the average IQ in the district is 105-107 as compared to the average of 100 nationwide.

Changes are being planned and adopted in the sixth grade program to ease the transition for students from fifth grade, Erviti's report adds, and will result in changes in the sixth grade at Dempster Junior High School in Mount Prospect this year.

In addition, the report notes that test scores and teachers' observations have indicated that "skills in English are not as well developed as desired. The explanation is fairly obvious because the text series which has been in use follows an unorthodox approach to punctuation and grammar."

The report notes the district has begun the process of dropping that set of English books and adopting other texts recommended by a teachers' study committee.

Villages Declare Hotline Day

Trustees in Wheeling and Buffalo Grove have declared Aug. 27 "Hotline Day" in both villages in support of HELP, Inc.'s fund drive on that day.

HELP, Inc., a community service organization, will solicit contributions for the establishment of a "hotline" telephone service, throughout the day.

HELP, Inc. hopes to set up the hotline by Oct. 1. It would provide a telephone service for people to call for emergency counseling or referral to an agency that could provide help in solving social, medical or emotional problems.

Funds will be collected between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. at various shopping centers in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, and Prospect Heights.

Garage Sale Friday

The Noar Shalom chapter of the B'nai B'rith Youth organization will hold a garage sale tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 1015 E. Burr Oak Dr., Arlington Heights.

The proceeds from the sale will go to charity.

1971-'72 Budget Of $1.47 Million OK'd By Board

A 1971-'72 budget of $1.47 million—about $270,000 more than last year—was approved Monday by the Board of Education of Adlai Stevenson High School.

Although expenses increased in each of the funds in the budget, school officials said that tax revenue has also increased and "favorable balances" are shown in each of the five funds.

Among the major reasons for increases in the budget were the addition of 130 students expected this fall and the completion of a 78,000 square foot addition to Stevenson. Students from the Lake County section of Buffalo Grove attend the Prairie View School.

The education fund budget which includes teacher salaries and related items, totals $1,107,292 for 1971-'72. Last year it was $938,449.

SUPT. HAROLD BANSER cited several reasons for the increase: salary hikes, hiring of new teacher aids and other paraprofessional employees, rental of new computer equipment, additional phone service and purchase of textbooks.

The textbooks will be rented to students, according to Banser. He said the additional phones will help keep track of absent students and help teachers in reaching parents.

The addition of new maintenance staff members, increases in salaries and the cost of additional supplies pushed the building operation and maintenance fund expense to $213,870. Last year $154,000 was budgeted for this fund.

The additional employees will maintain the new addition, which increases the size of the school by about 70 per cent. Maintenance of the new swimming pool was cited as one added expense.

An increase of $24,000 in the transportation fund budget was attributed to the expected increase in enrollment. The 1971-'72 budget calls for spending $86,000; last year the figure was $62,000, according to Edwin Ellis, Stevenson assistant superintendent for business services.

Other increases were found in smaller funds. The Illinois Municipal Retirement fund rose from $12,000 in 1970-'71 to $16,000 in 1971-'72. The junior college tuition fund rose from $28,000 to $40,000, and the special education building fund rose from $14,000 to $15,000.

The 1971-'72 fiscal year for the school began last July 1 and continues through next June 30.

Walk Repair Is Uncertain In Strathmore

Buffalo Grove's efforts to get Levitt and Sons, Inc. to replace $300,000 worth of sidewalks and driveway aprons in the Strathmore subdivision brought talk of a lawsuit yesterday and a denial by a Levitt spokesman of the charge that the developer has refused to do any more work.

The village wants Levitt to replace all of the sidewalks and aprons throughout the 400 homes in units 4 through 8 of the Strathmore subdivision, contending that the work is defective.

Village Mgr. Daniel Larson said yesterday that the cement work is being tested for the "possibility of court action," if the tests show that the cement is defective.

Larson said the court action to force the developer to replace the work is being contemplated because Levitt has refused to do any more repair work in the area.

Ron Brown, project manager for the development, denied Larson's statement when contacted by the Herald.

"We are still talking. It is not a closed issue," he said.

BROWN SAID THAT the sidewalks were inspected once by the village and certain repairs were requested. The repairs were made and approved by the village and since that time the one-year warranty has expired.

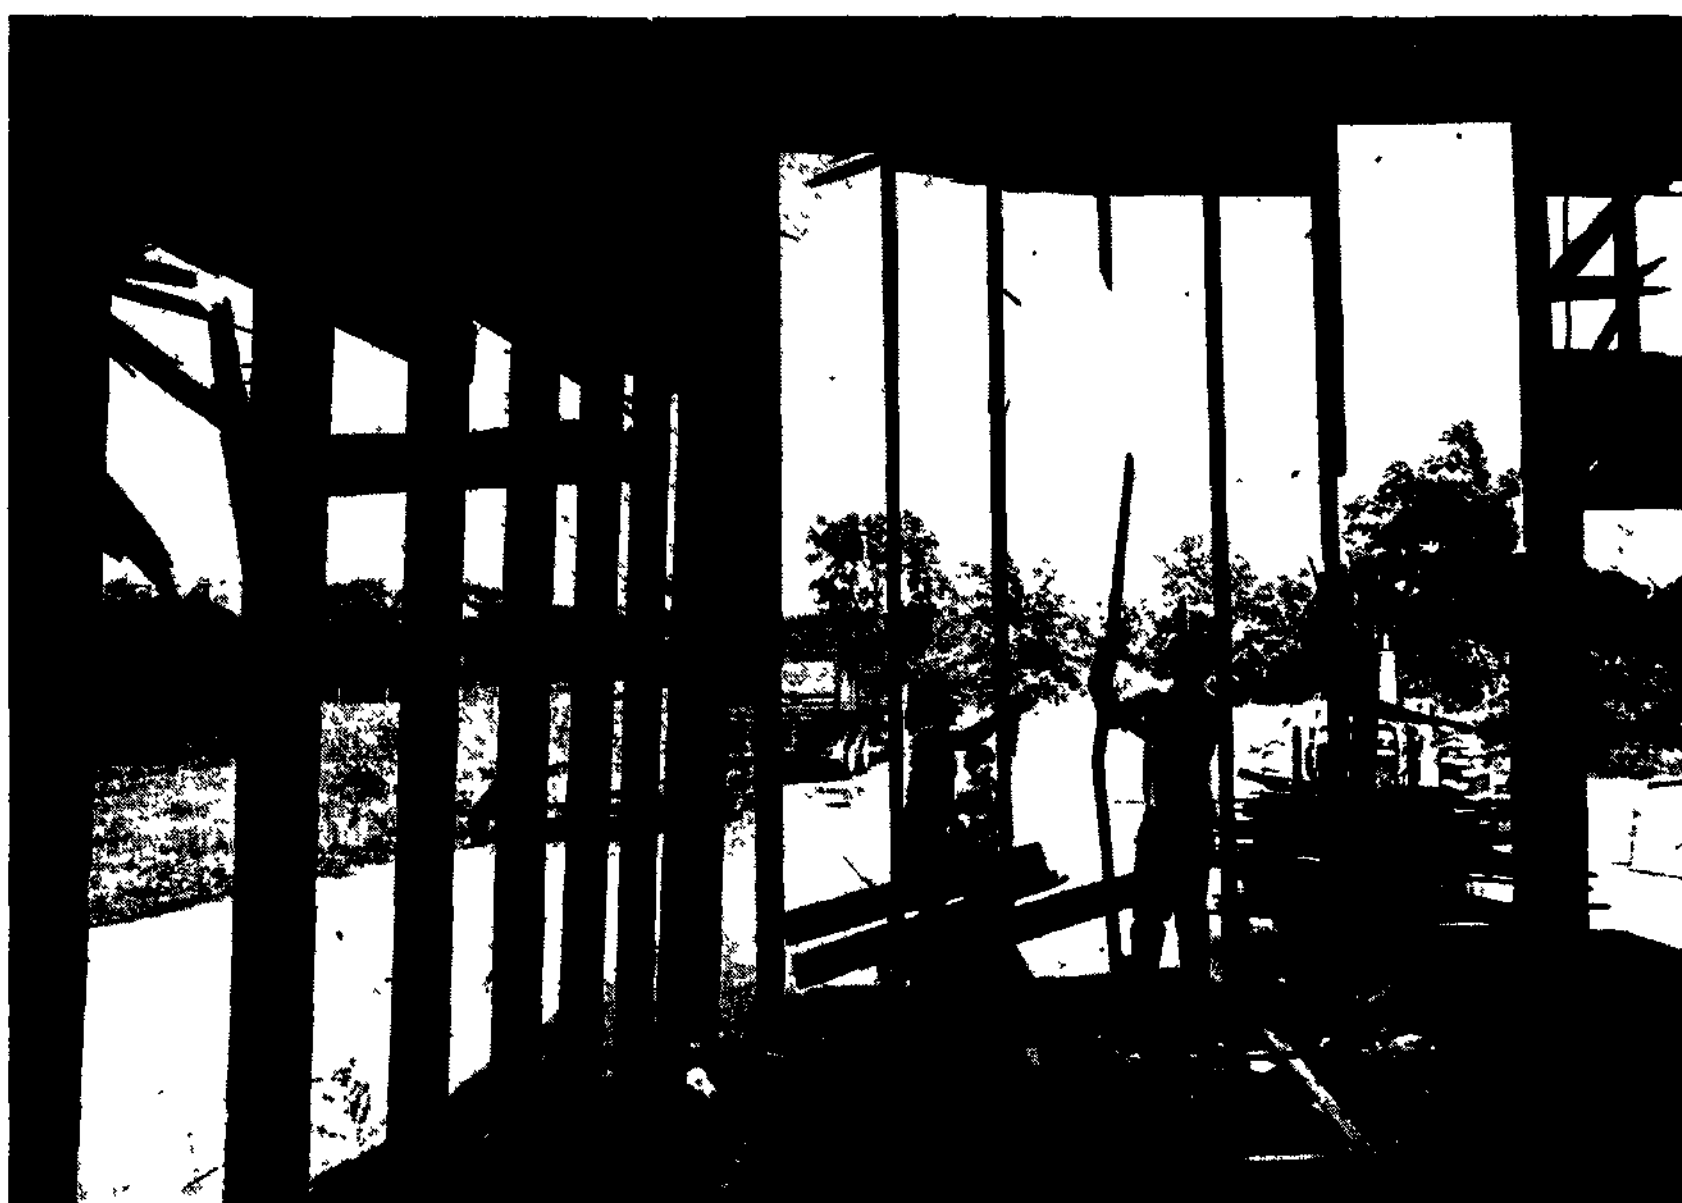

Brown indicated that Levitt's basic position is that since the warranty has expired, the main responsibility for repairing the sidewalks rests with the village.

However he did say that there are "certain areas where they (the village) have a good point," for Levitt doing some work.

According to Larson, the village feels that Levitt is mainly liable since they installed the sidewalks in the first place.

"Why should we assume the responsibility?" he questioned.

The village's argument is that the work was defective and the deterioration of the sidewalks would not have occurred if Levitt had used the correct mixture for the cement and had properly poured the cement.

CHUNKS OF ICE FROM the Des Plaines River were stored in this building in the days when ice-boxes were really iceboxes and when the river water was clean enough to drink. The building also served as an ice cream parlor. Now, after a century on Milwaukee Avenue, it is being torn down to make way for a parking lot.

Wheeling's Historic Ice House Doomed

by ANNE SLAVICEK

In the 1890s it was an ice cream parlor where Wheeling residents and travelers stopped for treats.

In the back of the building was a barn where ice to cool local ice boxes was stored. The ice was cut in blocks from the Des Plaines River each winter.

But soon the building will be replaced by a blacktopped parking lot adjacent to a carpet store.

The building, which is more than 100 years old, is being torn down this week.

Located at 108 S. Milwaukee Ave., the building more recently has been used for storage. The front portion was remodeled as a residence and had been rented.

Village Director of Building and Zoning William Bieber said that owners of the building were cooperating with the village in tearing it down.

Mrs. R. N. Hartmann, daughter of former building owner Hans Schmidt, said the building has been sold to the Spring

Crest Carpet and Drapery store and will be used as a parking lot for the store.

MRS. HARTMANN SAID that her grandmother operated the ice cream parlor which used to occupy the front of the building.

This building is one of several older buildings recently torn down along Milwaukee Avenue as the village begins its drive to update and beautify Wheeling's oldest street.

Recently another old building which had been located on the southeast corner of Milwaukee Avenue and Dundee Road was demolished after a three-year court fight.

That building, owned by the late Arthur Fassbender Sr. had housed the first bank in the village, a post office, a hardware store and a restaurant at different times in its 125-year-long life.

Another building which housed the Wheel Inn Tavern and the Windfall Gift Shop along with several apartments was burned down in a fire last February in the same area of Milwaukee Avenue.

Woman Badly Hurt In Overpass Fall

A seriously injured Chicago woman was found lying on Milwaukee Avenue near the Palatine Road overpass yesterday, Cook County Sheriff's Police said.

The woman Christine Tesch, of 7883 Sheridan Rd., Chicago was in critical condition yesterday afternoon at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines.

She was apparently injured in a fall from the overpass. Police said there was no car involved in the incident.

There were no witnesses to the incident, police said. The woman was found at noon lying in the southbound lane of Milwaukee Avenue in unincorporated Wheeling.

She was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Zoning Board OKs Slovak Rest Home

Rezoning to allow a rest home operated by the Slovak American Charitable Association was favored Tuesday night by the Wheeling Zoning Board of Appeals.

The home for the aged, proposed for property located behind 433 N. Milwaukee Ave. and north of Edgewood Drive, would have a total of 96 beds officials of the association told the village zoning board.

Zoning board members in recommending the rezoning asked the village board to require a covenant on the property which would require that for a "reasonable period of time no multiple-family dwellings (apartments or townhouses) would be built on the site.

ZONING BOARD members said the village board should determine what a reasonable amount of time would be.

Discussion of the covenant lasted for an hour Tuesday with Zoning Board Chairman Douglas Cargill saying his vote was predicated on such a covenant being permanent.

Attorney Harold E. Collins, who represented the association, said repeatedly that he would advise the association not to put such a permanent restriction on the use of its land.

The dispute finally ended with Collins saying representatives of the Slovak American Charitable Association would discuss such a covenant with their board of directors.

Village zoning board members seemed agreeable to having the covenant for a period of 25 or 30 years rather than forever when the discussion ended. However, they said any decision on a covenant must be made by the village board which has the final say on rezoning property.

A request for multiple-family zoning for the property was refused by the village board approximately four years ago, Cargill said Tuesday.

THE PROBLEM stems from the fact that apartments are allowed under the same zoning classification as homes for the aged under Wheeling's zoning ordinance. Zoning board members pointed out that if the land was rezoned and then for some reason the home was not built, the land could end up as an apartment development.

Located adjacent to forest preserve property, the three and one-half acre site is located behind Mr. Ed's restaurant.

Collins and association officers John Janak and Lilian Kubicek explained that the rest home was a project which the not-for-profit association had been seeking for several years.

They said that an earlier attempt to build the home on property near Glen Ellyn failed because there was no water or sewer service available.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Plott, executive secretary, has urged the state's 116 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 200 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

British troops battled members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a graveyard, shifting the center of violence in Northern Ireland to Londonderry, west of the capital of Belfast. An army spokesman said one civilian was shot and killed in the fight. Another civilian was killed when he refused to hand over a pistol he was waving at a street barricade in Strabane. The two deaths raised the death toll to 28 in 10 days of street fighting.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

State Eyes New Intersection Plan

Plans for redesigning the intersection of McHenry Road with Dundee Road are being considered for approval by the Illinois Division of Highways, Wheeling Trustee Edward Berger said yesterday.

The plans call for new right-hand-turn lanes on both roads and are connected with the village's effort to realign Wheeling Road.

Under the plan McHenry Road would be extended across Dundee Road south at an angle until it intersects with Wheeling Road.

The road extension would be named South McHenry Road. At the end of the extension where the new road joins with Wheeling Road, the street named "South McHenry Road" would end and the street named "Wheeling Road" would begin, Berger said.

The plans now being considered by the state include a new system of traffic lights for the intersection.

DUNDEE ROAD would remain four lanes in the area but for motorists heading west on Dundee Road there would be a new right-hand-turn lane at North McHenry Road.

For motorists going south on North McHenry Road, there would also be a new right hand turn lane added to the width of that street at Dundee Road.

For motorists going east on Dundee Road the street would remain as is with no additional turn lanes.

The new intersections of south McHenry Road with Dundee Road would include two regular lanes and a right hand turn lane, Berger said.

The plans must receive final approval from the state before they are definite, he said.

Berger said Monday he hopes work on the road extension could be completed next year.

One problem which may hold up the work is that the village is going to court to condemn a small parcel of land needed for right-of-way.

The village has been seeking the road realignment for several years. A total of $150,000 for the work was appropriated in this year's village budget for the work. The village will use motor fuel tax rebated from the state to pay for the realignment work.

Village Will Share Cost Of Sidewalk Replacement

A sidewalk replacement program will be undertaken by the Village of Buffalo Grove this fall on a cost sharing basis with homeowners.

Public works employees are preparing a list of sidewalks that need repair and so far have singled out 350 "blocks" that need work. A block is a 4 by 5-foot section of sidewalk.

According to Bill Davis, director of public works, all the work will be done at one time by one contractor. He estimated the cost of replacement of a block at $27. The cost will be split equally between the village and the homeowner with the village's money coming from motor fuel taxes, Davis said.

Application forms for citizen participation in the program are being mailed out. The forms must be completed and returned with the homeowners' part of the payment before work will begin, Davis said.

The work will be done in the older part of the village and not in the Strathmore subdivision, where the village is trying to get the developer, Levitt and Sons, to replace sidewalks at no cost to the village or the homeowner.

Sam Will Fix 'Em Up With The Best Food Around

by TOM JACHIMIEC

"Fix 'em up a real good ham sandwich," barked out Wood Dale's Sam Zito from behind the counter.

"Four hot dogs with everything," he added a few seconds later, giving another order to Steve Pappas, his helper.

At 11:30 a.m. one Friday morning Sam was busy doing what he likes best — talking the orders from his best customers.

They are the construction workers from Greco, Lindahl, Meyer and others who drive the big earthmoving vehicles and cement mixers.

Most of them tower over the five-foot three-inch frame of Sam but they find the food good, cheap, and the location of Sam's place convenient.

They can come in dressed in their work clothes, sit around for a quick lunch, and relax. The language may be loose but the atmosphere is friendly.

FOR THEM A stop at Sam's restaurant, 1 W. Bisner Rd., near Elk Grove Village, offers a brief respite for a meal out of the heat of the sun or the hot cab of a truck.

In ten minutes Sam bragged he can feed a crew of hungry men.

"These guys only have a half hour for lunch," said Sam, an elderly gent of 79 years.

Sam is the proprietor of Sam's Snack Bar, a converted laundromat trailer that resembles an old railway car with its long narrow aisle and booths on both sides.

A former baker, Sam has been in business in the Elk Grove area for 20 years, 11 years at the corner of Bisner and Bieslerfield roads across the street from Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

Sam started out on a pedal-pushing food stand, later advanced to a bus, and now a trailer. Dressed in a familiar T-shirt, Sam is never more at home than when he is in his restaurant where he spends from 13 to 14 hours a day.

He goes to bed at 8:30 p.m., rises at 4:30 a.m., and has coffee made in the restaurant by 5 a.m.

"I AIN'T GOT A million dollar joint but it's clean and the food is better than anybody's."

"I cook everything I don't pre-heat nothin'," he said. "Ever tasted coffee like that?" he asked. "'n that's an eight-ounce cup!"

Sam stares right through you when he talks to you. He's confident his place is tops and he believes it even though he doesn't have the fancy decor of a Corky's or a Shakey's.

"I buy choice meat," he said. "100 per cent meat. I don't fool around with nothin' else."

Sam learned his trade from his father, a baker too. Sam was also a mess sergeant in the army in World War I.

"We had the best mess hall in Laredo (Tex.), he recalled. They never had sweet rolls and coffee 'til I got there."

SAM RETIRED from the baking business 30 years ago but, "Two months later I was back in business," he said, claiming he was unable to adjust to the life of a retiree. The restaurant business became his pastime.

"I have more fun here than if I had a big fancy place," he said. "All the money wouldn't replace the fun I get outta this place."

"I talk to my customers. I let 'em feel at home."

Sam's business has a lot to do with his good health, he indicated when asked his secret of a long life.

"Health — that's what money can't buy. But I fooled 'em by stayin' busy," he said.

"Too many old people don't live long after they retire because they got time to think about dying," he said. "Me. I keep busy and don't think about it."

Sam vehemently said he has no plans to retire again.

"WHAT DO YOU want me to do — sit on a bench and die. 'I'm gonna die here. Not on a bench."

Sam doesn't work all year round, however. Arthritis forces him to take off during the winter each year.

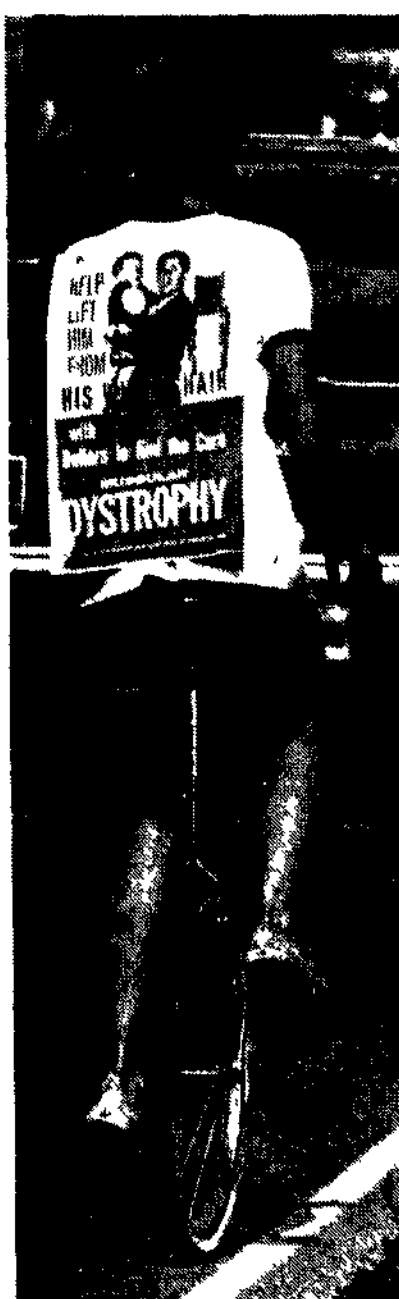

"I go to Arizona, Florida, and Aca-pulco. Play a little golf and swim," he said.

If Sam had his life to live over again he said he'd like to get a little more schooling so, "I could go into the selling game."

His third grade education in a Chicago school is the only thing he regrets, he said. In fact, he added he is thinking very seriously about going to night school.

Overall, he said: "I've had it good." This world don't owe me nothin'. Oh, it was a little rough at times but I'm a lot better off than a lot of people with college educations.

"I wouldn't have had it any other way," he said. "No, I wouldn't do it any other way."

Fighting traffic, dystrophy.

It's 'Fox Lake Or Bust' By Unicycle

by KURT BAER

Fox Lake or Bust! This might well have been the motto of Jim Amling, 18, who yesterday set out to ride his unicycle from Niles to Fox Lake, a distance of about 50 miles.

The trip, which took him through Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine along Northwest Highway, was planned to publicize Teens Against Dystrophy — a volunteer organization of young people who aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Jim, who learned to ride the one-wheeled, direct-drive cycle two years ago behind his father's bicycle shop in Niles, estimated the trip would take him about 10 hours, arriving in Fox Lake about 7 p.m. last night.

"Uphill or downhill, there's really no difference in the pedalling," Jim said as he stopped for a mileage check at the corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE SMALL odometer next to the wheel read 141 miles — two hours pedalling time from the corner of Dempster Street and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, the boys starting point about 8:30 yesterday morning, to Arlington Heights.

The young cyclist picked up a police escort to protect him from traffic along the busy highway.

"The police have been really great," he said. "At each (village) boundary there's been a car waiting to escort me through town."

Teens Against Dystrophy, which currently has chapters in Maine, Niles and Lake Forest townships, assists in both research and patient care programs against dystrophy. The organization has plans to open new chapters in Island Lake and New Trier Township.

Jim said his father had donated the Schwinn-built unicycle for the 50-mile expedition.

"It's really not nearly as difficult or four-and-a-half foot high cycle. 'Because uncomfortable to ride as it looks," Jim remarked after dismounting from the

it's direct-drive (rather than chain-driven as bicycles are) pedalling and braking

are surprisingly easy."

Though undaunted by the 36 miles of highway that lay in front of him, Jim did admit to one minor irritation.

"My bottom sure gets sore," he said reaching for a can of medicated powder one of his supporters had brought with him. "Excuse me while I take a powder break."

'Fail-Safe' Power System Fails At Woodfield Mall

When Woodfield Mall was proposed in Schaumburg several years ago, an independent generating system for electricity was considered, but Commonwealth Edison assured the retail center would never be without electricity.

"The improbable of the improbable" happened Monday, said Paul Parker, Commonwealth Edison district superintendent, when Woodfield and 30,000 Northwest suburban homes went without electricity for a short period.

The incident took place in the morning when the arm of a construction crane became entangled in both the main and auxiliary lines serving Woodfield.

"We do statistical studies and the probability of both lines going out is minuscule," Parker said.

Normally, if one line went out the other would click in with the only noticeable difference being a "blink," Parker said.

But, Parker attributed Monday's incident to "Murphy's Law" which says if anything can possibly go wrong it will.

To offset the possibility of another power failure Commonwealth Edison has plans for a third line coming from the west to serve as a safeguard should the two lines now available ever go out again.

With the rapid growth of the Schaumburg area, however, the power line can't be connected overnight, he added.

Board Will Honor Wildcat Band

Wheeling High School's Marching Band will be honored at a special reception next month by the Wheeling Village Board.

At the Sept. 13 meeting of the board, the village will sponsor a reception for band members and their parents.

Wheeling Woman's Club members will serve as hostesses for the reception which will be the only item on the agenda of the village board that evening.

Village President Ted C. Scanlon said that invitations are being sent to the reception which was planned to pay tribute to the band for its victory last spring at Virginia Beach and for other past triumphs.

A ceremony presenting a copy of a resolution to the band is also planned for the evening, Scanlon said.

Soup Seized From Warehouse

The U.S. Attorney's office Monday seized 48,000 cans of Bon Vivant soup from the warehouse of W. H. Walker and Co. 55 Kelly St., Elk Grove Village.

Bon Vivant soup is reportedly responsible for the death of a New York man. It has been ordered off the market, according to the attorney's office.

The cans seized were buckled, an indication that they contained some contamination, said a member of the U.S. attorney's office.

The soups were prepared in unhygienic conditions and may be injurious to health, the attorney's office said.

The soups include Gaspacho, Green Turtle with Sherry Wine, Cabaret Cosmopolitan, Vichyssoise, Clam Madrilene, Tomato Bisque, and some dietetic soups.

They were not for sale in Elk Grove Village.

Arlington Crest Residents Object To Condominiums

Arlington Crest residents packed a Palatine Plan Commission meeting Tuesday to object, sometimes loudly, to a proposal for development of multi-family condominiums on two acres on Wilke Road south of Olive.

While none of the almost 40 residents at the meeting favored the proposal, most of the controversy centered on whether the Chicago and North Western Ry. will construct a 12-month commuter station on Arlington Park Race Track property and when it might occur.

Gerald Ahlenius, owner of two lots on Wilke who is seeking a zoning change to permit construction of two-story condominiums, told the plan commission race track officials have said a permanent train station would definitely be put in near Wilke Road. Entrance to the station parking lot would be from Rohwing Road and commuters would park in some 300 spaces along the north fence of the track, Ahlenius said.

"I've talked to several builders and they told me single-family residences on my two lots would be a wasteful use of the land because of the new commuter station," he said. If constructed near Wilke, the train station would be about five blocks from Ahlenius' land and within walking distance.

HOWEVER, Arthur Reno, a resident of Arlington Crest and manager of research for the railroad, told the commission there are no plans to construct a station anywhere near the vicinity of Wilke Road.

"It's imperative the railroad establish a station somewhere near the track, but we are not going to block Wilke," he said. "Our negotiations with track officials right now are for the west side of the property."

Although negotiations on land are in the "very preliminary stages," Reno said track officials have tentatively offered the railroad a triangular piece of land along the railroad tracks west of Rte. 53 and east of Rohwing Road.

He said this area would be convenient for commuters living at Willow Creek apartments on Rohwing. "This is what is within walking distance to the proposed station, not Wilke," he said.

However, no official word on the land negotiations has yet been issued by either the railroad or Arlington Heights village officials.

Wayne Patenaude, president of the Arlington Crest Civic Association, presented a petition to the plan commission signed by what he estimated as three fourths of the residents in the subdivision objecting to the proposed zoning change.

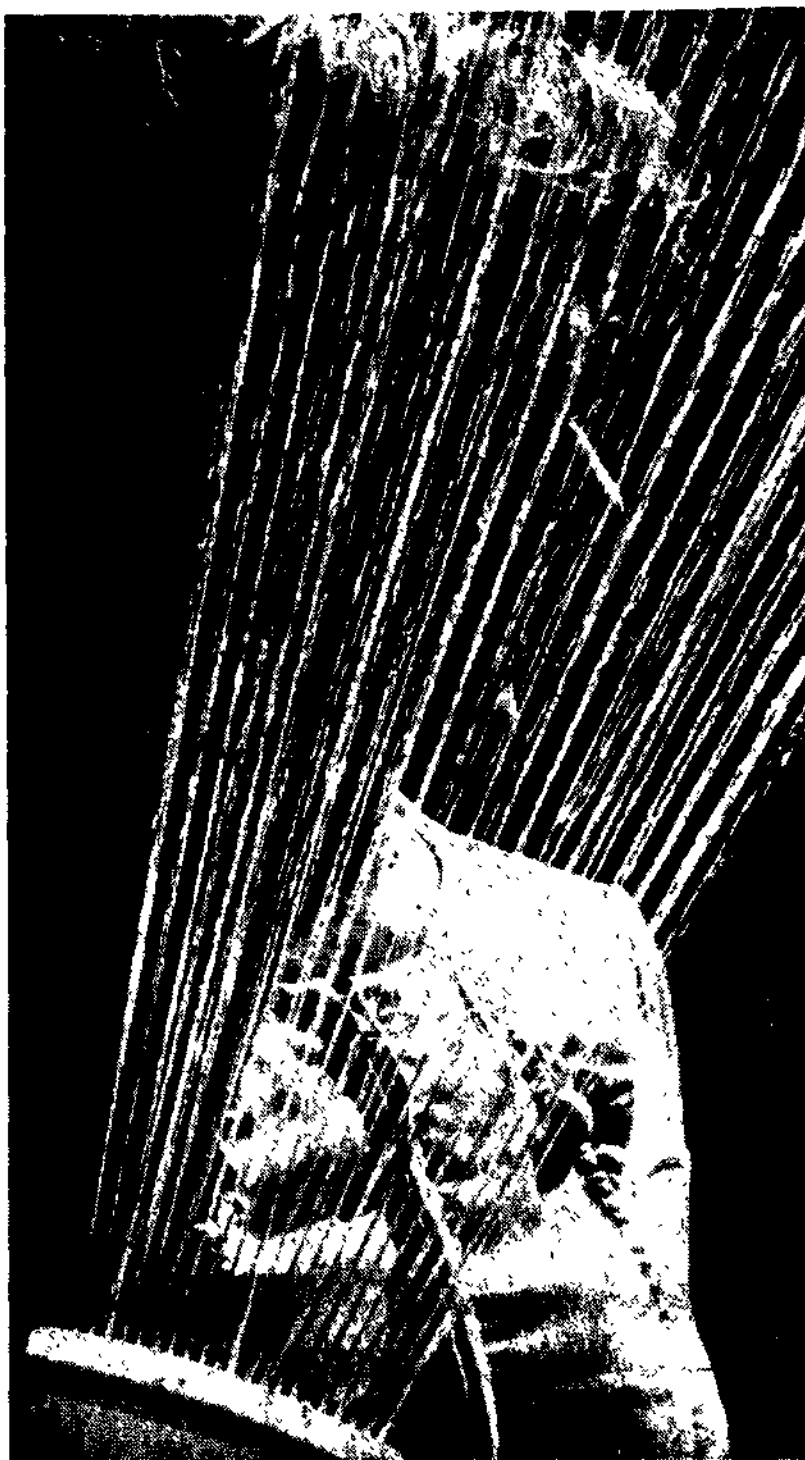

"THE PEOPLE in Arlington Crest don't feel apartments would be advantageous in any way," he said. Besides many residents in his subdivision, the petition has the support of Arlington Heights residents east of Wilke, he said.

Although Ahlenius did not provide the plan commission with architectural drawings of his proposed condominiums, he said the two-story structure would have primarily two-bedroom units with full underground parking. The building materials would be completely fire resistant and he estimated the average price per unit at $48,000.

On several occasions, Arlington Crest residents in the audience for the public hearing argued openly with Ahlenius over his proposal, and the hearing had to be restored to order by Plan Commission Chrm. Tom Moody.

At one point, a resident accused Ahlenius of harassing residents in the subdivision with construction of the apartments. However, Ahlenius said he also had been harassed recently when his house was shot at and a knife-like object thrown at him.

Ahlenius also told the commission he is not planning to sell his land if the zoning change is permitted but would develop it himself.

SPRINKLING RESTRICTIONS will remain in effect permanently in Palatine with adoption of a new ordinance. Persons with odd-numbered addresses can water their lawns on odd dates, those with even-numbered addresses may sprinkle on even dates.

A Third Of Students Not Registered

With school scheduled to start in less than two weeks, approximately one-third of the students in the Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 are still unregistered.

This year a mail-in registration throughout the entire district was attempted for the first time.

Lawrence Stillebauer, coordinator for the summer registration, said the response to the mail-in registration has been good and indicated he believes all students will be registered in the next two weeks. Registration forms for students in kindergarten through sixth grade were sent out to 4,800 families on July 23. So far, 3,200 families have returned the forms and 4,800 students have been registered in K-6.

The pieces of mail for registration have ranged from 25 to 678 a day. As many as 1,000 students have been processed on one day at the E. S. Castor Administration Building, said Stillebauer. In past years parents were forced to go to the administration building or their child's school to register him for the coming year. This created a great inconvenience for some parents.

Three years ago the mail-in registration was started as a pilot project at two of the junior high schools. The project was so successful it was expanded gradually until this year when all of the students can be registered by mail.

In addition to the registration forms that contain pertinent information about the student, his family and who to contact in case of an emergency, the book rental fees of $10 for elementary students and $11 for junior high students can be sent through the mail.

There are also insurance forms for the parents to fill out if they desire and they may send in transportation fees if they are less than a mile and a half from the school but still desire bus service.

"THIS IS GREAT! Hope it works well for the school also," wrote one parent.

Parents who lost or misplaced the registration forms can call the administration office and ask for a new one to be sent or register the students at the school they will be attending.

The school offices will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. except during noon hours for registration.

New registrations for students who were not in the attendance area last year is being conducted at the administration office and the individual schools.

Wait For Freeze To End

Teacher Council Votes Down Offer

Seventy per cent of the members in the Classroom Teachers Council (CTC) of Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 have voted to reject the 6 per cent salary increase offer of the board and continue negotiations for salaries to go into effect following President Nixon's wage-price freeze.

The vote was a response to an opinionnaire sent out to Dist. 15 teachers early this month asking them for their stand on negotiations. The ballots showed support of the CTC negotiating team by a two to one majority, according to a report issued by the CTC team.

While 70 per cent voted to reject the offer, 30 per cent voted to accept it. Figures on how many teachers voted to reject the offer and withhold their services at the beginning of the semester were not available, and John Butler, president of the CTC, said such an action was probably "a dead issue."

Along with the 90-day freeze, the Nixon administration Tuesday called for an immediate end to all strikes and lockouts in the country for at least the same amount of time.

BUTLER SAID negotiations between the board and the CTC team will continue during the 90-day freeze, but Nixon's policy eliminates the chance for a retroactive contract.

Two mass meetings of teachers have also been scheduled by the CTC team to provide the team with feedback and direction from the teachers. The first will be held at 8 p.m. today and the second at 8 p.m. Aug. 26 at the Slade Street Fire Station in Palatine.

At tonight's meeting summary will be presented to teachers of the progress made to date since negotiations started in February. Members will also be solicited on the direction the CTC team should take in view of the Nixon policy.

The second meeting will be held the day after the seventh negotiation session with the board and teachers will receive a report of the activities.

Butler last week sent a letter to the board of education requesting impasse procedures be started for the next negotiation session Aug. 25. Although the teacher team has declared an impasse, the board has not.

3 Girls Chosen To Be Woodfieldettes

Three Palatine girls have been chosen to serve as Woodfieldettes when the doors officially open on Sept. 9 to the new shopping center.

Meredith Spencer, Cheryl Koehler and Marilyn Miles will be members of a corps of girls who will be dressed in colorful outfits and will serve as customer aides to shoppers at Woodfield, located at Golf Road and Rte. 53.

Woodfieldettes will be "walking directories" as far as Woodfield and the surrounding communities are concerned," said Rene Swanson, promotion director.

According to the Professional Negotiations Agreement between the teachers and board, once an impasse is mutually declared by both sides a mediator from the American Arbitration Association may be brought in to study the teacher and board positions and find some common ground for agreement.

Butler said he currently waiting for a response from the board on the proposed impasse.

The six per cent salary increase offered by the board would provide those who were beginning teachers last year earning $7,500 with a second year salary of $7,950. Under the offer, beginning teachers with the district this year would receive $7,650.

Band's Final Concert Friday

Palatine Village Band's final concert of the summer season will feature favorite selections beginning at 8 p.m. Friday at the Palatine Hills Recreation Area.

The program includes the "Cost of Arms" march, "Bacharach Highlights," "Tiger Rag," "Stars and Stripes Forever," "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," "West Side Story," and the "Penny Whistle Song."

The concert is made up of requests by band members, audience favorites and special selections by conductor Rufus E. Bowling.

Friday evening will be Bowling's last performance with the band as director. Arthur Katterjohn, winter director, will return from his summer at Interlochen Music Camp in Michigan. Bowling will resume his position as solo clarinet and a member of the band's board of directors.

Yearbook Ready For Distribution

The 1971 "Spotlight," Palatine High School's yearbook, will be available for distribution Monday.

Students may pick up the yearbook at the high school between 6:30 and 10 p.m. Parents or friends of students who have ordered books and are unable to come to the school may pick up the books after 8 p.m. Monday. Everyone is asked to bring their receipt with them if they still have it.

Anyone unable to pick up their books on Monday may come to the publications office during the rest of the week or after school.

No books will be sold for cash during the distribution. Students who have not purchased their yearbooks yet may do so at the high school before the distribution time. The books are $6.

A FITTING GREETING? New Village Trustee Tom Ahern received a special type of good luck card shortly after his appointment from Harry Benstein, cane-carrying member of the zoning board of appeals. Opening the envelope, Ahern found — a sympathy card.

SOME AUNTS GET AROUND. Tom Moody, plan commission chairman, claims a great-aunt of Palatine's mayor should be credited with creating one-way streets. He says Jack Moodie's aunt many years ago collided with the only other car in a small southwestern town while traveling in opposite directions. To alleviate the congestion, the street was made one-way to help out Jack's aunt.

THE LONG OR SHORT OF IT. Tom Ahern hasn't wasted much time in proving himself as a village trustee. Ahern now appears at board meetings with the blackest and longest of the cigars smoked by the members of the village board. There must be a correlation somewhere.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Platt, executive secretary, has urged the state's 126 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 200 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

British troops battled members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a graveyard, shifting the center of violence in Northern Ireland to Londonderry, west of the capital of Belfast. An army spokesman said one civilian was shot and killed in the fight. Another civilian was killed when he refused to hand over a pistol he was waving at a street barricade in Strabane. The two deaths raised the death toll to 28 in 10 days of street fighting.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

Ahern Amazed By Appointment

by MARGE FERROLI

Newly appointed Palatine Trustee Tom Ahern said he was surprised when he was approached by the village president to fill the vacancy on the Palatine Village Board.

He probably wasn't the only one surprised. Ahern is a registered Democrat, the only one on the board full of Republicans.

"It was the furthest thing from my mind," Ahern said, recalling the day Mayor John Moodie contacted him about the position. "I'd always thought I would like to serve on the village board, but I thought my party affiliation would stop it from happening."

While he thought his party label might have made a difference to some people, he doesn't feel tied to the party.

"I've never voted a straight ticket, except for village elections and primaries," Ahern said. His two straight votes in village elections were both for candidates slated by independent parties, the United Citizens Party in 1967 and the Village Incumbent Party in April.

Because he doesn't consider his party label meaningful on a local level, Ahern says it won't hamper him in "doing what I think is best for the Village of Palatine."

A TOWN THE size of Palatine "does not need national party politics," Ahern said. "If the same party year after year wins local elections, the government simply will not be as responsive or effective."

The single factor that would contribute to making the local government responsive would be to stimulate the active participation of the general electorate in village affairs, he said.

"If there's one thing I would like to see done as a trustee it would be to get more people interested in the village so we could indeed govern with the will of the people," Ahern said. "I'd like to see people at village board meetings when they don't have a problem or a complaint."

Ahern's own participation in the village dates back to 1962 when he first got involved with the Palatine Jaycees, a group he served as president in 1965. His participation led to his work in local campaigns and elections and his professional background in public relations made him a qualified press agent for the Village Incumbent Party during the recent election.

As a member of the village zoning board of appeals for four years, which he considers "a direct outgrowth of my work with the Jaycees," Ahern became familiar with "some of the problems inherent with village government." This helped him from walking in cold to his new appointment as trustee last month.

COOPERATION between the various local governments and taxing bodies should also be improved, Ahern said. "I don't think the village is all to blame for any existing lack of communication between the schools, park or township."

Growth of the village usually contributes to factionalism among the subdivisions, Ahern said, which should be combated at the municipal level. "Although we want substantial growth and don't want to take away the individual rights of residents, the village board has to look at the whole village in making decisions, rather than take a single area and look at it for itself."

Although Ahern thinks Palatine right now has a good mix between types of housing and residents, he would like to see more planned developments "of good quality" in the area. "Apartment buildings have to be in every community to provide residences of all personnel working in the area." Apartment dwellers have as much a right to live in Palatine as do single-family residents, he said.

Continued development and construction will play a major role in the life of Palatine in the next several years, although Ahern said "we shouldn't build just to build." It's the responsibility of the village "to encourage good housing," he said. "Zoning should not be devised to inhibit reasonable building."

It's 'Fox Lake Or Bust' As Unicyclist Pedals Off

by KURT BAER

Fox Lake or Bust! This might well have been the motto of Jim Amling, 18, who yesterday set out to ride his unicycle from Niles to Fox Lake, a distance of about 50 miles.

The trip, which took him through Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine along Northwest Highway, was planned to publicize Teens Against Dystrophy — a volunteer organization of young people who aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Jim, who learned to ride the one-wheeled, direct-drive cycle two years ago behind his father's bicycle shop in Niles, estimated the trip would take him about 10 hours, arriving in Fox Lake about 7 p.m. last night.

"Uphill or downhill, there's really no difference in the pedalling," Jim said as he stopped for a mileage check at the corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE SMALL odometer next to the wheel read 14.1 miles — two hours pedalling time from the corner of Dempster Street and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, the boys starting point about 8:30 yesterday morning, to Arlington Heights. The young cyclist picked up a police escort to protect him from traffic along the busy highway.

"The police have been really great," he said. "At each (village) boundary there's been a car waiting to escort me through town."

Teens Against Dystrophy, which currently has chapters in Maine, Niles and Lake Forest townships, assists in both research and patient care programs against dystrophy. The organization has plans to open new chapters in Island Lake and New Trier Township.

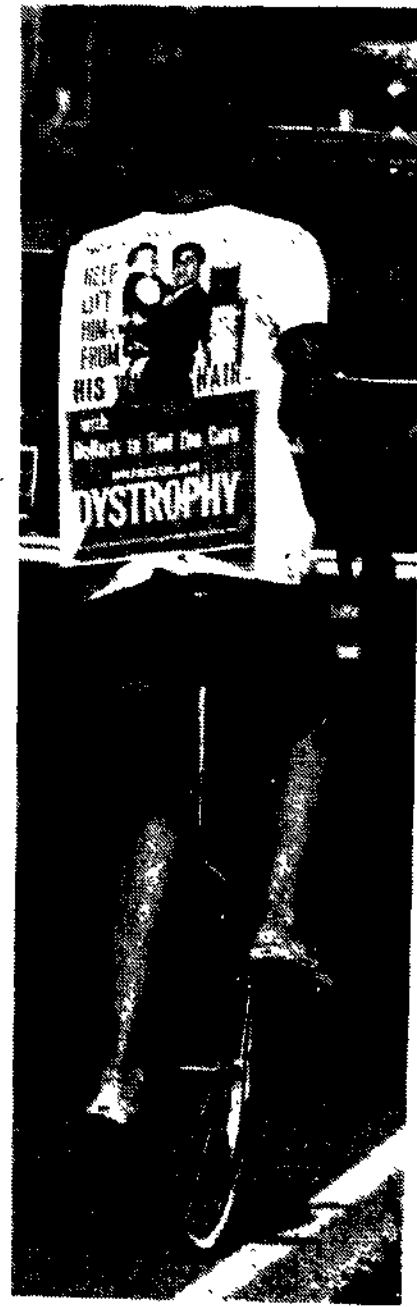

Jim said his father had donated the Schwinn-built unicycle for the 50-mile expedition.

"It's really not nearly as difficult or four-and-a-half foot high cycle. 'Because uncomfortable to ride as it looks,' Jim remarked after dismounting from the it's direct-drive (rather than chain-driven as bicycles are) pedalling and braking are surprisingly easy."

Though undaunted by the 36 miles of highway that lay in front of him, Jim did admit to one minor irritation.

"My bottom sure gets sore," he said reaching for a can of medicated powder one of his supporters had brought with him. "Excuse me while I take a powder break."

From The Library

Palatine Library

Wine lovers in Palatine should rush over to the Palatine Public Library to read one of the new books which has just arrived this week. Over 400 premium table wines and 40 wineries are described and evaluated in Robert Blum's "The Fine Wines of California." For both novice and connoisseur this guide covers terms, wine tasting techniques and the history of California wine in general.

"CREATIVE Film-Making" by Kirk Smallman is a good book for do-it-yourself filmmakers, and has also just arrived at the Palatine Library. It emphasizes low-budget film production, and tells how, for $300, a film can be completed from planning to screening.

Another do-it-yourself book at the library is "Scenic Design," a guide to the stage which explains basic stage design and devices that amateurs should find most helpful.

JACQUES COUSTEAU gives us a dramatic account of coral formations in his "Life and Death in a Coral Sea." The Cousteau team concentrates on the Indian Ocean and the Red Sea, and includes many color pictures and explanatory diagrams.

"Welcome to Our Agglomerate — You're Fired" by Isadore Barmash is a lively and interesting account of corporate mergers and how they affect executive personnel.

One of the new fictional books just arrived is Dorothy Dunnell's "Match for a Murderer." Unfolding its delightfully scary tale in the Bahamas, New York and Miami, this mystery presents perhaps the most engaging Dunnell heroine so far. She is Bettano MacRannoch, a 32-year-old no-nonsense Edinburg spinster and doctor.

In "The Winter of the Fisher," Cameron Langford tells a story about the fisher, an animal larger than the marten, which is based on fact. It is one year in the fisher's life, and the story of the harsh lessons he learns from nature and from man.

Palatine Resident Charged With Battery Of Woman, 22

A Palatine man charged by Palatine police with the battery of a 22-year-old woman is out of jail on $500 bond.

Palatine Police Lt. Frank Ortiz said Terry George Goeppinger, 26, of 655 W. Kenilworth, allegedly accosted the girl at the Imperiales Restaurant early Saturday morning. The woman, whose name Ortiz did not release, is a waitress at the restaurant.

Ortiz said the woman had been sitting at the bar of the restaurant after she finished working when Goeppinger allegedly sat down next to her and tried striking up a conversation. The woman said she then left the restaurant and got into her car parked in the gas station south of the restaurant.

Goeppinger then allegedly got into the car and made advances towards her, the woman told police. She got out of the car, and Goeppinger followed, allegedly throwing her to the ground.

SHE TOLD POLICE she got loose and ran into the restaurant, Goeppinger then apparently got into his car, Ortiz said, and while trying to drive away backed into the woman's car, causing damage.

Witnesses said they saw a light green fastback car, back into another car in the parking lot.

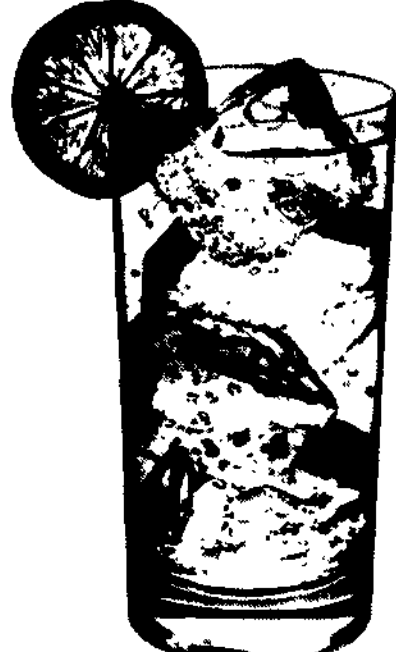

Ortiz said the attacker told the woman he lived on West Kenilworth. In a search of the area, he said, police found a green fastback that had rear-end damage in front of Goeppinger's house.

The woman later identified Goeppinger from high school photos, Ortiz said. The woman suffered abrasions to her right arm and had bruises on her legs, Ortiz said.

The woman also had some clothing ripped, he said.

Goeppinger faces a Sept. 16 date in Arlington Heights District Court.

Board To Reconsider 20-Acre Hospital Site

by PAT GERLACH
On September 14, Schaumburg trustees will reconsider planned unit development (PUD) zoning on a 20-acre tract in the central portion of the village that could provide a 20-acre hospital site donation.

The request, submitted by J. Emil Anderson and Sons, developers, was flatly denied at last week's village board meeting in a 4-2 vote.

At the suggestion of Mayor Robert O. Atcher, Trustee Gordon Mullins, who opposed the project and voted accordingly, moved to allow reconsideration.

During Tuesday night's village board meeting, Atcher revealed that he has for some time been in possession of privileged information which could shed new light on the proposed hospital-medical-residential complex.

"In the meantime (since last week's denial of the requested zoning) some people in authority have said that they would meet with the board members informally and present the information purportedly not for publication," Atcher said.

THE MAYOR NOTED, however, that "under the rules and regulations imposed on us," presumably the Illinois Open Meetings law which requires that all meetings of this type be open to press and public, such discussion could not be held.

"The information to be provided should cause some members of the village board to feel different about the total proposal," he explained stressing that without this information it would be necessary for the petitioner to begin with publication and zoning board hearings on a new proposal.

"I told the petitioner that I thought the board would be willing to hear this new information which shall remain privileged until the petitioner and other people involved make it public," the mayor said.

Under parliamentary procedure ruling the village board, only a member voting against a measure is able to reopen such consideration. But Atcher stressed, in his remarks to trustees, that no motion allowing discussion of the petition be allowed until all trustees are present on Sept. 14.

MULLINS, HERBERT J. Aigner, James Guthrie and Jack Larsen voted against granting the PUD zoning while Trustees Raymond Kellell and Mathew Helsper were in favor of granting the petitioner's request.

"This is not being done in an attempt to change anyone's mind but rather to give all board members a chance to hear what has been privileged information regarding the intent and activities of this petitioner," Atcher continued.

Prior to moving that the matter be reopened for further discussion, Mullins traced the history of the petition since presented last February.

He said that the matter came up for a board vote in June after recommendation of the zoning board of appeals that the PUD zoning be granted; it was subsequently postponed to July and later to August.

An additional obstacle has been presented in that official state hospital licensing agencies have recommended a 25-acre site as the minimum area acceptable for hospital construction.

THE PETITIONER in this regard has promised to hold a five-acre parcel aside for possible future acquisition should hospital expansion be needed.

Administrators of four area hospitals expressed displeasure with the project late last winter and wrote a joint letter to the state health care division but later tempered their statements indicating that they were calling for joint planning.

Since that time, a broader study group, including Mayor Frederick Downey of Hoffman Estates, has been established to meet with high-level hospital officials.

A meeting was held in June and it was decided at that time that a feasibility study should take place in the general area with nearby communities being asked to participate in funding.

'Fail-Safe' Power System Fails At Woodfield Mall

When Woodfield Mall was proposed in Schaumburg several years ago, an independent generating system for electricity was considered, but Commonwealth Edison assured the retail center would never be without electricity.

"The improbable of the improbable" happened Monday, said Paul Parker, Commonwealth Edison district superintendent, when Woodfield and 30,000 Northwest suburban homes went without electricity for a short period.

The incident took place in the morning when the arm of a construction crane became entangled in both the main and auxiliary lines serving Woodfield.

"We do statistical studies and the probability of both lines going out is minuscule," Parker said.

Normally, if one line went out the other would click in with the only noticeable difference being a "blink," Parker said.

But, Parker attributed Monday's incident to "Murphy's Law" which says if anything can possibly go wrong it will.

To offset the possibility of another power failure Commonwealth Edison has plans for a third line coming from the west to serve as a safeguard should the two lines now available ever go out again.

With the rapid growth of the Schaumburg area, however, the power line can't be connected overnight, he added.

board vote in June after recommendation of the zoning board of appeals that the PUD zoning be granted; it was subsequently postponed to July and later to August.

"Between June and August I thought that information might come to the board which would have some bearing on my decision and it did not but, if, now, there is other information I think it should be heard before we make a final ruling," Mullins said.

WITH BOTH Guthrie and Larsen absent this week, Atcher said that petitioners would be present at the first scheduled board meeting in September to present the data in question.

Trustees voting against the PUD were of the opinion that the complex, as presented, did not meet guidelines set down for this type of development and were skeptical that a hospital would develop on the pledged 20-acre site.

Timbercrest subdivision residents have opposed the plan for months and more residents have joined that bandwagon to oppose removal of a number of mature trees on a portion of the site.

Plans For Room, Board Home May Be Delayed

Only one tenant remains at Catherine Memorial room and board home, after Rolling Meadows officials ordered the tenants evacuated because the building does not comply with health and safety requirements.

Duane Jacobson, owner of the home, made the announcement to members of the ordinance and judiciary committee last week who met to review plans for closing the condemned home. The city council committee initiated the action to condemn the building in May after numerous inspections by city officials found it unsafe for occupancy.

When the city council determined the building unsafe, 15 tenants resided at the wood-framed structure on Meacham Road. Jacobson said all the former tenants have been placed in other homes.

The room and board home was annexed to the city in March with the understanding that a new facility would be built on the site and the present structure demolished. However, the plans for an elaborate 161-bed home on the site may be delayed, Jacobson said, because of financing problems.

JACOBSON TOLD the committee that revised plans are for only an 80-bed facility in the first phase and if the project is successful, he would add the additional phase of the project.

When city officials conducted the inspections in May, they found more than 50 fire, health and building code violations. At that time the decision was made to order the structure renovated to comply with city codes or evacuate the tenants.

Jacobson elected to evacuate the tenants because of the high cost of massive improvements and also the plans for a new home on the site.

Youth Out To Break Volleyball Marathon Record

An attempt to break the 126 hour world volleyball marathon record will be made by youths from the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church and Meadows Baptist Church.

The six day event will start Sunday at 9 p.m. and is scheduled to end at 9 p.m. the following Saturday. The youths hope to play volleyball for 144 hours straight, breaking the present record held by the Sandia Church of the Nazarene in Albuquerque, N.M.

According to John Vosnos, youth pastor of the Meadows Baptist Church and coordinator of the event, the purpose of the marathon is more than merely to provide an activity for the teens of the area. He explained that through their marathon, the teens will be raising money for the Evangelical Christian School, a private institution for Chicago's inner-city children.

Pledges for every hour played are being solicited by the teens from local businessmen. There will also be a large barrel placed near the volleyball net to enable the "net result" of the game to produce money for the school.

THIS IS THE THIRD annual volleyball marathon the two churches have held. In 1969 the youths played for 72 hours, and last year they went for 121 hours.

During the course of this year's marathon, 1,000 teens are expected to participate.

Along with the Arlington Heights-Meadows marathon game, a simultaneous attempt to set a new volleyball record will be made by teens from the Baptist Temple in Fall River, Mass.

The local week-long marathon will be climaxed by a Christian folk concert featuring the "Soul Concern."

Western Electric Builds Addition

Construction is under way for a three-story addition to the Western Electric Central Region Headquarters in Rolling Meadows' south industrial park.

Officials of Western Electric announced yesterday the facility will house many of the employees who had been working from an office building on Wilke Road due to lack of space in the industrial park. However, they stated there will be no increase in personnel when the expansion is completed in about a year.

The new building will be separated into three specific areas, a spokesman said. He added that the first floor will accommodate engineering, the second floor a service facility with the third level as a training center.

Plans show the total area of the addition to be about 144,000 square feet.

The largest employer in Rolling Meadows, Western Electric presently has a work force of 2,100. The central region headquarters services Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

THE WESTERN Electric plant in Rolling Meadows was built in 1966 and was the first of the expanding industries to locate along Golf Road. Rolling Meadows officials have speculated the Western Electric plant is the largest producer of sales tax revenue upon which many recent city projects are based.

Western Electric's growth proceeds plans for a towering office complex also to be located in the industrial park. Gould Inc. has presented plans for a 20-story building complex near the present Western Electric headquarters.

Also in the industrial park is Chemplex and Squibb Inc., which opened its operation recently.

Com. Edison Improves Lights

Commonwealth Edison Co. has begun upgrading some existing street lights in northern Rolling Meadows by replacing incandescent lamps with mercury vapor lamps.

The decision was made earlier this year that street light improvements would be done on a gradual basis and an extensive lighting program would not be undertaken by the city. At that time, some city resident said brighter lights would be objectionable.

Under consideration are additional lights along Central Road near the Rolling Meadows High School. Engineering plans are being drawn up.

City Hall Work Going Smoothly

Construction continues at the $200,000 addition to Rolling Meadows City Hall on Owl Drive with an expected completion date in March.

The foundation has been completed and the sewer work is being finalized with the first floor of the three-story addition being constructed this week. City officials said they expected the structural steel to be constructed within the month.

City hall will be expanded to the north and a house which occupied the site was removed before excavation began.

When the total structure is completed, it is expected to be one of the most elaborate municipal headquarters in the area.

Shown in the plans are an elevator, along with increased area for the city police including an underground pistol range. Numerous city officials will be housed in the addition when it is completed.

The large addition is financed from city sales tax revenue which nears $100,000 each month and created a money surplus.

CTC Rejects Salary Offer— Talks Go On

Seventy per cent of the members in the Classroom Teachers Council (CTC) of Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 have voted to reject the 6 per cent salary increase offer of the board and continue negotiations for salaries to go into effect following President Nixon's wage-price freeze.

The vote was a response to an opinionnaire sent out to Dist. 15 teachers early this month asking them for their stand on negotiations. The ballots showed support of the CTC negotiating team by a two to one majority, according to a report issued by the CTC team.

While 70 per cent voted to reject the offer, 30 per cent voted to accept it. Figures on how many teachers voted to reject the offer and withhold their services at the beginning of the semester were not available, and John Butler, president of the CTC, said such an action was probably "a dead issue."

Along with the 90-day freeze, the Nixon administration Tuesday called for an immediate end to all strikes and lockouts in the country for at least the same amount of time.

BUTLER SAID negotiations between the board and the CTC team will continue during the 90-day freeze, but Nixon's policy eliminates the chance for a retroactive contract.

Two mass meetings of teachers have also been scheduled by the CTC team to provide the team with feedback and direction from the teachers. The first will be held at 8 p.m. today and the second at 8 p.m. Aug. 26 at the Slade Street Fire Station in Palatine.

At tonight's meeting summary will be presented to teachers of the progress made to date since negotiations started in February. Members will also be solicited on the direction the CTC team should take in view of the Nixon policy.

The second meeting will be held the day after the seventh negotiation session with the board and teachers will receive a report of the activities.

Butler last week sent a letter to the board of education requesting impasse procedures be started for the next negotiation session Aug. 25. Although the teacher team has declared an impasse, the board has not.

According to the Professional Negotiations Agreement between the teachers and board, once an impasse is mutually declared by both sides a mediator from the American Arbitration Association may be brought in to study the teacher and board positions and find some common ground for agreement.

Butler said he currently waiting for a response from the board on the proposed impasse.

To Install Fence Near City Hall

A fence will be installed along the west property line of the Rolling Meadows City Hall and near the north end of the proposed addition to reduce vandalism to the area.

City officials said all windows have been broken out of vacant house near the city hall addition. A number of children have been playing near the site and could be injured if a fence is not installed, officials said.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Platt, executive secretary, has urged the state's 116 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 200 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

British troops battled members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a graveyard, shifting the center of violence in Northern Ireland to Londonderry, west of the capital of Belfast. An army spokesman said one civilian was shot and killed in the fight. Another civilian was killed when he refused to hand over a pistol he was waving at a street barricade in Strabane. The two deaths raised the death toll to 28 in 10 days of street fighting.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

Get Involved:
Teen Mayor

by JOANN VAN WYE

More involvement by teens is necessary if teen government is to have a meaningful role in Rolling Meadows, says Teen Government Mayor Pam Kolker.

"There is no teen government except for the seven in office. Everyone expects the seven in office to do all the work," says Pam who is finishing her last week as the first female teen government mayor.

She says she feels it is necessary to get more students out to the monthly teen government meetings at the Rolling Meadows City Hall.

As far as how her successors can generate more interest in teen government, Pam has no suggestions. "I just don't know, I did the best I could but apparently that wasn't enough."

Asked if she felt being a female had presented an obstacle, Pam said "No. When it was first announced I was the new mayor the guys kind of looked down on it but as the year went along there was no problem."

Pam, who had previously served as teen clerk, beat two male contestants last year to be elected. This year she is not running for an office but says she plans to attend the meetings periodically to see how they are run.

LAST YEAR'S teen government goal was to raise $700 to buy a bronze plaque to put in the front of city hall with the names of all the men from Rolling Meadows who had died in Vietnam. Dances were held and candy sold but the $700 goal was not reached.

Pam

Pam said this year's teen government fell short of the goal but the incoming officers should be able to raise enough money to purchase the plaque.

Pam, 17, will be a senior at Forest View High School this fall. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kolker of 3102 Swallow.

Asked if she had any words of advice for her successor, Pam said "Good luck."

Band Will Play
At State Fair

The Illinois State Fairgrounds will be the setting for the first performance by any group from the new Rolling Meadows High School.

The high school band will play a selection of several songs and marches in competition with 40 other bands on Saturday.

The students in the band have been practicing under the direction of Lendell King through the summer in preparation for the competition. The practices have been held at Carl Sandburg Junior High, since the new high school was not completed.

A car wash was held by the members last weekend to raise money for the bus trip to Springfield. The students raised $200 and the Rolling Meadows Bank president is donating the remaining $275 needed to make the trip.

Skating Ends Sunday

The Rolling Meadows Sports Complex will have its final summer public skating session from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. The hockey school has one more week of lessons.

The ice arena will reopen for the fall and winter public skating sessions Sept. 10. The starting date for skating lessons will be Oct. 11.

This might well have been the motto of Jim Amling, 18, who yesterday set out to ride his unicycle from Niles to Fox Lake, a distance of about 50 miles.

The trip, which took him through Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine along Northwest Highway, was planned to publicize Teens Against Dystrophy — a volunteer organization of young people who aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Jim, who learned to ride the one-wheeled, direct-drive cycle two years ago behind his father's bicycle shop in Niles, estimated the trip would take him about 10 hours, arriving in Fox Lake about 7 p.m. last night.

"Uphill or downhill, there's really no difference in the pedalling," Jim said as he stopped for a mileage check at the corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE SMALL odometer next to the wheel read 14.1 miles — two hours pedalling time from the corner of Dempster Street and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, the boys starting point about 8:30 yesterday morning, to Arlington Heights.

The young cyclist picked up a police escort to protect him from traffic along the busy highway.

"The police have been really great," he said. "At each (village) boundary there's been a car waiting to escort me through town."

Teens Against Dystrophy, which currently has chapters in Maine, Niles and Lake Forest townships, assists in both research and patient care programs against dystrophy. The organization has plans to open new chapters in Island Lake and New Trier Township.

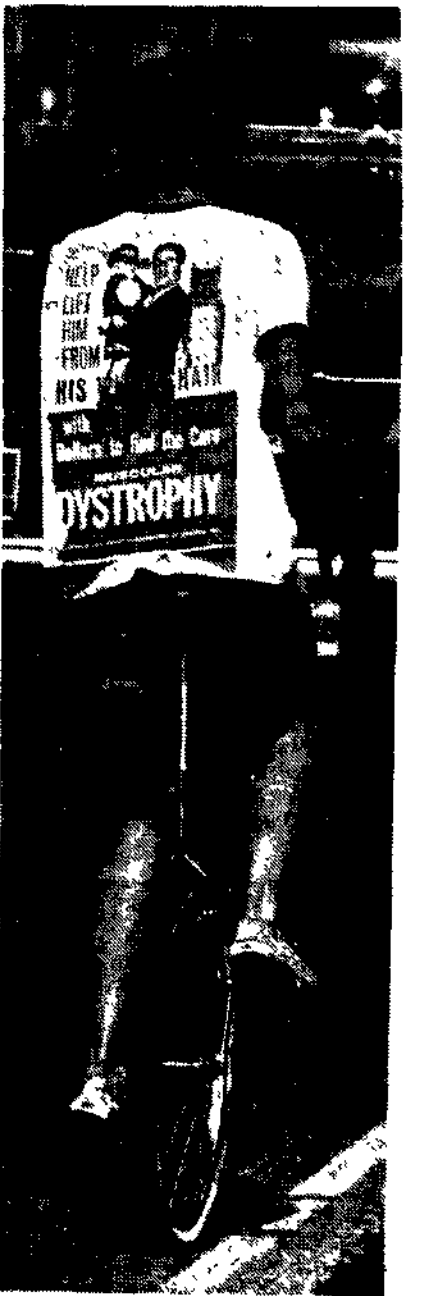

Jim said his father had donated the Schwinn-built unicycle for the 50-mile expedition.

"It's really not nearly as difficult or four-and-a-half foot high cycle. 'Because uncomfortable to ride as it looks,' Jim remarked after dismounting from the it's direct-drive (rather than chain-driven as bicycles are) pedalling and braking are surprisingly easy."

Though undaunted by the 36 miles of highway that lay in front of him, Jim did admit to one minor irritation.

"My bottom sure gets sore," he said reaching for a can of medicated powder one of his supporters had brought with him. "Excuse me while I take a powder break."

From The Library

by VIRGINIA CONNELL

If you glance to the wall on your right as you walk into the library, you will see an oil painting done by a well known Chicago artist, Ben Stahl. Ben Stahl is a man of many talents, a teacher, an artist, architect and author.

Our young people read Alfred Hitchcock's 'Ghostly Gallery' constantly. However, the "Secret of Red Skull," Stahl's new book, is going to make other ghost stories seem dull in comparison. The sleepy town of Godolphin, N.C. had grown accustomed to the residents of the Boar's Head. They were all ghosts. All of them had the power to be visible or invisible at will. What happens when efficient, carefully trained international spies match wits with pirate ghosts makes for a breathless adventure.

Patterns of dating can and do change, but interest in boy-girl relationships is constant. In this revision of "Your Dating Days" Dr. Landis shows how information can help unravel some problems which young people face as they begin dating or seriously consider marriage.

How one meets the challenge of married life will not only affect happiness and success, but also the happiness of others dependent upon him.

Did you know, not one of the ancient Egyptian pharaohs could have bought a cup of coffee in a drug store in the Southern United States until the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Early writings and art indicate that the ancient Egyptian people were a black people. What connection does this have with a book entitled "Great Civilizations of Ancient Africa?" As we delve deeper into this book, we are reminded of the contrast of the colorful costumes of the witch doctors of Africa with that of an ancient pharaoh of Egypt with their curly hair and dark eyes.

The library staff are looking forward to the opening of our new high school and have spent a busy year trying to enlarge the Library's collection to help serve the students. This increase in the book collection has been made possible by a grant from the city of $30,000.

Palatine Resident Charged With Battery Of Woman, 22

A Palatine man charged by Palatine police with the battery of a 22-year-old woman is out of jail on $500 bond.

Palatine Police Lt. Frank Ortiz said Terry George Goeppinger, 28, of 655 W. Kenilworth, allegedly accosted the girl at the Imperiales Restaurant early Saturday morning. The woman, whose name Ortiz did not release, is a waitress at the restaurant.

Ortiz said the woman had been sitting at the bar of the restaurant after she finished working when Goeppinger allegedly sat down next to her and tried striking up a conversation. The woman said she then left the restaurant and got into her car parked in the gas station south of the restaurant.

Goeppinger then allegedly got into the car and made advances towards her, the woman told police. She got out of the car, and Goeppinger followed, allegedly throwing her to the ground.

SHE TOLD POLICE she got loose and ran into the restaurant, Goeppinger then apparently got into his car, Ortiz said, and while trying to drive away backed into the woman's car, causing damage.

Witnesses said they saw a light green fastback car, back into another car in the parking lot.

Ortiz said the attacker told the woman he lived on West Kenilworth. In a search of the area, he said, police found a green fastback that had rear-end damage in front of Goeppinger's house.

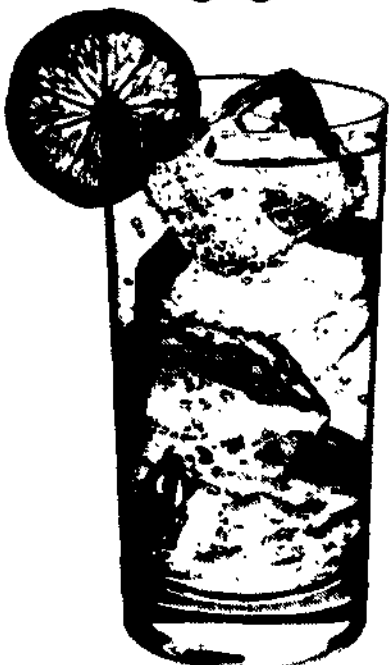

The woman later identified Goeppinger from high school photos, Ortiz said.

The woman suffered abrasions to her right arm and had bruises on her legs, Ortiz said.

The woman also had some clothing ripped, he said.

Goeppinger faces a Sept. 16 date in Arlington Heights District Court.

Board To Reconsider 20-Acre Hospital Site

by PAT GERLACH
On September 14, Schaumburg trustees will reconsider planned unit development (PUD) zoning on a 57-acre tract in the central portion of the village that could provide a 20-acre hospital site donation.
The request, submitted by J. Emil Anderson and Sons, developers, was flatly denied at last week's village board meeting in a 4-2 vote.
At the suggestion of Mayor Robert O. Atcher, Trustee Gordon Mullins, who opposed the project and voted accordingly, moved to allow reconsideration.
During Tuesday night's village board meeting, Atcher revealed that he has for some time been in possession of privileged information which could shed new light on the proposed hospital-medical-residential complex.
"In the meantime (since last week's denial of the requested zoning) some people in authority have said that they would meet with the board members informally and present the information purportedly not for publication," Atcher said.

THE MAYOR NOTED, however, that "under the rules and regulations imposed on us," presumably the Illinois Open Meetings law which requires that all meetings of this type be open to press and public, such discussion could not be held.
"The information to be provided should cause some members of the village board to feel different about the total proposal," he explained stressing that without this information it would be necessary for the petitioner to begin with publication and zoning board hearings on a new proposal.
"I told the petitioner that I thought the board would be willing to hear this new information which shall remain privileged until the petitioner and other people involved make it public," the mayor said.
Under parliamentary procedure ruling the village board, only a member voting against a measure is able to reopen this consideration. But Atcher stressed, in his remarks to trustees, that no motion allowing discussion of the petition be allowed until all trustees are present on Sept. 14.

board vote in June after recommendation of the zoning board of appeals that the PUD zoning be granted; it was subsequently postponed to July and later to August.
"Between June and August I thought that information might come to the board which would have some bearing on my decision and it did not but, if, now, there is other information I think it should be heard before we make a final ruling," Mullins said.
WITH BOTH Guthrie and Larsen absent this week, Atcher said that petitioners would be present at the first scheduled board meeting in September to present the data in question.
Trustees voting against the PUD were of the opinion that the complex, as presented, did not meet guidelines set down for this type of development and were skeptical that a hospital would develop on the pledged 20-acre site.
Timbercrest subdivision residents have opposed the plan for months and more residents have joined that bandwagon to oppose removal of a number of mature trees on a portion of the site.

An additional obstacle has been presented in that official state hospital licensing agencies have recommended a 25-acre site as the minimum area acceptable for hospital construction.
THE PETITIONER in this regard has promised to hold a five-acre parcel aside for possible future acquisition should hospital expansion be needed.
Administrators of four area hospitals expressed displeasure with the project late last winter and wrote a joint letter to the state health care division but later tempered their statements indicating that they were calling for joint planning.

Since that time, a broader study group, including Mayor Frederick Downey of Hoffman Estates, has been established to meet with high-level hospital officials.
A meeting was held in June and it was decided at that time that a feasibility study should take place in the general area with nearby communities being asked to participate in funding.

'Fail-Safe' Power System Fails At Woodfield Mall

When Woodfield Mall was proposed in Schaumburg several years ago, an independent generating system for electricity was considered, but Commonwealth Edison assured the retail center would never be without electricity.
"The improbable of the improbable" happened Monday, said Paul Parker, Commonwealth Edison district superintendent, when Woodfield and 30,000 Northwest suburban homes went without electricity for a short period.
The incident took place in the morning when the arm of a construction crane became entangled in both the main and auxiliary lines serving Woodfield.
"We do statistical studies and the probability of both lines going out is minuscule," Parker said.

Normally, if one line went out the other would click in with the only noticeable difference being a "blink," Parker said.
But, Parker attributed Monday's incident to "Murphy's Law" which says if anything can possibly go wrong it will.
To offset the possibility of another power failure Commonwealth Edison has plans for a third line coming from the west to serve as a safeguard should the two lines now available ever go out again.
With the rapid growth of the Schaumburg area, however, the power line can't be connected overnight, he added.

School Budget Includes Raise For Teachers

A tentative budget adopted by the River Trails Dist. 26 School Board includes an increase of $58,500 for teachers' salaries, despite the national wage freeze.

At a meeting Tuesday, Supt. Thomas Warden told the board, "The budget is only a guide. We won't know anything concrete until we know the stipulations of the wage freeze." School officials are waiting for advice from their attorney and the office of the Cook County school superintendent regarding the effect of the freeze on teachers' salaries.

The tentative budget, listing expenditures totaling about $3 million, will be on display at the district office for a month. A public budget hearing will be held at the district office, 1800 East Kensington Rd., Mount Prospect, Sept. 21. The school board plans to approve a final budget at that time.

The teachers' salary figure in the education fund, $1,240,000, is based on the increase the teachers received last year. Mrs. Jean Meister, business supervisor explained, "We added last year's increases to the total salaries the teachers received last year, bringing the total up to $1,218,000. An additional $15,000 for teachers' extra duty payments was added to the total amount along with a $7,000 contingency fund.

THE TEACHERS' salary figure may rise even higher once negotiations between the teachers and the school board are settled. According to members of the school board, the negotiations will resume as soon as the board is contacted by the teachers' negotiating team. The teachers were expected to meet last night to discuss the salary situation.

"If the wage freeze continues through April, we are not to assume we are com-

Landmark To Be Torn Down

by ANNE SLAVICEK

In the 1890s it was an ice cream parlor where Wheeling residents and travelers stopped for treats.

In the back of the building was a barn where ice to cool local ice boxes was stored. The ice was cut in blocks from the Des Plaines River each winter.

But soon the building will be replaced by a blacktopped parking lot adjacent to a carpet store.

The building, which is more than 100 years old, is being torn down this week.

Located at 109 S. Milwaukee Ave., the building more recently has been used for storage. The front portion was remodeled as a residence and had been rented.

Village Director of Building and Zoning William Bleher said that owners of the building were cooperating with the village in tearing it down.

Mrs. R. N. Hartmann, daughter of former building owner Hans Schmidt, said the building has been sold to the Spring Crest Carpet and Drapery store and will be used as a parking lot for the store.

MRS. HARTMANN SAID that her grandmother operated the ice cream parlor which used to occupy the front of the building.

This building is one of several older buildings recently torn down along Milwaukee Avenue as the village begins its drive to update and beautify Wheeling's oldest street.

Recently another old building which had been located on the southeast corner of Milwaukee Avenue and Dundee Road was demolished after a three-year court fight.

That building, owned by the late Arthur Fassbender Sr. had housed the first bank in the village, a post office, a hardware store and a restaurant at different times in its 125-year-long life.

Another building which housed the Wheel Inn Tavern and the Windfall Gift Shop along with several apartments was burned down in a fire last February in the same area of Milwaukee Avenue.

DEANE WALLICK, 15, held up part of the fire badge collection he and his father have gathered. Deane said he hopes to be a fireman some day.

Aspires To Be Fireman

His Dream May Become Reality

by TOM VON MALDER

Take a boy.

Let him grow up around a fire house. Let him ride the fire engines with his father. Give him a chief's hat that's four sizes smaller than anyone else's. Let the boy smell the smoke. Let his face be lighted by a raging fire.

Naturally, the boy will want to be a fireman when he grows up. And Deane Wallick, 15, of 1102 Ironwood Dr., Mount Prospect, is such a boy.

His father, Donald Wallick, was a member of the Hopkins, Minn. Volunteer Fire Dept. His great uncle was fire commissioner in Omaha, Neb. and Deane was the boy who grew up around the fire station.

"I remember," Deane said, "standing in the fire truck at Christmas time watching them burn the old Christmas trees. Then there were rides in parades each year."

HE SHOWED A picture of a small boy with a white hat standing near the steering wheel of a long hook-and-ladder truck. "That's me," he said. "The hat was made special."

Deane, who will be a sophomore at John Hersey High School in Arlington Heights next fall, said he would like to be a fireman some day. "Maybe just a volunteer. Buy maybe a paid fireman."

Deane is out to get a different education than the one they teach in school and he's doing it on his own. He has two scrapbooks full of pictures of various fire apparatus and reports of fires from all the towns where he has lived. "My grandparents clip out stories of Minneapolis and Hopkins fires for me," Deane said.

Deane reads all the books on fire departments and equipment that he can. "My aim is to learn as much about fire fighting as possible, he said.

Another way Deane has of learning about fire departments is his collection of fire badges. He writes to the different fire agencies around the country, and even overseas, for badges and information.

"My father started the collection," Deane said. He has badges from 34 different departments and about 50 badges in all. He also has about 60 police badges, all collected by his father.

DEANE HAS written to and received badges from the London and Paris fire departments.

"They were quite willing to send them," Deane said. "Some United States fire companies, especially paid departments, often are restricted by ordinances and cannot give out their badges."

He said the Arlington Heights Fire Department has been hesitant about giving a badge because "They said they get two to three requests a month and can't see why anyone would want to collect them."

Deane said he collects badges because his father had and because he enjoys it. "I've even been made a sort of honorary member of the Minneapolis Fire Department."

It is hard to say now whether Deane will ever fulfill his dream of becoming a fireman but should his family ever move back to Minnesota, "I don't know if I'll be able to wait until I'm 21." That is the age when a man can join a volunteer fire department in Minnesota.

Junior Woman's Club Planning Recycling Drive

The Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club community recycling drive will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sept. 18 and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 19 at the Mount Prospect Plaza, Rand and Central roads.

Residents are urged to save all their old newspapers, glass jars (clean with label intact) and metal (tin cans rinsed out), according to Carol Whittemore, club publicity chairman. They should then be brought to the Mount Prospect Plaza on the above dates.

The recycling project is under the direction of Mrs. Anthony Caracci, club conservation and gardening chairman. Members of the Junior Woman's Club will assist her during the first drive.

Recycling drives will be held on the second Saturday of each month and be directed by youth groups in the community.

The schedule so far is:

Oct. 9 — Campfire Girls
Nov. 13 — Boy Scout Troop 157
Dec. 11 — Boy Scout Troop 223
January and February — Girl Scouts
March 11 — E-Harts.
Mrs. Whittemore said the remaining months are still open and any group interested in helping the project should contact Mrs. Caracci at 259-3922.

She also said that all proceeds from these recycling drives will go to the Junior Woman's Club to assist in its "efforts in beautifying Mount Prospect."

Woman Badly Hurt In Overpass Fall

A seriously injured Chicago woman was found lying on Milwaukee Avenue near the Palatine Road overpass yesterday, Cook County Sheriff's Police said.

The woman Christine Tesch, of 7603 Sheridan Rd., Chicago was in critical condition yesterday afternoon at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines.

She was apparently injured in a fall from the overpass. Police said there was no car involved in the incident.

There were no witnesses to the incident, police said. The woman was found at noon lying in the southbound lane of Milwaukee Avenue in unincorporated Wheeling.

She was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Ruling Could Affect Annual Rental

Rent Freeze Blocks Maryville Hike

The River Trails Dist. 26 School Board is holding up approval of a proposed rent hike for classroom space at Maryville Academy in Des Plaines until the national rent freeze is clarified.

The district pays rent annually for the River Road School classrooms, located at Maryville Academy, a home for dependent children in Des Plaines. The board plans to ask its attorney if the rent freeze has any effect on the annual payment.

Last month the Rev. John Smith, superintendent at Maryville, proposed raising the rent from $5,000 to $17,000. After a meeting with school officials, Father Smith agreed to lower the charge to $14,500. Of this amount $5,000 is slated for actual rent, while $9,500 will be used to make repairs on the rented classrooms.

The more than 300 Maryville children have attended district schools since Catholic Charities, an arm of the Chicago Catholic Archdiocese, announced in 1968 it could no longer afford to educate the children. The district is reimbursed 100 per cent by the state for all tuition costs (including building rent) incurred in educating the Maryville children.

Approximately 125 Maryville children are attending district schools outside of the academy, while 150 are attending the River Road School at Maryville.

Father Smith said he raised the rent this year for the River Road School because of rising costs. In addition, he pointed out that in the past no one computed the actual cost to the archdiocese of renting the facility. The original $17,000 rent proposal was based on the number of square feet used by the district.

School officials were reluctant to pay more rent for the archdiocese facility unless certain repairs were made. Harold Haney, board president, pointed out that the facility does not meet the requirements of the Illinois Life Safety Code.

As a result Father Smith lowered his original rent proposal and agreed to make repairs. The $9,500 proposed for repairs is based on bids received by Maryville officials.

Some Dist. 26 board members were reluctant to pay the increased rent until the entire board meets with Father Smith to discuss the repairs. But no meetings with Father Smith are contemplated until after the board meets with its attorney to discuss the rent freeze.

The repairs in question include new electrical wiring which will enable the district to put heaters in the classrooms. Other work includes caulking the windows and improving the floors.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

British troops battled members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a graveyard, shifting the center of violence in Northern Ireland to Londonderry, west of the capital of Belfast. An army spokesman said one civilian was shot and killed in the fight. Another civilian was killed when he refused to hand over a pistol he was waving at a street barricade in Strabane. The two deaths raised the death toll to 28 in 10 days of street fighting.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "effect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Platt, executive secretary, has urged the state's 116 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 300 dead and wounded.

School Districts Continue Talks

Despite President Richard Nixon's wage-price freeze which has thrown teacher contract negotiations into financial limbo, school districts covering Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights will continue to negotiate.

In River Trails Dist. 26 another negotiations meeting between representatives of the River Trails Education Association (RTEA) and school board members is expected to be held next week, according to Gary Rathgeber, RTEA chairman. However, Rathgeber said Tuesday any raises granted would probably not go into effect until Nov. 15 or whenever Nixon decides to lift the freeze, currently slated for 90 days.

"NIXON'S ORDER freezes wages at last year's level. There will be no raises or increments for Dist. 26 teachers," Rathgeber said. "It's up to the teacher whether the RTEA proposed contract package will increase to compensate for the current freeze." RTEA members were expected to vote on a change at a meeting last night.

Rathgeber pointed out the current contract expires next Wednesday. "I couldn't say how close we are to a settlement," he said. He did say the teachers and board members are closer to a settlement now than they were earlier this summer when they had planned to call in federal mediators.

An uncertainty still exists in the freeze's effect on teachers, policemen and other government employees. The President's Cost of Living Council yesterday was considering the possibility of exempting these groups from the freeze.

A spokesman for the Midwest branch of the Office of Emergency Preparedness said yesterday afternoon she didn't know "when Washington will notify us" about a possible exemption.

"I think the idea of an exemption is good. Whether they allow it or not, we'll see," said David Metzler, teacher negotiator in Mount Prospect School Dist. 57.

Metzler said yesterday he and other members of the teacher bargaining team for the Mount Prospect Education Association (MPEA) will continue to negotiate, as directed by the Illinois Education Association (IEA). Metzler met with IEA officials yesterday.

School Budget Includes Raise For Teachers

mitted to spend the amount budgeted for teachers' salaries," said Warden. He explained that the budget sets amounts that may be spent.

Estimated expenditures in the education fund total $2,796,107. Other tentative budget expenditures include $221,761 in the building fund, $86,853 in the transportation fund, $33,077 in the Illinois Municipal Retirement fund, $24,000 in the rent fund, and $2,000,000 in the bond and interest fund.

The district plans to sell tax anticipation warrants (borrowing against expected taxes) to offset a deficit in the education fund. The budget lists a tentative warrant sale of $293,050. The proposed sale is $156,960 under last year's warrant sale.

AT ONE TIME, school officials thought they might have to sell $100,000 in warrants this month. Warden proposed the

"I WOULD EXPECT no increment during the freeze," he said. "Technically we would be working under no contract for the 90 days."

Metzler said he and Supt. Eric Sahlberg had agreed to continue negotiations next Monday a day set last week. "Sahlberg told me that by the end of the week, he would be able to tell us what the board's position is after hearing from the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI)," Metzler said. Sahlberg could not be reached yesterday for comment.

"We have every intention of continuing negotiations," said Leo Floros, chairman of the board's negotiating team. "We would hope to settle by Monday or at least reach some kind of agreement."

Floros said he "certainly sympathizes with the teachers' position, and 'they are deserving of the increment.'" However, Floros said, the board will wait for directives from OSPI. "All I know is that we'll do whatever we have to do and hope to continue and complete negotiations," he said. "I don't want to sit on my hands for 90 days."

TEACHERS AND board members have been negotiating since December for a 1971-72 contract, with little progress. According to latest proposals, the MPEA is requesting an approximately 6 per cent living increase for returning teachers. The board has offered a $50 increase plus the yearly pay raise included in the current contract schedule for most returning teachers.

The freeze has affected the possibility of teachers "withholding services" before school starts on Sept. 7, according to Metzler. "The next date we could withhold services is Nov. 15," he said. A Sept. 2 meeting for all MPEA members to decide if they wanted to "withhold services" from a Sept. 3 teacher workshop has been cancelled.

Whether Nixon's freeze will affect already settled raises for teachers in Prospect Heights Dist. 23 has not yet been decided. Dist. 23 officials now say they are waiting for a bulletin from the office of the Cook County School Superintendent to give them guidance as to whether or not to put the raises in effect. Dist. 23 and the Prospect Heights Education Association (PHEA) reached a contract settlement on July 30.

warrant sale two weeks ago to offset a money shortage that was expected to arise because of late tax receipts. The county mailed out tax bills two months later than usual, resulting in a slow flow of incoming taxes. At that time Warden said the district might be $100,000 short of cash by September.

However, Tuesday Warden told the board he was advised by Ray Johnston, president of the First National Bank of Mount Prospect, to hold up on the warrant sale. Warden indicated the money shortage is not as serious as originally expected and advised that the board take a "wait and see" stance.

During the past fiscal year, the district sold $450,000 in warrants, which equaled 55 per cent of the district's assessed valuation. Expenditures in the education fund totaled $2,348,465 last year.

It's 'Fox Lake Or Bust' By Unicycle

by KURT BAER

Fox Lake or Bust!

This might well have been the motto of Jim Amling, 18, who yesterday set out to ride his unicycle from Niles to Fox Lake, a distance of about 50 miles.

The trip, which took him through Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine along Northwest Highway, was planned to publicize Teens Against Dystrophy — a volunteer organization of young people who aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Jim, who learned to ride the one-wheeled, direct-drive cycle two years ago behind his father's bicycle shop in Niles, estimated the trip would take him about 10 hours, arriving in Fox Lake about 7 p.m. last night.

"Uphill or downhill, there's really no difference in the pedalling," Jim said as he stopped for a mileage check at the corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE SMALL odometer next to the wheel read 14.1 miles — two hours pedalling time from the corner of Dempster Street and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, the boys starting point about 8:30 yesterday morning, to Arlington Heights.

The young cyclist picked up a police escort to protect him from traffic along the busy highway.

"The police have been really great," he said. "At each (village) boundary there's been a car waiting to escort me through town."

Teens Against Dystrophy, which currently has chapters in Maine, Niles and Lake Forest townships, assists in both research and patient care programs against dystrophy. The organization has plans to open new chapters in Island Lake and New Trier Township.

Jim said his father had donated the Schwinn-built unicycle for the 50-mile expedition.

"It's really not nearly as difficult or four-and-a-half foot high cycle. "Because uncomfortable to ride as it looks," Jim remarked after dismounting from the it's direct-drive (rather than chain-driven as bicycles are) pedalling and braking are surprisingly easy."

Though undaunted by the 36 miles of highway that lay in front of him, Jim did admit to one minor irritation.

"My bottom sure gets sore," he said reaching for a can of medicated powder one of his supporters had brought with him. "Excuse me while I take a powder break."

From The Library

by LAURIE ROSSI

There's a new batch of 8 mm. films at the Mount Prospect Library now, in addition to the others you've been borrowing so regularly. If you're a Buster Keaton fan you'll enjoy all 600 feet of "The General" written and directed by him, and is considered his best. This comedy was created out of true episode from American history. It's about the famous Civil War locomotive and is rated in the top 50 to 75 silent features. Keaton also stars with Virginia Fox in "The Blacksmith," based on a poem by Longfellow.

Another comedy is "The Cannon Ball," starring Chester Conklin who plays an explosives expert visiting the Boom Powder Factory to inspect operations.

Laurel and Hardy lovers will have to line up for the four new films of theirs. Their adventures will take you through a dentist's office, city traffic, the circus, Ollie's roof, and Mrs. Culpepper's snobbish dinner party — while Laurel and Hardy spread pandemonium and leave total and hilarious destruction in their wake.

There's more laughter in store when Harold Lloyd, Bebe Daniels, and Snub Pollard board a boat for Bermuda in "All Aboard." Harold, unlucky with the girls, finally ties the knot in "Haunted Spooks." His newly wedded wife, Hillary, comes with an inheritance, a haunted house. See for yourself what happens when they move in.

After a long list of comedies, the final addition to the library's film collection is "All Island Hawaiian Cruise," a travel film taking its viewers from San Francisco to Diamond Head, and back again, aboard the SS Lurline. You'll enjoy every scenic moment of this pleasure cruise.

Hersey Band Wins Trophy

The John Hersey High School band brought back the five-foot-high Mayor Daley trophy from parade competition Monday and is going to Springfield this weekend to compete for the "Governor's trophy."

Monday the band marched in the "King Neptune" parade in Chicago and won the Mayor Daley trophy and $500. The awards were presented to the band in front of the Chicago Civic Center where the band held a concert following the parade.

The band will perform in another concert at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield Saturday. The state high school competition is divided into five classifications. The first place winners in each classification will compete for the "Governor's Trophy."

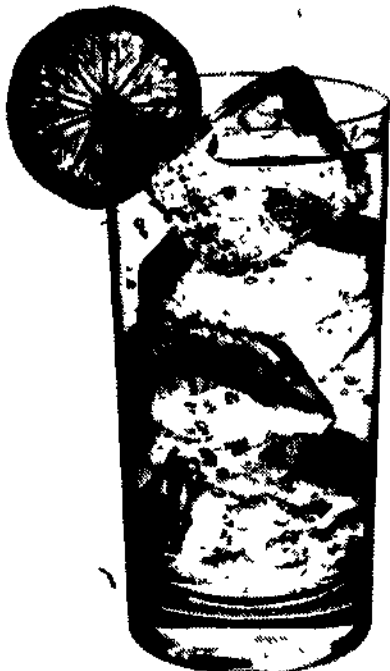

Band Director Donald Caneva said the band will use its $500 prize money to help pay for transportation costs to Springfield.

Fixin' 'Em Up With The Best Food In Town

by TOM JACHIMIEC

"Fix 'em up a real good ham sandwich," barked out Wood Dale's Sam Zito from behind the counter.

"Four hot dogs with everything," he added a few seconds later, giving another order to Steve Pappas, his helper.

At 11:30 a.m. one Friday morning Sam was busy doing what he likes best — taking the orders from his best customers.

They are the construction workers from Greco, Lindahl, Meyer and others who drive the big earthmoving vehicles and cement mixers.

Most of them tower over the five-foot three-inch frame of Sam but they find the food good, cheap, and the location of Sam's place convenient.

They can come in dressed in their work clothes, sit around for a quick lunch, and relax. The language may be loose but the atmosphere is friendly.

FOR THEM A stop at Sam's restaurant, 1 W. Blaser Rd., near Elk Grove Village, offers a brief respite for a meal out of the heat of the sun or the hush cab of a truck.

In ten minutes Sam bragged he can feed a crew of hungry men.

"These guys only have a half hour for lunch," said Sam, an elderly gent of 79 years.

Sam is the proprietor of Sam's Snack Bar, a converted laundromat trailer that resembles an old railway car with its long narrow aisle and booths on both sides.

A former baker, Sam has been in business in the Elk Grove area for 20 years, 11 years at the corner of Blaser and Bluestield roads across the street from Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

Sam started out on a pedal-pushing food stand, later advanced to a bus, and now a trailer. Dressed in a familiar T-shirt, Sam is never more at home than when he is in his restaurant where he spends from 13 to 14 hours a day.

He goes to bed at 8:30 p.m., rises at 4:30 a.m., and has coffee made in the restaurant by 5 a.m.

"I AIN'T GOT A million dollar joint but it's clean and the food is better than anybody's."

"I cook everything. I don't pre-heat nothin'," he said. "Ever tasted coffee like that?" he asked. "n that's an eight-ounce cup!"

Sam stares right through you when he talks to you. He's confident his place is tops and he believes it even though he doesn't have the fancy decor of a Corky's or a Shakey's.

"I buy choice meat," he said. "100 per cent meat. I don't fool around with nothin' else."

Sam learned his trade from his father, a baker too. Sam was also a mess sergeant in the army in World War I.

"We had the best mess hall in Laredo (Tex.), he recalled. They never had sweet rolls and coffee 'til I got there."

SAM RETIRED from the baking business 30 years ago but, "Two months later I was back in business," he said, claiming he was unable to adjust to the life of a retiree. The restaurant business became his pastime.

"I have more fun here than if I had a big fancy place," he said. "All the money wouldn't replace the fun I get outta this place."

"I talk to my customers. I let 'em feel at home."

Sam's business has a lot to do with his good health, he indicated when asked his secret of a long life.

"Health — that's what money can't buy. But I fooled 'em by stayin' busy," he said.

"Too many old people don't live long after they retire because they got time to think about dying," he said. "Me. I keep busy and don't think about it."

Sam vehemently said he has no plans to retire again.

"WHAT DO YOU want me to do — sit on a bench and die. 'I'm gonna die here. Not on a bench."

Sam doesn't work all year round, however. Arthritis forces him to take off during the winter each year.

"I go to Arizona, Florida, and Aca-pulco. Play a little golf and swim," he said.

If Sam had his life to live over again he said he'd like to get a little more schooling so, "I could go into the selling game."

His third grade education in a Chicago school is the only thing he regrets, he said. In fact, he added he is thinking very seriously about going to night school.

Overall, he said:

"I've had it good." This world don't owe me nothin'. Oh, it was a little rough at times but I'm a lot better off than a lot of people with college educations.

"I wouldn't have had it any other way," he said. "No, I wouldn't do it any other way."

Parks To Be Officially Renamed On Sept. 13

In about a month, if your kids want to play at East Park in Mount Prospect they may tell you they're heading for Sunrise Park.

If they want to watch workmen digging a retention basin at West Park in Mount Prospect, they'll probably tell you they're stopping at Clearwater Park.

And if they plan on taking a bicycle ride through South Park in Des Plaines, they'll really be pedaling over to Friendship Park.

All this is because on Sept. 13, three Mount Prospect Park District parks will be officially renamed. Park district commissioners Monday announced the winners of the district's "Name Your Park" contest, which started in May.

Mount Prospect residents Kathy Swanson, 10, and Richard Egger, 11, selected the winning name for East Park. Lisa Schild, 10, of Des Plaines gave South Park its new name and Frances Fata, 11, was the winner in the West Park contest.

Each of the four youngsters will receive a family year-round swim pass, worth $36. Plaques, which also will be given to the schools they attend, will be presented at the next park board meeting when the parks will officially be re-named.

THE CONTEST was open to all elementary students in the park district. To be eligible for judging, each entry had to include the reason, in 50 words or less, behind the name suggested.

Spoiled Soup Seized

The U.S. Attorney's office Monday seized 48,000 cans of Bon Vivant soup from the warehouse of W. H. Walker and Co. 85 Kelly St., Elk Grove Village.

Bon Vivant soup is reportedly responsible for the death of a New York man. It has been ordered off the market, according to the attorney's office.

The cans seized were buckled, an indication that they contained some contamination, said a member of the U.S. attorney's office.

The soups were prepared in unhygienic conditions and may be injurious to health, the attorney's office said.

The soups include Gazpacho, Green Turtle with Sherry Wine, Cabaret Consomme, Vichyssoise, Clam Madrilene, Tomato Bisque, and some dietetic soups.

They were not for sale in Elk Grove Village.

Erviti Revives Plan To Create Unit Schools

A proposal to create a unit school district in the area including kindergarten through twelfth grade, has been revived by Supt. James Erviti of Elk Grove Township Elementary Dist. 59.

In his first annual report to the board of education, made public this week, Erviti recommends that Dist. 59 join with High School Dist. 214 as a unit school district.

In the report, Erviti adds that other forms of organization may also be studied by the Dist. 59 Board. Some sort of change in district boundaries, Erviti adds, "may be better than existing ones for the purpose of achieving cohesiveness among the people who are the school district's community."

In 1967 Erviti's predecessor, Donald Thomas, publicly suggested creating a unit district out of Elk Grove Township, which would have taken in Dist. 59, parts of Elementary Dists. 25, 15 and 57 and Elk Grove and Forest View high schools.

THAT PROPOSAL was opposed by High School Dist. 214 because the high school district gets more than one third of its assessed value from the Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove Village.

In his report, Erviti who joined the district in July, 1970, after serving as a superintendent in New York, explains that reorganization should be considered for Dist. 59 because the district, spread over four communities, "has no unifying center."

Most school districts, the report says, are formed around one community whose norms shape the public attitude toward the schools. Since Dist. 59 has no such single community "public support of the school district is divided 16 ways — into units loosely formed around each K-5 (elementary) building."

As a result of the fragmentation, he said, the district lacks civic leadership that can rally the public to support tax increases needed by the whole district.

Erviti points out in the report that Dist. 59 has the highest tax base in the area and states, "Its use of that base amounts to a bad joke upon the children and the people who live here. By being unwilling to adjust the tax rate, the people have made the district resort to cliff-hanger deficit financing."

THE REPORT adds, "Some day the residents will realize that they can harness the enormous tax power of the industrial community for their children's benefit only by increasing their own taxes too. For every dollar homeowners pay to the school district, industry adds $1.50, giving the children $2.50 worth of service."

Any creation of a unit district for Dist. 59 would be complicated by the fact that High School Dist. 214 has five other elementary districts which send children to the high schools in Wheeling and Elk Grove townships.

Under state law a petition may be presented to the county superintendent of schools, who could then call a special referendum on unification.

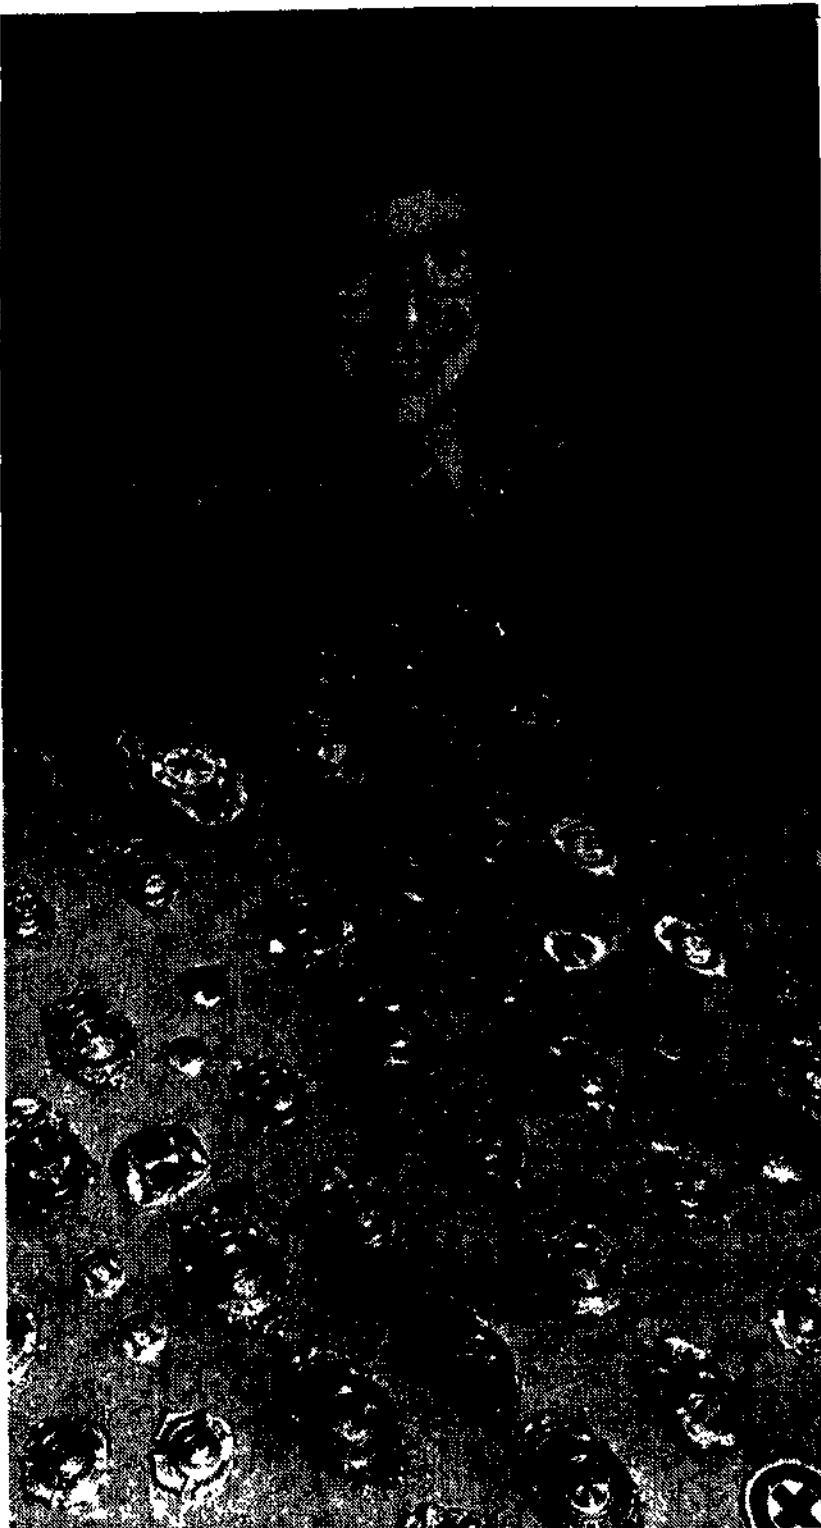

In order to pass, a majority of the voters in all districts or parts of districts to be unified would have to vote in favor of the change.

The annual report was presented to the Dist. 59 board at its meeting Monday night but was not discussed because Erviti is on vacation. Board members indicated the entire report will be discussed later.

Charged With Theft

Two women were arrested and charged Tuesday for shoplifting at Carson Pirie Scott Co. The incident occurred about 10 p.m.

Mount Prospect Police said Julianne V. Weiss, 27, of Niles, and Carole J. Larson, 27, of Chicago, were charged with theft of $343 worth of clothing from the department store. The pair will appear Aug. 17 in Niles Court.

DEANE WALLICK, 15, held up part of the fire badge collection he and his father have gathered, Deane said he hopes to be a fireman some day.

School Budget Includes Raise For Teachers

A tentative budget adopted by the River Trails Dist. 26 School Board includes an increase of $58,500 for teachers' salaries, despite the national wage freeze.

At a meeting Tuesday, Supt. Thomas Warden told the board, "The budget is only a guide. We won't know anything concrete until we know the stipulations of the wage freeze." School officials are waiting for advice from their attorney and the office of the Cook County school superintendent regarding the effect of the freeze on teachers' salaries.

The tentative budget, listing expenditures totaling about $3 million, will be on display at the district office for a month. A public budget hearing will be held at the district office, 1800 East Kensington Rd., Mount Prospect, Sept. 21. The school board plans to approve a final budget at that time.

The teachers' salary figure in the education fund, $1,240,000, is based on the increase the teachers received last year. Mrs. Jean Meister, business supervisor explained, "We added last year's increases to the total salaries the teachers received last year, bringing the total up to $1,218,000. An additional $15,000 for teachers' extra duty payments was added to the total amount along with a $7,000 contingency fund."

THE TEACHERS' salary figure may rise even higher once negotiations between the teachers and the school board are settled. According to members of the school board, the negotiations will resume as soon as the board is contacted by the teachers' negotiating team. The teachers were expected to meet last night to discuss the salary situation.

"If the wage freeze continues through April, we are not to assume we are com-

Aspires To Be Fireman

His Dream May Become Reality

by TOM VON MALDER

Take a boy.

Let him grow up around a fire house. Let him ride the fire engines with his father. Give him a chief's hat that's four sizes smaller than anyone else's. Let the boy smell the smoke. Let his face be lighted by a raging fire.

Naturally, the boy will want to be a fireman when he grows up. And Deane Wallick, 15, of 1102 Ironwood Dr., Mount Prospect, is such a boy.

His father, Donald Wallick, was a member of the Hopkins, Minn. Volunteer Fire Dept. His great uncle was fire commissioner in Omaha, Neb. and Deane was the boy who grew up around the fire station.

"I remember," Deane said, "standing in the fire truck at Christmas time watching them burn the old Christmas trees. Then there were rides in parades each year."

HE SHOWED A picture of a small boy with a white hat standing near the steering wheel of a long hook-and-ladder truck. "That's me," he said. "The hat was made special."

Deane, who will be a sophomore at John Hersey High School in Arlington Heights next fall, said he would like to be a fireman some day. "Maybe just a volunteer. Buy maybe a paid fireman."

Deane is out to get a different education than the one they teach in school and he's doing it on his own. He has two scrapbooks full of pictures of various fire apparatus and reports of fires from all the towns where he has lived. "My grandparents clip out stories of Minneapolis and Hopkins fires for me," Deane said.

Deane reads all the books on fire departments and equipment that he can. "My aim is to learn as much about fire fighting as possible, he said.

Another way Deane has of learning about fire departments is his collection of fire badges. He writes to the different fire agencies around the country, and even overseas, for badges and information.

"My father started the collection," Deane said. He has badges from 34 different departments and about 50 badges in all. He also has about 60 police badges, all collected by his father.

DEANE HAS written to and received badges from the London and Paris fire departments.

"They were quite willing to send them," Deane said. "Some United States fire companies, especially paid departments, often are restricted by ordinances and cannot give out their badges."

He said the Arlington Heights Fire Department has been hesitant about giving a badge because "They said they get two to three requests a month and can't see why anyone would want to collect them."

Deane said he collects badges because his father had and because he enjoys it.

"I've even been made a sort of honorary member of the Minneapolis Fire Department."

It is hard to say now whether Deane will ever fulfill his dream of becoming a fireman but his family ever move back to Minnesota, "I don't know if I'll be able to wait until I'm 21." That is the age when a man can join a volunteer fire department in Minnesota.

300 Dogs Entered In Obedience Trials

More than 300 dogs are entered in the obedience trials to be held Sunday at Prospect High School, 801 W. Kensington Rd., Mount Prospect. The trials are sponsored by the Northwest Obedience Club.

The trials will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday and continue throughout the day. According to a spokesman for the club, the trials will probably end about 6 p.m.

Admission to the annual event is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Part of the proceeds will be donated to the Leader Dog School.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Platt, executive secretary, has urged the state's 116 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 300 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

School Districts Continue Talks

Despite President Richard Nixon's wage-price freeze which has thrown teacher contract negotiations into financial limbo, school districts covering Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights will continue to negotiate.

In River Trails Dist. 26 another negotiations meeting between representatives of the River Trails Education Association (RTEA) and school board members is expected to be held next week, according to Gary Rathgeber, RTEA chairman. However, Rathgeber said Tuesday any raises granted would probably not go into effect until Nov. 15 or whenever Nixon decides to lift the freeze, currently slated for 90 days.

"NIXON'S ORDER freezes wages at last year's level. There will be no raises or increments for Dist. 26 teachers," Rathgeber said. "It's up to the teacher whether the RTEA proposed contract package will increase to compensate for the current freeze." RTEA members were expected to vote on a change at a meeting last night.

Rathgeber pointed out the current contract expires next Wednesday. "I couldn't say how close we are to a settlement," he said. He did say the teachers and board members are closer to a settlement now than they were earlier this summer when they had planned to call in federal mediators.

An uncertainty still exists in the freeze's effect on teachers, policemen and other government employees. The President's Cost of Living Council yesterday was considering the possibility of exempting these groups from the freeze.

A spokesman for the Midwest branch of the Office of Emergency Preparedness said yesterday afternoon she didn't know "when Washington will notify us" about a possible exemption.

"I think the idea of an exemption is good. Whether they allow it or not, we'll see," said David Metzler, teacher negotiator in Mount Prospect School Dist. 57.

Metzler said yesterday he and other members of the teacher bargaining team for the Mount Prospect Education Association (MPEA) will continue to negotiate, as directed by the Illinois Education Association (IEA). Metzler met with IEA officials yesterday.

"I WOULD EXPECT no increment during the freeze," he said. "Technically we would be working under no contract for the 90 days."

Metzler said he and Supt. Eric Sahlborg had agreed to continue negotiations next Monday a day set last week. "Sahlborg told me that by the end of the week, he would be able to tell us what the board's position is after hearing from the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI)," Metzler said. Sahlborg could not be reached yesterday for comment.

"We have every intention of continuing negotiations," said Leo Floros, chairman of the board's negotiating team. "We would hope to settle by Monday or at least reach some kind of agreement."

Floros said he "certainly sympathizes with the teachers' position, and 'they are deserving of the increment.'" However, Floros said, the board will wait for directives from OSPI. "All I know is that we'll do whatever we have to do and hope to continue and complete negotiations," he said. "I don't want to sit on my hands for 90 days."

TEACHERS AND board members have been negotiating since December for a 1971-72 contract, with little progress. According to latest proposals, the MPEA is requesting an approximately 6 per cent living increase for returning teachers. The board has offered a $50 increase plus the yearly pay raise included in the current contract schedule for most returning teachers.

The freeze has affected the possibility of teachers "withholding services" before school starts on Sept. 7, according to Metzler. "The next date we could withhold services is Nov. 15," he said. A Sept. 2 meeting for all MPEA members to decide if they wanted to "withhold services" from a Sept. 3 teacher workshop has been cancelled.

Whether Nixon's freeze will affect already settled raises for teachers in Prospect Heights Dist. 23 has not yet been decided. Dist. 23 officials now say they are waiting for a bulletin from the office of the Cook County School Superintendent to give them guidance as to whether or not to put the raises in effect. Dist. 23 and the Prospect Heights Education Association (PHEA) reached a contract settlement on July 30.

School Budget Includes Raise For Teachers

mitted to spend the amount budgeted for teachers' salaries," said Warden. He explained that the budget sets amounts that may be spent.

Estimated expenditures in the education fund total $2,796,107. Other tentative budget expenditures include $221,761 in the building fund, $88,853 in the transportation fund, $33,077 in the Illinois Municipal Retirement fund, $24,000 in the rent fund, and $2,090,000 in the bond and interest fund.

The district plans to sell tax anticipation warrants (borrowing against expected taxes) to offset a deficit in the education fund. The budget lists a tentative warrant sale of $293,050. The proposed sale is $156,950 under last year's warrant sale.

AT ONE TIME, school officials thought they might have to sell $100,000 in warrants this month. Warden proposed the warrant sale two weeks ago to offset a money shortage that was expected to arise because of late tax receipts. The county mailed out tax bills two months later than usual, resulting in a slow flow of incoming taxes. At that time Warden said the district might be $100,000 short of cash by September.

However, Tuesday Warden told the board he was advised by Ray Johnston, president of the First National Bank of Mount Prospect, to hold up on the warrant sale. Warden indicated the money shortage is not as serious as originally expected and advised that the board take a "wait and see" stance.

During the past fiscal year, the district sold $450,000 in warrants, which equaled 55 per cent of the district's assessed valuation. Expenditures in the education fund totaled $2,348,465 last year.

It's 'Fox Lake Or Bust' By Unicycle

by KURT BAER

Fox Lake or Bust!

This might well have been the motto of Jim Amling, 18, who yesterday set out to ride his unicycle from Niles to Fox Lake, a distance of about 50 miles.

The trip, which took him through Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine along Northwest Highway, was planned to publicize Teens Against Dystrophy — a volunteer organization of young people who aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Jim, who learned to ride the one-wheeled, direct-drive cycle two years ago behind his father's bicycle shop in Niles, estimated the trip would take him about 10 hours, arriving in Fox Lake about 7 p.m. last night.

"Uphill or downhill, there's really no difference in the pedalling," Jim said as he stopped for a mileage check at the corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE SMALL odometer next to the wheel read 14.1 miles — two hours pedalling time from the corner of Dempster Street and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, the boys starting point about 8:30 yesterday morning, to Arlington Heights.

The young cyclist picked up a police escort to protect him from traffic along the busy highway.

"The police have been really great," he said. "At each (village) boundary there's been a car waiting to escort me through town."

Teens Against Dystrophy, which currently has chapters in Maine, Niles and Lake Forest townships, assists in both research and patient care programs against dystrophy. The organization has plans to open new chapters in Island Lake and New Trier Township.

Jim said his father had donated the Schwinn-built unicycle for the 50-mile expedition.

"It's really not nearly as difficult or four-and-a-half foot high cycle. "Because uncomfortable to ride as it looks," Jim remarked after dismounting from the it's direct-drive (rather than chain-driven as bicycles are) pedalling and braking are surprisingly easy."

Though undaunted by the 36 miles of highway that lay in front of him, Jim did admit to one minor irritation.

"My bottom sure gets sore," he said reaching for a can of medicated powder one of his supporters had brought with him. "Excuse me while I take a powder break."

From The Library

by LAURIE ROSSI

There's a new batch of 8 mm. films at the Mount Prospect Library now, in addition to the others you've been borrowing so regularly. If you're a Buster Keaton fan you'll enjoy all 600 feet of "The General" written and directed by him, and is considered his best. This comedy was created out of true episode from American history. It's about the famous Civil War locomotive and is rated in the top 50 to 75 silent features. Keaton also stars with Virginia Fox in "The Blacksmith," based on a poem by Longfellow.

Another comedy is "The Cannon Ball," starring Chester Conklin who plays an explosives expert visiting the Boom Powder Factory to inspect operations.

Laurel and Hardy lovers will have to line up for the four new films of theirs. Their adventures will take you through a dentist's office, city traffic, the circus, Ollie's roof, and Mrs. Culpepper's snobbish dinner party — while Laurel and Hardy spread pandemonium and leave total and hilarious destruction in their wake.

There's more laughter in store when Harold Lloyd, Bebe Daniels, and Smub Pollard board a boat for Bermuda in "All Aboard." Harold, unlucky with the girls, finally ties the knot in "Haunted Spooks." His newly wedded wife, Hillary, comes with an inheritance, a haunted house. See for yourself what happens when they move in.

After a long list of comedies, the final addition to the library's film collection is "All Island Hawaiian Cruise," a travel film taking its viewers from San Francisco to Diamond Head, and back again, aboard the SS Lurline. You'll enjoy every scenic moment of this pleasure cruise.

Hersey Band Wins Trophy

The John Hersey High School band brought back the five-foot-high Mayor Daley trophy from parade competition Monday and is going to Springfield this weekend to compete for the "Governor's trophy."

Monday the band marched in the "King Neptune" parade in Chicago and won the Mayor Daley trophy and $500. The awards were presented to the band in front of the Chicago Civic Center where the band held a concert following the parade.

The band will perform in another concert at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield Saturday. The state high school competition is divided into five classifications. The first place winners in each classification will compete for the "Governor's Trophy."

Band Director Donald Caneva said the band will use its $500 prize money to help pay for transportation costs to Springfield.

What's Fate Of Hasbrook Pond? Meeting Sept. 1

Residents who live around Hasbrook Pond will have an opportunity to voice their opinions on what, if anything, should be done with the controversial landmark at the next meeting of the Environmental Control Commission (ECC), now set for Sept. 1.

Commission members made an inspection tour of the pond last night, and heard Village Engineer Allen Sandler explain that, from an engineering standpoint, the retention basin "operates beautifully."

Several residents who live in Hasbrook subdivision, however, were critical of the pond, calling it an eyesore, safety hazard and sanctuary for breeding mosquitoes. Sandler told the commission that water in the pond is three to five feet deep, with about five feet of muck below that.

The shallowness of the basin water has led to a thick growth of green algae on the surface.

SANDER ESTIMATED that it could cost as much as $25,000 to have the pond dredged to a depth that would both reduce the algae concentration and protect fish during the winter should the pond be stocked with small game fish.

He told the commission that a proposed dry, or detention basin would, in times of heavy rain, collect water on the surface that would not drain away for several days.

The village has bids of $60,000 to dredge and fill the pond to create such a detention basin.

"Basically, both basins do the same thing equally well," Sander said. "It's a question of whether you want dirt or water here."

A group of Hasbrook children have asked the village to preserve the one-acre pond as a wildlife refuge. The Environmental Control Commission has been asked to make a recommendation to the village board on what should be done at the site by Oct. 1.

ECC CHAIRMAN Edward Kokkelenberg said he thought the commission needed more information on alternatives to filling in the basin before it could make a recommendation.

"We have a rather complete report on the cost of creating a detention basin, but we do not really have much more than a few rough figures on the cost of the conservation approach," he said.

In addition to dredging the pond to deepen it, the commission agreed to investigate the cost of installing an aerator to circulate the water.

An aeration system, similar in principle to that used in aquariums, could reduce the stagnant smell that some residents have complained comes from the basin.

The ECC also voted to ask the legal committee of the village board to turn over material on a proposed ordinance that would ban the sale and use of phosphate detergents in the village.

The legal committee has held up action on the proposal pending the outcome of a similar bill now before the Illinois Senate.

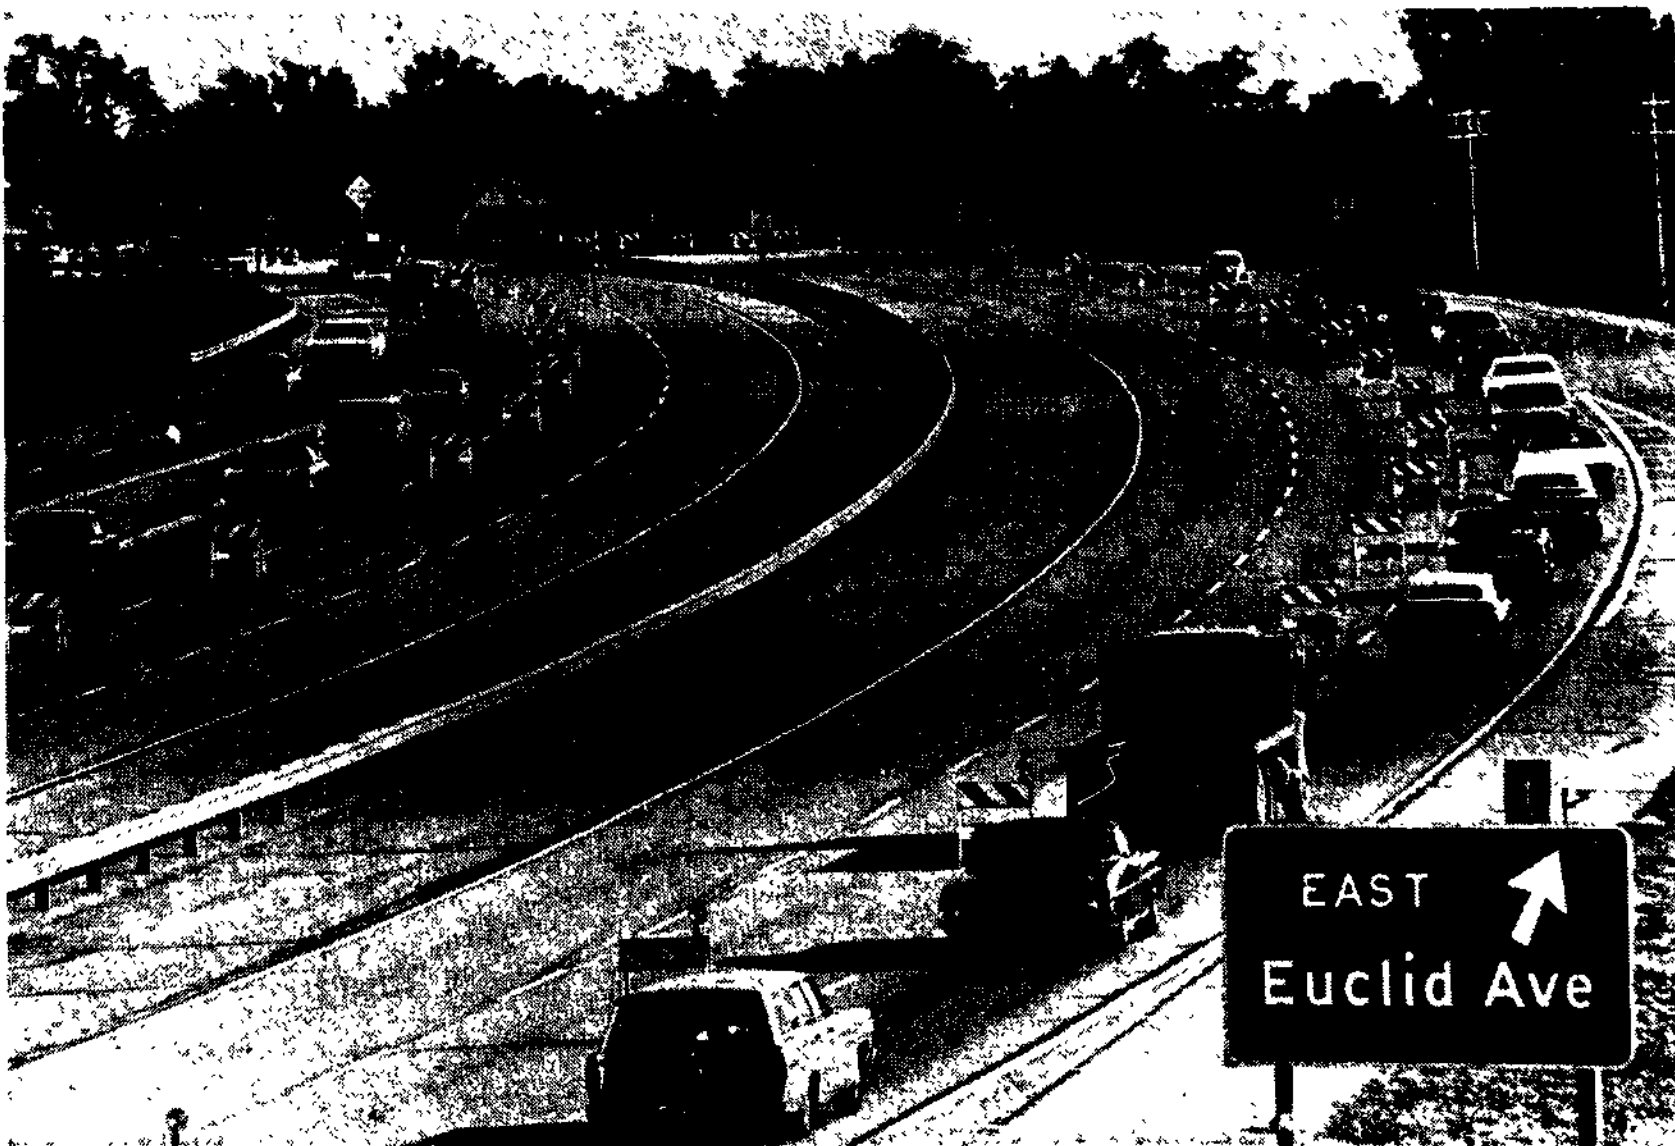

The measure was proposed here in January by Mrs. John Macko, now an ECC member.

Helicopter Traffic Over Village To End

Several smaller, lower flying whirlybirds have added to the normal flow of jet air traffic over Arlington Heights in the last few days, but will come to an end this weekend.

A spokesman for the Arlington Heights Nike Missile Base, 45th Artillery Brigade, said the increased amount of helicopter traffic over Arlington Heights and other nearby communities resulted from the 12th Special Forces, a reserve unit, practicing standard aerial maneuvers during their two-week stay at the base.

The spokesman said the two-week training period will end Monday.

BLOCKADES ON RTE. 53 north of Algonquin Road to Dundee Road which cut traffic flow to just one lane each way will remain up until Oct. 8. Many motorists may be thinking the state division of highways put the blockades up too soon since workmen haven't been seen in the area. But department officials said work will be done on nine bridges of the road. Traffic is confined to one lane so the work can be completed sooner, according to the officials.

Committee Is Working On Ordinance

Village May Post Signs On Peddling

There may soon be signs posted at the village limits which read: "Solicitors and Peddlers Must Be Licensed And Registered. Apply At Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Road."

That was part of the village's latest proposal to regulate solicitors and peddlers, a proposal the village board's legal committee reviewed Tuesday night.

But the committee is having a difficult time selling themselves on any one suitable solicitor's ordinance. This week the committee once again deferred action on a proposed regulation, although members came closer to agreement than they have at several other meetings.

The newest ordinance is a more lenient variation of the committee's original proposal, which set tight guidelines for licensing and registration, including fingerprinting.

After meeting with sales representatives and residents, the committee dropped the fingerprinting requirement and developed the rough draft which was examined Tuesday.

Close to 40 salesmen attended Tuesday's meeting, some local residents working as salesmen part time, others representing the Washington, D.C. office of the Direct Selling Association. THEIR COMMENTS, plus the committee's own reservations about the legal wording of certain portions of the ordinance, caused the committee to have Village Atty. Jack Siegel rework portions of the draft and resubmit it to the committee for a final recommendation on Aug. 31.

The most important addition to the ordinance is a provision for the Arlington Heights resident to post his property with a sign reading "No Solicitors or Peddlers Invited." The signs, if approved, will be furnished by the village upon request.

Other portions of the ordinance call for a license, an application form to identify solicitors and their firms, an investigative questionnaire examining the background of an individual or his company and a provision outlawing fraud.

The ordinance also limits solicitation to from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., except for the solicitors who, through an advance appointment, have been invited to the home of a prospective customer.

For any violation of the ordinance the proposed law provides for revocation of license and a fine of from $100 to $500.

The licensing and registration fee is still being debated. To date, a $10 fee is proposed for individuals, and $100 fee for salesmen using a vehicle in the line of work, such as an ice cream truck.

ALBERT BARCOMB, vice president of the Direct Selling Association in Washington, D.C., expressed a consensus of the speakers' opinions Tuesday night. He urged the board to drop the ordinance, but retain the clause allowing residents to post their property with "no solicitors" signs.

He suggested that this clause, in addition to existing state laws regulating deceptive practice and allowing for a three-day cancellation period of any sales contract, commonly called "the cooling off period law," would be sufficient.

He felt the local ordinance would be a duplication of existing statutes, adding that the Direct Selling Association "agrees with your intent to curb harassment, deception and fraud, but not your method."

Committeemen such as Frank Palmatier maintained that the proposal "was a sound document" and that it would not duplicate any laws on a local level, because, there is currently no ordinance in Arlington Heights regulating solicitation.

It is expected that the ordinance will be presented for final adoption by the village board Oct. 4.

Meetings This Week

Thursday, Aug. 19
The committee on low and moderate income housing will meet at 8 p.m. in the Arlington Heights Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Platt, executive secretary, has urged the state's 116 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 200 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

The Market

Wall Street's roaring stock market expressed confidence with profit taking which knocked off one-third of the market's rise in the previous two sessions. After soaring nearly 44 points during the week's first two sessions, the Dow Jones Average plummeted 13.73 to 886.17. Declines piled up a 1,062 to 407 advantage over gains. Turnover slipped to 20,680,000 shares compared with 28,790,000 the previous day. Prices eased in moderately active trading on the American Exchange. Turnover was 4,660,000 shares, down from 6,490,000 the day before.

Drug Problem Is So Frustrating

by BARRY SIGALE

A friend of mine, an outstanding athlete in high school, recently set a world's "speed" record.

No, he didn't run the 100-yard dash in less than nine seconds. He didn't pole vault over 18 feet. He didn't even hit four home runs in a single baseball game.

He was killed by an overdose of "speed."

My friend certainly wasn't the first person to suffer the ultimate reaction to an overdose of drugs. And he won't be the last.

There are stories every day which point up the agonizing frustrations that families go through when their sons or daughters become victims of drug abuse.

Stories like the one a few years ago when a dozen teenagers each shot peanut butter in their veins because they were told they would get a "better high" from it. They all died.

Stories like the one about the joke played on an area youth when a group of his "friends" gave him seven tablets of LSD, telling him it wasn't harmful. The boy freaked out, went on a permanent LSD trip and now just sits around, doing nothing. He is what they call, a "vegetable."

Or stories like the two last week in which a Wheeling teenager was found lying in the road, a victim of an overdose of drugs, and who was barely saved from death in the emergency room of Holy Family Hospital, and the tragic death of a 17-year-old Arlington Heights youth because he abused drugs.

THE DRUG PROBLEM is one of many social "diseases" enveloping our country. It ruins a man, like alcohol used to do before drugs became the "in" way to escape the realities and truths of everyday life.

What some people are crying out, mainly the young adults of America, is that "people problems" should be attacked with more fervor and spirit.

Local residents have spoken out. Most recent to speak out was Philip Vittore, an Arlington Heights resident, who pleaded with the board of trustees Monday night to pay more attention to the people problems in order to help human beings live a better life.

It isn't that the village board is neglecting these issues, as Vittore's remarks might have implied. It's just that officials and organizations have been frustrated in their attempts to accomplish their goals and what they have accomplished has taken a long time.

They have been able to solve the problems of a few, but haven't come up with the answers for the many. But at least they've made a start.

Erviti Revives Plan For Unit School System

A proposal to create a unit school district in the area including kindergarten through twelfth grade, has been revived by Supt. James Erviti of Elk Grove Township Elementary Dist. 59.

In his first annual report to the board of education, made public this week, Erviti recommends that Dist. 59 join with High School Dist. 214 as a unit school district.

In the report, Erviti adds that other forms of organization may also be studied by the Dist. 59 Board. Some sort of change in district boundaries, Erviti adds, "may be better than existing ones for the purpose of achieving cohesiveness among the people who are the school district's community."

In 1967 Erviti's predecessor, Donald Thomas, publicly suggested creating a unit district out of Elk Grove Township, which would have taken in Dist. 59, parts of Elementary Dist. 25, 15 and 57 and Elk Grove and Forest View high schools.

THAT PROPOSAL was opposed by High School Dist. 214 because the high school district gets more than one third of its assessed value from the Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove Village.

In his report, Erviti who joined the district in July, 1970, after serving as a superintendent in New York, explains that reorganization should be considered for Dist. 59 because the district, spread over four communities, "has no unifying center."

Most school districts, the report says, are formed around one community whose norms shape the public attitude toward the schools. Since Dist. 59 has no such single community "public support of the school district is divided 16 ways — into units loosely formed around each K-5 (elementary) building."

As a result of the fragmentation he said, the district lacks civic leadership that can rally the public to support tax increases needed by the whole district.

Erviti points out in the report that Dist. 59 has the highest tax base in the area and states, "Its use of that base amounts to a bad joke upon the children and the people who live here. By being unwilling to adjust the tax rate, the people have made the district resort to cliff-hanger deficit financing."

THE REPORT adds, "Some day the residents will realize that they can harness the enormous tax power of the industrial community for their children's benefit only by increasing their own taxes too. For every dollar homeowners pay to the school district, industry adds $1.50, giving the children $2.50 worth of service."

Any creation of a unit district for Dist. 59 would be complicated by the fact that High School Dist. 214 has five other elementary districts which send children to the high schools in Wheeling and Elk Grove townships.

Under state law a petition may be present to the county superintendent of schools, who could then call a special referendum on unification.

In order to pass, a majority of the voters in all districts or parts of districts to be unified would have to vote in favor of the change.

The annual report was presented to the Dist. 59 board at its meeting Monday night but was not discussed because Erviti is on vacation. Board members indicated the entire report will be discussed later.

'Fail-Safe' Power System Fails At Woodfield Mall

When Woodfield Mall was proposed in Schaumburg several years ago, an independent generating system for electricity was considered, but Commonwealth Edison assured the retail center would never be without electricity.

"The improbable of the improbable" happened Monday, said Paul Parker, Commonwealth Edison district superintendent, when Woodfield and 30,000 Northwest suburban homes went without electricity for a short period.

The incident took place in the morning when the arm of a construction crane became entangled in both the main and auxiliary lines serving Woodfield.

"We do statistical studies and the probability of both lines going out is minuscule," Parker said.

Normally, if one line went out the other would click in with the only noticeable difference being a "blink," Parker said.

But, Parker attributed Monday's incident to "Murphy's Law" which says if anything can possibly go wrong it will.

To offset the possibility of another power failure Commonwealth Edison has plans for a third line coming from the west to serve as a safeguard should the two lines now available ever go out again.

With the rapid growth of the Schaumburg area, however, the power line can't be connected overnight, he added.

Soup Seized From Warehouse

The U.S. Attorney's office Monday seized 48,000 cans of Bon Vivant soup from the warehouse of W. H. Walker and Co. 85 Kelly St., Elk Grove Village.

Bon Vivant soup is reportedly responsible for the death of a New York man. It has been ordered off the market, according to the attorney's office.

The cans seized were buckled, an indication that they contained some contamination, said a member of the U.S. attorney's office.

The soups were prepared in unhygienic conditions and may be injurious to health, the attorney's office said.

The soups include Gazpacho, Green Turtle with Sherry Wine, Cabaret Consomme, Vichyssoise, Clam Madrilene, Tomato Bisque, and some dietetic soups.

They were not for sale in Elk Grove Village.

Erviti Revives Plan To Create Unit Schools

A proposal to create a unit school district in the area including kindergarten through twelfth grade, has been revived by Supt. James Erviti of Elk Grove Township Elementary Dist. 59.

In his first annual report to the board of education, made public this week, Erviti recommends that Dist. 59 join with High School Dist. 214 as a unit school district.

In the report, Erviti adds that other forms of organization may also be studied by the Dist. 59 Board. Some sort of change in district boundaries, Erviti adds, "may be better than existing ones for the purpose of achieving cohesiveness among the people who are the school district's community."

In 1967 Erviti's predecessor, Donald Thomas, publicly suggested creating a unit district out of Elk Grove Township, which would have taken in Dist. 59, parts of Elementary Dists. 25, 15 and 57 and Elk Grove and Forest View high schools.

THAT PROPOSAL was opposed by High School Dist. 214 because the high school district gets more than one third of its assessed value from the Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove Village.

In his report, Erviti who joined the district in July, 1970, after serving as a superintendent in New York, explains that reorganization should be considered for Dist. 59 because the district, spread over four communities, "has no unifying center."

Most school districts, the report says, are formed around one community whose norms shape the public attitude toward the schools. Since Dist. 59 has no such single community "public support of the school district is divided 16 ways — into units loosely formed around each K-5 (elementary) building."

As a result of the fragmentation, he said, the district lacks civic leadership that can rally the public to support tax increases needed by the whole district.

Erviti points out in the report that Dist. 59 has the highest tax base in the area and states, "Its use of that base amounts to a bad joke upon the children and the people who live here. By being unwilling to adjust the tax rate, the people have made the district resort to cliff-hanger deficit financing."

THE REPORT adds, "Some day the residents will realize that they can harness the enormous tax power of the industrial community for their children's benefit only by increasing their own taxes too. For every dollar homeowners pay to the school district, industry adds $1.50, giving the children $2.50 worth of service."

Any creation of a unit district for Dist. 59 would be complicated by the fact that High School Dist. 214 has five other elementary districts which send children to the high schools in Wheeling and Elk Grove townships.

Under state law a petition may be presented to the county superintendent of schools, who could then call a special referendum on unification.

In order to pass, a majority of the voters in all districts or parts of districts to be unified would have to vote in favor of the change.

The annual report was presented to the Dist. 59 board at its meeting Monday night but was not discussed because Erviti is on vacation. Board members indicated the entire report will be discussed later.

Burglary Reported

More than $800 in electronic equipment and cash reportedly were stolen when burglars raided a Des Plaines home sometime Tuesday night.

Des Plaines police said the break-in occurred between 5:30 p.m. and 10:15 p.m., Tuesday at the home of Tony Bujan, 407 Graceland Ave., while Bujan was away from home.

Police said the burglars entered the house after they apparently kicked in a basement door.

Among the items stolen Bujan listed a portable television set, worth $100; an amplifier and tuner, worth $400; a turntable, valued at $129; and $200 in cash.

YOUNGSTERS, ABOVE, search for that proverbial needle in the haystack. At right, counselor Sandy Quillen gets it "socked it to him" with a wet sponge. The youngsters and Quillen attended a recent carnival conducted by and for children involved in the Mount Prospect Park District playground program. More than 200 Mount Prospect and Des Plaines children participated in the carnival held at Lions Recreation Center, 411 S. Maple St., Mount Prospect.

Committee To Hear State Official

At least one spokesman for the Illinois Employment Service (IES) will testify Aug. 25 before a special Des Plaines City Council committee investigating misuse of antipoverty funds in a city summer job program.

However, no decision has been made yet whether the Cook County Office of Economic Opportunity (CCOEO) will provide records or send representatives to the investigation hearing, the CCOEO said yesterday.

Members of the special committee indicated Tuesday they will seek testimony from E. F. Callaway, manager of the local IES office, 601 Lee, Des Plaines, and from Clyde Brooks, head of the CCOEO program through which funds were distributed, and from any other IES or CCOEO employee who handled the application forms.

The special committee, appointed last Monday, was authorized by the council to find out how five ineligible youths, four of them sons of city officials or former officials, were approved for antipoverty jobs.

Ald. Robert Sherwood (2nd) chairman of the committee, told the Herald yesterday that the two main questions the committee hopes to answer are "the chronological order in which the city became involved" in the CCOEO program, and "how and by whom" the income statements on the applications were filled out. The statements indicate that the families of the five youths earned incomes below the federal anti-poverty level, but the parents have said they were told to leave out the income figures.

Chris Walton, assistant to the administrator of the IES bureau of the employment security, yesterday said Steven Corman, IES public information officer, will testify at the hearing next Wednesday.

"IT'S FINE IF they invite all these people but probably the man who will speak for all of them is Mr. Corman," said Walton, who did not indicate whether Callaway or other local IES employees would testify if asked specifically by the special committee.

The IES office in Des Plaines is the local representative for the CCOEO program. It solicited applicants for the CCOEO program, in which the five teens received $37 a week in federal funds as part of their wages for summer jobs with the city of Des Plaines. The city paid the remainder of their salaries.

Callaway has told the Herald he would "neither confirm or deny" that someone at his office filled in sections of the applications concerning family income.

Charles Hughes, director of CCOEO told the Herald yesterday that he and Brooks will decide if a CCOEO spokesman would testify after they receive official notice from the investigating committee.

THE CCOEO CUT off the funds, then demanded repayment after its investigation indicated that the parents of the youths have yearly incomes above the federal poverty level. The CCOEO said the youths became eligible through a misunderstanding, rather than through intent to defraud.

The CCOEO has also said it is satisfied with the IES actions and that the CCOEO feels the IES sufficiently explained to City of Des Plaines officials that the program was only for poverty-stricken youngsters. City officials deny being told the program was only for poor teenagers.

Ald. Sherwood said his committee has no power to require anyone to testify at the committee hearings. Sworn testimony will be recorded, and findings will be presented to the city council and other agencies, he said.

This Morning In Brief

The State

President Nixon, standing in the capitol chamber which Abraham Lincoln made historic, warned that anyone who interprets his new economic policies as an attempt to "erect a wall round this country" would be "making a very grave error." Nixon recalled both the words and spirit of Lincoln in declaring the United States "is the only nation in the world to provide leadership to build a world with peaceful competition."

The head of the Illinois Education Association, Dr. Curtis Platt, executive secretary, has urged the state's 116 school boards which still have unsettled teacher contracts to proceed vigorously with negotiations in spite of the wage and price freeze.

A three-judge federal panel in Chicago, charged with reapportioning the state's 24 congressional districts, has refused a request to extend the deadline for submitting proposed maps.

Apollo 15 Astronauts David Scott, Alfred Worden and James Irwin have accepted an invitation to visit Chicago Sept. 15, according to Mayor Daley's office.

The War

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hammered suspected Communist positions inside the Demilitarized Zone, supporting South Vietnamese troops who recaptured a base south of the buffer strip in a fierce battle that left more than 300 dead and wounded.

The World

A U.S. Army helicopter, carrying 37 American soldiers exploded and plunged nearly 1,000 feet into a field near the Berlin-Munich autobahn killing all aboard. It was the worst helicopter crash on record involving U.S. troops in Europe.

The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria met in Damascus to complete plans for linking the three Arab nations closer militarily and economically in a federation basically aligned against Israel.

The Nation

The head of the United Auto Workers says the UAW will consider its contracts with the nation's carmakers null and void if President Nixon extends his wage-price freeze past 90 days. UAW President Leonard Woodcock said the freeze was "grossly discriminatory against workers" and that it would have little or no effect on the high unemployment level. He said it "reflects a perverse order of priorities."

The Market

Wall Street's roaring stock market express collided with profit taking which knocked off one-third of the market's rise in the previous two sessions. After soaring nearly 44 points during the week's first two sessions, the Dow Jones Average plummeted 13.73 to 886.17. Declines piled up a 1,062 to 407 advantage over gains. Turnover slipped to 20,680,000 shares compared with 26,790,000 the previous day. Prices eased in moderately active trading on the American Exchange. Turnover was 4,660,000 shares, down from 6,490,000 the day before.

Only 36 more miles to go!

It's 'Fox Lake Or Bust' As Unicyclist Pedals Off

by KURT BAER

Fox Lake or Bust!
This might well have been the motto of Jim Ameling, 18, who yesterday set out to ride his unicycle from Niles to Fox Lake, a distance of about 80 miles.

The trip, which took him through Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine along Northwest Highway, was planned to publicize Teens Against Dystrophy — a volunteer organization of young people who aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Jim, who learned to ride the one-wheeled, direct-drive cycle two years ago behind his father's bicycle shop in Niles, estimated the trip would take him about 10 hours, arriving in Fox Lake about 7 p.m. last night.

"Uphill or downhill, there's really no difference in the pedalling," Jim said as he stopped for a mileage check at the corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

THE SMALL odometer next to the wheel read 14.1 miles — two hours pedalling time from the corner of Dempster Street and Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, the boys starting point about 8:30 yesterday morning, to Arlington Heights.

The young cyclist picked up a police escort to protect him from traffic along the busy highway.

"The police have been really great," he said. "At each (village) boundary there's been a car waiting to escort me through town."

Teens Against Dystrophy, which currently has chapters in Maine, Niles and Lake Forest townships, assists in both research and patient care programs against dystrophy. The organization has plans to open new chapters in Island Lake and New Trier Township.

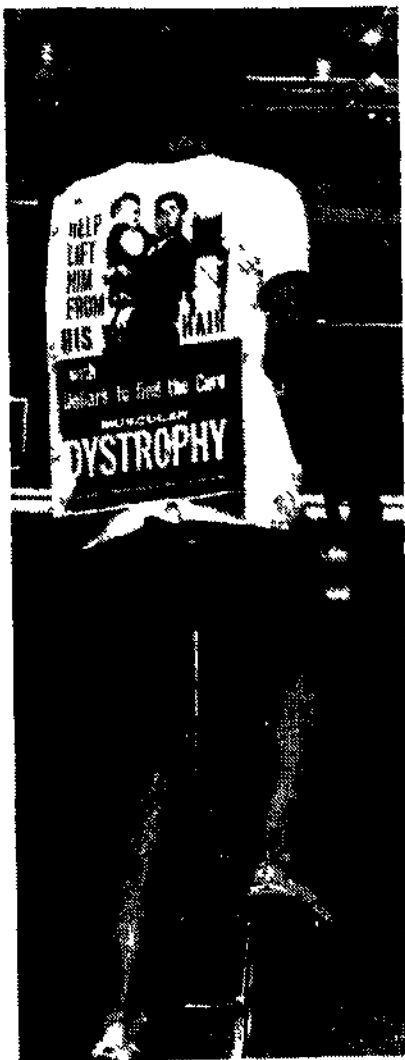

Jim said his father had donated the Schwinn-built unicycle for the 50-mile expedition.

"It's really not nearly as difficult or four-and-a-half foot high cycle. 'Because uncomfortable to ride as it looks,' Jim remarked after dismounting from the it's direct-drive (rather than chain-driven as bicycles are) pedalling and braking are surprisingly easy."

Though undaunted by the 36 miles of highway that lay in front of him, Jim did admit to one minor irritation.

"My bottom sure gets sore," he said reaching for a can of medicated powder one of his supporters had brought with him "Excuse me while I take a powder break."

Fighting traffic, dystrophy.

National Group Honors Our City

City Comptroller Duane Biletz, and the City of Des Plaines have been honored by a national group for maintaining high accounting and financial standards.

The Municipal Finance Officers Association (MFOA), a 3,000 member organization, has presented Des Plaines with a "Certificate of Conformance" for the city's "excellent" yearly financial report, and for Biletz's use of standards established by the MFOA.

Only 300 cities nationwide and in Canada have received this honor from the MFOA in the last 20 years, according to MFOA executive director, Donald Beatty.

The MFOA is affiliated with the American Institute of Public Accountants, the National League of Cities, the International City Management Association, and the National Association of County Officials. Beatty told the Herald Beatty praised Biletz for being a "fine financial officer" and congratulated Biletz by letter for his "notable achievement."

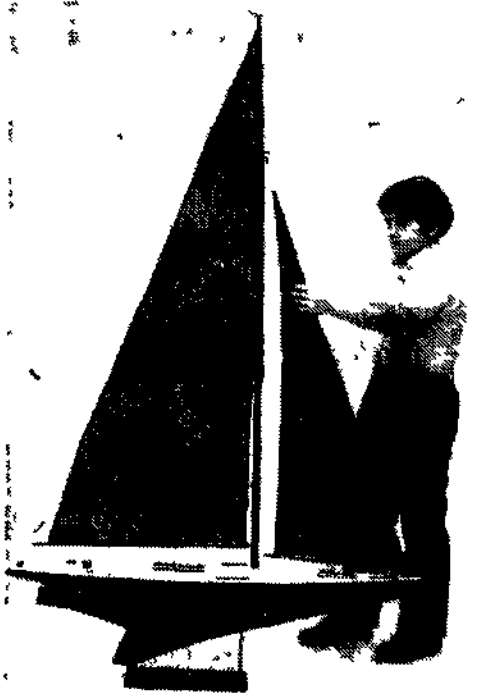

Biletz has served as comptroller since November, 1964. He is a certified public accountant and also serves as treasurer for the Des Plaines Park District, and the Des Plaines Historical Society.

Harper Hikes Tuition $2 Per Hour

A tuition increase of $2 per semester hour was approved last Thursday night by the Harper College Board of Trustees.

The $12 per semester hour fee was recommended by the budget committee as a means to replace funds lost when Governor Ogilvie reduced community college appropriations.

The cut in state aid from $730 million to $673 million forced the board to either cut the proposed 1971-72 budget $460,000 or find some way to raise the money through a tuition increase, a levy referendum this fall, or tax anticipation warrants.

According to board member Jessalyn Nicklas, the budget committee felt a tuition increase was the best alternative.

"The development of new programs has been cut down to almost nothing," said Harper President Robert Lahti. "We felt if we cut costs any more, we would be cutting out curriculum and services."

The committee attempted to set an increase that would be low cost yet tide the college over until next year, Mrs. Nicklas said.

"We'll see if we can avoid a referendum. We're hoping state aid, the low tuition increase and the chargebacks will bail us out for another year," said Lahti. The board agreed to the tuition increase after approving the budget for the 1971-72 fiscal year.

THE BUDGET FOR fiscal 1971-72 will total almost $6.5 million. In addition, the board will levy a total of $5.15 million in local taxes for the Education Fund and past building projects.

The education fund budget increased by 17 per cent. In a letter of transmittal to the board of trustees, Lahti attributed the increase to higher enrollment and inflationary pressures requiring increases in salaries and additional supportive services and supplies.

THE MAINTENANCE and operation (building) fund increased 34 per cent over last year's budget. According to Lahti, the increase is the result of a larger staff and higher salaries and benefits.

The college may have to use tax anticipation warrants to meet budget obligations, Lahti said, because of the delay in receiving tax income and the uncertainty of receiving reimbursement for vocational-educational programs and chargeback revenue.

Authorize Study Of Water System

A study will be made to determine what Des Plaines can do to improve its water pumping system, which has not provided adequate water pressure during periods of high use in dry weather, according to City Engineer Robert Bowen.

The city council Monday authorized a $11,200 study of the city water system by Carl F. Buettner and Associates, consulting engineers of St. Louis, on the recommendation of Bowen and the council's water committee.

In his report to the council, Bowen said the city has "experienced problems of transmitting water through the transmission system," particularly in extreme dry weather periods.

He also reported that two elevated water tanks have not been operating correctly.

"We particularly experienced problems at the Holy Family (Hospital) elevated tank, and on several occasions, the tank, during peak flows, was completely empty," he stated.

"The million gallon elevated tank . . . located at Howard Street and Mannheim Road does not operate as an elevated tank should operate. In fact, the elevated tank does not operate at all."

"A detailed analysis of the entire system is necessary, in our opinion, because of the age of many of the existing water mains throughout the city," Bowen stated.

Bowen told the Herald that many water mains still being used were constructed before 1900, and mineral deposits have built up around the inside pipes, causing a decrease in the water flow.

The report will help show how future extensions of the water system should be designed, Bowen said. It will also help his department determine where new mains are needed, he said.

The engineering department is now designing a new water main to be placed Pearson Street, from Miner Street to River Road, to improve water supply capacity to downtown businesses and the fire department, Bowen reported.

Attorneys Investigate Teacher Salary Contracts

Administrators in both High School Dist. 211 and 214 are waiting for word from their attorney and State Supt. Bakalis' office on teacher salaries for the 1971-72 school year. Teachers in Dist. 211 settled their contracts in May. Dist. 214 teachers are still negotiating and have gone to a fact-finding procedure to settle disagreement with the board negotiating team on salary.

"This is a difficult dilemma. We want to cooperate with the spirit of what the President is doing, but we also have to find out if we are bound by the contracts we have issued," Richard Kolze, Dist. 211 superintendent, said.

Dist. 211 has 442 teachers for opening day of classes Aug. 30.

In Dist. 214, where school will open Sept. 7, contracts have not been issued because negotiations have not been completed.

"We are waiting to receive more information from the state office," Steve Berry, assistant to the superintendent, said.

Berry said the district is interested in knowing whether teachers will go on the next experience step on last year's schedule or must wait until the freeze is lifted to receive any salary increases.

HOME GROWN vegetables and fruits have brought Northwest suburban residents out to those summertime agricultural oases, the roadside stands. Other residents, however, have complained about the traffic jams created by some of the stands.

'Homegrown' Is Just That

That "homegrown" sign you see on roadside stands selling fresh fruits and vegetables in Northwest Cook County may shortly mean exactly what it says.

William Harris, Cook County Building commissioner announced Friday that his department was going to enforce Cook County ordinances against the policies of some roadside stands in unincorporated Cook County.

Harris said his office will crack down on stands that sell produce and other goods not grown on the property.

Further, he said, the law prohibits stands that have considerable inside shelter space for customers.

Harris announced this action after his office received several complaints about large roadside stands.

He has conferred with George Dunne, county board president, and Gordon Fox, Cook County Farm Bureau executive secretary, on the matter.

HARRIS SAID complaints have come from persons upset about the traffic and long hours at some stands. After researching the problem, the commissioner found the law defines stands as "for the display and sale of agricultural products with no space for customers inside the structure itself."

He added that the law states stands are permitted in all residential zoned areas as long as the "principal use of the land is agricultural."

"We're not trying to arrest the farmers who are legitimately trying to sell their produce," he emphasized.

Harris said he does not plan to crack down immediately on all farmers with illegal stands. Rather, he said, Fox would notify persons who own stands about the new enforcement.

He indicated, however, that his department may start legal action against stands that have been the subject of complaints. He said his 12 district inspectors have been notified about the situation and told they might receive more complaints about the problem.

Fox was out of town Friday and could not be reached for comment. Harris said Fox understood the problem and the building department's point of view.

HARRIS SAID that sometimes advertising roadside stands might violate the law. The larger a stand becomes, the more questions are raised about licensing and sales tax collection, he said.

However, he said the enforcement would not be directed at stands in towns or villages, nor would it be directed against businesses in areas zoned for business use.

Issue Cease, Desist Order Against Koscot

A cease and desist order was issued Monday in the Circuit Court of Cook County to block a Florida-based firm from selling distributorships for the sale of mink oil cosmetics in Illinois.

Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott announced the order, after his attorneys had conferred with attorneys representing Koscot Interplanetary Inc., which has been scheduled to face a contempt of court hearing yesterday morning.

The petition orders Koscot's officers, directors, agents and employees to stop selling any further distributorships of subdistributorships in Illinois.

On May 7, Cook County Circuit Court Judge Herbert C. Paschen entered a final judgment and injunction ordering Koscot to correct violations in its sales program.

Scott's attorneys reported, after attending Koscot sales meetings in Cook, Champaign, Rockford and Sangamon counties, between July 7 and Aug. 4, that Koscot was not complying with the injunction.

Thus, Scott filed the contempt of court petition in Paschen's court. The hearing on it was originally scheduled for Monday, but Judge Paschen continued the hearing for 24 hours to allow attorneys for Scott and Koscot to work out a settlement.

THE CEASE AND desist order also blocks Koscot from holding any meetings "to induce participation in the Koscot marketing program" and recruiting and or sponsoring any additional participants.

Koscot can resume its activities in Illinois when its operation complies with the judgment entered on May 7, according to the cease and desist order.

The firm is also ordered to send copies of the orders by Certified Mail to all participants within five days.

The cease and desist order means that the contempt of court proceedings against Koscot has been continued. The order does not prevent distributors from selling mink oil cosmetics, according to Assistant Atty. Gen. Barry J. Schmarak.

When the contempt of court request was filed late last week, Scott reported that Koscot, its president, Glen W. Turner, and nine other defendants were violating Paschen's injunction.

Scott's investigators reported, in an affidavit filed with the court, that in an attempt to obtain more money from prospective investors, Koscot representatives claimed that a distributor could earn more than $61,000 a year and that representatives were engaged in other practices prohibited by the court order.

SCOTT'S PETITION charged Koscot with a series of violations of the May 7 court order. These include:

—Failure to tell potential participants that contract may be canceled for any reason within three working days.

—Failure to provide in all contracts a written notification of the three-day cancellation period.

—Failure to tell participants that Koscot would repurchase any unused inventory within a 90-day period for not less than 35 per cent of total investment.

Scott also charged the firm with continuing to conduct a pyramid marketing program in which financial gains are dependent on continuing successful recruitment of other participants, and failure to disclose to each prospective participant the provisions of the judgement ordered by the court.

The Illinois Atty. General said state residents have invested about $3 million in the program since the company began operating in Illinois in April, 1968.

He said 800 residents have paid from $2,000 to $5,000 each in order to participate.

One of the original defendants is James Boyesen, Wheeling, regional vice president of the firm, which is based in Winter Haven, Fla.

Scott said the Federal Trade Commission has charged Koscot with unfair and deceptive trade practices, and that similar decrees have been filed against the firm in New York, California, Iowa and Pennsylvania.

Scott said the National Association of Attorneys General has recently passed a resolution urging federal action to be taken quickly to stop such sales promotions.

Representing Scott in prosecution of the case were Assistant Attorneys General Robert F. Atkins, chief of Scott's anti-trust division, and Schmarak.

Expect Enrollment Increase

Enrollment in the Maine Township High School Dist. 207 is expected to hit a record 11,830 this fall, about 500 more students than last year, according to school officials.

In the past 15 years, the Maine Township school system has expanded from a single high school building with 4,500 students to four campuses. Projections indicate that the district's student population will continue to grow, officials said, although at a somewhat slower rate, reaching 13,200 by the 1974-75 school year.

This year the greatest enrollment growth will be at Maine North High School in Des Plaines, where the student population will jump from 1,000 to 1,450. Officials said the growth is due to the fact Maine North will serve all four classes this year. Only freshmen, sophomores and juniors attended Maine North during its first year of operation last year.

Officials said Maine East High School in Park Ridge has 3,500 students registered for the 1971-72 school year. There will be 3,450 students at Maine South in Park Ridge and 3,322 students at Maine West in Des Plaines.

Although the district-wide student population has grown by 500, officials said there actually will be fewer students at Maine East, Maine South and Maine West than a year ago at this time. At the beginning of the 1970-71 school year these schools were overcrowded because of temporarily serving the 1,000 students scheduled to attend Maine North when it opened at the end of November, officials said.

Capacity at Maine East, Maine South and Maine West high schools is 3,500. Maine North's present capacity is 1,700 students.

Jo-Gay's Golden Girls

Young Twirlers In A Whirl

by ELEANOR RIVES

To the 22 members of Jo-Gay's Golden Girls, 19 of them from Des Plaines, happiness is twirling a baton.

Those talented little gold-sequined youngsters, ranging in age from 8 to 12, just couldn't believe they captured first place in state competition on July 10. Only the week before they had had 19 baton drops. Spirits sagged, mouths drooped. Then, in competition, only seven drops!

"You were absolutely beautiful!" exclaimed Gaye Senne, baton teacher, who never scolds but gives compliments only when they're deserved. Four girls broke into tears at the unexpected praise.

Off they went to the national contest at Notre Dame Aug. 3, competing against more than 20 other groups and capturing an impressive fourth place.

BUT THE FROSTING on the cake was when the eight members of the twirling team, all from the Golden Girls, won first place in the nationals with their no-drop routine. You could almost hear the squeals in Des Plaines.

"This team has won everything," said Mrs. Senne proudly. "The state, the regionals and the national. They have never been defeated."

In addition, Patty Payson, Susan Fickel, Pam Schmidt, Pam Dappelen and Annabella Garrido all won honors in solo competition.

About 100 young ladies participate in the Park District program, headed by Mrs. James Senne, Des Plaines resident and baton twirling expert. New classes are formed every eight weeks and are held at Rand Park Fieldhouse. All students automatically belong to the performing group, twirling for the fun of it and appearing publicly three times a year: giving a recital in February, marching and twirling in the Fourth of July Parade and performing at the Des Plaines Park District's water carnival.

PERIODICALLY TRYOUTS are held for membership in the Golden Girls, the corps trained for competition.

"I don't believe in pushing the children," said Mrs. Senne. "We avoid pressure and nervous tension as much as possible. It's all for the fun of it and the joy of accomplishment — to do what they have learned and to do it well."

Gaye, who also gives private lessons at home on her patio, began twirling when she was 5 years old, twirled her way through high school and won a scholarship to "Ol' Miss," the University of Mississippi. As professional twirlers, she and her sister traveled for three years through the United States, Mexico and Canada giving performances.

"We twirled our way from Timbuktu to Roosterpoo, Miss.," she laughed.

GAYE'S MOTHER was a twirler and her two daughters, Kim, 8, and Kelly, 9, are third generation twirlers. Her son, Mark, 14, is a drummer in the Velvet Vikings, a crack drum and baton corps which won both national and international competition last year.

"The girls' corps hopes to go military, too," said Gaye. "We plan to purchase drum equipment and sponsor drum lessons for boys 9 to 13 years old, starting in September."

In the course of many years as a baton corps instructor, Gaye has thrilled to the honors awarded her girls, has shared in their struggles to raise money for costumes and transportation and has at times good-naturedly been the target of their pranks. In 1968 when her senior corps, now retired, traveled to the nationals at "Ol' Miss" in their own railroad car, Gaye found herself locked in the ladies room for three hours until a sympathetic porter defied the laughing kids and took the hinges off the door.

HER BIGGEST KICK was watching this same senior corps compete in the nationals at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1969 and come off with second place. They accomplished this feat two years in a row.

The senior corps, retired two years ago after the girls reached 19 and 20 years old, is now succeeded by the Golden Girls who are already beginning to feel the golden glow of success. Last Friday they left for the Illinois State Fair by bus where the fun of staying at a motel together, visiting the fair, marching in the parade and performing in the competition awaited them.

But these aren't the only benefits of belonging to a baton corps.

"It's a marvelous discipline," Mrs. Senne said. "You meet so many people — you end up with pen pals in every state in the union."

"But most important, you learn to be a good sport and always to be a lady."

A THUMB-ROLL TOSS is accomplished with ease by Robin Hager, 10, of Des Plaines. This is her first year as a girl twirler. She was one of the sparkling young ladies in gold-sequined costumes who marched in the Des Plaines Fourth of July parade.

"DO IT THIS WAY, girls," directs Mrs. James Senne as she demonstrates hand positions to the 22 members of Jo-Gay's Golden Girls, competition baton corps sponsored by the Des Plaines Park District. The Golden Girls, all 8 to 12 years old, recently placed fourth in national competition.

ROBIN HAGER and 9-year-old Pam Schmidt of Des Plaines, right, practice a duet toss. Pam was one of five local girls honored in national solo competition. The eight-girl twirling team, senior members of the Golden Girls, won state, regional and national competition this year.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Every season brings its own peculiar problems. The mail is heavy now with pleas for advice about damp basements or damp closets — both breeding places for mildew. While many use electric dehumidifiers in basements, Mrs. R.C.S. reported her homemade version. She put a cup of calcium chloride on a square of screen over the top of a No. 10 tin can. The moisture was absorbed and dripped into the can which had to be emptied every other day. When more calcium chloride was added, it wasn't necessary to remove what was left on the screen. She kept one container in each corner of the basement. While this could be adjusted to the size of a smaller area, there are other things to do for a closet.

Calcium chloride can damage clothing should it come in contact with it. One can hang up bags of either silica gel or activated charcoal. When saturated, either of these can be dried for several hours in a vented oven at 300 degrees. After this, put them in an airtight can and cool before reusing.

Silica gel is pink when full of moisture, blue when dry. Some people keep a small electric light on — at a sufficient distance from clothing to avoid the danger of fire. Many use an inexpensive electric aluminum rod specifically designed to dry the air and keep it in motion.

Dear Dorothy: Should avocado be stored in the refrigerator if it is impossible to use it at once and it's ripe enough to eat? — Ellen W.

You can refrigerate it if you don't want it to get any riper but avocado tastes much better if it is stored at a cool room temperature.

Tip to Brides: The soft yarn which came out a few years ago ostensibly for wrapping gift packages makes a wonderful tie for house plants that need steady-ling. The green is especially lovely and hardly noticeable.

Dear Dorothy: Thought you would be interested in the sneaky (but lovable) trick my husband played on me for my birthday. He knew I wanted a wiglet and got one for me that matched perfectly. He took some hair out of my hairbrush, took it to the wig shop and they made a perfect match. The salesgirl is a friend now and says she recommends this to many husbands. They often seem to know what kind of wig or wiglet their wives want but are stumped as to the color. — Janice Schweinhart.

What a nice, bright imaginative husband. Many of them still have hangups about hairpieces and such and wouldn't be caught dead in a wig shop. Bravo for your guy.

Assert Yourself: That's Good

by PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — When you order something sweet in a restaurant and it tastes sour, do you complain?
When in a line at bank or supermarket and someone pushes in ahead of you, do you speak up?
Through the typical day many persons refuse to assert themselves in such situations. And that's bad, according to Dr. Herbert Fensterheim.

The assistant professor of psychiatry at New York Medical College said in an interview the failure to assert oneself leads to a loss of self-respect and erosion of self-esteem.
"When you don't assert yourself," he said, "you eventually lose control of your life, tend to get moody, depressed and are given to outbursts of anger."
In an office or in a marriage, failure to assert oneself gives distinct feelings of being pushed around, not appreciated.

"AN AWFUL LOT OF Americans have this trouble," Dr. Fensterheim said. "Assertion means to be open and direct and honest and appropriate about what you feel and what you think."
Through various exercises Dr. Fensterheim in his practice with troubled persons uses behavior therapy. This is different from the therapy "on the couch," psychoanalysis.

Behavior therapy takes less time and resolves problems faster, Dr. Fensterheim reports in a new book, "Help with Psychoanalysis" (Stein and Day).
Dr. Fensterheim's exercises for those who can't assert themselves have included calling the head of a city Sanitation Department to complain about garbage collections. Also: Ringing up the phone company demanding to talk to the supervisor's boss to register disgust over poor service.

SOME OF HIS patients even have been instructed to ask for nothing more than a glass of water at a snack bar.
The exercises in self-assertion, he's found, tends to free them of their fear to say "I want" or "I don't like" or "I like" — necessary phrases if one is to assert oneself.

Busy Month For VFW Auxiliary

THE VFW Ladies Auxiliary to Post 2002 has welcomed Mrs. Chester Budzon into the unit as a new member. Mrs. Otis Coker, membership chairman, announced that she will accept applications for new, reinstated or transfer members at the next auxiliary meeting Monday, Sept. 13, at 8 p.m.

The first 4th District Auxiliary meeting for the new season is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 19, at Skokie Valley VFW Post in Kokie.

Penny Social chairman Mrs. John Carlson asks members and friends of the auxiliary to donate penny table items for the Sept. 24 meeting as soon as possible. Trading stamps are also still needed. Table items may be brought to the Sept. 13 meeting, or pick-up may be arranged by calling Mrs. John Carlson or Mrs. James Vlastak.

Mrs. Carl Ekx, treasurer, reminds members that dues are now payable and may be sent to her at 10074 N. Potter Road, Des Plaines.

Sunlamp Tips

If you use a sun lamp to complement your tan, be sure to only stay under the lamp a few seconds, always have on a sun-tanning lotion and be sure to protect the eyes. To achieve the same facial contours you get with your make-up, cover the areas you wish to remain light with a thick make-up so the sun rays won't penetrate. This will allow the sun-tanned areas to accentuate your facial structure.

Eight Area Girls Among Leading Finishers In Jr. Sports Jamboree

Northwest Obedience Trial — There will be 325 dogs entered in Northwest Obedience Club's annual obedience trial to be held this Sunday, Aug. 22, at the Prospect High School Field House, 801 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

With some dogs entered in more than one class, the total entry is near 400, which makes it one of the largest obedience trials in the country.

Judging will begin at 9 a.m. and will continue throughout the day. There is plenty of parking space available, so come out and watch some of the best obedience trained dogs in the Middle West go through their paces. Besides, you will be helping Leader Dog School For The Blind, Rochester, Mich., as part of the proceeds from the event will go to this organization.

"Summer Pets" — Don't adopt a pet unless you intend to keep him permanently. That's the plea made to vacationing families by the Gaines Dog Research Center, which points out that the adoption of "summer pets" often ends in disaster for the animal.

While in the country or at a summer resort, parents often heed the pleas of children and adopt an appealing puppy. When the vacation ends, the puppy has grown and the parents realize there's no room for him in a city home.

All too often the pet is abandoned on the roads, left to survive as best as he can. In most cases, he can't. If he doesn't die slowly of hunger, he dies quickly under the wheels of a car. If he does manage to survive, his search for food turns him into a scavenger and leads him to join a pack of semi-wild dogs.

If an animal becomes unsuitable as a pet, take him to the local S.P.C.A. or other humane facility in your area.

New Show Chairman — Mrs. Gaylord Donnelly, of Libertyville, has been appointed chairman of the show committee for Chicago's International Kennel Club.

Active on the show committees for the past two ICK two-day bench shows, Mrs. Donnelly is well known for her kennel of Labrador Retrievers and German Shorthaired Pointers. In addition to showing dogs throughout the country, she has also judged field trials.

Barks & Bays —

Like the true story that follows — it seems that a friend of a friend's dog was barking and barking during the night. The owner tried to yell out the window to the dog to be quiet. Having no luck, he got up and went out the front door just in time to see a car speed away from in front of his place. The car that left also had the battery out of the friend's friend car — which was parked in the driveway for the night.

Eight Herald area girls — five from Mount Prospect, two from Des Plaines and one from Arlington Heights — were among top finishers in the 16th annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree at Joliet East High School last week.

State titles in 41 track and field events were under attack as 483 boys and girls participated. The youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 15, competed in 23 running events — both dashes and relays — and 18 field events.

Those making the trip to Joliet were finalists in an original field of nearly 40,000 who entered local meets in 205 different towns earlier this summer. To win the expense-paid trip, each contestant was required to finish first in his or her event at both the local and regional levels of competition.

The big sports program, which strives for youth fitness and delinquency prevention activity, is sponsored jointly by the Illinois Jaycees, the Illinois Department of Corrections and the Governor's Office of Human Resources.

Mount Prospect girls fared as follows: Kathy LaPorte was third in the junior girls 75-yard dash in 9.5 seconds and also fifth in long jump with 15 feet, 2 inches. Trudi Rebsamen was third in intermediate girls 220-yard dash in 27.0. Kim Feige was fourth in intermediate baseball throw with 217 feet, 9 inches. Pat Kirsten was fifth in intermediate high jump with 4 feet, six inches and Dawn Gedroc was sixth in Midget long jump with 12 feet, 11 1/4 inches.

Janet Haberkorn of Arlington Heights was the only area individual to take a first place, in the midget girls high jump with 4 feet, 4 1/4 inches.

Kathy LaPorte, Jill Smith of Des Plaines, and two other girls were third with a 52.7 time in the 440-yard relay for junior girls. Janet Smith of Des Plaines, Pat Kirsten and Trudi Rebsamen all took part on the intermediate girls 440-yard relay team which was also third with a 51.2 clocking.

Members of the Joliet Jaycees served as hosts to the visiting youngsters in what was called the state's biggest summer party.

Separate dormitories for the 254 boys and 229 girls were set up in the girls' and boys' gyms of the high school.

Most of the contestants traveled to Joliet by bus. Following a box supper, they attended a variety in the school's auditorium.

A total of 500 trophies were given out during awards ceremonies. Trophies were awarded to the first six finishers in all events; miniature loving cups went to all others. Five special awards were also given — outstanding sportsmanship and outstanding performance, one each for girls and boys, and outstanding city.

The Jamboree began in Chicago in 1954, when Jesse Owens was on the staff of the Illinois Youth Commission. The finals first went downstate in 1959, through the efforts of the Springfield Jaycees. Since then, the state meet has been held in Champaign-Urbana, Sterling (three times), Bloomington-Normal, Charleston, Granite City (twice) and Pekin (twice).

On hand to congratulate the winners this year were Peter B. Bensinger, Director of the Department of Corrections; Paul J. Wisner, Director of the Governor's Office of Human Resources; Stan Siron of Belleville, State President of the Jaycees; and O. Fraser Young of Joliet, state Jamboree chairman of the Jaycees.

National Ski Clinic Names Chew Chairman

Keith Chew, director of the Four Lakes Ski School in Lisle, has been appointed program chairman of the first annual National Ski Clinic scheduled for September 17-19 in Chicago.

Chew, who also directs Fox Trails Ski School in Cary, was selected as program chairman because of his extensive experience in teaching skiing in the Midwest.

The London born ski director came to the Midwest from Norway in 1963 to work as a staff member at Four Lakes. A year later he became director of Fox Trails Ski School, which has become, during the past two seasons, the largest ski school in Illinois.

According to Chew, the National Ski Clinic will focus in on the Midwest as one of the most thriving ski areas in the country.

"The ski season here is shorter," admits Chew, "but some of the most enthusiastic skiers are listed among our growing number."

Every facet of skiing will be presented by the clinic staff which includes: Stein Eriksen, Olympic Gold Medal winner and world famous ski teacher; Karl Pfeiffer, Austrian director of the revolutionary Head-way National Ski School program and a leading authority on graduated length teaching to beginning skiers; and Pepi Gramschammer, a ski racing champion and member of the Austrian National Ski Team.

Chew emphasized that the clinic will be valuable to skiers on all achievement levels. "We hope that it will be an education for the beginning, novice and accelerated skier since almost everyone can learn something from the pros."

In anticipation of the increased skiing enthusiasm for the 1971-72 season, Chew has expansion plans for both Fox Trails and Four Lakes and has added 50% new equipment at both areas. At Fox Trails he is preparing a cross-country ski course. A combined staff of 70 qualified instructors will teach private and group lessons at the ski areas.

Chew added that anyone interested in the clinic can write him c/o the Sheraton O'Hare Motor Hotel, 6810 North Mannheim Road in Rosemont. Pre-registration fee is $20.

Dallas' Mike Ditka Blasts Thomas

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — (NEA) — Mike Ditka in his professional football career has been by turns pugnacious, ebullient, abrasive, exultant, depressed. But always honest. And now he's grateful.

The blunt tight end of the Dallas Cowboys entering his second decade of pro ball, thought it was time to speak out on the affair Duane Thomas, in which the controversial running back castigated the Cowboys' official family as dishonest, "plastic" and cheap.

"I think Thomas is completely wrong," said Ditka. "He can't play for our ball club with that attitude. We didn't win last year because Duane Thomas made a couple of runs. We went to the Super Bowl because 40 guys gave everything they had."

"I wish him the best, & he'd gone to Boston he would have found there's a difference in running behind an offensive line that opens holes and one that doesn't. I saw Gale Sayers run without blocking and he was great at times, but it catches up with you, I don't care how great you are."

"You have to have as much pride in your teammates as they have in you. If he doesn't have it any more, there is really no home for him here."

Conversely for Ditka, the original iconoclast of pro football, who talked himself off two teams with vituperative blasts at the bosses of the Chicago Bears and Philadelphia Eagles, there is a home in Dallas.

"I've moved my home and family to Dallas this year," he said, "two years after I was traded."

"I haven't told anyone this, but the Cowboys paid my whole moving bill, everything — a $3,200 bill. That's pretty nice. They had no obligation. They told me they did it because 'we'd like to have you in Dallas and we think you're important to our ball club?'"

"That makes me feel like the greatest thing in the world, and I think I owe them something in return."

His determination to repay is physically evident. Mike Ditka now weighs 213 pounds, which he hasn't weighed since he was a junior in high school. He came to camp last year at 236 pounds. And he wound up catching eight passes in the entire regular season — this by a man who once caught 75 passes in a season and was all-pro his first four years in the NFL.

"The difference has been unbelievable," he enthused, "especially in my legs. My whole problem has been muscle pulls. I've looked bad every year during training camp because I couldn't run pass patterns. This year I have no fear of muscle pulls; I've got strength in my legs. And my attitude — I look forward to going out to practice. Last year I was scared to."

It's difficult to visualize Ditka, with that intensely flaring from every word he speaks, being afraid of anything, but the last half-dozen years, ever since he called George Halas a cheap owner, were traumatic for him.

"I was going through life and everything was going my way," he reminisced. "Then I went to Philadelphia (in 1967) and, boom, I hit the bottom. It hurt me, not financially but mentally. I had no more confidence in myself. I cried myself to sleep. That's right. Literally. It drove me goofy for a while. They took my respect away from me back there."

They did it, after he ripped Joe Kuharich as a coach, by sitting him on the bench. And letting him sit. When he was traded to Dallas in 1969, he still sat more than he played, not an ego-building experience for a 30-year-old guy. But he was able to rationalize the putdown.

"The difference was that I contributed when I was called on," he said. "I had teammates who respected me."

Of course, the Cowboys, who've made a fetish of shunning the tight end as a receiver, also traded this past winter for Billy Truax, a 6-5 target with good hands.

"I have a lot of respect for Billy," said Ditka, "but you don't tell me about catching footballs as a tight end. Thirty-six catches (Truax's figure for '70) — that's not a lot. I've caught more footballs than anybody."

Healthy confidence oozed from him as he spoke.

Crown Champions In Park District Baseball Leagues

The Des Plaines Park District baseball leagues for boys ages 8 to 12 completed schedules with championship games at five different parks.

In the championship games at South Park the Mets defeated the Giants 12 to 11 for the Stars of Tomorrow league, and the Yankees beat the Athletics 13 to 5 for the Intermediate league title.

At Cumberland Park the Giants received the Stars of Tomorrow awards with an 11-2 record. Likewise the Yankees earned the Intermediate awards with a 9-2 standing for the season.

Central Park Giants walked off with the Stars of Tomorrow league honors by posting a 13-3-2 record. The Central Twins received the Intermediate league awards by compiling seven victories to only one defeat.

Orchard Place Pirates earned the Stars of Tomorrow championship after a 9-5-2 season record. The Red Sox picked up the Intermediate league honors with a 7-3 record.

The West Park Giants defeated the Pirates 11 to 5 in the playoff game to determine the Stars of Tomorrow champion. The West Park Yankees won the Intermediate league title.

Check Of Franchisors Is Urged

by LEA TONKIN

Before you sign on the dotted line and sell out several thousand dollars for the privilege of selling widgets on a franchise basis, take the time to check out the legitimate side of the franchise industry. If the Illinois Franchise Registration Act is passed this fall by the legislature, franchisors will have to disclose certain financial aspects of their companies.

That's the advice of the Illinois Attorney General representative as well as the business, and what you can expect as a return on your investment.

Robert Skirnick, assistant Illinois attorney general in the antitrust division, said the proposed legislation is a disclosure type of bill. "Before a person signs up for a franchise, the franchisor would have to disclose the nature of the industry," said Skirnick.

"ALTHOUGH THIS bill deals with the franchise industry it also gets at some of the levels of the multi-level distribution company," Skirnick said. "It deals with the fly-by-night operators, gives information to the franchisee and frees money for the legitimate operator."

The difference between the franchise and the multi-level distribution company is in the number of potential dealers that can be recruited into a business, according to Lewis Rudnick, of Rudnick, Wolfe, Snyderman and Foreman. He is general counsel for the International Franchise Association (IFA). The association has about 200 members representing most of the major franchise operations.

"The key to the pyramid type of operation, or multi-level distribution company, is the proliferation of distributors at any level of distribution," Rudnick said. "Under a distributor are sub-distributors, wholesalers and actual dealers." He contrasted this with other franchise operations in which there is usually only one distributor of merchandise or services in a given area.

"THE MULTI-LEVEL company is definitely not the franchise company, although they may call themselves so," he said. "They have given the franchise industry something of a black eye because the public doesn't always make the distinction between them."

"The reason the pyramid companies are fraudulent is that there is no effective control over the number of distributors," Rudnick said. Citing the Kosco Interplanetary, Inc. as an example, Rudnick said that a company may claim that its products sell, but it may recruit so many dealers that a person could find himself one of six dealers on a block.

"The key to success in the pyramid company is not in the amount of products that you sell to the consumer but in the number of dealers or distributors recruited," according to Rudnick. He noted that the middle man is disappearing in the regular franchise industry; there is more often a direct link between the franchisor and the franchisee.

People with money to invest in a franchise company should take the time to investigate the firm, Rudnick said. The IFA publishes a booklet available in its Washington office for $1 called "Investigate Before Investing." "Most important for the potential franchisee," said Rudnick, "are conversations with a number of existing franchisees to see if the franchisor is dealing with them fairly."

THE FRANCHISE industry includes companies ranging from auto dealers and gasoline stations to the fast food industry. Rudnick said an approximate estimate of yearly sales through franchise operations is set at $100 billion.

Henson Is Dean Of Students At Elk Grove High School

Harold Henson, former High School Dist. 214 teacher, will return to the district this fall as dean of students at Elk Grove High School.

When he joined Dist. 214 in 1959, Henson taught Industrial Education and coached wrestling at Arlington Heights and Prospect High Schools. In 1963, he transferred to Forest View High School where he taught Industrial Education and was head wrestling coach and assistant football coach for five years.

New State Map Prompts Suit

Fearing that the new reapportionment map has drastically weakened Arlington Heights' representation in Springfield, the village board Monday night voted to file suit in U.S. District Court in an effort to invalidate the map which has split the village into three legislative districts.

The motion to file suit was made by Trustee James T. Ryan, who said, "Arlington Heights is one of the fastest growing communities in the state and under this plan it's conceivable that the village will have little or no representation in Springfield."

Ryan made a similar bid to oppose any division of Arlington Heights Aug. 2 when the board sent a telegram to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and the Illinois Reapportionment and Redistricting Committee stating their opposition.

"They did exactly what we feared they'd do and what we hoped to prevent with the telegram — split the village into three legislative districts," Ryan said.

"Arlington Heights is on the tail end of each district, without having the consensus of voter representation in one of them," he added.

The City of Des Plaines has similarly been split up into three legislative districts under the proposed map. Under the map currently in force, about one fourth of the city's population is in Elk Grove and Wheeling townships, part of the third legislative district. The remainder of Des Plaines is in Maine Township, part of the fourth district.

Arlington Heights Village Atty. Jack Siegel said the suit will be filed on the grounds that the redistricting violates state and federal constitutional rights and the "one man-one vote principal."

He said it will be a minimum of 10 days before he is prepared to file the suit.

Before the eight-man reapportionment committee announced their decision more than one week ago, Arlington Heights was in the 3rd legislative District, comprised of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg townships.

Under the old districting, Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights; Rep. Eugene Chapman, D-Arlington Heights; Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect; and Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, were all in the 3rd legislative district.

Under the redistricted map, Arlington Heights' Schlickman is one of four representatives from the 27th district, which stretches eastward from Arlington Heights to Niles.

Regner and Mrs. Chapman are the two representatives from the 29th district, which takes in part of Arlington Heights, along with Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Hoffman Estates, Des Plaines and Elk Grove Village.

And Sen. Graham is now in the 30th district, which encompasses his hometown of Barrington as well as Inverness, Streamwood, Hanover Park, Elgin and Bartlett.

Even though Arlington Heights voters do not carry a strong hand in districts 27, 29 or 30, it is conceivable that the village could have up to seven representatives in the House and three in the Senate.

The new map, unless overruled by the courts, will remain in effect until a new census is taken in 1980. The 1970 census results prompted the recent change.

Another reason Ryan said he is opposing the map is that the suburban area in general received fewer districts than it deserved, "and this only helps throw the balance to the Chicago Democrats."

Park District Seeking School Land

The Mount Prospect Park District will buy 19 acres of land from School Dist. 57 if the purchase is "economically feasible."

Park board members Monday night agreed they wanted to buy the 11-acre

East Park site and approximately eight acres of the Gregory School site, both in Mount Prospect. Currently park officials are conducting a study to determine how funds for the purchase can be obtained.

"We want to buy the land in the worst way," said Robert Jackson, park board president. "We don't know yet but we are going on the assumption it can be done. We hope to give the school board a final decision by Sept. 30."

The Dist. 57 School Board earlier this month set Sept. 30 as a deadline for the park board to enter into an agreement to buy the East Park site at Golf and Mount Prospect roads. School board members have indicated they are willing to sell part of the Gregory School site, 400 E. Gregory St., when the park district is ready to buy it.

partment of Conservation.

Several years ago the park district received from HUD 50 per cent of the funds needed for the purchase of four acres at Kopp Park and three acres at Robert Frost Park, both in Mount Prospect. The park district applied for the money in 1966 and got it three years later.

WILLIAM WARD, park district attorney, said he thinks the possibility of obtaining outside funds is good. "Those programs usually give this type of purchase high priority after the inner-city areas," he said. "They like to keep open space as open space."

Park board members also discussed the possibility of holding a bond referendum to pay for purchases, probably in 1975 when other park district bonds are retired.

Park board members indicated they may want to buy the land over a 10-year period. The school board has voted to authorize its attorney to draw up a contract providing for payment of the agreement or by installments without interest during a five-year period.

School Board Member Leo Flores said yesterday the school board would probably agree to payment over a 10-year period. "We would go along with it since it is their intention and hope to buy the land," he said. "I think other board members would be in favor of it."

School board members want to sell the East Park site, currently leased to the park district at $1 a year for 10 years, to pay for an approximately $150,000 expansion program at Fairview School, 300 N. Fairview Ave. The expansion could begin as soon as an agreement of sale is signed. The school district would then issue tax anticipation warrants (TAW's) to pay for the expansion in anticipation of the receipts from the park sale.

School board members want to make the Gregory site a separate purchase because of current litigation involving the site. The site, condemned by the school district more than 10 years ago, has been under constant legal attack from Gerald Schroeder, former owner.

Even though Arlington Heights voters do not carry a strong hand in districts 27, 29 or 30, it is conceivable that the village could have up to seven representatives in the House and three in the Senate.

The new map, unless overruled by the courts, will remain in effect until a new census is taken in 1980. The 1970 census results prompted the recent change.

Another reason Ryan said he is opposing the map is that the suburban area in general received fewer districts than it deserved, "and this only helps throw the balance to the Chicago Democrats."

The Veterans Administration has intensified its campaign to help employers develop GI Bill on-the-job training opportunities for returning servicemen. At the same time, the VA is taking steps to simplify the procedures employers must follow in setting up their veterans' programs.

Veterans Affairs Administrator Donald E. Johnson said that special help is available to small businesses who would like to participate but who lack resources for developing training programs. VA regional offices will send training experts to survey on-the-job training possibilities and help set up acceptable training situations.

Under approved programs, veterans are paid subsistence allowances while they are in training. The salary paid by the employer goes up as the trainee develops skills useful to the employer.

JOHNSON SAID that over 100,000 veterans are currently taking on-the-job training, and almost 200,000 have taken apprenticeship or OJT since the current program was first authorized less than four years ago. Johnson pointed out, however, that more jobs and training opportunities are needed, and one way to provide them is through greater employer participation in OJT programs.

IN AN APPROVED VA program, employers may pay new veteran trainees as little as one-half of the target journeyman wage.

While the VA provides information and helps employers develop OJT programs, Mr. Johnson pointed out that employer programs must be designed to meet the requirements of State Approving Agencies before veteran trainees can receive VA benefits.

To assist in the development of new training jobs, the VA recently circulated to all its regional offices, 34 prototype on-the-job training programs in occupations of agriculture and in the manual skill fields.

Additional VA funds are also being made available to State Approving Agencies in support of the expedited State approval process.

VERY ORIGINAL.

We call it The 14th Colony. You'll probably call it revolutionary. It's located in the scenic Fox River Valley countryside about a half mile east of Batavia. The 14th Colony is a settlement for families who value such old-fashioned virtues as good taste and community pride. It has been carefully planned with vital protections written into every deed, in the same manner Arthur T. McIntosh & Company has established the enviable communities of Inverness, Prestwick and Farmington. And it's very original. Each piece of land is irregular about one-third of an acre. The homes are inspired by Early Americana and reflect tasteful architecture and craftsmanship rarely found in the homes of today. The detailing is exquisite and warm touches of elegance abound in quarry tile foyers, beamed ceilings, curving staircases, oak floors, huge raised hearth fireplaces and wood panelling. All are built with honest quality. And while we believe in independence, every homesite has water, sewer and underground utilities. You can homestead at the 14th Colony from $35,000 to $55,000 including the fully improved homesite. Our boundaries are open every day-10 am till dark.

Buy your homesite now under contract. If you are planning to build in the future, or wish to invest in land, you can purchase your 14th Colony homesite direct from Arthur T. McIntosh & Co.—20% down, 7% simple interest.* Homesites range from $9,000 to $12,800.

Law Gives Relief From Mosquitoes

Dear Dr. Lamb—Could you please give me any information about being allergic to the sun? About three years ago, whenever I would be out in the sun, I would break out in red welts and blotches and itch. Now it is getting much worse. My face, arms and back break out and my face puffs up. Is there anything I can take to prevent this?

Dear Reader—Some people call this "sun poisoning" and the exact mechanism is not known. It does behave like an allergy and the causative agent is the sun. In some people, the problem goes away spontaneously. It usually starts after a severe sunburn.

The best treatment is complete avoidance of exposure to the sun for several years. This is similar to other allergies, where it is advisable to stay away from the agent causing the allergy.

A person with this problem should cover up when he goes out in the sun — this means sleeves, a wide-brimmed hat and the works. Don't count on many of the so-called sun screens that are sold to protect you, since many of them are not effective sun screens at all. Of course, you should be seen by a doctor. There are some serious illnesses that are made worse by the sun and these require careful management.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read your column every morning and there is one item I have never seen. Is cancer communicable? By this I mean if a person with this disease is dismissed from the hospital, with only a few weeks or months to live, could a child or a grown-up, by not being too careful in using the same utensils, be in any danger? He does want to live with them, rather than be alone.

Dear Reader—In the situation you describe, I think it is most unlikely that anyone will get cancer from the patient. We do not usually think of cancer as a contagious disease and you shouldn't add this problem to your worries. It is true that we do not know all the factors involved in cancer yet. Although there is no evidence of cancer being contagious

In man, some obscure infectious process cannot be entirely excluded.

It is entirely possible that some of the forms of leukemia, or a factor in causing leukemia, are related to an infectious agent, like a virus. There is some evidence that breast cancer in women is related to an infectious agent. But we also know that sun and wind contribute to cancer of the skin. The incidence of cancer is much higher in the survivors of the atomic radiation at Hiroshima.

It is not necessarily bad if cancer and related diseases are induced in some way by some as-yet-unrecognized infectious agent. If so, it could provide a way to immunize people against cancer, which would be wonderful.

Let me repeat again, though, that we have no evidence of a people-to-people spread of cancer and I hope you will be able to put the concern you have for this matter out of your mind.

Questions? Write Dr. Lawrence Lamb, Paddeck Publications, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.
(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Sum m e r t i m e mosquitoes got you down? The Illinois State Bar Association says there may be legal action to take; you and your neighbors might want to consider forming a mosquito abatement district.

According to a 1927 law, Illinois residents who live in any contiguous territory with at least 300 residents may form a district, hold elections and take whatever action they deem necessary to eliminate the pesky insects where they breed and proliferate.

The law provides specific regulations for forming such a district. And it notes that once the district is formed it may raise funds by levying a tax of up to .025 per cent of the property in the district. Then it can get to work.

IT CAN attack the insect breeding grounds, eradicate the stagnant pools that add to the menace and take whatever additional steps are necessary to wipe out mosquitoes, flies and other insects.

The local mosquito abatement districts must report to the State Board of Public Health every year on whatever action it has taken.

So next time you are bothered by mosquitoes you might consider joining with your neighbors in an effort to eliminate the breeding grounds and stopping this nuisance where it begins.

Social Security and You

Q. — My brother, who is 36 and has a family of four, was hurt in an accident almost a year ago and isn't working. He applied for social security disability benefits, and just last week they told him that he wasn't disabled enough to get benefits. I feel he is. Is there anything more he can do?

A. — Yes. The social security office has already explained to your brother that he can request a reconsideration. But he must make this request within 6 months of the date that the initial decision was made.

A reconsideration is a complete review of his case. If your brother then disagrees with the reconsideration decision, he can request a hearing before a hearing examiner of the Social Security Administration. After this, your brother can take his case to an Appeals Council, and, finally, he can seek review by a Federal court.

All of these steps are explained in detail in a leaflet — "Right to Question the Decision Made on Your Claim." It is available from any social security office.

Harper Will Hold Student Orientation

New student orientation at Harper College in Palatine will introduce students to student activities, counseling facilities, and allow them to register during a one-day program.
